NOTICE TO MARINERS.

During the process of deepening the channel at the entrance to Honolulu harbor the Dredger will be in operation night and day. At night there will be a danger signal placed on the forward derrick of Dredger about 30 feet above sea level, which can be seen by all vessels approaching the harbor. The signal consists of three red lights and a white light as in the diagram, the red lights being about 3 feet apart with the white light in the center.

All steamers crossing the bar will stop at a safe distance from the Dredger and give one blast of their whistle which will be answered by a single blast from the Dredger, to be followed by three blasts from the Dredger when the passage is clear and they can proceed.

The Tug will be on hand when not otherwise engaged to assist sailing craft in passing the Dredger when necessary.

Daily Bulletin

Pledged to neither Sect nor Party,
But established for the benefit of all.

THURSDAY, MAY 12, 1892.

It is a shame that the scanty forests we have should be depleted so often by fires, which must be the result of either carelessness or malicious mischief. There should be a standing reward for information that would secure the conviction of any person starting fires in the forests.

The motive given by a European news-monger for the campaign of France against Dahomey is certainly not a lofty one. Yet if France extinguishes forever the power of the despotic monarch of Dahomey to slaughter his innocent and inoffensive subjects by the thousand, the mean motive of "buried bullion" will soon be forgotten and the deprecators be lauded as benefactors of humanity.

A striking incident in the rapid settlement of the "wild and woolly west" is the mad rush for town lots and homesteads on the opening of the Cheyenne and Arapahoe reservation described in our news columns. It would appear that all regulations providing for the rule of "first come first served" on regular application are futile, leaving the race for the swift and the battle for the strong. Perhaps none but the swift and the strong should enter such a fierce struggle. It will not be long, however, till the disorder will be over, and the day of the unscrupulous speculator be ended, both to be succeeded by communities of industrious cultivators and tradesmen, adding valuable material to the building up of the great American Commonwealth.

A PARADISE FOR PRINTERS.

This day, May, 12 is appointed for the dedication of the Childs-Drexel Home for Union Printers, at Colorado Springs, Colorado. The members of Honolulu Typographical Union have received an invitation to be present. The invitation is on a page of an artistic pamphlet, which contains pictures of the Home and of Messrs. Child and Drexel, its founders, also the order of dedicatory exercises, list of officers and members of the International Typographical Union, committees on the ceremony, etc. The building is of handsome architecture, with towers and pinnacles, having three stories besides basement and attic. George W. Childs, proprietor of the Philadelphia Public Ledger, one of the most successful newspapers of the age, is one of the best known and esteemed men in the United States, and an intimate friend not only of the great men of his own country but of many of the distinguished personages of Europe. His benevolence is proverbial and his kindly sympathy with working printers has made his name a household word among members of the craft. This great benefactor of a home for work-down printers at the famous health resort of Colorado Springs, in the giving of which Mr. Childs divides the honor with his friend Mr. Drexel, the great banker, is only one of many practical exhibitions of the great journalist's benevolence, but it is among the noblest of all his kindnesses to the workers in the art preservative of all arts. A few items from the page of "Notes" in the invitation pamphlet may be interesting to more than printers: "The building is 144 feet by 40, with a wing 20 feet. From the base course to the finish on the roof the distance is 70 feet. The ornament on the summit of the square tower is 105 feet from the ground. There are 63 rooms in the building. One room has space sufficient to accommodate 200 frames, but for composing to sleep would accommodate 100 weary compositors. The library will contain a History of Printing, published in London 120 years ago. Pike's Peak in plain view. Toilet and bath rooms on every floor. The Childs' parlor will have a $1000 oil painting. The walls are lava and red sandstone. A paradise for printers." Blessings on the men who have so thoughtfully provided a home of health for the toilers with the types, is a sentiment that will be echoed not only by printers but by all people of benevolent feelings.

AN UNWORTHY VIEW.

"It is well understood by fair minded business men that local enterprises are dependent on the newspaper, while the newspaper is, to a certain extent, dependent on local enterprises. When the enterprise ignores the newspaper the newspaper must retaliate in kind."

EDITOR BULLETIN:—Most of the publishing houses in Honolulu have very complete job printing departments attached to their offices. Instead of the business firms having their stationery printed at home, thus affording employment to more or less skilled labor, keeping the money in circulation here, and also helping to pay the heavy expenses incurred in the conduct of a daily issue, it is the rule, rather than the exception, to place their orders abroad. Hardly a single business firm here has its work done at home. Most of it is sent to the Coast and some even to New York. What a howl there would be if the laboring classes should form a co-operative association and buy their groceries, clothing, boots, shoes and other necessities of life in San Francisco! How these same gentlemen who never patronize home industries, unless they are compelled to, would rise up in their wrath and howl against such a proceeding? These same firms, however, are more or less dependent on the workingman for support, and if the money which he might earn and would spend in the country is sent abroad, he will sooner or later have to follow it. Now that the prosperity of the country is at a low ebb, it behooves the business portion of the community to think twice before sending any money abroad, particularly for anything that can be done fully or nearly as well at home. "The laborer is worthy of his hire."

AN ACCIDENT.

A Coal Cart Driver Injures Himself.

An accident happened this morning at 10:30 o'clock on the city front near the P. M. S. dock. A number of coal carts belonging to Mr. Peck has been engaged for the past few days in conveying coal from discharging vessels to the coal pile near the P. M. S. S. wharf. This morning a half-witted named Neki as usual drove his cart coal-laden up the pile a distance of some twenty feet. He backed his cart up in order to discharge his freight and in doing so the horse, being a little fresh, went too far with the result that driver, horse and cart went over the embankment. The cart ran over Neki's finger, making a deep gash, and in the fall he sprained his leg, and was taken home. The horse escaped with but few scratches, while the vehicle was smashed. No blame is attached to the driver. The accident is attributed to the looseness with which the coal was packed.

THROWN FROM A CAR.

A Printer Meets With an Unexpected Downfall.

A native printer named Kalaau, working on Ka Leo newspaper, was thrown from a tramcar this morning. The car was coming down Nuuanu street and was turning into School street, when it ran off the track, owing to the switch not being properly set. When this occurred Kalaau was in the act of depositing his fare in the box. The jolt caused by the car unexpectedly leaving the rails threw the unfortunate printer out on the roadside where he lay outstretched in a semi-conscious condition. Had he been thrown in front of the car there would have been a more serious result. Luckily, however, he escaped with but a little shaking up.

BURIED BULLION.

Treasure Valued at Millions Lurks in the French Agony at Dahomey.

London, April 18.—The Globe publishes a letter from a correspondent who, the paper says, is well informed as to the matter upon which he writes, giving an explanation of the preparations now being made by France for war upon Dahomey. The letter does not bear out the semi-official statements that France has no intention whatever of conducting military operations in the interior of Dahomey, confining herself solely to defending the possessions in the Right of Benin, Porto Novo and Kotonou.

The correspondent says it is believed on good grounds that immense treasure, the accumulation of upward of two centuries, is buried in Abomey, the capital of Dahomey. Allowing largely for exaggerations, this treasure, the writer declares, is said to be worth a sum equivalent to 500,000,000 francs. It is known the successive kings of Dahomey have buried vast quantities of bullion within the precincts of the palace in a number of large pits, 10 or more of which are said to contain gold and silver to the amount of several millions of francs each.

Authentic reports of the existence of this treasure reached the French through missionaries and traders, and this readily accounts for the eagerness displayed by the French to capture Abomey. The attempt, the correspondent says, has been postponed for various reasons, but now that the French Senate and Chamber of Deputies have voted a credit for the purpose, preparations are to be made in earnest for the march on Dahomey.

The French Parliament a few days ago voted over 3,000,000 for the purpose of sending reinforcements to Porto Novo, and orders have been issued by the Minister of Marine for the French cruiser at Montevideo to at once proceed to the Gold Coast and join the warship already there. Troops are ordered to proceed from St. Louis, Senegal, to re-enforce the garrison at Porto Novo, and much activity is displayed in military circles.

An air of probability is given the Globe correspondent's statement by the fact that although King Behanzin and his forces, who were said to be threatening the French settlements, had withdrawn northward, there was no cessation of military preparations, and they are now being pushed forward with all possible speed.

It may be the French imagination has been excited by the stories of vast treasures in Dahomey's capital and under pretense of punishing King Behanzin for his many crimes against civilization, particularly his slave-hunting raids, France will seize upon it and, at the same time, cut short the career of an absolute despot, whose murders of helpless victims cry aloud for vengeance.

Dahomey is a savage kingdom on the west coast of Guinea, known as the Gold Coast, having an area of 14,300 square miles and population of about 200,000, of whom not over 20,000 are free. The women are warriors and thousands of human sacrifices are annually offered during festivities to celebrate a return of the slave-traders or a victory over neighboring tribes.

"August Flower"

Perhaps you do not believe these statements concerning Green's August Flower. Well, we can't make you. We can't force conviction into your head or medicine into your throat. We don't want to. The money is yours, and the misery is yours; and until you are willing to believe, and spend the one for the relief of the other, they will stay so. John H. Foster, 1122 Brown Street, Philadelphia, says: "My wife is a little Scotch woman, thirty years of age and of a naturally delicate disposition. For five or six years past she has been suffering from Dyspepsia. She became so bad at last that she could not sit down to a meal but she had to vomit it as soon as she had eaten it. Two bottles of your August Flower have cured her, after many doctors failed. She can now eat anything, and enjoy it; and as for Dyspepsia, she does not know that she ever had it."

Doubting Thomas. The money is yours, and the misery is yours; and until you are willing to believe, and spend the one for the relief of the other, they will stay so.

INSURE IN THE Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States.

An Eminent Conservative and Safe Company.

FINANCIAL STRENGTH.

The consideration of first importance in judging of the condition of any financial institution (and notably of a life assurance company, the majority of whose contracts extend over long periods of years) is its surplus strength. The Equitable has, over and above all liabilities, a larger surplus than any other assurance company.

Assets, Dec. 31, 1891. $136,198,513.38

LIABILITIES, including the Reserve on all existing Policies, (4 per cent. Standard) and Special Reserve (twice the establishment of a 3 1/2 per cent. valuation) of $1,500,000 109,905,537.82

Surplus, $26,292,975.56

This Surplus remains after making provision for every obligation, on a rigid calculation of Liabilities based on the standard prescribed by the Insurance Law of the State of New York, which assumes that Assets will be invested so as to realize interest at the rate of 4 per cent. per annum. In addition to this, in a spirit of conservatism, the Directors of the Society, on the recommendation of its Finance Committee, have set aside a Special Additional Reserve, looking towards even a more stringent and conservative future standard of valuation than the law now prescribes.
