LABOR FOR HAWAII.

The Honolulu Bulletin labors under a mistake when in commenting upon the TRIBUNE's editorial a few weeks ago, it intimated that Congress would no longer let down the bars for Italian immigrants than it would for Chinese laborers. The only restriction placed on immigrants from Italy or other countries is that they shall not become a public charge. There are hundreds of Italians and other nationalities arriving daily at New York, whose labor in the Hawaiian cane fields might solve the labor problem now confronting the sugar planters.

The use of Italian labor in the South has proved a success, and these settlers are becoming valuable citizens to the community. Like the Southern States, Hawaii should encourage the right kind of immigration instead of hoping against hope in the expectation that the Chinese Exclusion Act will be abolished or amended. The Atlanta Constitution has the following to say regarding the class of Italian labor in the South:

"The Italians have demonstrated in Texas, Arkansas, and Louisiana their capability as farm laborers and tenants. Already there are thousands of Italians on the farm lands of these States, and they are doing wonders in comparison with what the average negro farm hand or tenant accomplishes. There is in some sections strong prejudice against Italians, but it may be stated in their behalf that they thoroughly understand the intensive methods of culture, are not afraid of work, are easy to get along with, and have in them the making of good citizens. It is said they take very readily to cotton cultivation and are able to increase production on a given acreage one-third."

A LETTER was received in Hilo by the last mail from Delegate Kalamanaole, in which he mentioned that he had succeeded in obtaining an item second in the general Rivers and Harbors Bill, providing for a survey and estimate for a breakwater at Hilo. This initial step was obtained after a very hard fight, and our Delegate is now endeavoring to persuade and has some assurances that the Rivers and Harbors Committee will come out a year from this summer and inspect both Honolulu and Hilo harbors. This is the first step toward the breakwater, and it is hoped that the visit of the Committee referred to, may bear fruit. At any rate by the time they arrive the survey will have been either fully completed or under way. Now that Prince Kuhio has started the ball rolling, it is to be hoped that there will be no obstacles placed in his way, and that the whole of Hilo will unite their efforts in bringing to pass this much needed improvement to the harbor.

It is gratifying to notice the interest which the members of the Young Men's Republican Club take in matters, other than strictly political. It was thought that after the election the Club would disintegrate, having no immediate campaign to hold them together. But the officers of the Club are to be congratulated on the manner in which they are bringing their members to take an active interest in public works and general legislation. The Club in their report have set forth in a concise manner the needs of the several districts, and there need be no necessity of petitions on every little subject. Our legislators know now to a certainty what their constituents want, and what is of the most immediate need. There seems to be no reason why the Young Men's Republican Club should not be to the whole east side of Hawaii, what the Hilo Board of Trade is to Hilo.

BRUGHELLI'S LEGLESS MULE.

The correspondence resulting from Governor Carter's mule-killing episode on Hawaii last spring when on his tour of Hawaii, is growing interesting. The Governor claims he found the mule with a broken leg tied to a tree and abandoned. He and Secretary Atkinson procured a gun and shot the mule to put it out of its misery. F. Brughelli, who claims to have been the owner of the animal, wrote, asking the Governor to recommend the legislature to pay for the mule. The Governor wrote back calling Brughelli a fool or a knave. Brughelli, nothing daunted comes back and says the Governor don't know when a mule's leg is broken because a mule has to have at least three legs to stand on and hence if one was broken he couldn't have got one of the remaining three ones over the halter, as the Governor says he did. Which, if the argument is sound doesn't leave the Governor even one leg to stand on.—Honolulu Star.

DANGER OF EXPLOSIVES.

The Reckless Handling of Dynamite by Ignorant Japanese.

The Oriental indifference of the value of human life, may have something to do with their taking such risks in handling gunpowder and dynamite. Sheriff Searle's attention was called to the fact very forcibly last week at the Hilo Railroad depot at the foot of Waiannanue street, when a Japanese laborer picked up a truck load of boxes filled with dynamite and dumped them down in a corner with the utmost unconcern. When remonstrated with the Jap replied "no pilikia, me sabe!"

"I was waiting," said the Sheriff, "for the departure of the train to go to Mountain View last week, when on my way to Hilea for my family. There were five boxes of stick dynamite, labeled 'handle with care,' which the Japanese warehouseman loaded onto a truck and wheeled into the freight car and dumped into one corner. The pyramid of boxes swayed to and fro, the topmost box nearly toppling to the floor. Every instant I expected to see the entire shipment explode, the Japanese, myself, the car and the lower end of town blown into atoms. There was enough dynamite in that truck load to have made a hole in the earth where half of Hilo had been before. I stood aghast at the recklessness of the man who could so fearlessly handle such a dangerous commodity. When I could sufficiently recover my breath, I was able to say 'Why, man, did you know that's dynamite you were carrying?' He only gave a laugh and said 'No pilikia, me sabe,' and proceeded with loading other freight. I am not prepared to say that this man was violating any law in thus recklessly handling this explosive, but had it not been that the train was pulling out, I would have arrested him on the spot as committing a nuisance. Such negligence of human life and property, is little less than criminal and there should be a law to reach these people who do not protect the public from what might be a catastrophe.

"On the top of this experience, while returning with my family on the Volcano road, the driver of the vehicle which contained my children nearly ran over three loose sticks of giant powder left in the road by the laborers who had gone to their lunch. If these had been struck between the wheels and the hard stones, there would have been a loss of life or limb in that carriage, which I do not like to think of. Now, I propose to take active steps to see that explosives are not so loosely handled. Every contractor or individual who deals in powder or dynamite, should impress upon his employees and persons handling the dangerous commodity, to handle it with care. To be sure 'familiarity breeds contempt,' they say, but the public safety should not be menaced by the carelessness of ignorant persons."

Porto Rico vs. China.

What might have proven a serious complication of inter-national affairs, and what might have added another murder to the criminal annals of the year, occurred last Thursday at nine miles, Olan, but fortunately through the intervention of neutral powers no blood was shed. It seemed that Cruz Enandes entered the home of his brother-in-law Ching Po at nine miles and proceeded to whittle the handle of his cane knife with the butcher knife of his recently acquired relation. The Celestial began to remonstrate at the reckless manner in which his sharp knife was being used in whittling not only the wood but also the iron part of the cane knife. The Porto Rican thinking it below his dignity to be called down by his brother-in-law started in to carve him up with the cane knife, but fortunately the by-standers with a short struggle succeeded in disarming him. His trial is now on before Judge Hapai in the District Court.

Volcano Stables Elects Officers.

The annual meeting of the Volcano Stables & Transportation Company, Limited, was held on February 11th, 1905, and the following officers were elected: C. C. Kennedy, President; J. A. Scott, Vice President; A. M. Wilson, Secretary; August Hamburg, Treasurer; E. N. Holmes, Auditor; and J. T. Moir, Director. The report of Manager Wright showed an increase in the value of the properties, and that the business was in a flourishing condition. The meeting was adjourned until March 11th, when there will be another Director elected.

A Coffee Shop Farmer.

The coffee shop philosopher of the Hilo Herald does not believe in small farming because he once tried truck farming way up the mountain and failed. There is a story, that he wrote to the agricultural editor of an Eastern newspaper asking if guano was good on potatoes, and got the answer that it might be for people whose tastes were vitiated with whiskey and tobacco, but as for the editor, he preferred salt and butter. Upon this the sage of the coffee shop bought butter to his limit and put a small roll in each hill, carefully sprinkling the top with fine table salt. Not a potato came up, but a few onions did, as the coffee pundit had planted a crop of them for spuds. As soon as he saw his error, the mocha granger wrote again and was told to take the onions out carefully, cover them with bees-wax and put them back. To kill insects, the editor told him to soak the ground thoroughly with kerosene and then set it on fire. He did as directed, with the result that his crop was a failure, and since then the chicory savant has felt as distrustful of small farming, as the Bulletin man did of dairy farming, after he tried to bring up the office calf with the wind pump used to increase the circulation.—Sunday Advertiser.

PETITION FOR SALE OF REAL PROPERTY.

On reading and filing the petition of J. Castle Ridgway, Administrator of the Estate of Albert K. Nawai, deceased, praying for an order of sale of one-half interest belonging to the Estate in the following described real property, to-wit: All that certain piece or parcel of land situate near Volcano street, at Kukanan Second, Hilo, Island and Territory of Hawaii, conveyed by and described in L. C. A. 3,206, Royal Patent 2,478, and conveyed in equal moieties to the said Albert K. Nawai and Edward L. Like by a deed of conveyance from Kabanaleana (w), dated March 27, 1887, recorded in the office of the Registrar of Conveyances, Honolulu, in Liber 106, pages 239-240; to which said Royal Patent and Deed of Conveyance reference is hereby made for a more particular description of said land; said land, containing an area of 2,996 fathoms, more or less, one-half of which being the whole of the real property of the Estate of Albert K. Nawai, deceased.

And said petition setting forth legal reason why such real estate should be sold, to-wit: that there is not sufficient personal property in the hands of the Administrator with which to pay the debts of said estate, and that it would be for the best interests of said estate to sell the above described realty for the purpose of paying said debts and expenses of administration.
It is hereby ordered that all persons interested in said estate appear before this Court on Tuesday, the 28th day of February, A. D. 1905, at 10 o'clock a. m., at the Courtroom of this Court in Hilo, Hawaii, then and there to show cause why an order of sale should not be granted.
