FRIDAY, OCT. 29, 1897.

According to a Coast authority that appears sound, there is nothing in the constitution of the United States against the nation's acquiring territory, even by conquest much less voluntary accession.

According to revelations of the Yerkes telescope, that proves to be the greatest celestial pathfinder on this globe, the moon is a dead world. Even Peter Lee could not tell, from the data revealed, how long its volcanoes have been inactive.

Among the institutions that discredit the proverbial imputation of being born in Honolulu only to die, the Kilohana Art League gives good evidence of having established a place.

Legislation for wide tires is no new, scarcely even a modern subject, in other countries. The writer was familiar with its discussion in the East a generation back.

New York's health authorities have decided to allow lepers their freedom, not believing that the disease is contagious. There are other reasons than fear of contagion why lepers should be segregated, particularly in any country where the malady is widely prevalent.

The BULLETIN has received a newspaper cutting with a reference to the proposition of establishing waterside parks in New York. It says that the idea so evidently contains the germ of practical relief for a crowded population in hot weather that under the charter for Greater New York the dock board is expressly authorized to plan certain piers in such a way that they will serve for purposes of recreation. An opinion is quoted, in support of a proposal to make a waterside park, that in such parks "for one acre of land you procured a thousand acres of space and fresh air."

This is the season of the year when the Hawaiian sugar planter and rice farmer seriously consider the subject of plows. Now, in plows as in everything else there are good, bad and indifferent, but for a really first-class plow, one best adapted to the climate and soil of Hawaii, we will back the AVERY ADVANCE PLOW against any in the market.

We have other makes, such as "The Perfect" breaking plows, double furrow plows in all sizes, rice plows in nine or ten sizes, single plows, etc. We carry a complete line of HARROWS of different sizes and makes; IRON AGE CULTIVATORS and AVERY'S SUGAR LAND IMPLEMENTS, such as stubble diggers, cultivators and fertilizer distributors.

This is the way you appear to the X-Ray when you ride on the old style ordinary saddle, and if you knew how much it is liable to injure you we think you would at once call on us and get a Christy, Ray, Beck or some such good safe modern saddle. In a few days we will show you how nicely your bones settle down on a modern saddle, we will take the Christy for an example. Save this cut so you can compare it with the rider of a perfect saddle.
