The following cable was received by Treasurer Keпокai from Secretary Carter this morning:

Washington, D. C., Sept. 28, 1903. 9:20 a. m.

Keпокai, Honolulu.

Your ad. is not suitable for this market. Under the Act you have authority to make necessary arrangements; therefore, mail to New York your authorization, approved by the Governor, for me to sell there, as a whole or in part, the bond issue after six days. Advise for tenders in the papers, and my selection with special powers. Issue temporary receipts including engraving and delivery. This is essential. When sent, cable here.

CARTER.

Immediately upon the receipt of this message, Treasurer Keпокai sent off the following cablegram:

Honolulu, H. T., Sept. 28, 1903. G. R. Carter.

New Willard, Washington, D. C.

Letter of authorization as requested by mail tomorrow, to sell bonds for $750,000. Push engraving of bonds.

KEPOKAI.

Mr. Keпокai also prepared his letter of authorization immediately and had it mailed. This will go forward in the Nippon tomorrow.

When asked where the trouble lay, Mr. Keпокai said to a Bulletin reporter that the form of ad. sent forward by cable last week, but there was a failure to give George R. Carter the authorization.

JAPANESE FALLS AND IS KILLED

Cut Rope By Which He Was Being Held Up.

DEATH OF UNFORTUNATE MAN INSTANTANEOUS

TUMBLED FROM MASTHEAD TO THE DECK WHILE STEAMER WAS IN THE HARBOR.

A Japanese sailor on the steamer Ke An Hou was killed this morning at about 8 o'clock by falling from the mast of the steamer.

The Ke An Hou was at the time moving from the Oahu to the Inter-Island wharf. The sailor was sitting in a lo'sun's chair right up by the foremast head, employed in making fast a piece of heavy tackle. It appears that he was cutting away some rope and by mistake severed the rope that held the chair in which he was sitting.

Both the chair and the Japanese fell to the deck. The unfortunate man hit the deck on the port side just a little forward of the main house. He was killed instantly, both his skull and his spine being fractured.

Captain Tulett, master of the Ke An Hou, states that he was on the bridge sounding the bells to the engine room when the accident occurred. The steamer was then just off the Inter-Island wharf. He was entirely unaware of the fact that the man was aloft until he suddenly saw a dark object shooting downwards past him. He then saw that it was the Japanese who had fallen from the masthead.

The Ke An Hou immediately put up alongside the Inter-Island wharf. The patrol wagon was called. As the man was dead he was taken directly to the morgue.

The dead man was called Samato by his shipmates but whether this was his right name or not is not known. He was a good sailor and had been in the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company's service for about three years. As the case was plainly one of pure accident no coroner's inquest will be held.

CHARGES KAHUNAISM

KAHANU PINAO CLAIMS SHE WAS THREATENED

WAS AFRAID SHE MIGHT BE VIOLENCE AND SIGNED A DEED.

Kahanu Kinoo (w.) this morning filed a bill to cancel deed vs. Edward B. Mikalemi and Keliikauilohi (w.). The plaintiff sets forth that on May 17, 1901, she executed an instrument in writing which she now learns was a deed of conveyance whereby she, for a sum of $500, sold to the defendants all her interest in certain pieces of land situated in Aiea. At the time of the execution of the deed the plaintiff did not know the meaning thereof.

The plaintiff is informed that both defendants are related to one Kallimai, the administrator of the estate of John Pinao, the father of plaintiff. Mikalemi became surety for Kallimai's bond and now the estate of J. Pinao is being managed by Kallimai and Mikalemi jointly and at present the defendants have in their possession certain valuable articles belonging to plaintiff.

Plaintiff further shows that during her early years she frequently resided with and was under the control and influence of the defendants, especially Keliikauilohi, whom she had seen practice kahunaism and believed had the power to "pray to death" and otherwise injure any person who angered her.

That a short time prior to the time of the sale the defendants tried to per-

GEAR WANTS ALL CORRESPONDENCE

Again Continues Soldiers' Case For Complete Explanation.

ANDREWS FILES ONE MORE COMMUNICATION

JUDGE WILL MAKE A STATEMENT HIMSELF IF FULL PARTICULARS ARE NOT FORTHCOMING.

Judge Gear again called the case of the Territory vs. A. Bales, H. P. Carlton and T. Watson, burglary in the second degree, in criminal court this morning.

This is the now famous matter of three Camp McKinley soldiers alleged to have entered the Tantalus residence of Chief Justice Frear, who were indicted by a grand jury and who were not prevented from leaving the country, and the jurisdiction of the court.

The case has been continued by Judge Gear several times since the opening of the term, requiring some satisfactory explanation of the absence of defendants.

Last week, when the case was called, Attorney General Andrews asked that a nolle prosequi be entered, filing a statement of the affair in court. Judge Gear would not order a nolle prosequi entered until all the correspondence had been filed. He thought the defendants ought to be present and Judge Robinson agreed with him. Andrews said he would try to arrange for the filing of all the correspondence.

When the case was again called this morning, the court having given the Attorney General's Department time to procure all correspondence, Deputy Attorney General Peters stated that the Attorney General had filed a letter.

The court asked to see the letter.

"Where is the rest of the correspondence?" asked Judge Gear.

"What other correspondence does your Honor desire?" asked Peters.

"I want all the correspondence in the case," returned the court, "and I will take no action in the matter of a nolle prosequi until all the correspondence is filed with this court. If the correspondence is not filed the court will make a statement of the matter itself. The case is continued till tomorrow morning that the other letters may be filed. All the letters were with the Governor when he consulted with the three judges. I want it shown on the records just why these three soldiers are not here to answer to the charge against them and why they were allowed to leave the country."

The letter filed by Attorney General Andrews this morning is a copy of one written by him to L. E. Corbin, Adjutant General, U. S. A., under date of June 6, 1903.

After reviewing the case and making statements included in his statement filed in court last week, Andrews concludes the communication as follows:

"Shortly after their (the three soldiers') arrival in San Francisco, sensational reports were printed in the news-

HAWAIIAN STRUCK WILL PROBABLY DIE

An old native was hit by Rapid Transit car No. 25 at the corner of Richards and Hotel streets this morning at about 9:30 o'clock. The conductor in his report to the Rapid Transit Co's office, merely states that the man was hit and was cut on the head and on one finger. The conductor telephoned for the patrol wagon in which the man was taken to the Queen's hospital.

There it was found that he had a hemorrhage under the membranes of the brain. He is not expected to live. The hospital authorities state that as near as they can find out the old man's name is Kalawai.

John M. Bright is the conductor of car No. 25. The motorman's name is Dalton.

REGISTRATION CASE MAY BE HEARD BY SUBSTITUTES

It will probably be the middle of November before the Territorial Supreme Court takes up any new cases, except one or two particularly pressing matters.

Chief Justice Frear stated this morning that Associate Justice Galbraith was coming from the mainland in a sailing vessel bound for Hilo and would not be here in time for the regular opening of the term on Monday.

WIRELESS SYSTEM COMPLETE AND RATES ARE REDUCED

Beginning today the new schedule of charges for messages over the Inter-Island Telegraph lines will go in force. The company has completed all the changes required by the subsidy act passed by the Legislature and the rates will be reduced accordingly to ten cents a word for all messages with a minimum charge of $1.

The wireless telegraph system now connects all the islands of the group and changes made in the location of stations make it possible to transmit through messages to Maui and Hawaii with increased rapidity and accuracy. The telegraph land line from the Mahukona station on Hawaii to Hilo was completed some two weeks ago and is found to add very materially to the accuracy with which through messages may be handled, and also enables the company to take care of the increased number of messages that should result from the reduction in rates.

The whole system has been tested from Kaula to Hawaii and found to be in excellent working order.

ABSENT JUROR HOLDS UP CASE

One juror clogged the wheels of justice in Judge De Bolt's civil court this morning.

The slowly dragging ejection case of Frank Godfrey, trustee, et al., against Helen Rowland, et al., was held up all the forenoon because Juror Joseph H. Love, head teamster of Honolulu plantation, did not answer to his name when the trial jurors were called.

Honolulu plantation was communicated with by telephone and it was learned that early in the morning Love had been seen on horseback making his way toward a distant part of the plantation. It was thought that he had perhaps forgotten that he was a juror.

The plantation people immediately sent out men to find Love and inform him that his presence in court in Honolulu was necessary and very much desired. At noon no sign of Love's approaching was observed and Judge De Bolt took a recess until 1:30 this afternoon. The whole morning, for that matter, was a recess, as the case could not go on and counsel and witnesses sat idle, cultivating patience; the rest of the jurors doing likewise.

ACTION POSTPONED

Pala plantation stockholders held a meeting this morning for the purpose of talking over the Kihel amalgamation scheme. After a long discussion, action was postponed and a committee was appointed to go to Maui for the purpose of making further investigations and reporting at a meeting to be held later.

The Haiku stockholders will meet this afternoon to consider the same question.

STAR WITNESS.

Maggie Place, the star witness in the case of the Territory vs. Josephine Chilton, alleged harboring of a stolen child, Maggie being the child in question, was on the witness stand all the morning in Judge Gear's criminal court, telling of her many and varied experiences.

ENGINE DISABLED.

The holiday traffic on the railroad was considerably delayed yesterday afternoon by a breakdown of the engine which went out at 9:15 a. m. The run was made without mishap to the terminus at Kahuku where the breakdown occurred. A fresh engine had to be sent out from Honolulu to pull the disabled one and the train back to the city. As a consequence the afternoon train did not arrive at Honolulu before about 6:40 p. m.
