

them give part of their food to visiting friends. The orders given me are not to allow them to keep chickens here, because they feed their rations to the chickens. Their friends are all put out about it too. I put a stop to them feeding chickens and their friends. (He again referred to Father Damien and other assistants, and assured the committee that all those complaints were without foundation.) In regard to the complaints that he took a coat belonging to one patient that died here: it is true that I have that coat in my possession, but I came by it in a perfectly fair manner. That coat was given to another patient and it was too large for him and I exchanged a jacket of my own for it. In regard to accusations that I have been partial in giving out clothing, the practice is that when patients die their clothing is kept and dealt out to others. There has been no partiality shown. I have not kept any for myself. As to the complaint that I do not allow them to keep chickens or pigs here, those were my orders from Mr. Hutchinson, my superior, and I have simply carried out his orders. In regard to the complaint about charging people for waiting on them, some require more attention than others and are charged more for bringing food to them. As to the people being left without attention to die, I refer you to Father Damien, that I have frequently gone after him to attend people when they were very low. A great deal of this opposition to me is caused by my enforcing strict rules against improper amusements, such as hula dancing and gambling. The beef has been poor, but if a large number, say 500 head, of cattle were sent here, part of them to be butchered on arrival and the rest fattened up, it would be better.

Ambrose Hutchinson (overseer) said: In regard to the people in the hospital the Board has men hired to bury them when dead. Those who live outside with their friends it is expected should be buried by their friends. Sometimes a man dies outside who has no friends, and as soon as I find it out I see that he is buried. As to the man carrying water he is employed by the Board to do their carrying. The Board gives him $8 a month and the storekeeper $5, making $13. He charges 50 cents a load for water. Some of them want it for coffee shops. If there is any packages to be carried for the people there is no charge. (To Mr. Thurston.) The majority of lepers carry water. They get water from Waihana, about a mile. The well at Kalaupapa is brackish. The poi is carried from Pelekuu and Waihole, and formerly the people suffered much from exposure in waiting for it. A few years ago a leper died from that cause. It is taken from Waihana now in boats to Kalaupapa. A steamer would be the proper thing, as then there would be no delay. The beef is not such as the people cannot eat, but it is not fat beef. The first two or three weeks after strange cattle come here they run down, but afterward they pick up. In regard to rice and bread, what we get is number two rice. California bread is better than Oregon bread. The latter looks well, but there is an objectionable flavor to it that they do not like. Two pounds of pait last me a week. If a man eats it himself it will last him a week. The weighing machine is exactly correct. I would make one suggestion to the President of the Board and the committee, that is that seven pounds of bread is barely sufficient. The portion of rice is nine pounds. I do not know why they should not have nine pounds of each. Each man receives an order of $6 for goods and takes his choice. The choice of merchandise or money was discontinued about a year ago. Some would rather have money and I think some should have money. Some would abuse it and some would not. Some would gamble to the last stitch of clothes on their backs.

Rev. Father Damien, asked by Mr. Gibson about the care of lepers and if there was any possibility of their being left in neglect, said: They are taken very good care of, but do not have the benefit of regular nurses. There is some pillkia, something lacking, but I think it will be better. (Mr. Dickey—Do you have sufficient medical attendance?) The official doctor is not here very often. When he is here he is all right. (Mr. Thurston—Cannot you get medicine in the hospital when the doctor is not here?) There is a certain supply left. (Mr. Thurston—Is it necessary for a doctor to live here all the time?) If the doctor is not here somebody should be here to act under his instructions. The doctor has the key, but we will break open the door and you can see.

Mr. Hutchinson—Dr. Mouritz is a very good doctor—very kind and sociable—but Hawaiians will be Hawaiians, and cast his medicine aside and use the medicine of their own doctors, and that discourages him. So far Dr. Mouritz is a better doctor than any before him.

Mr. Dickey—I heard a complaint to-day that the doctor would not go to see people, but made them come to him here.

Mr. Hutchinson—If word comes that a man is very sick the doctor goes right to him. If a man when sick is attended by a kahuna the doctor will have nothing to do with him. Mr. Dickey—Are there any kahunas here? Mr. Hutchinson—Kahunas! Yes; nearly everybody is a kahuna. Father Damien—I would say to you that an appropriation should be made for bringing water to Kalaupapa. Mr. Thurston—Is there a sufficient regular supply in the valley? Father Damien—No; there is not. There is enough to supply water here in the yard. An informal conversation ensued between Father Damien, the President of the Board of Health and members of the Legislature, on the subject of a proper water supply, as the gathering broke up.

HOMEWARD BOUND. At noon the party assembled at Kalaupapa to take ship for home. Here the operation of landing cattle was observed, fifty head of fat beasts having just arrived by the steamer Kilauea Hou, from Hon. Sam. Parker's ranch on Hawaii. They were lowered from the vessel into the water and then led toward the shore by boatmen, who let them go after getting them headed right, when they swam into shallow water and then climbed up over the rocks. All the Likelike's company were on board in time for a start at 20 minutes after 1 o'clock, and away she sped for Honolulu. A large throng of lepers had assembled at the landing, and in the small space doubtless many of the visitors felt a little uneasy at compulsory contact with the most loathsome of all diseases, during the few minutes in which they waited on the gangway for the boats. Any description of the appearance of the advanced cases would be too repulsive for the ordinary reader, therefore such a thing has not been attempted. The passage to Honolulu was very agreeable, and performed in the quick time of four hours and forty minutes. The Kilauea Hou, which left Kalaupapa twenty-five minutes ahead of the Likelike, was overhauled and passed at a quarter to 3. Lunch was served the passengers immediately on going aboard, an abundant dinner at 2 o'clock, and refreshments, to those who had renewed their appetites just before the vessel came into port. Everybody agreed in praising the splendid arrangements for the excursion, which made it thoroughly successful so far as individual and collective enjoyment was concerned, and Mr. Wilder's liberality will not soon be forgotten by any of those who participated in the visit to Molokai on July 17, 1886.

HONOLULU RIFLES. EDITOR BULLETIN:—A year or so ago the Honolulu Rifles was a very popular company. It had a large membership which was continually increasing, and the organization possessed every indication of becoming a light star in the social history of the Hawaiian Islands. But now the company has, through mismanagement and adverse circumstances, dwindled down to about one score and ten active members. If the Rifles could obtain a centrally located armory for themselves only, where they could meet every evening, hold debates, read, play at chess or checkers or indulge in gymnastic exercise, where they could have a monthly hop or exhibition drill, the company would soon regain its former popularity and become the leading military company of this city. N. Y. Z.

A GREAT DISCOVERY. EDITOR BULLETIN:—It is indeed satisfactory to learn from the P. C. Advertiser reporter's interview with Mr. Claus Spreckels, that the powerful influence of this gentleman is shortly to secure for Honolulu the laying down of the pipes which have so long disfigured the Nuuanu road and letting the water through them, an obvious and necessary measure which every man of sense has cried out for since the pipes were put there. Nay more, some six years ago the whole line for piping was thoroughly surveyed under Mr. Wilder's administration, and had he remained in office the work would have been done.

All Honolulu believes Mr. Spreckels to have been the one efficient power whose financial aid has kept in office the inefficient, corrupt and incompetent Gibson ministries who have hitherto prevented this necessary and obvious improvement. And now the P. C. A. has the check to claim for him the whole merit of it. Mr. Spreckels is beginning to find out that a poisonous tree cannot produce good fruit. We may hope to find him clear round yet on the side of the honest and law-abiding business community. CITIZEN.

RESOLUTIONS. Rep. Keau gave notice of a bill to remove all taxes from church property. Rep. Richardson moved the following: Whereas through the courtesy of the honorable noble S. G. Wilder, the members of this Assembly were enabled to pay a visit to the leper settlement on Molokai on Saturday the 17th on the steamer Likelike, therefore resolved that this Assembly do now tender its thanks to the honorable noble for his hospitality. Passed unanimously.

Rep. Aholo read a bill giving notice of some time ago, to amend an act to regulate the receipt, custody and issue of public moneys. The hon. member said the old law provides that the salary of the Auditor-General shall not be reduced; but the Appropriation Bill submitted by the Ministers proposed to reduce the salary from $12,000 to $9,000. The object of this amendment is to enact that the Auditor-General be paid what the Legislature approves.

Rep. Keau moved that all committees to whom were referred resolutions, petitions, bills or items of the Appropriation Bill be ordered to report within five days from the 20th inst. Rep. Kalua moved the resolution be indefinitely postponed.

Rep. Liliakani supported the motion. The resolution was put and carried. Rep. Aholo read a bill to provide a permanent settlement of $150 per annum on Daniel Napela, an aged teacher of 40 years service.
