BASEBALL AT MAKIKI.

Two baseball games were played last Saturday afternoon at the Makiki Recreation Grounds, the Roads & Bridges and Barracks contesting the first at 1:30, while the Pauahis and Kunawals tussled for the second at 3:30 o'clock.

In the former game the Barracks were "downed" by the Roads & Bridges, in a closely contested game. The latter nine did some very clever team work; and showed a tendency to collaring championship honors in the Amateur League. The score stood at the final 10 to 14.

In the second game the Pauahis vanquished the Kunawal in a rather one-sided game, though at intervals, the Pauahis were closely pushed. The second baseman of the Kunawal nine created considerable amusement by his antics while playing, although he "froze" to some very difficult catches. The score stood 6 to 11. J. W. Winter and Dan officiated as umpires in the respective games.

Next Saturday's game in the amateur series will be at Raymond Grove, between the Iwilei and Alii-olani. The Hawaiian band will be in attendance, and also a special "baseball train."

The W. G. Irwin is at present unloading 3000 feet of 1 1/2" pipe; also a consignment of pumping machinery from the Rison Iron Works, San Francisco, for H. P. Faye & Co., Mana, Kauai. The pumps have capacity, running night and day, sufficient to irrigate 600 acres of cane, lifting the water to a height of 50 feet. The engines are compound condensing, with outside packed plunger pumps; the plungers being 1 1/2 inches diameter and 30 inches stroke, and are expected to develop a high duty.

A COMPLIMENTARY moonlight band concert will be given by the Royal Hawaiian Band, at Waikiki Villa, Wednesday evening, in honor of Miss Ruth Ward, a literary visitor, who is stopping at the Villa. Extra trams cars will be put on during the concert for the convenience of the public.

AN old native appeared at the Police Station to-day, to claim sundry blankets and cooking utensils seized by a party searching for a robbers' den in Manoa. He did not care so much for the annoyance of having to come to town for his dunnage, but he took it hard that the officers had broken down his hut. The old man is a collector of malle vines for decorations, and frequently on an expedition has to stay out all night. This accounts for the hut and its equipments.

AND SMITE THE SMITER.

EDITOR BULLETIN:—The Advertiser howls over the dismissal of Turrill and thereby shows plainly to the public his "boodler" propensities.

When, in 1887, Thurston & Co. did not take up the spoils system, by putting the rifle carriers and long-tongued men into good offices, the Advertiser approved. Its disapproval now of the spoils system by the present Ministry is therefore logically correct, quod erat, etc., etc.

The public would like to ask the Advertiser, who is the biggest scoundrel T. or T.? Did the company or the Advertiser feel damp when the one T. was replaced by the other? "O tempora! O More!"—has the P. C. A. any of the latter or did he ever have any?

A MAN NOT ON THE STREET.

EDITOR BULLETIN:—

I have just read the Advertiser's editorial in to-day's paper. Will the editor of the Advertiser be good enough to say what the "Key Note" of the last Administration was on coming into power? If my memory does not play me false, I think, that with the exception of the Chiefs of the Customs, Post Office, and Survey Bureaus, most officers of the preceding Government were removed to make way for proteges and friends of the Reform Party. There was no time lost in making these removals, I believe every one knows. The present Cabinet cannot be accused of acting with undue haste in making any changes and were they to make a clean sweep of all old hands, they surely should not be blamed by the Reform Party for following the example of the late Cabinet.

THE LEGISLATURE.

EIGHTY-THIRD DAY.

MONDAY, SEPT. 22.

The House met at 10 o'clock. Prayer was offered by the Chaplain, Rev. Watanan. Minutes were read by Secretary Chas. Wilcox and Interpreter W. L. Wilcox.

PETITIONS.

Rep. White presented a petition from Labaina, asking for a constitutional convention. Special committee.

Rep. Apiki presented a petition from Kau, that a Hawaiian school there be made an English school. Education committee.

Rep. Nawahi presented a petition from Hilo, and Rep. Kancali one from North Kohala, for a constitutional convention. Special committee.

Minister Cummins announced that it had pleased His Majesty to assent to the following bills:

Appropriating $5000 for legislative expenses. Regulating sale of goods, etc., by traveling agents.

RESOLUTIONS.

Rep. Nawahi read a first time by title his bill to authorize payment of all Government revenues into the Finance Department. Read a second time by title and referred to the finance committee.

Rep. Waipulani read a first time by title his bill to amend the Home-stead Act. Read a second time by title and referred to special committee.

Noble Burchardt read a first time by title his bill to provide sanitary regulations for the sale of milk. Read a second time by title and referred to the sanitary committee.

Rep. Rickard read a first time by title his bill relating to the agents of the Board of Health in the outer districts.

Rep. White read a first time his bill to amend Sec. 388 Civil Code, relating to the fisheries. Read a second time by title and referred to the judiciary committee.

Noble Y. Y. Horner moved that his resolution for night sessions be taken from the table and considered. Carried.

The resolution orders sessions on the nights of Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

Noble Widemann moved an amendment that Sunday from 8 a. m. to 8 p. m. be included.

Noble J. M. Horner said that, as the resolution contained sound sense and the amendment nonsense, he moved that the resolution be adopted.

Rep. Brown moved an amendment that the night sessions begin Wednesday.

Noble von Tempky moved an amendment that the night sessions be Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Noble Marsden moved an amendment that the rule against smoking be suspended.

Rep. Brown said that rule could be suspended at the night sessions.

Rep. Nawahi moved the resolution be indefinitely postponed. He did not believe in working at night. Night was made for the imps of darkness. The complaints about the length of the session came from the wealthy members who could afford to give their time better than himself and others who were not well fixed. The introducer of the resolution had done nothing to expedite the work of the session unless it was by keeping quiet. How many speeches has he made this session?

Noble Pua seconded the motion for indefinite postponement. The town was infested with robbers, and members might meet some of those characters, on the way home from night sessions, or find their homes plundered on their return. Those sugar planters should have thought of the time they would have to spend in the House before seeking election.

Noble Baldwin had opposed the resolution a first and a second time. Now, however, the committee work being mainly through, the House could afford to hold night sessions. This was done the latter part of the previous session. Members who had nothing else to do at night ought to be willing to take this means of facilitating business.

Noble Widemann considered that the principal committee work was yet to be done. The constitutional question and the election bill were to be dealt with by the committee, and there was no other question of such importance as these unless it was the opium question. He did not think much good would come of night sessions, and would vote for indefinite postponement.

The resolution was indefinitely postponed.

Noble Baldwin moved suspension of the rules to present a minority report of the committee on postal matters. Carried.

The report agreed with the majority in recommending increases of items. It dissents from the strictures on the Postmaster-General as being too severe, quoting documentary and verbal evidence to show that some of the conclusions of the majority were unjust. The minority also dissent from some of the recommendations of the majority, in regard to the working of the postal service, as being impracticable and inexpedient.

Received and ordered to be translated and printed.

ORDER OF THE DAY.

The House went into committee of the whole, Noble Marsden in the chair, for consideration of the Appropriation Bill.

Unfinished business—the volcano road matter.

Noble Cornwell moved that $13,639.34 be inserted for the repayment of advances made on the road.

Noble Widemann said that a few months ago the Government advertised for claims, and he was not aware that this was one of them. Who were the parties? He supposed they were beneficiaries of the late Government, and that this resolution came from a benefactor. He moved that it be indefinitely postponed.

Rep. Paehaole thought the House should not be hasty in this matter. The House had condemned the action of the late Minister of the Interior, but did not say that these creditors should not be paid. The money was spent on the road for the good of the public. A steamer was chartered the other day to take a party of foreign visitors to the volcano, which showed that the road was an important public work. After the country had obtained the benefit of the money, how would it look to refuse payment because the Minister had done wrong?

Noble Widemann said the hon. member had tried to put a good face on the matter. But if the money be appropriated, to whom was it to be paid? There was no claim before the House. The late Minister advertised for claims, and this one was not presented. The late Minister had got the money from his beneficiaries. The House might thank its stars that it had got this man out of the House. This man who wanted the House to pay his debts told Mr. Bowler and others having claims against the Government to go to Jericho. These claims—the Bowler and the Likelike—were before the House. This man spent $40,000 or $50,000 on the volcano road, while he refused to pay honest claims. These claims should be paid and would be paid. Were they to emblazon this man's name on their flag and carry it about the country?

Noble Muller said that whenever an honest Cabinet came into power, it advertised for claims against the Government. These people had not presented their claims, therefore it was reasonable to suppose that the money was a gift. He would move that the committee recommend the House to pass a resolution which he read, conveying the thanks of the House in illuminated letters to W. G. Irwin & Co., Wilder & Co., Castle & Cooke, M. P. Robinson and B. F. Dillingham for their liberal donation of $13,639.34.

Noble Cornwell regarded the proposed resolution as an insult to the firms and person named. The House should act as gentlemen and not in the manner shown by such a resolution. If the House would not vote the money, let it say so without volunteering insults about it. These people could probably afford to lose the money, but they should not be insulted.

Rep. Nawahi wanted to hear from the Ministers. They should state their intentions in the matter and not leave it to random suggestions from all sides.

Noble Widemann put a series of questions to the Minister of the Interior, eliciting replies to the effect that claims were advertised for, these in question were not presented, work had been ordered to stop on the volcano road—first two months ago and then two weeks ago. The speaker said work was going on two weeks ago. He wanted to know if they were going to have two governments in this country. The Minister told him two months ago that he had ordered the work to cease, but it was continued nevertheless.

Minister Brown was as much surprised as the hon. Noble to hear that work was continuing. He could not believe that this was the case, as his colleague, the Minister of the Interior, told him two months ago he had stopped the work. Two men were left in charge of the tools, but the Government had not paid out any money. These people had advanced this money without any wrong motive, the amount had gone into the road, which was a public benefit, and he did not think the House would stultify itself by refusing to repay the contributors. The matter was not in his department, or he should have expressed himself before.

Noble Widemann thanked the Minister for his elegant explanation.

Rep. Paehaole did not see how it should hurt Noble Widemann if work was proceeding on the road. He claimed that Noble Muller's resolution was out of order, and moved the committee take recess.

Recess from 12 to 1:30.

TO LIVE STOCK OWNERS.

The California Feed Co. has formed for the purpose of selling hay, grain, etc., at prices so low that you will be astonished. They will sell at California prices, or so near them that there is no gain in it. All we ask is to give us a call and get our prices. We have had 7 years experience in the business with the Union Feed Co., and we think we know the people's wants in our line, as well as the prices they ought to pay. Our agent, Mr. J. N. Wright, goes to the Coast on the Australia Sept. 26, 1890, to make all necessary arrangements and secure a good stock of all kinds of feed, at lowest "cash prices." The new steamship line from San Diego, California, will supply us with a good part of our hay and grain, as the company are very anxious to get a field for their farm productions. This is to be one of their outlets, and we propose to sell their goods at low prices to open up a market. This will be a boon to the people here. Hay and grain have been too high here, and we are going to smash the prices, so that it will not cost near as much as formerly to keep your live stock. All we want is the patronage of the consumers, and in a very short time they will find out that we are working in their interest as well as our own. We do not want you to think we are going to do all this for love, for such is not the case; but we intend to do a large business, and by strict attention to it, on very close margins make good fair wages. Our expenses will be small, as we are workers ourselves.

We quote a few prices: No. 1 wheat hay in small lots around town at 1 1/2c per lb.; Alfalfa hay at 1 1/2c per lb.; oat hay at 1c per lb. These are the retail prices. At wholesale we will do much better. Come and see us.
