RAT CRUSADE.

Rats are always a menace to health, and when permitted to breed in filth and dirt, which they thrive in, there are latent dangers which one likes not to contemplate. The Board of Health in Hilo and Honolulu have inaugurated an aggressive campaign against rats and are daily killing hundreds of these carriers of disease.

Old warehouses, barns, abandoned houses, stables, chicken houses, yards and the basements of residences are being fumigated and disinfected. Household holders throughout the town and vicinity of Hilo should look to the cleanliness and sanitary condition of their premises, for danger lurks at every man's door. Lime and other disinfectants are valuable means for the suppression of epidemics, and rat poison and traps should be set to catch the rodents.

THE FUSION candidate of the Home Rulers and Democrats for senator, who is both a capable and good man, lives not in East Hawaii. His legal residence is in Kau, and if elected to the Territorial senate, we would see the West side of Hawaii represented by four senators, namely, Senators Paris, Woods, Hewitt and Shipman, while the windward side of the island would glory in having accomplished the result. In order to secure representation, it behooves the voters of East Hawaii to vote for John T. Brown.

POLITICS makes strange bed fellows. Democratic Candidate Curtis P. Iaukea, after trying the hard couches of the Home Rulers and Republicans, now reclines himself for a brief space upon the downy bed of Democracy. From here he sings of the advantages of changing political boarding places, like one who becomes dissatisfied with his surroundings because he cannot raise the rent. We wonder for what other political establishment Iaukea will next be a runner.

Campaign Started.

While on the island of Hawaii, Delegate Kuluio upon the advice of the republican leaders here, decided to remain after the Territorial Convention and make campaign hay while the sun shines. He realizes that it is the early bird that catches the worm, and proceeded to sound the first clarion note in the political barn yard. After resting up Saturday and Sunday after the convention, in company with John Wise, Archie Mahaula and D. Kalamakalani, Jr., the Delegate went into Puna, making speeches at Kopohu, Pahoa, and Kalapana on Monday. Tuesday night a large meeting was held at Olua, and Wednesday night found the party at Wa-akea. Bright and early Thursday morning a start was made for Lanipahoehoe and Hamakua, and en route at various places along the way the Hawaiians were gathered to see and hear from the republican candidate and the other spellbinders.

Another Surprise Party.

Friday evening witnessed another very successful and enjoyable surprise party. A number of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Chave met at the home of Mrs. Keith F. Mackie and making up a bus load of merry-makers proceeded to the Chave residence at Keel's Bay. The surprise was complete, but the hospitable host and hostess gave a cordial welcome and threw open the double parlors and lanai to the dancers. During the course of the evening J. U. Smith proved himself a chief by making a palatable Welsh rarebit. Among those present beside the host and hostess, were Mr. and Mrs. K. F. Mackie, Mr. and Mrs. Mumby, Mr. and Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. J. S. Canario, Mrs. E. N. Hitchcock, Mrs. D. A. Loebenstein, Misses Eaton, Schmidt, Anita Canario, Marie Canario, Bertha Loebenstein and Chola Sousa, Messrs. Geo. N. Day, J. U. Smith, Victor Hurd, Dr. Archer Irwin, J. D. Kennedy, O. W. Rose and E. H. Meese.

The Penalty.

No man has a right to run the risk of tying up his own affairs and of possible bankruptcy in going surety on other people's bonds. Depending upon the honesty and business ability of another, a man with a family may so obligate himself as security on his friend's bond that his own fortunes may depend upon the success or failure of his principal. Why run this danger when there are bonding companies in the field fully prepared and willing to accept such risks at a nominal per cent. of premium? E. E. CHESS-NUTS.

The Wireless Games Continue. Local Players Given Class Rating.

The preliminary tournament within the Hilo Chess Club has been brought to a close and the respective members divided into classes according to the number of games won and lost. The club has been divided into three classes, Class B containing Messrs. Elliot, Andrews, Hitchcock, Marsh, Smith, Castendyk and Gere, and Class C, composed of Dr. Hayes, Mrs. Marsh, Mrs. Elliot, Mrs. Gere, and Messrs. Holland, Madeira and Ridgway. Class A will remain vacant, to be filled by promotion from Class B as games are won. This will be the Honor Class, and contain at no time more than the four best players of the club.

The members of each class will play one game with every other member of the same class, and at the end of this second round the four in class B having the highest percentage will go to class A. The remaining three, together with the three leaders of class C will form class B, and the four tail enders will form class C. Thereafter each class will play separately, and once a month challenge games will be played when members of a lower class may challenge any player in the next class, the winner going up and the loser down.

The club was entertained last Saturday evening by Sheriff Andrews and will meet next Saturday at the home of Dr. Holland.

The wireless games with Honolulu have been progressing satisfactorily, and the members of the local club have labored earnestly over the problems in order to maintain the honor of Hilo. Both games are at a critical point, and have been very closely contested by the opposing clubs. At present it is impossible to tell who will be the victors. The moves thus far made are as follows:

To Give Sham Battle.

At a meeting held Friday night the members and officers of Company D, National Guard of Hawaii, finally decided to give a shelter tent drill and sham battle at Hoolulu Park on Sunday, September 25th. The sham battle will give a correct idea of field maneuvering under fire, showing the method of attack and retreat. The company will bring into use their field pieces, and preparations are already in progress to make the battle as realistic as possible. The spectators can be shielded from the sun in the amphitheater overlooking the field. The shelter tent drill will be a novel exhibition to most Hilo people, showing the rapidity with which the company can pitch camp. It is stated that a regiment can go into temporary camp with shelter tents within five minutes. There will be other features of the day's program in the way of sports and baseball. The Union Specials will cross bats with the Hilo Railroad team, and an especially lively game is anticipated.

Capt. Fetter says the advertisement for bids will soon be made for the construction of the new armory. The last Legislature appropriated $5,000 out of the loan fund for a Hilo armory. The site has been selected and the only delay now is the letting of the contracts. The location of the armory will be just mauka of the Fish Market on the Waituku river, and will furnish comfortable quarters for the soldier boys.

WIRELESS TELEGRAMS TO THE TRIBUNE

[SPECIAL BY WIRELESS]

St. Petersburg, Sept. 8.—The Russian army is to be divided under Generals Linevitch and Kaulbars. Gen. Kuropatkin will remain commander-in-chief. Wirenins has been promoted to Rear Admiral to succeed Prince Ukhomsky at Port Arthur.

[Prince Esper Esperovitch Ukhomsky, who has just been removed as Rear Admiral at Port Arthur, is one of the most prominent figures in the Czar's domain. By profession he is a statesman and editor and has stood close to the Czar. In May he made a tour of the United States, and although editor of the St. Petersburg Gazette, upon his return was put in charge of Russia's naval forces. He is a conservative in politics and favors religious tolerance. Despite his firm adherence to an autocratic form of government for all Russia, his views on the conduct of the war have probably been found too liberal.]

St. Petersburg, Sept. 8.—Kuropatkin reports that the entire Russian army has arrived at Mukden. The Czar has inspected the fleet at Kronstadt. Russian anti-Jewish disturbances have broken out in southwestern Russia.

[The anti Jewish riots may be regarded as the result of the growing internal unrest and dissatisfaction in Russia. The continued reverses of the Russian army have been used as a forcible weapon by Tolstoi and other writers lately for bitter denunciations against the tyranny and war policy of the Czar. The Jews have been charged with inciting disloyalty among the peasantry and the assassination of von Plehve is attributed to Jewish influences.]

Kronstadt, Sept. 11.—The Baltic fleet has sailed for Eastern waters, consisting of nine battleships, five cruisers, and several torpedo boat destroyers.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 11.—Reserves in twenty-two circuits of the Odessa district have been called out.

DEMOCRATS ORATE.

Iaukea and Other Orators Speak to a Good Crowd.

There was a fairly representative audience of men, women and children gathered to hear the band concert Thursday night and incidentally to listen to the Democratic oratory as rendered by Curtis P. Iaukea, candidate for Congress and local Democratic leaders. Interspersed between music and song the flow of oratory continued both in Hawaiian and English until a late hour.

Hon. C. M. LeBlond kept the crowd in good humor by his fund of jokes and ridicule of republican ideals as represented by "genial Jack" Atkinson, and other statesmen in the Young Men's Republican Club. He claimed that this body was being used as a weapon to make laborers who desired work, join the republican ranks. He gave no instances of such being the case but relied upon a speaker's license to say what he pleased without contradiction.

Candidate Iaukea arrived by the Kinau Thursday afternoon and was more or less fatigued by the trip. He spoke, however, briefly to the crowd, which listened to his remarks attentively and without interruption. His main argument was an appeal to the voter to abandon the republican party and administration and vote for a new regime, which he promised would be just as good if not better.

He stated that the governing power was still maintained in the hands of the few, and that Governor Carter was no less than an autocrat, assuming the right to demand resignations of the heads of departments in advance of their appointment. He claimed this was un-American, unwise and contrary to either Republican or Democratic doctrine. He charged this as being political chicanery and not possible on the mainland. He said the effort of the administration officials to compel self-respecting citizens to become Republicans in order to secure a dollar for a day's labor on the public improvements of the Territory as something unheard of. This he called "dirty politics."

He made a strong appeal to the Home Rulers to join the Democratic party, where he said they would have an equal right in the government of the party and of the country. He extolled the advantages to be gained from being in the party opposed to the administration, and assured his auditors that if the Democrats failed of election this November, their fight was not without its results. "If we succeed," he said "in getting the Home Rulers to join the Democratic Party, then we will have done something which the R-publicans never could have accomplished. It remains now for the democratic party being organized within the Territory, to take its proper place as a political factor in the affairs of the Islands. If there ever was a time in the history of this country when citizens should stand up for their rights and see that the Territory was not mismanaged, it is now." He urged all good democrats, home rulers and even republicans who do not approve of the Governor's actions, to rise up and overthrow the remnants of the oligarchy and its misuse.

His speech was well received, and later he spoke to the crowd in Hawaiian, although his voice was much weakened. David Ewaliko, candidate for the legislature and other speakers addressed the meeting.

Adopt By-Laws.

The Golf Club met Saturday evening at the Board of Trade rooms to consider the report of the Committee on By-Laws. D. E. Metzger reported that the committee had found the By-Laws governing the Hilo Tennis Club were admirable and adapted to a golf club, so with some modifications the same By-Laws were adopted by the Club. The initiation fee was fixed at ten dollars for gentlemen and five dollars for ladies. The dues will be ten and six dollars per annum respectively for gentlemen and ladies. The links over in Puaeo are rapidly being put into shape and will shortly be ready for use. A representative of a Honolulu sporting goods house is expected to arrive Wednesday with a full line of golf outfits and individual equipments.
