THAT LANDSLIDE.

Trucking is the word that explains the crushing defeat of the Democratic party in the November elections. That party had an excellent platform of its own, upon which Governor Cleveland swept the country. It had the vast negative advantage of an odious tariff bill carried by the Republicans. This was the so-called "McKinley" bill, although as it became law its own father could not recognize it, so knotted and twisted had it become under the manipulation of both houses of Congress, swayed by a hundred selfish interests. The effects of that tariff measure were manifest in a gloomy train of strikes, riots, parades of the unemployed, organization of armies of tramps, some of which invaded the national capital, and a financial panic that wrecked banks in every section of the Union. Yet the Democratic party, instead of sticking to its clearest principles, as its able head did from first to last of the chapter, borrowed the clothes of the Republicans, consigned though they had been to the rag closet by the people, and they cut a sorry figure too in the habiliments. Like the McKinley bill, the so-called "Wilson" bill was transmogrified, through the operations of the soft hands of monopolists, into a non-descript enactment that is neither flesh, fowl, nor even good herring. It started in the right direction, and on some lines went a good way, but never reached a goal that could consistently display the flag of tariff reform.

Notwithstanding the crushing lesson the Democratic party has sustained, it would be hasty to assume that the cause of tariff reform is dead. Tariff reform is what attracted new and vigorous blood to the Democratic party, when it became the sponsor of that cause. The principle is as powerful in the hearts of political economists as it ever was. Every time it is made a vital issue in an electoral contest, its potency with the people at large will be increased. Ambassador Bayard, just before returning to his post in London, struck the keynote for the retrieval of the Democratic reverses, when he said: "The necessity for pure Democratic tariff legislation was never so great as it is now. Bills for free raw material should be passed immediately, and then the country will be able to contemplate the Democratic idea of the tariff in full working order for two years before the national election rolls around. If this is done I have little fear that the verdict will be unsatisfactory in 1896." This is wise advice. The Democratic tariff legislation of the last session, although not approaching the high standard set by Cleveland and endorsed through him by the people, yet made some breaks in the right direction. Yet whatever virtues it may have, the operation of which might make a telling object lesson for the people, it has yet had no chance to display. There is reason to believe, indeed, that the shrewd beneficiaries of high tariff taxation have played a deceiving game upon the people to bring the cause of tariff reform into discredit. They have without necessity closed factories and workshops, and attempted to force down wages, in some cases with results as disastrous to the public as unprofitable to themselves. There is yet time for the Democratic party, before the new Congress begins, to go the full length of its original policy. This would give the nation an experience of tariff reform which might cause another electoral tidal wave in 1896, on whose crest the Democratic candidate for President would be swept in triumph into the White House.

JUDICIAL JOTTINGS

Several Confessions of Judgment
Guiltless from the Files.

A Rosa confessed judgment to the suit of F. H. Hayselden, trustee, for $200 principal and $167.45 interest. Cecil Brown for plaintiff.

The suit was on a note to Mr. Brown, sold to the plaintiff. A Rosa confessed judgment, which has been entered, for $317.22 damages and $3.50 costs, to the complaint of Carter & Carter.

By agreement of counsel, judgment is entered for plaintiff in J. K. Kahookano vs. Kona Coffee and Fruit Co., and J. D. Paris, garnishee. Johnson for plaintiff; Rosa for defendant. No execution is to issue until Dec. 10. The suit was an assumpsit for $100.

By agreement of counsel judgment is entered for the plaintiff in S. M. Kanakani vs. Kona Coffee and Fruit Co., assumpsit for $50. Achi for plaintiff; Rosa for defendant.

Kaapia, charged with assault with a dangerous weapon, has defaulted in appearance on the ground of illness. Judge Cooper, being informed that defendant is playing a game, was to issue a bench warrant this afternoon for his arrest. The Deputy Attorney-General has asked that the warrant be delayed until 1 o'clock, to give himself and the prison physician an opportunity of examining the defendant's condition.

As all defendants in cases set for this morning confessed judgment, there was nothing to engage the attention of native jurors. At 1:30 o'clock they were excused, and the Court adjourned, for the day.

A shoaf of affidavits has been filed in behalf of John Hapa's motion for a new trial, he having been convicted of robbery.

Judge Cooper dismissed the appeal on points of law of R. Palau, convicted below of selling liquor without a license. Defendant noted exceptions to the ruling. Deputy Attorney-General Robertson for prosecution; Kaula and Johnson for defendant.

Judge Whiting is hearing the jury-waived case of J. Keauu vs. four co-tenants of a coffee plantation in Kona. This is the dispute that produced the affray, in which a Japanese was killed and a native policeman and another man were wounded. Kinney for plaintiff; C. W. Ashford and Achi for defendants.

Judge Cooper is hearing a motion for a new trial of Kaniku, convicted of assault with a dangerous weapon, five others having been acquitted. The ground of motion is that one of the jurors had not qualified to serve by taking the oath of allegiance. Hartwell for plaintiff; Kane for the motion.

LATER.—The motion is over-ruled.

Counsel for defendant has notified the Court that H. Wilgeroth vs. Ewa Plantation Co. has been settled out of Court. C. W. Ashford for plaintiff; W. R. Castle for defendant. This case was entered for the February term, 1893, and continued at various times. The jury disagreed at the August term. Plaintiff claimed $1500 damages for removal from the job of sugar boiler in the defendant's mill.

A decree awaits the signature of the Supreme Court, sustaining the decree of the Circuit Court, which over-ruled the demurrer of defendant to the petition of Samuel Norris against E. de Herblay.

Akan petitions that letters of administration of the estate of Ah Soe, late of Hanalei, valued at $200, issue to C. Winan of Honolulu. The notice of hearing appears in this paper.

The Reason.

There are some people in Honolulu who think they are not properly clad unless the garments they wear cost $30 or $40. The reason is apparent—they are rich.

A Fact.

Everybody is not rich—in fact, most people in this world have to get a mighty move on to make both ends meet, and at the end of the year have nothing to show for their labor except an extra wrinkle or two.

Ladies.

I have something that will strike your fancy in the shape of a Jacket—a Flannel-Jacket with a silk stripe—a perfect fit or no sale. I bought several cases of these Jackets very cheap for cash. They are just the thing to slip on to make a call, go to market, a picnic, or church—in fact, they are good enough or poor enough to wear anywhere and everywhere.

The Price.

Now this is the important part. After you have selected one that looks well with your dress and you find that it fits, you say, "How much?"

The Salesman

says, "$81.00, madam," or "$81.00 miss," as the case may be, and there you are. The modest Clerk does not even blush when he is told "how cheap." He is used to this kind of thing.

Timely Topics

Nov. 17, 1894.

Sulphurous fumes permeate the atmosphere to-day.

The rainfall has been a great comforter to the parties who own crops as well as to the people who drive along Bere-tania street past the "horse scarer" at Thomas Square, for the unsightly thing has been removed. The mud is disagreeable but the annoyance is decreased when you have a Hartmann Steel Mat. It is astonishing how quickly and thoroughly the soles of the shoes are cleaned by rubbing them over the steel. We have the mats in various sizes for the house, store or public building.

Another novelty in the way of a Blacking Box. By the "C. D. Bryant" we received a lot of Blacking Boxes (Japaned and nicked), which fold up against the wall and are completely out of the way. You've seen them advertised in the magazines and thought them a good thing. You were right in your opinion because they are a good thing and well worth the $2.50 you pay for them.

The Premier Egg Cups do not seem to be known here judging from the many inquiries we have had from people who said they had never heard of them. These cups are made of porcelain just like a tea cup, only smaller, and have a nickel plated top which screws on. The cook breaks the eggs in the cup and puts the lid on and then drops it into hot water. In a few minutes the egg is cooked and brought to table in the cup. The advantages of this egg cup are several. In the first place there is no danger of having a superannated egg dropping into your glass when you are ready to eat your breakfast; if the eggs are too ripe it is not known outside the kitchen because your cook will learn of it when he breaks the shell, and before the egg is cooked. It is not a pleasant occupation to break the shell of a hot egg anyway. If it was boiled eggs would not have been placed in the armpits of criminals in the day of the inquisition. With a Premier cup you simply unscrew the lid and the egg is ready to eat, and your finger tips have not been scorched. We sell the cups singly or by the dozen.

It's a little more than a month until Christmas and you probably haven't made the slightest preparation for it. Let us call your attention again to our assortment of Rookwood. It contains a number of useful pieces as well as some good only for ornamentation. There are no duplicates; every piece differs from its neighbor either in decoration or shape. Rookwood compares favorably with Crown Derby or Royal Worcester but is much less expensive. The coloring is richness itself and never grows tiresome.

The "Alameda" will bring us other goods for Christmas; before making purchases elsewhere come and look at our stock.

ALOHA TOOTH POWDER.

is the most perfect dentifrice yet discovered.

It is manufactured after a celebrated formula now in our possession. The materials used are the purest obtainable; contains nothing deleterious to the teeth or gums, and its use cannot be otherwise than pleasant and beneficial.

Many people while laudably attentive to the preservation of their teeth, do them harm by using a tooth powder containing excessive "grit." Daily applied such dentifrices are calculated not only to injure the enamel by excessive friction, but hurt the gums.

A trial of ALOHA TOOTH POWDER will convince anyone of its merits and the advantage of using a dentifrice of the purity of which they can be certain. It is attractively put up, and will be sure to please you in every way.
