Shortage Of Kerosene May Be Clue To Incendiarities

STANDARD OIL'S SUPPLY FOUND SHORT A clue has been found which may lead to the discovery of the party or parties who set fire to the kerosene warehouse at Kewalo a short time ago. It has been found that there is a large shortage in the amount of kerosene belonging to the Standard Oil Co.'s stock there, and this, in view of several peculiar facts about the fire, seems to indicate that the persons who were guilty of the deed had a very definite object in view. Chief of the Fire Department Thurston said today that it had been found that there was a large shortage in the kerosene. This was now being looked into, and it might furnish a very important clue in the case. He advised the reporter to see Superintendent of Public Works Holloway. 'We have found that there was a large shortage in the kerosene belonging to the Standard Oil Co., which was stored at the warehouse,' said Holloway. 'We are now having the cases counted so that we can ascertain just what the extent of this shortage is. We know, however, that it is too large to be accounted for by any petty thefts, and furthermore there have been none such recently. It can not be accounted for by leakage, as in such case the empty tins are kept on hand for tally purposes. 'It is a very significant fact that the fire was started in the room in which the Standard Oil Co.'s kerosene was stored, and furthermore the incendiary deliberately destroyed the records which were kept by the keeper of the warehouse in another room, and which would have shown the shortage. 'It would be possible for an employe of one of the concerns which have oil stored in the warehouse, to give an order for the delivery of a certain number of cases, and then sell to some of the Chinese concerns which handle oil in large quantities. In such a case there would be an entry in the books showing such delivery, but now that these are destroyed there is nothing. All we have to go by now in ascertaining the number of cases which should be in the warehouse, are the statements furnished us by the four concerns which use the warehouse.' It seems furthermore significant that as the Standard Oil Co. will soon have its own warehouses at Iwilei completed, and will after that move

Rowland Case Paul

Helen Rowland, the plaintiff in error against Frank Godfrey, trustee for Thomas Metcalf, defendant in error, has withdrawn her writ of error from the Supreme Court of the United States and has discontinued all appellate proceedings connected therewith. This is the case involving the ownership of the land opposite the Rapid Transit Company's stables. Helen Rowland was the defendant in the case, suit in ejectment being brought against her by Godfrey. She lost in the Territorial courts and appealed to the United States Supreme Court.

QUARANTINE IS NOT LIKELY TO TROUBLE BIG SHIPS

'Honolulu cannot afford to get excited over the quarantine by the Federal authorities,' said a gentleman who noted the comment on the strict quarantine of the Raleigh. 'The quarantine exactions are the result of the somewhat serious condition at Alea a few months ago. This was classed as an epidemic and Honolulu has to pay the penalty and will have to do the same under like conditions as long as the United States Marine Hospital service rules the situation. 'Honolulu is not closed up at the slightest suspicion of serious sickness. The occasion can be cited of repeated instances where the port has remained open though sporadic cases of plague occurred. It is only after an epidemic that the sixty-day rule is put on. And Honolulu will be subject to this as long as there is a plague bacilli in sight. That is one of the penalties paid for living in proximity to the Orient.'

CARTER AND HIS ALLEGED BANK

One Of Those Things Talked About But Not Decided

The story that George R. Carter was contemplating the establishment of a new banking institution in Honolulu has the foundation of being a matter that has been discussed. Mr. Carter is quoted as saying he knew nothing of it. And this is possible. Some business men of Honolulu have thought it would be an excellent plan if a banking institution were to be established in this city with direct connection in New York City. They figured that Mr. Carter should do this, as he has an old college friend who is the head of a large and influential banking institution of New York City. They claim that the local money market is too dependent on San Francisco. When San Francisco money is tight Honolulu money is tight, regardless of what the condition may be in New York. That's the way they figured it should not be. The theory is that with direct New York connections the local money market would be more elastic. And Carter was picked as the man to smite the rock, that floods of money might issue forth. The probability of such a banking movement on the part of the ex-Governor.

NO SUPERINTENDENT OF WATER WORKS YET

Superintendent of Public Works Holloway stated this morning that he was uncertain as to when he would appoint a superintendent of water works, to fill the new position created by the recent Legislature. He said he had not yet found a man for the place, and as the salary is too small, being only $175 per month, he was doubtful if he could get a good man for the place. Mr. Holloway is at present carrying out the duties of the office himself and is getting along all right. But the law requires that some one be found to draw this $175 per, and probably some public-spirited citizen will be found who will consent to immolate himself on the altar of duty for that consideration.

Admiral Very called on Commander Peters of the U. S. S. Raleigh at 10 o'clock this morning and spent about a quarter of an hour on board her. He was not accompanied by any of his staff, but drove in his private carriage to the Naval dock, where he was met by an officer of the Raleigh. On his return he was given the salute of an admiral from the Raleigh's guns.

ONE-THIRD OF CROP IS STILL UNSOLD

Will Derive Benefit From Rising Prices

In view of the fact that the predictions that sugar would rise are now beginning to come true the Island planters feel considerable satisfaction that they have still about one-third of the crop of 1907 on their hands to sell. The Sugar Factors figure that they have still on the islands about 65,000 tons, which together with the amount held by the independent plantations should make a total of about 75,000 to 80,000 tons still on hand. It is estimated that there are about 20,000 tons on the way around the Horn, and that there are about 40,000 tons afloat on its way to San Francisco or on the Tehuantepec route, making a total of 60,000 tons in transit at present. The totals of the sugar in the islands and that in transit will thus amount to about 120,000 tons, and it is estimated that so far about 230,000 tons of the 1907 crop has been sold. This makes about one-third of the crop which will benefit from the rising prices.

ISENBERG WANTS QUEEN EMMA LANDS

Another Application Is Made To Pratt For The Property

Another application has been made for the purchase of the Queen Emma place up Nuuanu valley. R. M. Isenberg is the applicant. He has requested Land Commissioner Pratt to allow him a chance to bid for a part or the whole of the property, and the matter will be considered by the Governor and the Land Commissioner. It will be remembered that some time ago a proposal was made to buy the property, but public opinion appeared to be strongly against it being sold to any private party or firm and the proposition fell through. Unless there has been a change in public sentiment it is improbable that Mr. Isenberg's proposition will be favorably acted upon. The Queen Emma property consists of ten acres, and it appears to be the general idea that this should be turned into a public park or devoted to some similar public purpose.

OPENING OF KAPAA MAY BE RESISTED

Unverified Rumor Says Objection Will Be Made

There is a report about which has not yet been certified, that the opening up of the Kapaa lands is to be contested. It was supposed that all the troubles over these lands had been settled. Land Commissioner Pratt visited Kapaa recently and had a meeting with the homesteaders and others of that district, at which all the objections were talked over and an understanding reached. The Kapaa troubles have been of long standing, but most of them were apparently due to a misunderstanding, and it was thought that this had been cleared away by the Commissioner's visit. From the rumor it would appear either that the old questions have been revived or that new difficulties have arisen. The plantation wants a renewal of its lease of the cane land, but it is not proposed to open up cane land. The lots which it is proposed to offer for settlement are to come out of the pineapple land, and so Commissioner Pratt says he cannot see what objection can be raised. He stated this morning that he had heard of no movement to resist the opening up of the land.

JAPAN'S ATTENTION NOW ON KOREA

Dr. Watsase, who recently arrived at Victoria on the Reojun Maru, and who is professor of zoology at the Imperial University at Tokyo, and bound for Boston to attend the convention of zoologists, states that little is heard now in Japan regarding the trouble about the treatment of Japanese in California. He states that when he left Japan the people there expressed the utmost confidence in an amicable settlement of the affair. Public attention, says the Professor, is all directed toward Korea. The Crown Prince, who ascended the throne at the abdication of the Emperor, is very unpopular with the Japanese.

BROWN AFTER KNOWLEDGE

Chief Inspector of Immigration R. C. Brown, accompanied by Chinese interpreter Loo Joe will leave for Kauai tomorrow afternoon on the steamer W. G. Hall. Brown is making a business trip and will be absent from his office for a few days. When seen this morning Brown said he is simply making a special mission to Kauai to ascertain certain things which he wanted to know. Brown would not state what particular things he is after, but from all indications it is quite probable that his mission is in connection with the Hawaiian-born Chinese.

Emigrants To Canada Are Held In Check

TOKIO, Aug. 26.—The emigrant protection law, which requires that emigrants shall obtain permission to sail, has been extended so that it includes departures for Canada.

This puts Canada on practically the same basis as the States, although the application of the regulation will not prevent Japanese from Hawaii landing in Canada. The extension is probably due to the Vancouver agitation.

CARTER VISIBLE NOW TO NAKED EYE

Although ex-Governor Carter no longer holds down the lid in the Rob-in's Egg Blue Chamber, he is still very much in evidence around the Executive offices. Indeed, he is there most of the time. With his coat off and attired in a shirt which was probably bought during his reign to match the color of the walls of the famous Rob-in's Egg Blue, he spends nearly all day at the long table in the Secretary's office working on his final report to the President. Since he has become a plain citizen he can be seen at any time with the naked eye.

Carry out the new policy of entertainment and go out to the Seaside to welcome the Naval officers who have been in the Orient for three years.
