SHIPPING NOTES.
The bark Kakaia, Capt Henderson, arrived this morning 17 days from Tahiti.
Capt Ross and Mr Oathart, who went on the Kakaia, returned by her. Capt Cook, "The Pirate," as he calls himself, has also come by the bark. Capt Cook left Honolulu as chief officer of the brig Hazard about 10 months ago. He left the Hazard at Rarotonga and shipped on the New Zealand trader, Julia Price, which was recently wrecked.
The Captain arrived at Tahiti the day the Kakaia did, and he shipped on her.
The Kakaia did not make a very profitable trip. About 82 head of the cattle died during the passage. The schooner Pichee Chapman, Capt Lovell, which left here several months ago for Tahiti had not arrived. The yacht Caseo was at Tahiti and is coming to Honolulu.

THE BULLETIN acknowledges with thanks a fine slice of wedding cake from the parties whose marriage is recorded in another column. May life to them be ever as full of sweetness as is the cake!

It is no hard matter to get bunches of bananas within a few miles of Honolulu, and considerably exceeding 100 pounds each, and the Boston record of 160 pounds can be beaten by a variety of native banana which grows wild in some of the gulches on the Islands.

of the restaurant on Marine street, near the fish market, recently conducted by Joe Roderique. The new

A PAY BALL ON THE 16TH.

The 16th of this month is the King's birthday, and is a public holiday. Of late years it has been observed as the regular annual regatta day, but no preparation appears to have been made in that direction this year. The only events so far announced for the 16th are the shooting match at the H. R. A. range and the ball of Engine Co.
No. 1, which latter event is to take place on the evening of that day, in the Armory of the Honolulu Rifles.
Every preparation is being made to ensure popularity and success. The personnel of the several committees entrusted with the various duties appertaining to the ball, are a strong guarantee of success as far as preparations and arrangements are concerned. The rest is entirely in the hands of the public, and can be supplemented by their attendance. To bring it within the reach of all, admission is placed at the unusually moderate figure of one dollar. Tickets may be procured at the bookstores, or of members of the committee.

A VALUABLE PROPERTY.

On the 26th of the present month, if not privately disposed of before that date, Mr. L. J. Levey will sell at auction, by order of Hon. H. A.
Widemann, a valuable property at Waikiki. The property comprises about 27 1/2 acres of land in fee simple, of which about twelve acres are set out in fish ponds and eight acres planted with manieia grass. The fish ponds are stocked with the varieties of fish known as mullet, carp, and awa. These are now ready for market. The grass land is very productive, and yields three crops per annum. Mowing machines, hay presses, wagons, and other utensils belonging to a well-appointed farm go with the land. There is a neat little nearly new cottage of three rooms and numerous out-buildings on the premises.

Along with the property above mentioned, and immediately joining it in the rear, is a leasehold of nearly two acres, with buildings thereon.
It is well adapted for, and is at present stocked with, pigs and poultry.
These, with the leasehold, will be included in the sale of the freehold property.

The location of the property adds to its value. It is by the side of the Waikiki road, between Sunny South and the Bath House. The tramway will pass within a few feet of it, and is now nearly completed so far.
Full particulars can be obtained by application to Mr. F. W. Macfarlane or to Mr. L. J. Levey.

BRIDAL WREATHS.

A BRILLIANT WEDDING AT THE CENTRAL UNION CHURCH.

On Thursday evening at the Central Union Church, Mr. Edwin Austin Jones, son of Mr. P. C. Jones, of the house of Chas. Brewer & Co., was united in marriage to Miss Isabel M. Fuller, daughter of Captain Andrew Fuller, harbor master. The decorations at the church won general admiration. In front of the pulpit platform was a beautiful bank of evergreens and white flowers, while on the platform itself stood large pots of elegant ferns. On the pulpit desk was an immense bouquet of the choicest flowers. From the front of the organ to each side of the choir gallery was extended wreaths of smilax, and on the choir desks stood potted ferns. The whole effect was very unique.

Shortly before the time announced for the ceremony Mrs. A. F. Judd played appropriate selections on the organ with her wonted skill. Punctually at 7:30 o'clock the familiar strains of the Lohengrin Bridal March were heard from the organ announcing the arrival of the bridal party which entered the church in the following order: The ushers, Messrs. A. W. Carter, J. O. Carter, Jr., W. H. Lewers and S. A. Mon-serratt; Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Jones, Mr. E. Faxon Bishop, best man and Miss Clara Fuller, bridesmaid, the bridegroom and Mrs. A. Fuller, the bride and her father, Captain A.
Fuller.

The church was well filled by a distinguished company of specially invited friends. After the bridal party had taken position in front of the pulpit platform the Rev. E. G.
Beckwith, D. D., pastor of Central Union Church, commenced the ceremony, using the beautiful service of the Episcopal Church of America.
The Rev. Doctor read it in a most impressive manner and the responses by the bride and groom were distinctly heard all over the church. At the close of the ceremony the bridal party left the church to the strains of the Men-delsohn Wedding March.

A reception was held later at the residence of the brides parents, Kukui street. As the newly married couple arrived at the house they were again greeted with the familiar strains of the Mendelssohn Wedding March, which was stationed on the lawn in front of the house. The reception was held in the main parlor. The house was most beautifully decorated with flowers, such as can only be found in a tropical climate, as well as with evergreens, and everywhere could be seen floral pieces and huge bouquets. The piano in the reception room was one bank of lovely flowers, and attracted much attention. The whole effect of the decorations was exceedingly pretty.

The bridal couple received in one corner of the room standing underneath an exquisite floral bell wrought of white chrysanthemums and roses.
The invited guests as they arrived were received in the most cordial manner by Capt. and Mrs. Fuller and then presented to the newly married couple by the ushers. On either side stood Mr. and Mrs. P. C.
Jones and the bridesmaid and best man. For over two hours there was one continuous stream of invited guests, the house being taxed to its utmost capacity.

The bride was attired in a lovely costume of white faille Francais with train and the usual veil. The presents were displayed in a room to themselves and the writer is unable to describe the beautiful array.
One might have gone through the room a dozen times and then not have seen one half of them. A more elegant display has seldom been seen in this city, and only goes to show the high esteem in which the young couple are held in this community. One present is a residence in Nuuanu Avenue hand-somerly furnished, the future home of the happy pair. They start out on life's journey in the most auspicious manner, and the BULLETIN joins in wishing them many years of happiness.

Refreshments in abundance were served during the evening and all present had a slice of the wedding cake, itself a work of art. The Royal Hawaiian Band played appropriate selections during the evening and it was after 10 o'clock when the last of the guests took their departure. The newly married couple are spending the honeymoon at the summer residence of Hon. S. M. Damon, Waikiki.

Among the invited guests were:
His Majesty the King, attended by Mr. Jas. W. Robertson, Vice-Chamberlain, Hon. A. S. Cleghorn, His Honor the Chief Justice and Mrs. Judd, His Excellency the U. S.
Minister Resident and Mrs. Merrill, NEWS ITEMS.

Mrs. Acton, an American lady, has made a pedestrian tour of five hundred miles in Scotland, wheeling her two small children in a baby carriage. She was walking for her health, by the advice of physicians, and it helped her.

The autumn fashions in London all promise to be gorgeous. The liking for strong color is triumphing over esthetic prejudice. Houses are being painted in strong tones of orange, and there are other indications of a reversal of public taste.

The portion of the Great St. Bernard pass which has hitherto been available for pedestrians and mules only is about to be converted into a carriage road, and the necessary funds for the work have been voted by the Swiss Council.

The King of the Netherlands, who is dying, has been in a precarious state for several months, and now is wheeled about from room to room in a chair, and is even unable to sign his name.

The discussion about marriage in England leads a lady thirty years married to make this criticism on the prayer book: "The Anglican service lowers the wife and sets the husband on a pedestal not at all suitable to him, filling him with notions of marital supremacy which are the cause of half the unhappiness of married life."

The French have discovered a method of making smokeless powder, the detonations of which are scarcely audible, so that the firing will not reveal the whereabouts of an army.
This invention and the superiority of the Lebel rifle have excited great attention in military circles in Europe, and are likely to effect a revolution in warfare.

A band of pirates on board of a junk were recently captured in a most novel manner. A French armed steamer followed the junk up a river, the pirates expecting to escape when night came on. Much to their surprise the steamer had an electric light, which it turned upon the junk and resulted in the capture of the vessel and the pirates.

There are 83 persons in France claiming to be centenarians between one hundred and one hundred and two years of age. The women form a large majority, there being 42 women to 31 men. It is the opinion of a French scientist that the chances of a person in the Nineteenth century reaching one hundred years of age are one in 18,800.

It appears that the Argentine Republic is rapidly advancing toward the position of an important grain exporting country. Immense tracts of pasture are being converted into farm land, and while, a few years ago, not sufficient wheat was raised to supply the home market, the exports of this cereal last year amounted to about seven million bushels.
The number of reapers imported into the country last year was 1,429.
