

THE DAY'S DOINGS.

MORNING.

Mr. Adams' Regular Cash Sale at Sales Room, at 10.

AFTERNOON.

Sunday School Social; Bethel Vestry, 3:30.

The California Furniture Manufacturing Company.

A few days ago as our reporter wandered promiscuously about in search of news, he happened to go into the above premises, and being greatly interested in what he saw, he took notes and describes his visit in the following lines:

The establishment is situated on Queen street, in the next building to Messrs. W. G. Irwin & Co., and the first view does not strike the eye with that amount of gorgeousness of which a more thorough search gives the impression. It is unlike most things in this sublunary sphere—it improves on acquaintance. The more you see of it the better you like it.

On the ground floor there are three rooms. Taking the back one as the first one to be viewed, we find it full of material for stuffing mattresses, "pure and unadulterated" hair—Eureka vegetable hair, &c. This last is made from the California soap-root. The root is described as being something like a cocoanut, but growing underground. It is torn into fibres, which, to the uninitiated, bear such a close resemblance to animal hair, that it is impossible to decide, without comparison, which is which. The animal hair comes in twisted ropes, and is then untwisted by hand and put through the "picker." This machine is something like a grindstone bristling with sharp teeth and enclosed in a wooden cover to prevent the fragments of hair flying about in any but the required direction.

The next apartment is the workshop. Although the finer kinds of furniture are imported still the work done here is good and much of it will compare favorably with the imported article both in design and execution. Here are kept the best black Bessener steel springs for mattresses and no others are used in the shop. Old mattresses too can be renovated and made as springy as new—which is undoubtedly a boon to the thrifty housewife.

Leaving the workshop we enter the sales department, and gaze with curious eyes on the excellent and elegant display. A lot of new goods just opened and hardly arranged were the first things that attracted our attention, and we made instant resolves and calculations that when the new-paper business began to pay better than we would launch out into the purchase of gorgeous furniture similar to this. But on enquiring we found that the prices of most of these beautiful and useful articles would not drain our slender purse. Reasonable prices for everything, and a determination not to be undersold in quality or price by any house in the trade, is the motto of the firm, and it is truthfully carried out. Bedroom suites of black walnut with marble-topped bureaus, bevelled edge mirrors, Californian cedar suites sweetly redolent of the forest, knock-down wardrobes, office tables, chairs in all styles were rapidly glanced over. Amongst the most striking were, a bedroom suite in mahogany and ash, made in Grand Rapids, Michigan, with bevelled French mirror, marble-topped bureau and combination washstand;

a Mexican primavera suite; a magnificent suite in black walnut with French burl and carved ebony panels, Tennessee marble and bevelled French mirror an elegant spring-back and seat; arm-chair upholstered in raw and spun silk, just soft enough to make one wish to sit forever; a little table with Mexican onyx top; but why particularize? Go and see for yourselves. Before leaving the ground floor the aesthetic sunflower of the establishment struck up some good music on one of the finest toned pianos in the country. Neufeld of Berlin is the maker, and every piano player in Honolulu should go and hear the revelation of its rich full tones. Then going upstairs we entered the show room for drawing room furniture. Elegance and comfort hold their sway here—from the sofa to the Hoey pattern double bed-lounge, everything is produced so as to give the double pleasures of use and beauty. "Jewel" chariot chairs for babies, folding up combination springbeds, "Gardner" perforated chair-seats, Patent "Tucker" spring mattresses, "Domestic" woven wire mattresses, folding chairs, Kou furniture, bookshelves were viewed in such rapid succession as to leave us in a state of hopeless bewilderment as to which were the especial objects of our choice. Still, we do not despair of finding out yet. Mr. A. M. Bradley, the courteous and well-informed manager, then bade us farewell at the door, and we wended our way along the street only to fall into the clutches of Mr. E. P. Adams, the agent for the Company, who quickly renovated our overburdened mind with the practical inquiry of how much we had bought. We leave him to the mercies of our readers, who will not, we are sure, when they view his stock, come away without at least making a fair exchange of coin for his furniture.

MR. EDITOR,—SIR,—I hope you will allow me space in your columns to express my indignation at the carelessness of the gunners at the battery on Punchbowl, in overloading their guns yesterday, for the salute. Not only were houses shaken and things knocked down by the concussion, but one of my children was frightened almost into a fit. I am sure others in the neighborhood were annoyed in the same way. Why don't they use the battery down on the shore for the purpose? and thus no longer cause indignation to

A FATHER.

SHIPPING NOTES.

The Amy Turner arrived in New York on the 26th of August, with a cargo of about 1,500 tons of sugar. The bark C. R. Bishop left New York for Bremen on the 18th of August, and will probably leave the latter place for Honolulu in October.

The Eureka took 3,225 packages of sugar and the Ella 2,778 packages of sugar, 112 barrels of molasses, and 1,044 packages of rice.

The U. S. S. Alaska arrived yesterday at noon, 39 days from Callao.

The bark W. H. Almy arrived yesterday after a short passage of 14 days. Amongst the rest of her cargo were 20 fine horses for Mr. John McKeague.

Miss ROSY MAKEE gave a very enjoyable party at the residence of Mr. Hastings, Beretania street. It was quite a pleasant and informal gathering.

We hear that Colonel Spreckels, with his usual liberality, has given $100 to a native church on Kauai.

How pleasant it is to spend a few weeks at the beach. Happy beach! Happy bridge!! Happy boys!!!

THE Alaska is in Harbor. Comments by two citizens: No. 1, alas! she's here. No. 2, at last she's here.

CAPT. HARVEY of the Oberon has lost his pets and Mr. Brodie gained his protectors. We doubt if even the "beast with a bill" would be brave enough to dun Mr. Brodie now!

We hear that a gentleman who has lately retired from business, has received a Government appointment. He is to count the mynah birds—with the rank of Major. Will he drill the birds when counted? yer know! Who knows?

MR. J. WILLIAMS the photographer, has produced a splendid specimen of his art in the portrait of the Hon. S. G. Wilder, now on view in Mr. Oats' window. He has also a fine one on view at his own shop on Fort street of Mr. Pogue of Maui. They are well worthy inspection.

We are enabled to lay the following statistics before our readers by the courtesy of the Post Office officials: From San Francisco, per Kalakaua, Aug. 31, 993 letters, 409 lbs. newspapers; per Lady Lampson, Sept. 2, 288 letters, 105 lbs. newspapers; per City of Sydney, Sept. 3, 3,086 letters, 1,075 lbs. newspapers; per Almy, Sept. 6, 12 letters.

WILDER & Co. are adding to the convenience of foot passengers and the neatness of their own building, by putting a curbstone on the sidewalk along Queen and Fort streets, and making the foot-path even and solid. It would be a good thing if a few more of our business men would be as enterprising in adding to the comfort and neatness of the streets.

We extract the following from a private schedule of plantation equipments, for the amusement of our readers:—"1 very old upright piano, worthless; 2 broken chairs in dining room; 1 small and very old stove in kitchen; 2 old chairs; 6 old and torn curtains; 1 old spring wagon, badly broken; 1 feed cutter, worthless; 1 set of old harness, not much account; 1 rosea horse, in very poor condition; 1 sorrel horse, good, but in poor condition; 1 brown horse, old, in fair condition; 1 rosea horse, poor and almost dead."

We are informed that Mr. Purvis received a packet of cinchona seeds, by the last mail, direct from Ceylon. The seeds were sent to Hamakua on Tuesday for planting there as an experiment. Since the medicinal properties of the cinchona were first made known to Europeans over a century ago, the demand for the bark has been so great as to cause serious fears of a cessation in the supply from its native place, the Andes of South America. The culture of the tree has been successfully tried in other places and it is to be hoped that the experiment will succeed here and Hawaii nei may add another article to her list of profitable exports.
