WARNING NOTE STRUCK FOR KAUI SUPERVISORS

Chairman McBryde Points Out Where County Will Land if Too Liberal Expenditures Rule

Lihue, April 8.—The Kauai Supervisors held their regular monthly meeting last Wednesday under the new law changing the day of meeting from Tuesday. Nothing of special importance was transacted, but the chairman at the outset, after the reading and approving of the minutes of the previous meeting, said that before proceeding with the bills, incurred last month, he would like to call the attention of the other members of the Board to the financial condition of the County as revealed in the statements to be presented. The new Board had not followed closely in the footsteps of its predecessor, but had been a little more free with the money. So for instance had the expenditures during the past three months amounted on an average to $10,000 a month, which far exceeds the average expenditures of the Board of last year. There was at present some eighteen thousand dollars in the Treasury, and there were now claims amounting to nearly $11,000 before the Board. Beginning with next month the Board would have to pay something like $6000 a month for the completion of the Wilson contract for macadamizing. Besides that the Board had authorized purchases of mules and carts for about $2000 and had started the repairing of Waihu bridge, which would probably reach another $2000. He asked that the Supervisors ponder over these figures so that they could suggest some reasonable way of curtailing expenses in the future.

HUGHES DELIVERY

(Continued from Page 1.) circumstances not only justify it but make it obligatory. The question of public lands is the most important with which we have to deal. Land was created for man's sustenance and was declared to be the property of man. Ever since the Garden of Eden and since the Promised Land was given to the children of Israel, and Lanai was given to Mr. Gay, land has been the absorbing question of Legislatures. Amongst all the civilized nations the greatest minds are trying to solve the problem of how land shall be made the most productive and of the greatest benefit to the people.

It is argued by reactionaries and pessimists that insurmountable difficulties must be met before the land can be turned over to the people of this Territory. I hold that those arguments are not sound. I submit that those lands will create roads and find water. One hundred years ago the Pilgrim Fathers along the bleak New England coast were told the same kind of stories by the same class of Tories who are trying to obstruct this Territory. But they built up this great Republic with its prosperous farms, great cities and happy homes. And how much easier will it be for us to do the same with our equable climate, balmy airs and sunny skies!

"Here, in the most essential features we have retrograded. Our people are falling outside the standards of American citizens. Here, wealth accumulates and men decay.

"I do not accuse our heads of government of dishonesty, but they have shown great lack of judgment. Their system has created a monopoly of land, responsible for our ills. We should remember the saying of the great Kamehameha, 'The life of the land is established in righteousness.'

"This bill touches on the most vital points of our country's life. The question that this bill will decide is this: Whether the public domain shall forever belong to absentee landlords and perhaps in time to an alien race or shall revert to the people, to strong hearts and strong hands to become the home of a sturdy race to which will have the country's good at heart."

Kalana thought the rich ought to have the same rights as the poor, though he favored the bill as a whole. He wanted to offer an amendment. He opposed the clause that says the land shall be divided into parcels of not over 80 acres. He feared the Superintendent of Public Works would cut the land all into 80-acre parcels, and a poor man would not be able to fence a piece of that size. Kaniho looked at it differently. He wanted plenty of land and he said the people in his part of the country favored large tracts.

Kalana withdrew his objections and Kaniho moved the bill pass third reading. The measure passed by unanimous vote.

House Bill 163, Sheldon's measure, appropriating $15,000 for the purpose of repairing the stone embankment of the Waimea river, Kauai, was deferred until tomorrow on motion of the introducer of the bill.

SHELDON'S CARELESS BILL. House Bill 178, Sheldon's bill providing for the election of deputy sheriffs and road supervisors, came up for third reading. Nallima offered an amendment increasing the salary of the road supervisor of Puna from $600 a year as in the bill to $500. Waiwale also wanted to boost his man, the Waialua supervisor, from $1500 to $1800. Both were boosted. Rawlins reminded the House that a

TEACHERS' SALARY ITEM IS APPROVED

House Acts Promptly In Recognizing Public School Needs

PECULIAR SCHEDULE OF SENATE IS PUT ASIDE

Second Reading of Very Important Item Shows Good Sense on the Part of Members of Lower House

The House yesterday afternoon passed the item in the appropriation bill for teachers' salaries at $706,000 without a murmur, and, better than that, it calmly amputated the obnoxious schedule rider tacked on by the Senate.

There wasn't even any debate over either action. A member simply moved that the item of $706,000 pass and it passed. Then Rice moved that the rider be cut off, and it was cut off. It was easy.

It had been anticipated that there would be a long debate over the salary schedule proposition, and when the lump sum item for salaries here in sight near the usual closing hour yesterday, Pall showed signs of nervousness. He was on his toes twice ready to move to adjourn before he got a chance to make the motion.

Rice protested, "There are four hundred school teachers waiting to see what we are going to do for them," he said, "and I would like to have this salary item taken care of, so we can relieve their anxiety."

"But there are five pages in that item," objected Rawlins. "There is a long rider attached."

"Oh, we'll cut that off," answered Rice.

Rawlins grinned. "Well, if you will move to cut that out, I'll second the motion, and we can go ahead," he answered.

"All right," said Rice. "That rider is no good and we'll cut it off."

The item for $706,000 for teachers' salaries was then read and passed on motion without a word of discussion.

Rice moved that the salary schedule rider be lopped off. The motion was put and carried.

This ends the matter until the appropriation bill goes to conference, and it is believed that there will be no difficulty over it even then. The Senate labored hard to tack the rider on, but the impression prevails that the Upper House has been led to see the error of its ways, and that the amputating action of the Lower House will be concurred in.

Similar bill had already been referred to the Judiciary Committee, and after a discussion of two days, in which the bill was punctured right and left, the introducer withdrew it. At a later date another bill was introduced and referred to the Miscellaneous Committee and reported on favorably. "To my mind," he said, "this bill isn't worth the paper it's written on. It is as full of objectionable features as the first bill. It is just as much in conflict with section 92 of the County Act."

"Another thing: The bill says, 'this Act shall take effect from and after the date of its approval.' Is there any provision as to when the road supervisors shall be elected? The bill is faulty in that respect."

Rice objected to the section authorizing the road supervisor in each district to appoint deputies, clerk, assistants and employ laborers. "I think," he said, "that section will make the road supervisor the big man in his district." Rice offered an amendment to make the approval of the Supervisors necessary.

KALEIOPU SLAPS AT SAM. Kaleiopu took a slap at Sam Johnson by moving to cut the salary of the Honolulu Road Supervisor from $2400 as in the bill, to $1800. Carried.

Rice had the Waimea, Kauai, man reduced from $1500 to $1200. The bill passed as amended, 18 to 10 LICENSES.

House Bill 187, the general license bill, imposing a license fee on nearly all lines of business, from barbering to running a garage, passed with amendments.

Coney thought the license on fishing boats exorbitant and intended to keep out the Japanese. "The fishing boats have to be more than 30 inches in beam, and now they want to make these poor fellows pay $5 for a license," he said.

Rice thought that a good thing. "These Japs," he said, "won't pay even their personal taxes, and if you try to seize the boat, they say it belongs to a hui."

Kaleiopu thought Coney was unwise.

KAUI'S MORAL WAVE

REGARD FOR LAW IS CAUSING SOME WEDDINGS

Garden Island States That Deputy Sheriff Has Suggested New Ideas for Consideration of Residents

There are too many couples enjoying the comforts of married life without assuming its responsibilities, at least it is the conclusion to which Deputy Sheriff Ellis, Rev. Kaniho and Judge Kaniho have arrived and they have therefore decided to reform the morals of the community.

The Deputy Sheriff has called on a number of couples who have skipped the ceremony and given them the choice of having it performed instant or explaining in court why they furnish the growing generation with such an example of disregard for the law. The result has been that the ministers have had their hands full, one of them setting the record for Lihue by applying six couples in one day.

Kawaha district, was subjected to the same awakening moral sense last month, but it is unknown whether it was the deputy sheriff who was the moving force in that instance. That is possible though, as one of his immediate neighbors is reported to be among the sinners.—Garden Island.

Lazy men are always talking about some other men who are fools for lack.

Many a man's first mistake was in the selection of his parents. ***** "The price of salmon is dearer," he said, "than it was two years ago. And the fisherman are not going to pay their licenses; the consumers will pay for them." Just how the imposition of a license would help these consumers Kaleiopu didn't say. "If I had my way, I'd make the license $20," he concluded.

Coney moved to make the license $1 instead of $5. The amendment was just.

KANIHO'S ONIONS. Kaniho wanted to know if the $50 license fee for peddling general merchandise would have to be paid if he wanted to peddle onions. He was assured that he would be safe, but to make him sure of it, Rice offered an amendment to exempt specifically peddlers of fish, fresh fruit and vegetables.

Kaniho was not convinced yet that his onions were safe. He wanted them mentioned by name.

Then Kaniho worried over the lei sellers. He wanted them exempted from the provisions of the bill.

Rice explained that the object of the section was to protect country store keepers from the competition of peddlers.

The Speaker wanted the committee to state whether leis would be included as merchandise. Rawlins said he thought not.

Kaleiopu was still in the dark over the fish question. He wanted to know what about Chinese dry fish peddlers. He was told that the matter had already been explained.

Rice's amendment exempting fish peddlers carried.

The bill then passed as amended. HOUSE CONCURS. House Bill 43, providing for the regulation of barber shops, was returned from the Senate with a slight amendment which was concurred in by the House.

House Bill 48, relating to negotiable instruments, was also sent back from the Senate with a minor amendment in which the House, on motion of Long, concurred.

SECOND READING. Senate Bill 72, exempting lepers at Kalawao from taxation passed second reading and went to the Health Committee.

Senate Bill 92, providing for a memorial to commemorate the signing of the first constitution by Kamehameha I was carried through second reading and referred to the Education Committee.

WATER FOR KOOLAULOA. Kaleiopu introduced a resolution that $500 be inserted in the Loan Appropriation Bill for the purpose of digging an artesian well for Haunua home-headers, Koolauloa, Oahu. Referred to the Lands Committee.

Tired Nervous Women Make Unhappy Homes

MRS. NELLIE MAKHAM MRS. GEO. A. JAMES

A nervous irritable woman, often on the verge of hysterics, is a source of misery to everyone who comes under her influence and unhappy and miserable herself. Such women not only drive husbands from home but are wholly unfit to govern children.

The ills of women act like a fire brand upon the nerves, consequently seven-tenths of the nervous prostration, nervous despondency, the "blues", sleeplessness, and nervous irritability of women arise from some organic derangement.

Do you experience fits of depression with restlessness alternating with nervous irritability? Do you suffer from pains in the abdominal region, backache, bearing-down pains, nervous dyspepsia, sleeplessness, and almost continually cross and snappy? If so, your nerves are in a shattered condition and you are threatened with nervous prostration.

Proof is monumental that nothing in the world is better for nervous troubles of women than Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs. Thousands and thousands of women can testify to this fact.

Mrs. Nellie Makham, of 151 Morgan St., Buffalo, N. Y., writes:— Dear Mrs. Pinkham:— "I was a wreck from nervous prostration."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs and today holds the record for the largest number of active cures of female diseases of any medicine the world has ever known, and thousands of voluntary testimonials are on file in the laboratory at Lynn, Mass., which testify to its wonderful value.
