CONDENSED WAR HISTORY.

Request THE HAWAIIAN publishes the following condensed history of the Spanish-American war, in two chapters. The first chapter is of the war in general; the second is local, showing Hawaii's not unimportant part in being a resting and supply point for the United States troops and ships en route for the seat of war at the Philippines. Certainly it would have been next to impossible for the United States forces to have been transported the 8,000 miles from San Francisco to Manila packed in the ships as the men have been, like sardines in a box, without the opportunity to replenish coal bunkers and larders, and for the troops to get a little exercise ashore.

THE WAR IN GENERAL. June 18, 1896.—In National convention assembled at St. Louis, Mo., the Republican party adopted a platform containing the following Cuban plank: "From the hour of achieving their own independence, the people of the United States have regarded with sympathy the struggles of other American people to free themselves from European domination. We watch with deep and abiding interest the heroic battle of the Cuban patriots against cruelty and oppression, and our best hopes go out for the full success of their determined contest for liberty. The government of Spain, having lost control of Cuba, and being unable to protect the property or lives of resident American citizens, or to comply with its treaty obligations, we believe that the government of the United States should actively use its influence and good offices to restore peace and give independence to the island."

July 9, 1896.—The Democratic party in convention at Chicago adopted a platform with the following reference to Cuba: "We extend our sympathy to the people of Cuba in their heroic struggle for liberty and independence." July 22, 1896.—The Populist party in convention at St. Louis, Mo., adopted a platform, and included in the general propositions was the following: "We tender to the patriotic people of Cuba our deepest sympathy in their heroic struggles for political freedom and independence, and we believe the time has come when the United States, the great republic of the world, should recognize that Cuba is, and of right ought to be, a free and independent State."

January 25.—U. S. Battleship Maine, Captain C. D. Sigsbee, U. S. N., is ordered to Havana, Cuba. February 8.—The publication of a letter written by Senor Dupuy De Lome, Spanish Minister to the United States, speaking disparagingly of President McKinley, leads to the Minister's resignation of his post and the appointment of Senor Luis Polo y Bernabe.

February 15, 1898.—United States battleship Maine blown up in Havana harbor and 266 men killed. February 21.—United States Board of Inquiry, appointed to inquire into the explosion on the Maine, convened at Havana with Capt. Sampson presiding, and Lieut. Commander Marix acting recorder. March 6.—Spain asks for but does not insist upon Consul Lee's recall from Havana. March 8.—House unanimously votes $50,000 for defense. March 9.—Senate passes defense bill unanimously, and it is signed by President McKinley. March 28.—Maine Court of Inquiry report sent to Congress accompanied by a message from President McKinley. The report presented to Spain. April 1.—Spain declares an armistice in Cuba—it is not acceptable to the United States. April 11.—President McKinley submits a message to Congress declaring that war must stop, and asking for power to fully and finally terminate the existing state of hostilities. April 14.—House of Representatives declares for armed intervention without recognition of Cuban independence. April 17.—Senate votes for Cuban independence. April 19.—Concurrent resolution Continued on Third Page.

About one month ago my child, which is fifteen months old, had an attack of diarrhoea accompanied by vomiting. I gave it such remedies as are usually given in such cases, but as nothing gave relief, we sent for a physician and it was under his care for a week. At this time the child had been sick for about ten days and was having about twenty five operations of the bowels every twelve hours, and we were convinced that unless it soon obtained relief it would not live. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was recommended, and I decided to try it. I soon noticed a change for the better; by its continued use a complete cure was brought about and it is now perfectly healthy.—C. L. Boggs, Stumptown, Gilmer Co., W. Va. For sale by Benson, Smith Co., General Agents.
