A Lull in the Matrimonial Market—Where Some Diplomats Will Spend the Summer—Notes About Many Well Known People.

The President and Mrs. Harrison enjoyed the Fourth of July "under their own vine and fig tree" at Cape May, surrounded by the different connections of the family now sojourning in this part of the country. Mrs. Parker and Mrs. Dimmick went to Cape May Point on Wednesday for the season. The President, accompanied by Lieutenant Parker, of the Navy, left the White House on Friday morning and reached Cape May Point the afternoon of the same day. The Presidential mansion now passes into the hands of repairers and decorators, and will not be occupied for at least six weeks. Cape May Point is now virtually the Capital.

A quiet but pretty wedding took place at noon on the 30th at St. Andrew's Church, when Dr. Andrew J. Brown and Miss Grace Ruter Dufour were united in marriage. The officiating clergyman was Rev. Dr. J. B. Perry, rector of St. Andrew's. Miss Anna M. Rous, of Lake Providence, La., a cousin of the bride, acted as maid of honor, while the best man was Mr. Ruter W. Springer, also a cousin of the bride's, and son of Hon. William M. Springer, of Illinois. Dr. Brown is a native of New Castle, Del., and is a member of one of its oldest families. Though comparatively a new resident of this city, his genial manners and good business qualities have won him a large number of friends. Miss Dufour is a descendant on both sides of her house of the staunchest old pioneer families of Indiana. Her paternal grandfather was Hon. John F. Dufour, a member of one of the Swiss families of note that came to this country in 1803 and settled in Switzerland County, Ind., where they were the first grape growers and wine manufacturers in this country. Judge J. F. Dufour occupied many places of honorable trust, was a member of Indiana's first Legislature, postmaster for years of Beavay, his chosen residence, and judge probate. Miss Dufour's father, Hon. Oliver Dufour, has been long and well known in the District as an upright gentleman, and was a member of the Indiana State Legislature in 1853 and 1854. Miss Dufour has for several years been the popular organist of various churches, and at the time of her marriage occupied that position at the E-street Baptist. Dr. and Mrs. Brown are away on a brief bridal trip. By the 30th they will be ready to receive their friends at 1827 G street northwest, their future residence.

The groom was formerly a resident of Cincinnati, but of late years has resided in Washington. He is a brother of Emily Thornton Charles ("Emily Hawthorne"), author of many lyrical poems, and a constant newspaper contributor. Major Thornton is an intimate personal friend of President Harrison, and was one of the first to enlist in Harrison's regiment. The wedding was a leading social event in Cincinnati, over 600 guests being present. Numerous gifts were received by the happy couple to beautify their suburban home at Brightwood, where they are now at home to their friends.

How Rapidly Time Glides.

It seems but a little while ago since we first came among you and yet when we pause and think we find that a whole year has slipped by. When we first decided to locate in Washington we looked around for a good place in which to begin an energetic and honest business. We were more fortunate than most newcomers. We were whose proprietor's name was enough to guarantee the most upright business on the highest basis and most elevated scale. When we bought out Mr. E. G. Davis we determined that not only should the good name of the house remain unimpaired, but if there was any possible way in which we could add lustre to it, we would spare no pains to not only make the name of the house the most brilliant, but also to make it stand foremost as the most reliable MERCHANDISING place in Washington. Naturally when we first came here we felt some trepidation as to how we would be received. That soon passed when we saw how the public appreciated HONEST and MODERN BUSINESS PRINCIPLES, and we felt very grateful for the appreciation the ladies have shown us. We have done everything in our power to merit the same. Our MOTTO is and shall ever be to strive in every way to PLEASE and ACCOMMODATE EVERY ONE and to deal SQUARELY with every person who trades with us. You know full well by this time that we NEVER ADVERTISE ANYTHING that we DO NOT have. Neither do we advertise reductions unless they ARE ACTUAL REDUCTIONS. Do you remember the great clearing sale that we held last July when we first opened and were selling off Mr. Davis' stock? Do you remember the great bargains you were offered then? We are going to have another just such sale THIS JULY, beginning on the 6th. We are going to modernize the interior of our store in August and this sale will be held to make room for the carpenters. It will be our remodeling sale. Keep track of our ADVERTISEMENTS, as they divulge valuable information in regard to this great clearing and remodeling sale. We give you a small list of these bargains to-day. We haven't space for a large list, but look at the list in Monday's Star.

WESLEY HEIGHTS!

ADJOINING THE GROUNDS OF THE AMERICAN UNIVERSITY.

Have you visited Wesley Heights? It is only a thirty minutes' drive from the centre of Washington to this beautiful suburb. If you take the electric cars, get off at the power house of the electric road and take the short cut. After a walk of ten minutes you will find yourself in a charming spot, with magnificent views, fine shade, and good water. Just the place for an ideal suburban home.

The Heights is one of the highest points within the District, and is very picturesque and romantic. The ground slopes gently from its crest toward the city, and is all available for building purposes.

The extension of Massachusetts avenue will give this property a direct line of communication with the city, and will assure a magnificent driveway to the University grounds. Ultimately the avenue will be the most fashionable thoroughfare leading out into the northwest suburbs.

With past experiences westward, the prices of land have far exceeded the most sanguine expectations of all holders, and to-day outside capital will buy real estate in the northwestern part of the District when it cannot be induced to touch property elsewhere.

From long experience capital is more willing to develop and look for a prospective profit than to deal in securities that only pay a small rate of interest.

Taking into consideration what has been done in and about Washington during the past ten years it would seem that this subdivision, being so advantageously situated, at the prices offered is hardly an atom of its prospective value. To-day it offers an unusual opportunity to this community for safe and profitable investments when its success is already a foregone conclusion.

If you contemplate purchasing do so at once. The best lots are being sold.

Prices, $375 to $750 per Lot.

TERMS, ONE-FIFTH CASH; BALANCE IN TWO, THREE, FOUR YEARS.

Clients wishing to inspect the property, by calling at the office, can make arrangements to drive out at 6 o'clock on any pleasant evening.
