IN THE HIGHER COURTS.

THREE BANKRUPT ESTATES THAT YIELDED POOR RETURNS.

Extension of Time in the Spreckels Case Because Defendant is Absent in Europe.

Friday was return day for the summons of the Hawaiian Commercial and Sugar Co. against Claus Spreckels. L. A. Thurston appeared for plaintiff, and F. M. Hatch for defendant, before Judge Cooper. A motion by defendant for extension of time to plead was allowed after argument, and the time was ordered extended till Friday, December 6th. The motion was supported by affidavits of W. M. Giffard, attorney-in-fact for defendant, and W. A. Kinney, one of his attorneys. It sets forth as reasons the following:

"That defendant is not a resident of this country, and is now in Europe; that the acts, matters and things set up in the complainant's bill of complaint can only be met by a personal answer by the defendant; that counsel for the defendant are not instructed in the premises and cannot be until full opportunity is had of communicating with the defendant; that the matters calling for answer are not within the personal knowledge of defendant's attorney-in-fact, residing at Honolulu, all of which more fully appears in the affidavit of W. M. Giffard, and of W. A. Kinney, herewith filed and made a part hereof."

Before Judge Cooper the will of Keahi Nakavakiki was admitted to probate, and letters testamentary were ordered to issue to S. M. Damon under $500 bond. Kahoakano for petitioner.

L. B. Kerr had his accounts assigned to Wing Hing, a bankrupt, allowed and was granted his discharge on filing receipts. There was a balance on account of liquidation to credit of the estate of $46.50. The claims amounted to $567.30, Mr. Kerr's alone being $327.59.

The same assignee was ordered discharged in the bankruptcy case of Hamamoto. In this case he paid $49.90 more than he received in settling the estate. The claims amounted to $1141.49, divided as follows: L. B. Kerr $779.74, Gonsalves & Co. $184.25, E. Hoffschlaeger & Co. $124.75 and Macfarlane & Co. $52.75. The sale of bankrupt's stock netted $94.

Mr. Kerr was also discharged as assignee of Shoon Hing. He had realized from the estate $472.55, and expended $202.75, leaving a balance of $269.80, less $25 for necessary counsel fees. There were twenty unsecured claims aggregating $4099.44, besides a secured claim of $169.04 that realized a balance of $30.95.

Judge Cooper yesterday heard a bill to determine a lease, brought by W. Kalaehao against W. C. Achi and others. Magoon and Humphreys for plaintiff; Achi for defendants.

Paul Neumann has filed exceptions for defendants to the decision of Judge Cooper in Aswan vs. Pung Lum and Pang Yok.

W. A. Kinney has filed notice of appeal for defendant to Judge Whiting's decision in favor of plaintiff in the suit for death benefit of Antonio da Costa Daniel against the Portuguese Mutual Benefit Society.

Andrew McCabe has entered a suit for $1000 damages against Ah Leong, for bringing defendant before the District Court on a charge of malicious injury in the destruction of six bunches of bananas.

Malin Ako and Ako her husband have entered a suit of eject-

AT THE AMERICAN LEAGUE.

MR. LOEBENSTEIN SPEAKS ABOUT LAND ON HAWAII.

Key Speeches by Several Speakers—Editor Towse Discusses Annexation, Cable and Immigration.

The American League meeting was opened last evening by chairman Murray at 7:45. About one hundred were present.

After a remark upon the state of the weather, the chairman introduced A. B. Loebenstein, of Hilo, who entertained the audience for some twenty-five minutes.

Mr. Loebenstein begged to be excused for feeling slightly flustered and nervous; said public speaking was not his forte, and that as a rule his audiences consisted of five Japs, who constituted his field force while engaged in the work of government survey on the big island.

He then described in a very interesting manner the various bodies of Government and (once) Crown lands in the different districts of Hawaii; spoke of the peculiar subdivisions made during the old days, the natural wonders; lava trees, great caves, warm springs which rise and fall with the tide, although situated hundreds of feet above tidal water; the great craters of Puna; once active, but now surrounded by the densest forest growth.

In the olden time the population was divided into two classes, irrespective of caste or political tribalship. One of these inhabited the higher forest lands and the other the seashore. Through continued ages of intercourse for the purposes of trade, numerous small paths had been worked through the forests and lower tracts of soil-covered area, and in time the heavy rains had worn these paths into hollow gullies, thus forming apparently natural dividing lines between the various bodies of agricultural land. Afterwards the wars and political changes had caused the people to mingle in a different manner, and the cause of formation of these little gullies was lost sight of and forgotten. But they were at a still later date used as boundary lines, and are to a very large extent today. The enormous caves, many of them full of the skeletons of long-dead kanakas, and containing the beautiful lava stalactites and stalagmites, were described.

Mr. Loebenstein then went on to state that the Government lands in Puna, Hilo, Hamakua and other districts of Hawaii comprising over 300,000 acres, adding as much more Crown land, made a total area of 600,000 acres, half of which is good agricultural land of sufficient value, at present low selling prices, to not only pay all the national debt of Hawaii but to run the Government in all departments, for two years to come. Those who were always harping on the theme of Government insolvency should know this. The forest strip, encircling the island at a width of from seven to fourteen miles, contains much timber of great value.

Hilo is to become, with the settling up of her lands, the building of a railroad through the canfield which stretches from Waiakea to Kohala district, and the consequent increase in commerce, the metropolis of the islands—next to Honolulu.

The speaker advocated the advertising in America, of our advantages. He said Hawaii had a home and prospective wealth for thousands of wide awake Americans who were struggling under heavy burdens in the States. He defied anyone to cite an instance during the past three years where an energetic white man had come here and tackled the problems of the soil and failed. Believed small farms to be Hawaii's salvation. Two burning questions were now before us: "taxes" and "lands." One million acres of land belonged to corporations paying taxes thereon at an assessed valuation of $1 to $2.50 per acre. Small holders were paying, for the same quality of land, on an assessment of $50 per acre value.

There were men in the hall who for years had possessed interests identical with plantations and skilled labor replaced by cheap Asiatics. Break down the political force of the corporations with a flood tide of white immigration. "Shall Hawaii be the land of homes and white people or of serfs and sugar?"

We must have a land law without conditions, identical with that of America. The cause of annexation will not succeed under any other kind.

After Mr. Loebenstein had finished speaking the chairman called upon W. W. Hall, who has recently returned from a trip to the States. Mr. Hall described his travels briefly and said much interest was felt, throughout America, in Hawaiian affairs, and the majority, he thought, favored annexation. He spoke of trade revival, big crops; farmers are again cultivating whiskers, which the hard times of '94 had made it impossible to keep up.

Mr. Waity was then asked to make a few remarks. He said he had only been here a year, but it was the pleasantest year of his life. Had hoed beans and slushed pumpkins during his youth.

Ed Towse's benign countenance and warm and mellow smile then illuminated the hall for a brief space. Mr. Towse said that the American League was responsible for the existence of the present Government and was in honor bound to support the republic. He could prove the matter of responsibility if he had his algebra, but unfortunately he had forgotten it. He said that when Congress met at Washington in December next, two Hawaiian questions would come before it: Annexation and cable. If not settled at that session they would probably not come up until after the inauguration in '97. He advocated sending a strong representative committee to Washington to push for us, and recommended Mr. Hatch. The Asiatic question ought to be no obstacle to annexation. Any one of the large American cities would absorb the 40,000 Asiatics of the islands in a month's time. But if we can't get the flag bring Americanism here. Already the laws restrict the coming of the undesirable Japanese and Chinaman, and effort rightly placed will supplant them by intelligent Caucasians. Each and every American should write his friends to boom cable, annexation and immigration.

Mr. Murray closed the meeting with the announcement that the regular business meeting would be held on Tuesday, Oct. 15, at 7:30 p. m.

Health Office Removal.

Today the office of the Board of Health has been removed from the small wooden house at the southwest corner of the old Government building yard to rooms on the lower floor of the Judiciary building. The house vacated has been occupied by the Board for ten years, having previously been used for the Tax office for some years. It will now be used as a storeroom for the Board of Health, which has acquired a lot of stuff during the late siege of cholera. The new office quarters are fitted up in good shape, and give more room than the old both for clerical work and meetings.

THIS PAPER is kept on file at E. C. DAKES' Advertising Agency, 61 and 63 Merchants' Exchange, San Francisco, California, where contracts for advertising can be made for it.

EVERYBODY BUYS FISH.

SCENES AT THE FISHMARKET THIS MORNING.

Number and Varieties of Fish Received and Sold. Prices About the Same as Before.

Thurston's building of glass and iron bore some resemblance to a market this morning, and crowds of buyers went away happy in the possession of the first fish they have had for weeks. Buyers were mostly natives and Japanese, although many hacks laden with white customers drove up later in the morning, after it became known that a supply of fish had been received.

Inspector Keliipio passed the first lot of fish at 5 o'clock this morning and even at that early hour there were purchasers. Since that time and up to 11 o'clock, the time of the reporter's visit, 34 baskets, aggregating 2286 fish, were received, of which 150 were unsold. The prices charged were about the same as usual, good mullet being sold at two and three for 25 cents according to size.

Inspector Keliipio has a desk and a clerk who enters in a book ruled for the purpose the names of the salesman and carrier, number of baskets, description and number of fish, the time of arrival and hour of final disposal of each consignment of fish received. The fish received this morning were mostly mullet, although there were small lots of omaka, kumu, weke, awa, aholehole and lahala, and they came from Aiea, Waikale, Halawa, Waiawa, Mounana, Ewa, Nu and Koolau. Nineteen separate consignments in all were received up to 11 a.m. and they were distributed among eleven salesmen.

Large quantities of deep sea fish are expected this afternoon, and the chances are that the supply will equal the demand.

The record started by the inspector will be kept up, as it is desirable to obtain some reliable statistics of the consumption of fish in this city. There are no data at hand concerning the sales at the old market and consequently no comparison can be made.

No shell-fish or sea weed had come in when the reporter left the market.

Rapid Cigar-Making.

One of the features at London's tobacco show is the Jean Reuse patent cigar-making machine, which, without occupying much more space than a typewriter, can turn out between 2500 and 3000 cigars in a day of ten hours.—Indianapolis Journal.

That Tired Feeling

Is a common complaint and it is a dangerous symptom. It means that the system is debilitated because of impure blood, and in this condition it is especially liable to attacks of disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the remedy for this condition, and also for that weakness which prevails at the change of season, climate or life.

Hood's Pills act easily, yet promptly and efficiently on the bowels and liver.

FITS CURED

(From U. S. Journal of Medicine.)

Prof. W. H. Poole, who makes a specialty of Epilepsy, has without doubt treated and cured more cases than any living Physician; his success is astonishing. We have heard of cases of 20 years' standing cured by him. He publishes a valuable work on this disease which he sends with a large bottle of his absolute cure, free to any sufferer who will send their P. O. and Express addresses. We advise anyone wishing a cure to address, Prof. W. H. POOLE, P. O. 4 Cedar St., New York.
