THE DAILY BULLETIN.

Pledged to neither Sect nor Party, But Established for the Benefit of All.

MONDAY, FEB. 20, 1893.

A useful contribution to the literature of the coffee industry appears to-day from the pen of Mr. W. Muller, who is engaged in planting coffee in Kona. We should be pleased if other practical men made free use of our columns in adding to the stock of general information on the subject.

The amount of benevolent work done annually by the women of California is something grand, according to the statement reprinted in this paper from a New York journal. There at least woman has emancipated herself from old fogy manners that might have interfered with her doing of good.

The two sideshow sheets—Liberal and Holomua—are exercised over an alleged change of ownership in the BULLETIN. They are both away off. The BULLETIN will continue as heretofore to be devoted strictly to the public interests, "pledged to neither sect nor party," with its columns open to respectful discussion on any side of politics.

If it is to be annexation, perhaps the idea of splicing the group upon California is the best. It is certainly better than any scheme that would admit of any situation here such as the present one in Kansas, where two factions have each set up a Legislature, and the rival Legislatures are menacing one another with loaded revolvers.

Our owners of sugar stock who are annexationists will not like the note sounded by the New York Sun—the most powerful Democratic organ in the United States—in its demand that the party live up to its platform with no nonsense. That is, they will not like it in conjunction with their expectation of annexation, although they were praying night and day for the execution of the Democratic program in its integrity until they became annexationists.

It would look a great deal better if the Provisional Government, instead of arresting and harassing editors for indulging their constitutional rights of free speech, would pay some attention to the character of the men they have hired to guard and watch the town. Arresting anarchistic assassins after they have committed acts of blood-letting is not enough. It should be seen that no brutal or murderous characters are put in any position where they can terrorize the community. The allowing of men with guns and bayonets to wander about at night stopping peaceable citizens on the streets is an outrage in itself.

THE SITUATION.

The latest newspaper telegraphic news on the Hawaiian question at Washington is given elsewhere. Nothing later has been heard by the Government, as a BULLETIN representative learned from Mr. P. C. Jones, Minister of Finance, in the Council chamber this afternoon. His belief was that Mr. Thurston had reserved his telegraphic advices for the steamer Australia, which was to leave San Francisco the day after the steamer China. The gist of the news so far as received would indicate the imminence of an annexation treaty being passed by the Senate. Mr. Harrison's reported eagerness to have the acquisition of the islands consummated, as a brilliant stroke of statesmanship before his retirement, is a confirmation of the report from Washington long before the revolution that such is just what he was working for. If the indications are not the factitious product of people with whom the wish is father to the thought, these Hawaiian Islands may at this moment be in fact American territory. There is just a chance that the Administration might have delayed the final action to hear the Queen's side from her Commissioner. As to the form of government it is intimated that the rule will be in the hands of Commissioners like the District of Columbia in which Washington, the Federal capital, is situated. This means that the people of the land will not have any say in affairs. Such a form would be akin to the system of a British crown colony, and cannot be regarded as permanent. It may be a necessary stage of preparation for a matured system of local self-government. At all events, whatever the results of the change may be, a majority of the people of the islands are relieved from any responsibility in the matter. It is a case of the strong taking charge of the weak, perhaps for the good of the weak, perhaps otherwise. Without it, it is gratifying to learn that the late Sovereign and her heir are to have decent treatment, as to provision for their personal comfort, contrary to the desire of a class of the revolutionists innocent of the possession of any conscience.

COFFEE PLANTING IN KONA.

The coffee industry was, to within the last few years, almost entirely in the hands of natives. The patches of coffee dispersed all through the district are, with the exception of the plantation at Napoopoo, merely the remains of hundreds of acres planted some fifty years ago. These patches having survived the blight and years of drought may be presumed to stand in soil and under conditions most suitable for coffee. As these ancient trees are found in pahoehoe land as well as in an land, the theory that as a straw grass for coffee is exploded. Yet it is a fact that by far the greater portion is found on an lands, and the surviving patches here are larger and more uniform.

From the foregoing it must be inferred that the superiority of the an over the pahoehoe is to be attributed not to a chemical difference in their composition, but rather to some other necessary properties found more largely in the former than in the latter. What these properties are may be readily seen in the difference of the nature of these two districts. The pahoehoe is of a more solid substance and sheds the water; the soil thus formed accumulates in the lower places, which accounts for the fact that the depth of soil on these lands is not at all uniform. It is in these so-called pockets that some healthy old coffee trees are found.

The a-a is of a light and porous substance, and owing to its great rapidity in cooling has a tendency to pile up in greatly broken-up masses. Most an flows are therefore of great depth. It also allows the water freely to enter and hence begins to disintegrate at the bottom, thus forming in time a soil of great and uniform depth. In pahoehoe land you dig through soil and find rock—in an land you dig through rock and find soil. This soil being of a gravelly character allows the water to sink through and retains moisture through months of dry weather. The rocks or stones invariably found on the surface of such lands aid in keeping it clean of grass and also retain the warmth so necessary to young trees. Some of our most uninvitingly rough lands will, I believe, prove our best coffee lands.

THE PLANTS.

Different opinions have been held by various planters as to the kind of plants preferred for planting. The old style of merely digging up half-grown trees of a spontaneous growth and transplanting them is, I believe, practiced at present by natives only. The other modes are, transplanting from nurseries, stump planting, and transplanting very young (two-leaved) plants of a spontaneous growth.

Equally good results seemed to be achieved by these three modes of planting; but as practical men seem to learn more toward stump-planting, I shall explain it further. Young trees of about half an inch diameter are carefully dug up, the stems cut off a couple of inches from the roots, and these stumps, that is the roots with the short stems, are then planted a trifle deeper than they stood before. Of the several shoots that will sprout from the stems only one is left to develop into a tree.

These trees should bear within two years. I cannot refrain from saying here that the success of a coffee plantation depends not so much on the mode of planting as on the all-important matter, the right kind of soil.

It is with diffidence that I touch upon this question. Scarcely any two planters agree on it, and I believe that on differently situated lands different distances should be adopted. It will be safe not to go beyond eight feet.

On an land such as I have described the cost of planting and taking care of the young trees till bearing time should not exceed $50 per acre.

W. MULLER, Limit to Canal Cost.

Higgins introduced in the Senate an amendment to the Nicaragua canal bill providing that none of the bonds provided for shall be issued to the company until the President of the United States is satisfied that the canal, with all its accessories, can be completed for safe, convenient and economical navigation from ocean to ocean of both mercantile and naval vessels of the largest size at a cost not exceeding the cash proceeds of $100,000,000 in bonds, including the amounts already expended. The amendment provides for the appointment of a body of five engineers, three of whom shall be from the engineer corps of the army, to make full investigation and report.

FOOTBALL GAME.

The Buff and Blue—Maintain Their Superiority in the Sport.

The football game on Saturday afternoon drew a large crowd of people, who watched with absorbing interest and applauded every pretty and scientific play of the teams. The competitors were the Panahous and Pacifics. The Pacifics in white dress appeared on the grounds first, followed by the Panahous in blue and buff. The teams lined up at 4:10 o'clock as follows:

The Pacifics won the toss and by dint of heavy crowding carried the ball into Panahou territory. It did not stay there long, however, as the Buff and Blue, led by Judd, sent the Pacifics back and considerable fine individual play was made. The signals of the Panahous puzzled the town boys, and finally the ball was passed to Hapai, when he cleared the barrier and made a clean run across the field, scoring a touchdown, 4 points. A goal was kicked, making the score 6 points to 0.

The second play was made a few minutes later by the Pacifics. They, however, lost the ball, Judd picking it up and was, however, as the opposition when his brother captain tackled him from behind. He fell heavily and sprained his left leg. He was carried from the field and Dayton substituted. Hapai made another brilliant run, closely guarded by his co-players, and scored another touchdown. Another goal made the score 12 to 0.

The town boys made a decided buck against defeat, but it was fighting with fate. At the end of the first half the Panahous stood 18 to 0. In the second half Judd, Beck and Emery put it over the goal, scoring 6 points. In the latter half Emery was disabled and Singer took his place. Before the game ended the Panahous scored 8 more points, making it 26 to 6.

Heroic Conduct of British Sailors.

A Daily News correspondent writing from Callao states that "an interesting presentation had just taken place there on board Her Majesty's cruiser Garnet, Capt. Harry F. Hughes-Hallett, one of the ships serving on the Pacific station. The ship was visited by the Prefect of the Province, accompanied by Mr. Wilson, the British Consul, for the purpose of placing in the hands of the captain a gold medal which the Peruvian Government had ordered to be presented to the crew of the Garnet in recognition of their splendid bravery at the great fires in Callao on Aug. 18 and 22 last. In making the presentation, the Prefect said that the Government desired thus to give expression to the profound and imperishable sentiment of gratitude that has been awakened in its mind by the heroic behavior displayed by the men at the fires, in which misfortunes they exercised with vigorous courage and at personal peril the most humane and sublime of virtues, contributing to diminish the already frightful proportion of those memorable disasters." He added that his Government, as well as the people of the country, would ever cherish the most sincere gratitude for the generous and noble conduct of the crew of the Garnet. Capt. Hughes-Hallett, in accepting the gift, said he was sure that what the crew did on the occasion of the fires they regarded only as a duty, and they would be ready and willing to repeat the service if ever the occasion should unfortunately arise. He promised that the medal should be displayed in a conspicuous part of the ship, so that the crew might have it before them as a perpetual reminder that voluntary and willing service in time of danger was gratefully remembered.

The House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce ordered a favorable report on the Senate bill appropriating $250,000 for the constructing of a ship canal to connect the lakes of Union and Washington with Puget sound. The bill was reported with an amendment striking out the proposed route by Smith's Cove, leaving the route to be decided upon by the Secretary of War.

"August Flower"

The Hon. J. W. Fennimore is the Sheriff of Kent Co., Del., and lives at Dover, the County Seat and Capital of the State. The sheriff is a gentleman fifty-nine years of age, and this is what he says: "I have used your August Flower for several years in my family and for my own use, and found it does me more good than any other remedy. I have been troubled with what I call Sick Headache. A pain comes in the back part of my head first, and then soon a general headache until I become sick and vomit. At times, too, I have a fullness after eating, a pressure after eating at the pit of the stomach, and sourness, when food seemed to rise up in my throat and mouth. When I feel this coming on if I take a little August Flower it relieves me, and is the best remedy I have ever taken for it. For this reason I take it and recommend it to others as a great remedy for Dyspepsia, &c."

Saturday, Feb. 18, 1893.

It's a remarkable fact that there are men who would rather fight than come out winner in a newspaper prize contest. And the ugly feature in the whole business is the encouragement these belligerents receive from outsiders. For the past year or two New Orleans has been the rendezvous for "pugs" who wanted to contest in the arena. Honolulu has been singularly free from any such objectionable sport. During the past month these islands have been in a state of ferment over a little affair which took place about the middle of January, but we have not seen an instance where men directly interested, or effected by the change, thought it necessary to spoil each others faces. Outsiders who scarcely know what brought about the change believe that their first duty, after imbibing liquid with a keen edge, is to stand side by side at the bar and make themselves hoarse singing, "Yankee Doodle" and "Rule Britannia" and then get mad because the two airs don't harmonize. If the matter would end with the rival singers getting real mad no serious results would follow, but when a lot of bleachers in the outer circle sic the British bull dog on the North American cause some body's sure to get kicked. Unfortunately it seldom happens to be the bleacher in the outer circle.

The respective crews of the Garnet and Boston will remember the little episode in Chili where Boatswain's Mate Riggins lost his life. The row started not unlike the rumpus which took place here on Friday and it required private subscriptions from Mr. Riggins' friends to pay for the removal of his body to his former home. Besides, his death caused serious international complications. Just now the Hawaiians object to any new features appearing on the political horizon, nor are the people prepared to contribute toward the funeral expenses of foreigners who come down here and try to palm off "Rule Britannia," "Yankee Doodle" and "Sweet Violets" as late musical compositions. Last week we mentioned the new glassware in red and white; they are going out of the store with marvelous rapidity. We have never shown any thing half so beautiful for the money. There are more of them, perhaps a dozen sets left. If you want to add to the beauty of your table service take one home with you.

The southerly rain winds are over for the present and the roads and lawns are drying up; another fortnight, if care is not taken, the lawns will turn yellow with dry rot. Our rubber hose is the best and our reels the most substantial in the city. If you want your grounds to look like velvet carpet the means of making it so are at your command. You can have our assistance in the way of reel, hose or a lawn mower for the asking. For trimming the grass at the walks you will find a pair of sheep shears the most convenient thing—a lawn mower will not do this part of the work. The shears are convenient too, for trimming the grass around the rose bushes. The "Delusion" mouse trap is built on the same principle is the famous French rat trap; and are quite as effectual for the smaller game. The other day the buyer of a large commission house came in the store to buy a trap on an order. When we were showing them to him we found that a mouse had been caught in the trap without its having been set for him. They're economical in the matter of bait.
