THE JAPANESE SCARE.

Surely political union with the United States may be discussed on its real merits without dragging in the Japanese immigration question. This is a matter to be considered of itself and a moment's reflection will convince anyone who thinks that the Japanese deluge would not necessarily be stayed by annexation. The Japanese have for some years been regarded as a dangerously cheap labor element on the Pacific Coast. There is no restriction law against them such as there is against the Chinese. And it is unlikely that any will be enacted, for the United States leads off among the Powers in obtaining treaty revision with Japan. This fact in connection with the general scramble for oriental trade forbids American policy from taking a channel adverse to the feelings of Japan. It seems to be incumbent upon our Government to take remedial action against the Japanese flood without regard to the question of annexation. It is the opinion of thoughtful people who are constantly studying the question that proper representations by the Hawaiian to the Japanese Government on the matter would have respectful consideration at the least, with probably a willingness to take measures for preventing the embarrassment of this country from having an undue proportion of that one nationality in the population of Hawaii. Should, however, Japan not listen to reason, Hawaii should undoubtedly have not less than the moral backing of its good friend America in cutting the Gordian knot by breaking off the existing treaty relations with Japan out of sheer self protection. The matter of taking care of her mixed population is as serious a one to Hawaii as that of preserving its territorial claims intact is to Venezuela. It has been seen that the United States Government risked even a breach of peace with Great Britain in its insistence on the observance of the equities by that nation with Venezuela. Some of those who have joined their voices in this Japanese scare, on behalf of annexation, are deeply interested, directly and indirectly, in sugar planting. It should be incumbent upon them, therefore, to show that the planting interest is exhibiting any practical concern over the alleged danger of unlimited Japanese immigration. Are not the planters right and left placing orders all the time for more Japanese contract laborers? And, away down in every heart that throbs in unison with the sugar market, is there not a feeling of exultation over each frequent contribution of steamers from Japan to the rising flood of Japanese free labor, for its potent aid in floating wages in general down from the present levels to the shoals where the cheapest labor ever known here before would find its boat stranded? Let us have some consistency from those who discuss public questions. The Government must not shield itself from responsibility, on the Japanese question, behind the annexation movement.

THE FARM.

Agricultural Industry as Taught at Kamehameha School for Boys.

Handicraft contains the following synopsis of work on the farm of Kamehameha School:

A large part of our time since the term began has been used in putting in order some portions of the grounds and in caring for the varied interests of the Farm that are bound to be more or less neglected during vacation from lack of help.

The boys who worked on the Farm through vacation gave us good, faithful service and in most instances showed a good deal of interest in the work.

At the beginning of school it was found that our supply of milk was insufficient for our needs, so the dairy had added two cows from Kauai which so increased the quantity of milk that we think we will be able to supply the present demands in that direction.

Our pigs are in a more flourishing condition than we have ever seen them and seem to be enjoying life in a manner highly satisfactory to themselves.

We propose to do some work on the pen during the next few days which will be a saving to the Farm and make it more comfortable for the pigs during the heavy rains.

Besides the laying of eggs our hens are busy all day singing the praises of the head of their family who is able to wake us up long before the boys think of listening for the sound of the new triangle.

Some of the taro patches up Kalihii have recently been replanted and are growing nicely.

It may readily be seen by any one who had a chance to look at our sorghum before and who now sees it after we have applied its contents to the field that the manure pit is of much value to the farm.

At another time we will talk about the trees and some of the other interests of the farm which we hope our friends will want to hear about, but we fear lack of space, and so feel justified in leaving out those things this time.

MORTUARY REPORT.

Deaths in Honolulu for the Month of November.

There were 58 deaths in Honolulu in November, which is close to the highest number of some previous years. Account is to be taken, however, of increase of population over 1895 and especially 1893, in both of which the mortality for November was 60. It was 36 in 1892 and 46 in 1894. There is an exceptionally high rate also to be noted among Asiatics this year, it being above the annual death rate for month, which is 24.85. That of Hawaiians is 30.85, Asiatics 26.53, and all others but 15.

The mortality by ages again exhibits that "slaughter of the innocents" so often deplored. Deaths between birth and ten years of age were 17, of which 10 were Hawaiian, no less than 11 of the 17, too, being under one year. There is a high middle age proportion also, 13 between 40 and 50 and 10 between 50 and 60 years of age.

Twenty-one died without medical attendance, one-third of these being under five years of age.

By sexes the 58 is divided, 40 males, 18 females.

The nationalities of the month's dead are 27 Hawaiian, 13 Chinese, 7 Portuguese, 8 Japanese, 1 United States, 2 others.

Causes of death were: one each ascites, burns, beriberi, croup, cancer, childbirth, diarrhoea, hemorrhage, inanition, influenza, marasmus, meningitis, oedema, opium, scorbutic, septicemia, tetanus, typhoid fever, unknown; four each cholera infantum, consumption, old age, pneumonia; three each convulsions, heart disease; two each injuries, inflammation, paralysis.

An Artist Without Arms.

The comrade without arms was a most assiduous worker. It was amusing to watch his mitted feet step out of their shoes and at the shortest notice proceed to do duty as hands. His nimble toes would screw and unscrew the tops of the color tubes, or handle the brush, as steadily as the best and deftest of fingers could handle it. Very much unlike any of us, he was most punctilious in the care he bestowed on his paint box, as also on his personal appearance.

—ON—
TELESCOPE COFFEE POTS, TEA STRAINERS AND OTHER USEFUL THINGS.

THE TELESCOPE COFFEE POT is constructed with an inner chamber extending one-sixteenth of an inch from the bottom of the Pot, thus preventing any possible escape of the steam and aroma.

DIRECTIONS

The coffee used should be ground very fine and placed in the inner chamber. Pour boiling water over the coffee, cover and allow to remain on the stove six or seven minutes. When the coffee is made, raise the inner chamber and fasten with the set screw to strain. The clear amber coffee remains in the Coffee Pot ready to serve. The inner chamber may be lifted out if desired.

POINTS OF EXCELLENCE

1. ECONOMY—It is a coffee saver. In a short time it pays for itself.
2. By using finely ground coffee you are enabled to obtain every particle of strength contained in the coffee.
3. The cloth being stretched tightly across the bottom of the inner chamber to strain the coffee, making a large flat surface, the coffee is strained very readily.
4. The cloth used on the inner chamber being adjustable, it is easy to remove.
5. There is no place in the inner chamber, Coffee Pot or strainer to collect the sediment that may make the coffee muddy.
6. There is no reason why you should not make coffee exactly alike 365 mornings in the year, without the slightest variation.
7. The coffee will keep hot longer, because the Coffee Pot consists of two thicknesses instead of one.
8. You can make one cup of coffee as well and as satisfactorily as a pot full.
9. The inner chamber may be removed and washed, and the clear strained coffee may be saved for lunch.
10. By not subjecting the Coffee Pot to extreme heat it should last a lifetime.

We have these new coffee pots in one, two, three and four quart sizes and sell them at the San Francisco retail price. We have also a fine line of the old fashioned earthenware tea-pots and something new in the shape of improved tea strainers, which are both ornamental and cheap.

We have a full line of kitchen ware in tin and agate.

W. W. DIMOND'S

Santa Claus is extremely fond of receiving letters from the little ones. He generally offers a valuable prize of some kind to well behaved children and this year he has notified Wall, Nichols Co., who are to act as his agents here, to offer in his name a beautiful French doll to the Honolulu girl or boy who writes him the most original letter. Any little one under ten years of age may compete for the doll which is sure to be highly prized by the lucky recipient. Now, girls, this is your opportunity. Brush the cobwebs and dust of puzzling questions out of your minds and write the old gentleman a nice letter; something different from anything you have ever written before. You may ask your papas and mamas how to spell the words but the thoughts and good wishes should be all your own.

On honor, now! Letters may be mailed in the letter box at Wall, Nichols Co's store between 9 o'clock next Saturday morning, Nov. 28th, and 12 o'clock noon of December 2nd, the day before Christmas.

The doll will be on exhibition in one of their large show windows during the above period. The judges of the merits of the letters received will be decided upon by representatives of the press of Honolulu.
