HILO'S MURDER CASE

WAS HARD FOUGHT CONTEST OF ATTORNEYS

HAD ATTRACTED WIDESPREAD INTEREST BECAUSE PARTICIPANTS WERE MEMBERS OF THUG GANG.

(Special to The Bulletin)
Hilo, Hawaii, March 19.—A case of more than usual interest was decided in the Circuit Court here today. Morito Kizo, charged with the murder of Moriyama, said to be the successor of Funa-koshi, a murderer and thug now serving with one of his lieutenants a thirty-five year sentence in Oahu prison.

The crime for which this defendant was tried was committed on the evening of January 1, 1905 at a house in Hilo directly opposite the Moohau Park. The circumstances connected with the case date to the trial of Funa-koshi. Morito was a witness in that case and since then the thug has not had a friendly feeling for the prisoner and it was brought out in the trial that he had been several times threatened, once by the deceased.

At the preliminary hearing the widow of the dead man testified that while she was with her husband in their home she heard some one calling him and that he went down stairs to see what was wanted. A few moments later she heard blows and looking over the veranda saw men beating her husband with clubs. Now note the difference: At the trial last week she testified that her husband was under the influence of sake asleep in bed when defendant came up and pulled him down stairs. She went down afterward and saw the men beating him with clubs and another striking him with what appeared to be either a hatchet or a Japanese butcher knife. This evidence of hers was disproved by the female proprietor of a bath house, opposite the scene of the murder. That witness told of seeing the wife of deceased in the bath house and of her screams a few minutes later when she left the bath and discovered the remains of her husband lying in the road.

In his own behalf the prisoner testified that he had been threatened on numerous occasions by the deceased and on the night of the murder he happened to be passing the house of deceased when he was assaulted and his life threatened. To protect himself he struck back and killed the man in defense of his life. Other witnesses testified to the dangerous and vicious character of deceased.

In some way the defense discovered the existence of a material witness, some days after the trial was begun, and Mr. Irwin filed an affidavit asking for a continuance, which the Court granted. This request was based upon the fact that a witness was discovered in Kau who would testify to the fact that Mrs. Moriyama was in the bath house at the time of the murder and consequently could not have been a crime committed. This witness was expected to arrive in Hilo by train on the following morning. That same night Mr. Doyle left for the Volcano and saw the man coming over from Kau early the next morning. They came back to Hilo together and the Japanese gave his testimony as was expected by the defense but on cross-examination admitted that he had told Doyle a different story. Then Mr. Doyle was called. He testified to the trip down and to the fact that when the train arrived at Waialeale Station the "disinterested" barber came aboard and immediately engaged in conversation with the Kau witness telling him what he expected him to testify to on the stand.

The case was one of the best contested on both sides that has been heard here in many years. The address of Mr. Irwin for the defense lasted an hour and a half and was a mastery of effort under any conditions. That of Mr. Milverton was marked by a knowledge of law that was a gratification to the many friends he had made in Hilo when he came here six or seven years ago to accept a position under Judge Little. The jury retired and was out about two hours when it returned the highest verdict under the law. The case is having a good effect on the Japanese and those on the side of law and order join with the Anglo Saxons in a desire to have Mr. Milverton remain and prosecute the other murder cases on the calendar.

Editor Evening Bulletin:—Over two years the Honolulu and islands papers have advocated nothing else but the labor question in Hawaii and mostly running down the management of the plantations, the money they make, the wages paid to field hands and finally advocating things which by any means they have no right whatsoever to interfere with.

There is a stand point of view to the above things and that well considered by any sensible, well experienced, good faith and independent man. That point ought to be upheld in the rightness—Tolerance.

How is it mostly occurring in every place where there is a manager or a plantation book-keeper. People talk regardless of what they did in the past and do in the present time, thinking not how they were and what they are today. True it is to say that in the olden times when the plantations were not of such a big area as they are today, better times were experienced and more money saved in labor's hands.

There is a question put up now and an answer is easily given without any exaggeration.

How did they save some money and better themselves in those days when the sugar was not bringing so much money as it does today and labor was cheaper than it is in the present date? Luxuries and drunkenness were not in such a big degree as are seen today, but an eye looking towards the future was the main thing!

Go to Honolulu and there you will find a good many Portuguese, well-to-do men, and inquire of them where did they save their first economies? The answer will be—in such and such a plantation. Needless to go into further details, but reason and experience already gained, explain these facts.

MANAGERS' GOOD WILL

PLANTATION LABORER WRITES OF LABORERS' EXPERIENCE

THINKS MOST OF THOSE WHO WRITE DON'T KNOW MUCH ABOUT IT—LAND IS AVAILABLE.

Editor Evening Bulletin:—Over two years the Honolulu and islands papers have advocated nothing else but the labor question in Hawaii and mostly running down the management of the plantations, the money they make, the wages paid to field hands and finally advocating things which by any means they have no right whatsoever to interfere with.

How did they save some money and better themselves in those days when the sugar was not bringing so much money as it does today and labor was cheaper than it is in the present date? Luxuries and drunkenness were not in such a big degree as are seen today, but an eye looking towards the future was the main thing!

Enquire of various plantations of Hawaii where a good number of Portuguese were and are employed, what kind of treatment did they receive from the managers?

Going from Hilo as far as Hamakua the record of several facts of those days is still fresh in their memories and a good many laborers say "There is no time compared with that of the contract time."

I know instances where some laborers during time of illness had no money to pay the doctor's bill and the manager by his kindness and free will asked the doctor to charge such a bill to his account and ordered the plantation bookkeeper to feed the patient till he was recovered of his illness.

I saw at Papaikou a man with a noble heart enter a poor cripple laborer's house and enquiring what was the matter, the laborer replied, "I'm ill. I have no money to pay for my grub and for the medicine I have received from the doctor. Will you help me?"

"Well," said the manager, "Here is some money, pay your doctor's bill, go to the store and you will have something to eat."

Is not this a good action from a good-hearted man, from a man that knows what poverty is, from a man that wishes the health and prosperity of his employees?

Nobody can say that Mr. M. ever denied a favor to any one that went to his door. He always is ready to help the poor!

Go a little further up, as far as Pepeekeo and then you will find another good-hearted man. A man of a noble conscience, a man that knows the good and the evil, a man who always has a protective hand stretched to his field laborers, and a man who never had an impolite word cross his lips. Tell him the truth and you will be attended and listened. Tell him about your need, and you will be served. Mr. W. is the manager and at the same time the father of his employees.

A gentleman like these already spoken of is also to be found at Honouliuli. He knows almost every one of his employees. He knows about their needs, he has a protective hand towards orphans and widows; in fact he is a father to all his employees.

Many facts could be published about these and other plantations near by but a limit towards everything is always the best, and let the public be the judge and those that have worked in the missioned places.

Brewer & Co. is one of the oldest firms in this Territory and as far as I can see is the only company that advises its plantation managers to keep and look out for their laborers.

Why do people talk about plantations without knowing what they are talking about?

Nervous Women

Their Sufferings Are Usually Due to Female Disorders Perhaps Unsuspected

A MEDICINE THAT CURES

Can we dispute the well-known fact that American women are nervous? How often does one hear the expression, "I am so nervous, it seems as if I should fly," or "Don't speak to me." Little things annoy you and make you irritable; you can't sleep; you are unable to quietly and calmly perform your daily tasks or care for your children.

The relation of the nerves and generative organs in woman is so close that nine-tenths of the nervous prostration, nervous debility, the blues, sleeplessness and nervous irritability arise from some derangement of the organism which makes her a woman. Fits of depression or restlessness and irritability; spirits easily affected, so that one minute she laughs, the next minute weeps; pain in the abdominal region and between the shoulders; loss of voice; nervous dyspepsia; a tendency to cry at the least provocation—all these point to nervous prostration.

Nothing will relieve this distressing condition and prevent months of prostration and suffering so surely as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. M. E. Shotwell, of 103 Flatbush Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., writes:

"I cannot express the wonderful relief I have experienced by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I suffered for a long time with nervous prostration, backache, headache, loss of appetite. I could not sleep and would walk the floor almost every night."

"I had three doctors and got no better, and life was a burden. I was advised to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it has worked wonders for me. I am a well woman, my nervousness is all gone and my friends say I look ten years younger."

Will not the volumes of letters from women made strong by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound convince all women of its virtues? Surely you cannot wish to remain sick, weak and discouraged, exhausted each day, when you can be as easily cured as other women.

SIBERIA SAILS FOR 'FRISCO TOMORROW

The Pacific Mail Steamship Company's liner Siberia from Yokohama arrived off the harbor shortly after 8 o'clock last night and was anchored and quarantined on account of smallpox. The vessel will lay outside until tomorrow morning undergoing a thorough fumigation and then come alongside Hackfeld wharf, where the steerage passengers will be taken to Mauloia Island in quarantine and the freight discharged. It has not been decided whether the cabin passengers will be allowed ashore. The Siberia will probably sail for San Francisco tomorrow afternoon.
