

EVENING BULLETIN

THE PEOPLE'S PAPER.

Vol. X. No. 1881.

HONOLULU, TERRITORY OF HAWAII, WEDNESDAY, JULY 3, 1901.

PRICE 5 CENTS.

CELEBRATION OF JULY THE FOURTH

Myrtle And Healan Crews Ready For Races.

NATIONAL GUARD AND FIRE LADDIES MARCH

Y. M. C. A. Exercises in Evening-- Boat Clubs Keep Open House-- Special Club Dinners-- Yachts Will Race.

From present appearances the celebration of American independence will be fittingly observed in this city tomorrow, notwithstanding the fact that a large number of our local people have gone to Hilo to be present at the three days races and general good time.

All preparations for the successful carrying of the boat races at Pearl River tomorrow have been completed and the committee having the matter in charge have spared no trouble to make everything satisfactory.

The train for the race course will leave the depot here at 8:45 a. m. arriving at the Peninsula about thirty minutes later.

The signal will send them off for the starting point so that by the time the spectators arrive, the first race will be ready to start.

Commodore Arch. Young's speedy gasoline launch Water Witch has been secured for the judges and newspaper men.

The procession to the cemetery was profoundly impressive. The remains were accompanied by an escort of a company of soldiers, made up of members from each company of the National Guard.

There seems to be many opinions in town regarding the outcome of the contest tomorrow. Many think that the Healanis have a regular "clinch," but the Myrtle sympathizers have an idea that the senior event is not a foregone conclusion by any means.

So anxious have some of the boys become that they have sought the services of kahunas and soothsayers for enlightenment. Two stories are afloat. One is that a certain soothsayer has declared that the Myrtles will lose both races but one of the races will be decided against them on a technicality.

Another rumor is to the effect that the Myrtles will lose both races as the efforts of a celebrated kahuna nui have been enlisted by backers of the Healanis crews against the wearers of the red.

The races taking place in the morning will leave the afternoon free to the boating enthusiasts to enjoy themselves and both Myrtles and Healanis will keep open house at their club-rooms after the crowd returns from Pearl City.

Besides the boat races there will be an impromptu yacht race up from Pearl River. Most of the sail boats will go down this afternoon or early tomorrow morning and start back at the conclusion of the last race.

The following officers have been chosen to take charge of the races tomorrow: S. E. P. Taylor, F. J. Church, A. G. M. Robertson, A. W. Carter, starter; E. H. Paris, G. H. Angus, F. J. Kruger, C. J. Willis; A. A. Wilder (chairman), F. J. Church and S. E. P. Taylor, regatta committee.

A large number of members of both the Healanis and Myrtle crews are going out to the Moana hotel for dinner in the evening. Manager Card has given on the boys a special rate for the occasion.

Aside from the parade of the National Guard in the morning and the Y. M. C. A. meeting in the evening there will be nothing going on in the city Honolulu people who do not attend the races will go to the suburbs for the day and in the evening, there will be fireworks at various private residences by way of celebration.

The companies of the National Guard will assemble at the drill shed at 7:30 o'clock and the parade will start about fifteen minutes later. The line of march will be up Miller street to Beretania, to Fort, to Merchant and thence to the Capitol grounds where the troops will be reviewed. The Fire Department will accompany the National Guard in the parade.

A big picnic under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. will be given at Old Waikeiki during the forenoon.

At 7:00 o'clock in the evening, there will be a program in the Association hall. The Amateur Orchestra, under the leadership of Wray Taylor, will furnish patriotic music. The Declaration of Independence will be read by David Kanakani, Mrs. McDonald will sing "The Star Spangled Banner." The oration of the evening will be delivered by J. D. Waldron. T. McCants Stewart will deliver a ten minute address.

BODY IS LAID AWAY

The funeral of Paul Neumann yesterday demonstrated the place the deceased lawyer holds in the affections of the people of Honolulu. In all public offices business ceased, down town, the activities of the day were perceptibly quieted and in all classes of society, expressions of sorrow were heard because of the loss that had been sustained by the community.

Large crowds began to gather at the Masonic temple by 3 o'clock. The hall when opened, was too small to accommodate those anxious to pay a last tribute by their presence.

The impressive funeral services of the Masonic ritual were conducted by Worshipful Master William H. Wright, with whom sat Past Grand Masters of the Lodge, W. A. Allen, W. H. Cornwell, W. A. Graham, Worshipful Master Ward of Lodge Le Progres and Right Worshipful Master Stanley of Pacific. The service was made more impressive by music rendered by Miss von Holt, Miss Rodgers, Mr. Wall and Judge Stanley. The pieces rendered were "Rock of Ages" and "Nearer My God to Thee." Invitation being extended to those present to view the features of the deceased, nearly all responded.

The procession to the cemetery was profoundly impressive. The remains were accompanied by an escort of a company of soldiers, made up of members from each company of the National Guard.

There seems to be many opinions in town regarding the outcome of the contest tomorrow. Many think that the Healanis have a regular "clinch," but the Myrtle sympathizers have an idea that the senior event is not a foregone conclusion by any means.

So anxious have some of the boys become that they have sought the services of kahunas and soothsayers for enlightenment. Two stories are afloat. One is that a certain soothsayer has declared that the Myrtles will lose both races but one of the races will be decided against them on a technicality.

Another rumor is to the effect that the Myrtles will lose both races as the efforts of a celebrated kahuna nui have been enlisted by backers of the Healanis crews against the wearers of the red.

SENATE POURS HOT SHOT INTO THE HOUSE

The Senate threw a few very warm shot into the House at this morning's session. The bone of contention was the $20,000 appropriation bill to defray the expenses of the extra session.

The House then called the attention of the Attorney General to the fact that the indictment as originally drawn up by Deputy Attorney Cathcart had been discarded and that one drawn by himself had been substituted.

The Court then called the attention of the Attorney General to the fact that the indictment as originally drawn up by Deputy Attorney Cathcart had been discarded and that one drawn by himself had been substituted.

The House then called the attention of the Attorney General to the fact that the indictment as originally drawn up by Deputy Attorney Cathcart had been discarded and that one drawn by himself had been substituted.

The House then called the attention of the Attorney General to the fact that the indictment as originally drawn up by Deputy Attorney Cathcart had been discarded and that one drawn by himself had been substituted.

The House then called the attention of the Attorney General to the fact that the indictment as originally drawn up by Deputy Attorney Cathcart had been discarded and that one drawn by himself had been substituted.

The House then called the attention of the Attorney General to the fact that the indictment as originally drawn up by Deputy Attorney Cathcart had been discarded and that one drawn by himself had been substituted.

The House then called the attention of the Attorney General to the fact that the indictment as originally drawn up by Deputy Attorney Cathcart had been discarded and that one drawn by himself had been substituted.

The House then called the attention of the Attorney General to the fact that the indictment as originally drawn up by Deputy Attorney Cathcart had been discarded and that one drawn by himself had been substituted.

SMITH WAS RATTLED SAYS ATTY DOLE

Astonishes Court by Moving a Nolle Prosequi.

THERE IS NO LAWYER SUITABLE TO TRY CASE

Remarkable Finish of Indictment Found on Approval of Attorney General by Grand Jury.

After advising the Grand Jury that an indictment would lie against Walter G. Smith for perjury, after drawing the indictment in the case, after the court had heard a lengthy argument upon a plea in abatement in the same matter and after a decision disallowing the plea, after issuing a commission to the late Paul Neumann as Deputy Attorney General to prosecute the case, after the defendant had appeared in court this morning and had entered a plea of not guilty, after all this, Attorney General Dole entered a nolle prosequi and asked that the case against Walter G. Smith for perjury be dismissed.

The Attorney General gave as his chief reason the fact that he could find no lawyer in the city, free from bias in the matter or competent to prosecute the case, now that Paul Neumann is gone. He said that he, himself felt a bias in the matter and could not try it.

The Court replied that it was rather a serious matter for the Attorney General to take this course in the case after having drawn the indictment but that it was entirely within his province and the Court could do nothing but order the entry made. He remarked further that the Attorney General is answerable to the people in the matter and not to the Court.

By way of explanation, the Attorney General went over the grounds of the whole matter, saying that personally he did not want to prosecute the case because, while he wanted to be impartial, he might be biased and prejudiced. It was therefore, in his mind, only proper that he should take the full responsibility of disposing of the case by nolle prosequi. He said that he believed Mr. Smith was "rattled" any way, the day he was before the Grand Jury.

The Court called the Attorney General's attention to the fact that Mr. Smith's plea was "not guilty," and not that of being "rattled."

The Attorney General continued to say that the statements of Smith before the Grand Jury were clearly misapprehended at the time and that subsequent developments made it clear that no perjury had been committed. Since it was practically impossible to prove the charge, he thought only one course was open and that was a nolle prosequi.

The Court then called the attention of the Attorney General to the fact that the indictment as originally drawn up by Deputy Attorney Cathcart had been discarded and that one drawn by himself had been substituted.

The Court then called the attention of the Attorney General to the fact that the indictment as originally drawn up by Deputy Attorney Cathcart had been discarded and that one drawn by himself had been substituted.

The Court then called the attention of the Attorney General to the fact that the indictment as originally drawn up by Deputy Attorney Cathcart had been discarded and that one drawn by himself had been substituted.

The Court then called the attention of the Attorney General to the fact that the indictment as originally drawn up by Deputy Attorney Cathcart had been discarded and that one drawn by himself had been substituted.

The Court then called the attention of the Attorney General to the fact that the indictment as originally drawn up by Deputy Attorney Cathcart had been discarded and that one drawn by himself had been substituted.

The Court then called the attention of the Attorney General to the fact that the indictment as originally drawn up by Deputy Attorney Cathcart had been discarded and that one drawn by himself had been substituted.

The Court then called the attention of the Attorney General to the fact that the indictment as originally drawn up by Deputy Attorney Cathcart had been discarded and that one drawn by himself had been substituted.

The Court then called the attention of the Attorney General to the fact that the indictment as originally drawn up by Deputy Attorney Cathcart had been discarded and that one drawn by himself had been substituted.

The Court then called the attention of the Attorney General to the fact that the indictment as originally drawn up by Deputy Attorney Cathcart had been discarded and that one drawn by himself had been substituted.

The Court then called the attention of the Attorney General to the fact that the indictment as originally drawn up by Deputy Attorney Cathcart had been discarded and that one drawn by himself had been substituted.

The Court then called the attention of the Attorney General to the fact that the indictment as originally drawn up by Deputy Attorney Cathcart had been discarded and that one drawn by himself had been substituted.

The Court then called the attention of the Attorney General to the fact that the indictment as originally drawn up by Deputy Attorney Cathcart had been discarded and that one drawn by himself had been substituted.

The Court then called the attention of the Attorney General to the fact that the indictment as originally drawn up by Deputy Attorney Cathcart had been discarded and that one drawn by himself had been substituted.

whereas they could go into conference on the House bills as amended by the Senate at once. There was no further argument and the Senate bill was tabled.

The rest of the morning was spent in reading the communication from the Senate transmitting the amendments to the House current expense bill, known as "H. B. No. 3." The amendments cover more pages than the bill itself. The Senate has reduced the total appropriation carried by $44,000 but in doing so it has been at the expense of the roads and improvements such as sewerage for Kowalo which they threw out and wharves for Honolulu which they reduced from $50,000 to $40,000. On the other hand they have put in the military at about $50,000 and a lot of new items.

During the reading of the communication giving a list of the amendments, the Speaker had to call the members to order several times. One member suggested that the Senate was a pack of rooks. Another thought the insane asylum should be nearer the bungalow. Monsarrat suggested that they better study geography as they did not know the geography of the island of Hawaii even. The propositions of the Senate were met with a general laugh several times. Hawaii was pretty badly burned by the Senate amendments and other islands as well, so that the prospects of the House agreeing to any of the items is pretty remote. The bill will probably go to conference as soon as the reading is completed this afternoon. At noon the House took a recess to 2 o'clock.

SPLENDID DINNER AT THE MOANA HOTEL

At the Moana hotel under the management of that prince of entertainers, E. H. Card, who formerly conducted the Hilo hotel, is being prepared a sumptuous dinner for the Fourth of July, and nothing is being left undone that would in any manner render the dinner a great success. Mr. Card is ably assisted by his chef, Marcel Magnan, while a glance at the menu below will certainly satisfy the most fastidious taste.

MOANA HOTEL.

E. H. Card, Mgr.

MENU.

Grape Fruit a l'Amouillabile

Chicken Consomme, Madrilaine

Green Turtle a la Americaine

Pin Oles Sliced Cucumbers Salted Almonds

Yauzina Oysters a la Bohemian

Baked Mullet, Hawaiian style

Rabotines of Chicken a la Chateaufort

Fried Bananas au Suet

Punch a la Creme Je Menthe Verte

Roast Ribs of Prime Island Beef

Stuffed Tame Oulu Duck with Guava Jelly

Browned Sweet Potatoes

Boiled New Potatoes Cream Sauce

Hawaiian Corn on Cob

Hickory Asparagus, Sauce Hollandaise

Dressed Alligator Peas

Scallops of Lobster, Sauce Mayonnaise

Sliced Tomatoes with Green Peppers

Letuce

Gelatin Turkey with Truffles

Virginia Ham Glace

Smoked Beef Tongue

Pate de Foie Gras a l'Aspic

Mango Pie Sliced Pineapple with Whipped Cream

Eau-de-Vie de Dantzick Jelly Strawberry Shortcake

"The Moana Special" Ice Cream

Macarons Lady Fingers

Angel Cake

Raschette a la Creme

California Apple Hawaiian assorted Fruit Mixed Nuts

Muscovado Raisins American and European Cheese

Cafe Noir

Important Chinese Case in Court

A new phase of the Chinese question in Hawaii will be investigated before Judge Estee this afternoon at the trial of Ah See, Kut Young, Yong Lam Chow and Young Ho, charged with being in this Territory without legal right, in that they have no registration certificates from Collector Chamberlain.

They arrived on the Dorie some days ago from China, but were not here until after the date for registering Chinese had closed. Each held certificates of Hawaiian birth or former Hawaiian residence. They are to be defended by T. McCants Stewart who will endeavor to secure an interpretation of the Organic Act giving them a right to register on application. The case will be heard by Judge Estee this afternoon.

FOURTH AT THE HAWAIIAN.

The Royal Hawaiian hotel through the manager, J. W. Allen, are making extensive preparations for a Fourth of July dinner. The souvenir menu is an elaborate one, which is enclosed in a miniature sky rocket, some twelve or thirteen inches in length. The menu which is enclosed within the rocket is a work of the printer's art and with the exception of the printing was furnished by the Honolulu and Hawaiian Paper

M. P. D. Calls at the House for Parcels. TEL. BLUE 621.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT ADOPTED

Impressive Scene in the Federal Court This Morning.

EULOGISTIC WORDS ON LIFE OF PAUL NEUMANN

Address is Made by Attorney General Dole -- Judge Stanley -- Acting Governor Cooper and Judge Estee.

In the Federal Court this morning the committee, appointed yesterday by Judge Estee to draft resolutions of respect in memory of Paul Neumann, deceased, made its return. Judge Geo. D. Geer of the First Circuit sat on the bench beside Judge Estee and in the court room were numerous friends of the late Mr. Neumann, including members of the bar and prominent officials. The drafting committee consisted of Attorney General Dole, Judge Whiting and Judge Stanley.

The resolution, two copies of which were handed to the clerk, one for the records of the court and one for the family of the deceased, were beautifully engrossed on heavy parchment and tied with a black and white bow knot. It reads as follows:

Whereas, the Honorable Paul Neumann, after a long and honored and brilliant career in public and in private life, has passed from among us laden with the love, not only of his brethren of the profession, but also of all who knew him, holding a unique place in our hearts and in the hearts of his fellow citizens on account of the chivalry of his character; his unwavering loyalty to truth and duty as he saw them; his breadth of view that did full justice to the motives of political opponents; the sweetness of his nature softening bitter differences; his kindness to all and most of all to those who needed kindness most; his brilliant wit; his never failing cheerfulness, even in sickness and in pain, and the sunlight of his life "with charity for all, and with malice toward none."

Therefore, be it resolved, that we, the members of this bar, unite in this expression toward our late brother, whom to know was to love and to honor, and tender our sympathy to his bereaved family.

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon the records of this Court.

In moving the adoption of the resolution Attorney General Dole made an impressive address. He said: "In accordance with your honor's appointment, I have the honor to present to you a resolution commemorating the virtues of Paul Neumann. He has gone from us and there is no one to fill his place. On convivial occasions, there may be other toastmasters; there is only one Paul Neumann. The rare quality and charm of his wit was of the kind that knows no stint, because of his sweetness and his lovable nature. We all knew Paul Neumann's big loving heart, a heart and nature without cant or hypocrisy. He lived according to the principles of the Great Teacher who said: 'Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.' He lived up to the highest teachings of Christianity and the principles of Masonry."

The Attorney General referred to the official career of the deceased; of his intimate connection with the politics of Hawaii through many troubled periods. "In all these years," said the speaker, "no taint of political or personal corruption of any kind ever rested upon his name. In giving counsel, he was never moved or influenced by anything but pure and unselfish motives. He did what he believed to be right. He did it always fearlessly, and more he did it with all kindness of spirit. There were personal and political differences in those days, as now, but no bitterness found an abiding place in Paul Neumann's heart. He fought political battles bravely, but in the knightly chivalry of duty."

"He was an educated man of the world, a scholar by training, a Bohemian by nature. He was a man of refined taste, yes, a man of fastidious taste. He was a wide reader, a good lawyer. But these accomplishments were only incidents. They did not make the Paul Neumann we love. Paul Neumann carried the God's blessed sunshine wherever he went. The joyfulness and the cheerfulness of it was with him always and the halo of God's blessed sunshine rests as a benediction upon his grave today."

The motion of the Attorney General was seconded by Judge Stanley. He said: "In the words of the late Mr. Paul Neumann uttered upon an occasion like this, 'Words are not needed to commemorate his virtues.' I have known Paul Neumann for eight years, as a member of the bar, as a club man, as a member of his family, as a friend; and I know nothing but good. As a practitioner, Paul Neumann set an example of unwavering fidelity to duty. His death leaves a gap in our profession, which no one can fill. At the club, the advent of no one was more eagerly welcomed. As a friend he was unflinching. His religion was humanity, untrammelled by creed, all merciful—the religion of love. As a man he gave the best of his nature to his home."

E. B. McClanahan was called on by the Court. Responding, he said: "I have known him but a short time until I appreciated his many noble virtues. I never knew a man so universally loved. His friends were legion. He could be approached by young and old with easy familiarity."

J. J. Dunne responded briefly, dwelling particularly upon the loss sustained by the community by the removal of a man gifted with such talents in public matters.

Acting Governor H. E. Cooper said: "In adding a word of tribute to our eminent departed brother, I would mention as one of his most notable qualities, that of a peace maker. He was ever moderate in his actions and pacific in his speech. In the troubled time of Hawaii's political differences, he bridged many chasms by his wise counsel. Being opposed from conviction to the change in our form of government, he sought by legal means to accomplish what others sought to do by force. I feel the loss of a personal friend and I mourn the loss deeply."

Judge Estee then said: "Having known Mr. Neumann for thirty years the Court has dictated a few remarks which it will now read. The words follow:

Paul Neumann was misunderstood even by some of his oldest friends. He had almost a national reputation as a club man and yet he was not a mere club man. In his manhood he had a varied learning and a memory rarely found among men of our profession. He was in no sense a mere case lawyer. He never looked for a large number of authorities to sustain him on any given point. He knew the principle and then sought for a well digested authority to sustain it.

In a sense he was not an aggressive lawyer, and yet for what he deemed was right no man would fight harder. He was a safe counselor; he never advised his clients into difficulties that he could not safely and honorably get them out of. He spurned all the so-called tricks of the profession. With him, an oral stipulation was as safe as a written one. Indeed he was always ready to make any stipulation to accommodate opposing counsel which did not injure his own client, but which would have the other side trouble.

He was eminently a literary man. He could quote from the old Latin authors as well as from all the modern German, Spanish, French and English writers. He had a wonderful faculty of remembering and telling anecdotes. He was hospitable to a fault; his home was the meeting place of all who had character and wit.

His friendships were most enduring. He never forgot a name or a face. He liked club life whereby he could meet and bandy pleasant words with men of culture. Though not born in America, he was thoroughly American. Though always at ease and apparently at leisure, he was industrious. Though full of repartee, he never made enemies. He had opinions, and yet he rarely offended even the most sensitive by asserting them. He was a greater and a better man than he seemed. Though gone from us he will not be forgotten. Though dead he will still live. Our regret is that he has left behind him too few who are able to fill his place.

The Court then directed the clerk to spread the resolution upon the records of the court and forward a copy to the members of the family.

Officer Palenapa Made Bad Blunder

An example of the unreliability of police testimony in criminal cases was given in the District Court this morning when Officer Palenapa positively identified C. Hanson as the man he had arrested last night for being drunk.

The name of C. Hanson was called and a man answering to the name appeared before the bar. He said his name was Hanson and denied that he was drunk last night.

Officer Palenapa was put on the stand and identified the man as the one he had arrested. He was sure of his testimony there could be no mistake. It then developed that the man at bar although his name was Hanson was a witness in attendance on the Court as a witness in an assault and battery case. Hearing his name called he answered and was surprised to hear himself being testified against and being identified as being a drunk.

He was warned by the court to take care and not answer to his name so quickly again. The real C. Hanson on being arrested deposited $5 as bail which he forfeited by not appearing in court this morning.

Co. A is ordered to assemble at 7 o'clock tomorrow morning for parade.

Advertisement for Gentleman's Shoe Co. featuring 'The only other GENTLEMAN'S SHOE as good as BANISTER'S as easy and as up-to-date is : : : : B-A-N-I-S-T-E-R-'S' and 'Particular Men are especially Invited : : : : MANUFACTURERS SHOE CO.'

Advertisement for Puunui Bargain featuring 'TWO LOTS 100 X 200 EACH LOCATION PUUNUI AVENUE just above Wyllie St. RESIDENCE PROPERTY FOR SALE ON Beretania, King, Prospect, Anapuni and other Streets. A neat little Cottage on KING STREET CHEAP'

Advertisement for McEllan, Pond & Co. featuring 'REAL ESTATE - INSURANCE - INVESTMENTS'

Advertisement for The Marquardt Concert featuring 'Among the Fourth of July attractions will be the Marquardt concert to be given at the Hawaiian Opera House tomorrow night. To accommodate late diners, the concert will not commence until 8:15 o'clock sharp. A fine program will be furnished. Reserved seats are on sale at Wall, Nichols Co.'