MAJORITY DECISION IN NOTLEY WILL CASE

Supreme Court this afternoon rendered decision in the matter of Charles Notley, deceased, in relation to his last will and testament, overruling the exceptions of the contestants to the granting in Circuit Court of the Fourth Circuit, of proponent's motion for a directed verdict in their favor.

Chief Justice Frear writes the opinion. Associate Justice Galbraith dissents. Says Galbraith, in his dissenting opinion: "The contestants certainly had the right to demand that the evidence be submitted to the jury and to have their free and fair judgment thereon."

The Circuit Judge after a hearing admitted the Notley will to probate. Contestants, his widow and four children appealed to the Circuit Court and the case was there tried before a jury and a different Circuit Judge on the issue of undue influence by the decedent's niece, Mrs. Emma Danford, see Mulligan.

Says the majority opinion: "A testator may make even what is sometimes called an unnatural will if he does so freely and with a sound mind, but in this case the will was not of that character. Mere suspicion of undue influence is insufficient."

It was contended by the wife and children that the will was procured by the undue influence of the niece above named, who had been brought up in the family as a daughter.

Uncle and niece were very fond of each other. Decision holds that there was no evidence of undue influence and says it was not error to direct a verdict for the proponent.

Notley's will gave $1,000 to Miss Barnard, who had lived at the Notley home; $500 to the decedent's brother; $500 to Emma Mulligan's father.

It was objected that the niece instead of the wife was given the home-stead and that Charles' children instead of himself were given most of what would have been given to him if he had been treated like the other children and the niece.

The wife elected to take her dower instead of being bound by the provisions of the will and did not join in the appeal.

Estate is valued at $400,000 and the contest has been strenuous.

GRAND JUROR LEWIS DENIES ANY INTIMIDATION

Pleas in abatement were argued before Judge Robinson early today in the matter of indictments against Solomon Meheula, Enoch Johnson and Jonah Kumalae, alleged fraud in connection with "house vouchers."

Kumalae, through his attorney, C. W. Ashford, in an affidavit, charges Deputy Attorney General E. C. Peters with intimidation and threats that he, Kumalae, unless he answered certain questions before the grand jury, would be punished for contempt or otherwise.

Water Works Clerk Richardson Alleged Embezzler

Vivian Richardson, chief clerk of the Water Works Department, is in custody, charged with embezzlement. A shortage in the accounts of the clerk was discovered this morning.

Governor Cager was at once notified and he immediately communicated with the High Sheriff, with the result that Richardson was arrested. The news of the shortage came as a shock to the executive.

"We will permit no opportunity of escape in such a case as this," said Mr. Carter. "It makes no difference where the iron strikes, or whom it hits." No sooner was the Governor notified that something was wrong in Clerk Richardson's accounts that he reached for his desk telephone and summoned the High Sheriff.

With the accused young man in charge of the police, it was ordered that an immediate investigation of Richardson's books be made. Superintendent of Water Works A. Brown, Superintendent of Public Works C. S. Holloway and Auditor J. H. Fisher, started the work of examination in Superintendent Brown's office this forenoon.

At noon they were still going through Richardson's accounts. At that time admission was refused representatives of the press, Superintendent Brown declining to have anything whatever to say on the subject.

Prosecution has been left in the hands of the Attorney General's Department, which is now engaged in preparing the case against Richardson.

It has been discovered that at least eighteen hundred dollars have been carried over on the books, unaccounted for.

MANES AND TAILS CUT BY MISCREANT

News came up from Wahiawa yesterday that a certain white man, with motives of revenge in his heart, was maiming the stock—particularly the horses—of the farmers of the place mentioned. It was reported that several valuable animals had been hamstringed.

High Sheriff Brown was seen at the police station this afternoon and he told of a letter which he had received, under date of February 26, telling of the maiming of horses at Pearl City. The letter is from James D. Dole, and it mentions several cases which were found at the stables of one W. H. Wilkinson, at Pearl City.

The letter states that for three or four months some person or persons have been carrying on a system of malicious practices which the police had been unable to gain any information about. Not long ago A. W. Eames left a horse at the stables over night. He came up to town and upon going down the next day, found that the tail of his horse had been docked.

The same kind of thing happened to Dr. E. C. Rhodes. His horse was cut and his wagon fouled. Not only this, but the nuts were removed and he barely escaped serious injury to himself. On the 24th of February, Dole himself left a horse and rig at the Wilkinson stables. On the following day he returned, only to find his horse with several cuts on the forward side of the hind legs, his harness broken and damage done to his carriage.

At about the same time L. S. Kellogg of the Wahiawa colony had his horse badly cut and mutilated. The tail was also docked. Deputy Sheriff Fernandez, seen by a Bulletin reporter today, said that he was working on the case but had been unable to secure any clue to the person or persons who had been maiming the poor dumb brutes.

Quite naturally, the Wahiawa people do not fancy this kind of business and have complained to the police, who are now working on the case. Incidentally, the Wahiawa people are doing a little detective work themselves and it will not go well if the man who is suspected, is caught at his work.

Hawaiian Defense Is Struck Out

Ito To Korea On Secret Mission

TOKIO, Japan, March 8.—Marquis Ito, the leading statesman of Japan, and other officers of the Government are contemplating a trip to Korea on a special mission. The officials refuse to disclose the object of their visit, but it is believed that matters of vast import in the relations of Japan and Korea are involved.

Japan To Regain Sakhalien Island

ST. PETERSBURG, Russia, March 8.—It is believed that Japan is trying to regain possession of the island of Sakhalin, off the coast of Russian Manchuria, which was formally ceded to Russia. Sakhalin commands the Gulf of Tartary and the mouth of the Amur river. In the possession of the Japanese it would be a constant menace to Russian interests and practically shut Russia off from free outlet to the Pacific. The appearance of the Japanese fleet at Vladivostok and the extension of its activities to northern waters strengthens the Russian belief that Sakhalin may be occupied by the Japanese forces.

URUGUAY REBEL FORCE SUFFERS HEAVY LOSS. MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, March 8.—An engagement took place at Puertas today. Quequychico rebels lost one hundred killed and three hundred wounded. One cannon and much ammunition was captured.

KEPOIKAI ON NEED OF CALLING OF SPECIAL SESSION

Interviewed this morning with reference to the finances of the Territory, Treasurer Kepoikai said that in the event of the Supreme Court sustaining the contentions of the Government in the test case now before it, he saw absolutely no reason why a special session of the Legislature should be called. Continuing, he said:

"In my statement to the business men I told them there was in the neighborhood of $528,000 with which to run the Territory for a year. In addition to this, there will be another $100,000 in special deposits for roads, making $628,000 in round figures. This will give the Territory something like $50,000 a month, which I consider to be ample for the carrying on of the work of the Government. Mind you, this is exclusive of salaries and pay rolls, which are provided for."

The Superintendent of Public Works can use every cent of that $10,000 a month, besides the other money out of the $528,000 for repair and other work. I really do not see any necessity for calling the Legislature in session if the Supreme Court upholds the test case brought by the Attorney General's Department.
