WORK FOR INSPECTORS.

There is a service in behalf of the future sanitation of Honolulu which the sanitary inspectors might render before receiving their discharge. They might submit special reports upon improvements of sanitary conditions which may have been suggested to them by their observations. These reports could be placed in the hands of a special committee of chief inspectors, to be summarized into a compact report to the Board of Health. Such a report ought to prove exceedingly valuable to the Board when it came to revising the code of sanitary regulations, a work that the present experiences seem to dictate as necessary for the future protection of the community. Disposal of refuse, crowding of tenements, air spaces between houses, nuisances near dwellings, and so forth, would be subjects upon which many of the inspectors might be able to discourse like experts after their present services are no longer required.

OBSERVATIONS.

News about tourists coming in November is rather grim intelligence just now.

All goods from countries where cholera has been within six months ought to be fumigated for twelve months to come.

Dry garbage when dumped ought to be set fire to right away, or rain may come and prevent combustion while raising noxious vapors.

What is the use of quarantining a house from which a cholera case has been taken, and then allowing inmates to come into town and mingle with fellow-workmen?

Complaint is made of the high price of disinfectants. Cannot the Board of Health make arrangements with the local drug trade to supply them at cost, besides to give them free to all poor people?

The Board of Health makes very liberal home rule concessions to the people on the other islands regarding their self-protection from disease. Their alarm is not unreasonable, but their caution seems to have been extreme.

It is asked if there is not danger in Chinese hacks going about collecting dirty clothes for the laundries. Why not have some central laundry station for fumigating all washes both before and after going through the laundries?

A late number of the Call expresses its contempt for fake journalism in the following words: It has been several days since Hawaiian "filibusters" were breathing sulphur and brimstone hereabout, and this makes us fear that enterprising journalism is losing its grip.

Someone lately suggested in this paper that road repairing might be given a rest, while the whole force of workers in that service should be employed in sanitation. That new street along the mouth of Nuanu stream is one of the most important works of sanitation waiting to be accomplished.

Thorough work by the citizens' inspectors will ensure the bringing of cases to the hospital in time to give some chance of saving life. The reduced mortality apparent the past few days may be partly attributed to this cause.

One of the sanitary inspectors, whose apana is among large Portuguese families, offer the suggestion that parents should keep their children at home until the inspector has made his call. It is the duty of every well-meaning citizen to do anything that will aid the complete semi-daily inspections now in progress.

Natives with relief tickets sometimes come to the station too late to receive rations other than rice and crackers. It is the suggestion of an inspector that those whose tickets call for beef and poi should have their cases personally investigated by inspectors, and have these articles of food sent to them by delivery wagon.

Some of the inspectors in the most respectable residence quarters, if they have not so much responsibility as those in the fouler localities, have no small strain placed upon their fidelity. People in their apanas are more sensitive to nuisances than those who themselves keep slovenly premises, and therefore complain of things that they never could get the Board of Health agents to pay any heed to before.

The Oakland Tribune, speaking of the Hawaiian filibustering stories gotten up by the Chronicle and Examiner, says:

"The stories about filibustering organizations in San Francisco to make a descent upon Hawaii appear to have been colored out of all semblance to the truth. Men who form conspiracies do not publish to the world what they are going to do. It is the vaporing fellows who indulge in this kind of bombast."

Hilo will be more eager after this than ever to secure direct steam communication with the Coast. It would be to Hilo and its back country an invaluable boon, and the injury it might do to Honolulu's trade would probably be only temporary and overbalanced, ultimately, by this city's share in the increased prosperity of the island of Hawaii.

There is need for some authoritative information to be made public as to the relative value of different disinfectants. As it is now, some say one thing and some another, whereby the householders are bewildered. A committee on public information in all sanitary matters would be a good thing. We feel certain that all the newspapers would cheerfully give space to such a committee's utterances upon various matters about which the people need to be informed.

Roberts' Ozonator.

The Hawaiian Hardware Company utilizes its column today to call attention to the usefulness of Roberts' Ozonator for killing disease germs and neutralizing all unpleasant odors. It is used in connection with the "Sanitas" disinfectants and must be seen in use to be properly appreciated. This firm also call attention to the large supply of new goods received by the last Australia, among which are ice-chests, infants' bath tubs, reversible filters for water faucets and other useful articles.

Did Not Understand His Constituents

"Many years ago," remarked an old Kentucky wheelhorse, "I engineered a Congressional race for a friend of mine, and during my labors in his behalf I got away off into a country where I was a good deal of a stranger, and my candidate more so. As I rode along one afternoon I met a couple of natives and we journeyed together for a mile or two, and got to talking for my man.

"You know him?" asked the man of the two who did the talking.

"Yes, and he's a good man."

"We ain't going to vote for him."

"Why not?"

"Well, we heard he had a bottle stickin' outen his saddle-bags, and we rid ten miles to see if hit was so."

"You found it was, didn't you?"

I asked, pretty confident, for I had coached him on that.

"Oh, yes," and the man laughed a harsh kind of a laugh.

"That's not against a man, is it?" I asked, not knowing exactly what was wrong, though I knew something was.

"No," he hesitated, "but we ain't goin' to vote for him."

"Well, you ought to have some reason for not voting," I said, getting a degree warmer.

"Reason!" he fairly snorted; "ain't we got reason! Thar wuzn't nothin' in the dern bottle but the cork. Do you reckon we're goin' to throw our vote away on a man that don't know no more about the intrusts uv his constituents than that?"—Detroit Free Press.

"ROBERTS' OZONATOR"

WATER FILTERS COOLER ICE CHESTS, ETC.

In these times the great desideratum is how to keep your home healthy and free from disease. It can be done easily by means of a little invention known as the "Roberts Ozonator." This neat little arrangement is made to screw anywhere on the wall, in bathrooms and other places where the atmosphere is impure. It contains a receptacle for the fluid, which is vaporized by means of a large circular wick inclosed in a perforated brass chamber. The fluid used is "Sanitas Vaporizer Mixture" expressly prepared for the purpose. It is the best and cheapest disinfectant known; it neutralizes all unpleasant odors and imparts an agreeable fragrance throughout the house, reminding the residents of the balmy atmosphere of a pine forest. Its low price places it within the reach of all. This little invention is now in use by upwards of 1000 Boards of Health, Hospitals, asylums and Work-houses.

By the last Australia we received a fresh lot of Water coolers. The outside is of tin, handsomely painted, and the inside of granite ware with a large air chamber between. These are durable, convenient and cheap and just the thing to use for boiled water, as there is no danger of cracking from the heat.

We are now unpacking our new line of Alaska ice chests, suitable for small families and small purses. These ice chests took the prize at the last Mechanic's Fair competition in San Francisco over twenty others, after an actual contest of a week's duration. If something more elaborate is needed we have the Belding's New Perfection chest, by far the finest ever seen here. We placed a block of ice in one on Monday and it is there yet, and from present appearances will last another week, although we have opened the chest to show to hundreds of our customers.

Another little useful article about this time is a reversible filter for attaching to hydrants, hose, sink or bathroom faucets. They are self-cleaning and effectually shut out wrigglers, weeds, and dirt of all kinds. We have them in two styles at 75 cents and a dollar.

If you have time drop in at the store and take a look at the above articles, and also at a new line of infants' bath tubs which are just the thing.
