The Advertiser "extra" was replete with foreign news copied from Saturday's BULLETIN.

The situation need not increase the fears of the community nor cause over confidence. Keep cool and work.

The BULLETIN goes to all its subscribers this evening. In days like the present we believe our subscribers have first right to the facts of the situation.

The BULLETIN acknowledges the courtesy of the Hawaiian Gazette Company manager and employees of the mechanical department for recent favors asked on account of the failure of electrical power.

Considering the dangers of the situation Saturday the majority of the Asiatic population conducted themselves admirably. It was the mutterings of a few malcontents that made temporarily harsh measures an apparent necessity.

Dr. Wood's remarks carry assurance to the community. The community is aroused, but it must continue at concert pitch until the last vestige of danger is wiped out. Money and effort must continue to be expended with a liberal hand.

The prompt response of the United States military authorities was a quieting influence on the situation deserving of more than passing attention. Appearance of United States soldiery gave new confidence to the people fearful of rioting, and promptly put an end to all thoughts of rushing the guards, an action that appeared as a possibility among a few obstreperous characters of Chinatown. Furthermore the action of Col. Mills placed the additional guard duty in experienced hands, and gave the Citizens' Committee the men sadly needed in forwarding measures of relief.

EVERY MAN LEND A HAND.

Wind and fire did the work of destroying Chinatown with neatness and uncontrolled despatch. Few view the smoldering embers of the infected houses with serious regret. The hundreds of families made homeless by the fire however, force a problem upon the town and a serious responsibility upon every household that has the means to furnish relief. A more pitiful sight than that of Saturday when these people were driven from their homes by fire can hardly be imagined. Business men responded nobly to the emergency, and it is to the everlasting credit of the authorities that the work of moving the fugitives from the burning district was done without the loss of a single life or serious injuries.

As soon as the women of the city learned of the situation, their response was immediate. Volunteers were numerous and there is hardly a home in the town from which some assistance has not been offered. Where chaos reigned on Saturday prompt organization is now at work furnishing relief and proper accommodation with all the speed possible. Church bells are stilled, but the people are engaged in Christian work that needs no proclamation from pulpits to prove its worth. Notwithstanding the chaos and hardships of Saturday, the situation to-day is not without its bright and reassuring aspects for the future. The best business ability of the city is at the helm. Chaos is quickly giving way to thorough organization. Money and effort will not be spared until every family is properly housed and supplied with the necessities of life and as many additional comforts as possible.

Let the good work go on. Let no man think that his assistance is not needed. It is needed and will be for a week to come. There is a limit to the endurance of the leaders and so much of the small detail work as possible must be taken off their hands. That they may give their attention to executive direction, every man in the city should stand ready for call to any duty however insignificant it may seem.

WOMEN CAN HELP.

[From Saturday's Daily.]

Now as never before should the women of the city come to the assistance of their sex. Hundreds of women and children have been made homeless, and to-night have nothing but the clothes on their backs to protect them.

The men are doing what they can, but at best it is impossible for them to give more than passing attention to the needs of these people. A woman's corps of helpers is absolutely necessary. What though the women are Asiatics? they are human, they must be cared for. Their children are as dear to them, and the small comforts that can be rendered are as necessary, as in the best homes of the country.

What the next twenty-four hours means to these homeless people words can hardly picture, but their sufferings can be largely alleviated if the good women will lend their effort to the great task of relief which is now the duty of the hour.

APPROPRIATE THE MONEY.

[From Saturday's Daily.]

There is not the slightest question that the Council of State stands ready to appropriate every dollar needed by the community in forwarding the fight against the plague. It is useless to discount, however, the great responsibility which this body assumes in appropriating immense funds from the public treasury.

The Council by its action yesterday showed that it appreciates its future responsibility to the people as well as the immediate demand. The money will be appropriated. The Council of state will not refuse a dollar that is required in dealing with the present situation. This body, however, is not called upon, it is not justified in acting upon the mere say so of the Executive Council. It is a business proposition in which every member of the Council of State should have full knowledge of every detail. This is mandatory.

The $200,000 for which the Board of Health calls should be and we believe will be appropriated by the unanimous vote of the Council this afternoon. The twenty-four hours delay asked for investigation does not increase the dangers of the situation. The fire department has not yet caught up with the work set for it in destroying Chinatown shacks and several days must necessarily elapse before it reaches the destruction of goods. Meanwhile the Council of State makes a thorough investigation of the financial situation with which it has to deal, in order that the balance sheets may not be subject to question when the final accounting is made.

Our officials must not run away with the idea that the emergencies of the situation make less necessary a strict accounting for every dollar expended. Spend the money and spend it liberally. If the Board of Health calls for more, give it, but see to it that liberality of expenditure does not result in any lax methods of accounting.

True State of Affairs.

An afternoon paper of Friday made reference to a King street sub-inspector, alleging that he did his inspection over the telephone. Here are the particulars in the case: The sub-inspector went his regular afternoon round of houses in the block bounded by King, Piikoi, Young and Keaumoku streets. All the people with the exception of a man and his wife from one house, and a lady from another house near by, were found to be at home. Later on he saw these people go by his house in their carriages, all three looking hale and hearty. In a minute he telephoned over, asked after their health, and received the answer he expected: "All well." He had seen the people with his own eyes and did not consider that it was necessary for him to go over to their places again, particularly since he had seen all the others in the houses and found everything in ship-shape form.

Married Last Night.

The marriage of Miss Margaret Kennedy and L. D. Timmons was celebrated last evening in the parlors of the Catholic Mission Rev. Father Valentine officiating. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Margaret and the late Mark Kennedy and the groom one of the best known of the local newspaper scribes, and a member of the Hawaiian Star staff.

Assault and Battery.

Henry White, one of the men employed at the Hawaiian Hotel Livery Stables was arrested this morning by Deputy Marshal Chillingworth on the charge of assault and battery. It was shortly after 3 o'clock that White and another employe came out of the stables the former attacking the latter. He was seen by General Hayward who had police assistance telephoned for.

INSURANCE NOTE.

An insurance agent, met while the fire was raging declared emphatically that the companies would pay no losses in the burnt district. They were protected by the clause shutting out claims for insured property burned by "act of civil authority."

"There are millions lost in that fire," said an insurance man in a group on King street yesterday. When his statement was answered by an expression of surprise at such a tremendous estimate, he said his companies held risks thickly all through the district. "I have $50,000 in a single building there," he remarked as a clincher.

"I hope the Bulletin will call upon the insurance companies to do the right thing," remarked a property owner in National Guard uniform at the fire. "They ought to pay at least half their risks, notwithstanding the saving clauses of the policies."

"Exorbitant premiums have been charged on the ground of exceptional risk, all over Chinatown. If the companies decline to adopt a liberal course in this emergency, they ought to be driven out of the country. Yes, the property owners here would be able to protect themselves through a scheme of mutual insurance."

A member of the Underwriters' Association told a reporter this morning that a summing up of the losses in Chinatown from the sanitary fires could not be got ready for two or three days.

A prominent member of a house having fire agencies said that the companies it represented had for years accepted no risks in Chinatown.

Over Kalihi Pali.

Reports from some residents of Kalihi that natives have been piloting people over the Kalihi pali to the other side of the islands. The merchant's Sanitary Committee has appointed Dr. Huddy and Principal Thompson of Kamehameha a committee to appoint guards to watch the pass.
