WAIKIKI HOTEL SCHEME.

Since Sans Souci has changed hands to become private residence property, there is no adequate hotel accommodation for tourists at the Waikiki beach, the only good bathing district within easy reach of Honolulu. There is no doubt that the lack is a great drawback in attractions for tourist travel. Elsewhere in this issue, in the somewhat indirect form of an application for a retail liquor license, will be found the particulars of a definite proposition to establish a first-class hotel at Waikiki. It is submitted by a man who has earned an excellent reputation as a hotel-keeper and general caterer in this city—a careful, attentive and judicious host. Mr. Krouse asserts in his petition that it is a necessary condition to the maintenance of a hotel, such as he proposes to establish, that he should have a license to sell wines and liquors. This may be taken for granted, as, for some time to come, it is improbable that so large a hotel will have such a constant run of patrons as would pay expenses. The place selected is known to every resident as already containing one of the handsomest buildings along the whole Waikiki strand, and the projector engages to add improvements at a cost of $11,000 forthwith. The situation is most removed from private residence premises of any on the beach. Occasional prosecutions show the public that there is liquor-selling without license going on at Waikiki, and whatever there is of such a traffic is entirely without the regulations for order and hours to which licensed places are subject. Any disorder at a hotel especially soliciting tourist patronage would be sedulously guarded against by the proprietor in his own interest. Such a hotel could scarcely degenerate into a mere saloon or drinking joint, and it is very doubtful if it would make the slightest difference, apart from the results of an increased volume of tourist travel, in the aggregate of wines and liquors consumed in the district as a whole. Whenever prohibition of the liquor traffic is not general in a country, hotels are deemed first in order for procuring license. And usually where prohibition does prevail, hotel keepers as a rule manage to provide supplies of the contraband articles for their guests. Commercial travelers and tourists who have been accustomed to the use of stimulants in their own countries deem it unreasonable to be deprived of their indulgence abroad. In a country where license is the policy, however, they are disgusted to find that in country or suburban hotels their wants in that regard have to be supplied surreptitiously, while there is free trade in the article in city quarters where the traffic is more liable to be abused. At all events, there is no question that a hotel at Waikiki would be a very material addition to the inducements for tourist travel, and, if the decision of the Government is irrevocable as to a refusal of the privilege requested in the present instance, such another opportunity for providing the greatly needed accommodation for public recreation will probably never again offer itself.

Minister Willis is coming back to finish out his term, in spite of the little efforts of the morning and evening oracles to curtail the term of his services.

Commissioner Marsden wants to give the contract labor system a vested interest in the coffee as well as in the sugar industry. Contract labor has been proved, in many instances, not essential even to the sugar industry. It ought to be abolished.

Elsewhere are quotations of municipal bonds of several Massachusetts towns, showing four percents taken at goodly premiums. The exhibit ought to contain a fair promise of success for Mr. Jones in floating the Hawaiian refunding loan in the United States.

According to an article in the Examiner, the venerable jurist, Stephen J. Field, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, is failing mentally as well as physically. He has only to hold on a few months longer to have served the longest time of any Justice that ever sat on the Federal bench.

Old England gets some satisfaction for the many weary years it has tried to recover the Queen's cup wrested from it by the yacht America, in the complete subjugation of the Yale University crew to the English style of rowing even to the getting of English boat and oars for the home intercollegiate races.

One of the campaign stories, which emanates from Washington, is that the Republicans, headed by Mark Hanna, are willing to spend if necessary $1,000,000 to prevent the endorsement of Bryan and Sewall at the Populist Convention. All indications seem to be that the game is serious enough to the Republicans for great sacrifices.

Olive culture on the hills about Honolulu used to be advocated as feasible. Experiments were made but not enough to decide the question. An article copied from the Examiner shows that the demand for California olives has far outrun the supply. Being pickled when mellow their flavor is greatly preferred by connoisseurs to the green-pickled export of Europe.

Timely Topics

ON THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY AND THE AERMOTOR WINDMILL.

The singular situation of the Democratic party at this time is aptly illustrated by the story of two Irishmen who occupied berths in a sleeping car on one of the great American railway lines. A collision took place in the night and confusion ensued. Both men dressed hastily, and when they emerged from behind the curtains, Pat, recognizing his friend Mike, said to him, "Mike, are you hurt?" "No," said Mike, "I am not hurt, but am fatally twisted." The Democratic party, it is almost needless to remark, is like unto Mike, "fatally twisted." Instead of being twisted in a railway collision, however, Democracy seems to have been twisted by wind. Whether some remnants of the recent St. Louis tornado hovered around the Chicago convention or whether it was simply a tornado issuing from the mouth of the "Boy Orator of the Platte" certain it is that windy eloquence carried the day in the Democratic convention, and from all accounts the campaign will have to be carried through on wind, as the banks refuse to let the Democrats have any gold to run it with.

If the windy eloquence of a boy orator can force a Presidential nomination in favor of an almost unknown candidate, what must be the power of old Boreas himself when he turns loose a consignment of the real article. We have seen it in the almost total destruction of a portion of the city of St. Louis and we have seen it take a "twist" through Kapiolani Park just to show the people of these islands that we are not entirely forgotten.

Wind, however, properly regulated and controlled is not only a good thing in the mouth of a man like Wm. J. Bryan, but it is a better one in the case of the AERMOTOR WINDMILL, and a very little of it will answer the purpose. The mechanism of the Aermotor is of Steel and it is simplicity personified. A boy or an ignorant Jap can run it and keep it in order. Only a few weeks ago we replaced a windmill set up in the grounds of the Queen's Hospital, which would not do the work represented, by an Aermotor. There has been no trouble about water since. The hospital people are using more water than ever before, have more to use and yet the Aermotor only runs a portion of the time. For the first time in the history of the institution, the trustees are assured of water enough to irrigate the entire grounds and the pipes will soon be laid to do so.

But enough said! Everybody knows the Aermotor does exactly what it is represented to do. To those who have not examined its simple construction we would like to show a small working model which we have in operation.

to your type printed visiting card, when it is so easy to get the correct thing right at home.

No card but an engraved one is acceptable; others are considered shoddy and should not be used.

We know the correct thing, and any work turned out by us, will place you right in the swim.

Every effort is being made by us to keep this work at home, and if a strict adherence to San Francisco prices, combined with good clean work is any inducement to place orders here, we will get all your work from now on.

Bear in mind that we are not trying to meet the cut rates of Eastern Department stores for inferior work; but are doing good work, using the very best of material, and adhering closely to ruling rates in San Francisco.

Nor is the work confined to Cards alone, but Wedding and Society Stationery, Business Cards, Announcements, Bill Heads for Professional men, Embossing, and the general run of work coming under that head, have the same careful attention.

You may not need anything now, but it is well to bear in mind when the time comes, and save the expense of sending away for it.

W. W. DIMOND'S

We've sold refrigerators and stoves until we are tired, other things as well, but the rush has been for refrigerators. People appreciate a good thing when the points are explained to them. Let's talk about good ones.

The Katsinger Cut Easy is as new to you as lots of other things we have introduced in Honolulu. The Cut Easy is made on the same plan as the Claus brand knife and looks like one broadened out. The American grass look is another new thing. It's built on new lines and cuts back and front. A planter from Kauai took a down the other day, because he recognized the merit there is in it; one will last a life time.

Everyone suffers from the ignorance of servants when it comes to sharpening lawn mowers. We have a home sharpener that projects the blade and yet puts it in condition to cut a hair. These are garden implements we have mentioned—gardeners belong in the same category.

The latest is one that makes a beautiful spray and is built up as to be easily cleaned—there's a place on the end of your garden hose for one of them.

A one way roller or law mender is a jewel you cannot afford to be without—cheap too.
