COMMITTEE OF TEN GOES THE LIMIT

Congress May Help Immigration By Amending Present Law

J. P. Cooke, Secretary of the Territorial Board of Immigration, who returned by the Mongolia, had a very interesting conversation with the President and department officers while he was visiting in Washington.

Mr. Cooke found that the authorities at the national Capitol were very much pleased with the work done by Hawaii in obtaining European immigration, although this matter was not discussed in the talk with the President. That call was an entirely social one, in which the President did not touch particularly on intimate affairs of the country.

Mr. Cooke found that Hawaii has strong friends in the person of Secretary Garfield of the Interior Department and Immigration Commissioner Sargent. Labor Commissioner Neill is also interested in doing all he can for the advancement of the Islands.

In talking over labor matters with various officials Mr. Cooke found considerable favor for an amendment to the recent immigration law in such a manner as to allow Hawaii the privilege of paying the fares of European immigrants for a stipulated period of years.

It is proposed to draw an amendment which shall exempt this Territory when acting through its Territorial Board of Immigration from the provisions now in force that prevent the payment of passage money to intending settlers.

The very good argument is made in behalf of Hawaii that it is the farthest distant from the European sources of labor of any spot on the face of the earth, and is therefore entitled to special consideration for a term of years that will allow it to strengthen its population of settlers.

Just what view the President will take of the matter is not known, but it will probably be brought to his attention before his message to Congress is finally drafted. Then, if Congress acts favorably, it will result in great good to Hawaii and assist in the solution of many of its present peculiar problems.

It is generally accepted in Washington that the President will include in his message a strong recommendation for the improvement of Pearl Harbor, and there is no doubt that the attention of the country is centered in this direction as never before. The people have come to realize the importance of these Islands and will not belittle conditions as they have done in years gone by.

The Committee of Ten having charge of the Wallace matter held a meeting this noon to discuss the matter of the changes of the proposition made by the Board of Health which Wallace wants made. The report drafted by the Committee, in which attention is called to the fact that the Board's proposition cannot be interpreted to mean that Wallace will be a virtual prisoner at the station, and furthermore that Wallace and not more than three of the Committee would assist in the selection of patients, was the basis for the discussion.

The members of the Committee apparently agreed to this report, but a heated discussion arose as to whether Wallace should be made to sign the document or not. Lane and Chillingworth, who apparently have but little faith in the good faith of the healer, insisted that Wallace must sign the document. Harvey thought that this was hardly necessary, as he had said that when these changes had been made the entire proposition would be satisfactory to him, but Lane and Chillingworth replied that they would not take his word, and that in case he were not made to sign he would probably find some other way to worm himself out of the proposition. The upshot of the whole thing was that the meeting was adjourned until 5 p. m., when Wallace will be told to fish or cut bait. Should he refuse to sign it is quite likely that Lane and Chillingworth will retire from the whole business.

Honolulu, November 25th, 1907.
Mr. N. E. Gedge, Secretary I. I. S. N. Co., Honolulu.
Dear Sir:—I beg to acknowledge receipt of your letter of even date in which you propose arbitration as a means of reaching a settlement of wage schedule matter. And in response thereto I have to state that while this Association did formulate and present to your Company a new wage schedule, and also appointed two committees of conference on same without reaching any definite results—the matter is now in the hands of the individual members and employees of your Company, and it is now too late for arbitration.

If such a measure had been proposed before your Company had attempted to force an arbitrary advance on their engineers I believe that arbitration as a means of reaching a satisfactory settlement of this matter would have been cheerfully accepted. As it is, now your Company will have to deal with its engineers individually.

Yours very truly,
(Signed) H. G. WOOTTEN, Secretary.

BARTENDERS NOT REACHED BY LAW

The section of the liquor law which provides against the selling of liquor to persons who have been convicted of drunkenness more than once was given a bad blow this morning when Judge Andrade decided that it did not apply to others than the licensees themselves and not to their employees. On this decision three bartenders, who had been arrested under the section mentioned, had their cases quashed.

The decision was given in the case of Chan Chong. He was defended by Attorneys Harrison and Gear, who interposed a demurrer on the grounds that the section made mention only of licensees, but said nothing about their employees. In rendering his decision the Judge said in part:

"In this case the defendant is charged with being an employee of the holder of a license, and of having sold liquor to a person who has been convicted of drunkenness more than once. I find absolutely no authority on which I can convict the defendant."

ANDRADE STANDS UP FOR BOVINES

Says Mrs Lishman's Cows May Go On Wilder Avenue

Judge Andrade this morning delivered his decision in the case of Mrs. Lishman, who was charged with common nuisance on a complaint sworn to by L. C. Ables. The facts of the matter were that Mrs. Lishman's cows were driven along Wilder avenue several times a day on their way to and from the milking sheds, and it was shown that they had used the sidewalks, torn up and devoured the trees which had been planted there by the Improvement club, and had occasionally taken chunks out of hedges along the street.

Judge Andrade favored the cows. The law, he said, prevented the driving of cattle only within certain city limits, and the cows had a perfect right to walk on Wilder avenue. It will probably be conceded that if son of man ploughed hedges and tore up trees, he would have to answer for it, but, according to Andrade's decision, the festive bovine has special rights in such matters, the court thus reversing the time-honored principle of "Quod licet Jovi non licet bovi."

"There is one elemental rule in criminal practice, and that is that a statute must be strictly construed," said the Court in delivering its decision. "A criminal statute is inflexible. Under Section 1329 of the Revised Laws Mrs. Lishman has a perfect right to drive cattle through any street which is not within a quarter of a mile from the intersection of Nuuanu and King street. All the evidence in the case tends to show that the cattle driven over Wilder avenue were tame cows. To drive milch cows over Wilder avenue is not a common nuisance. Mr. Ables is annoyed, but he is the only one who is annoyed, as far as the evidence shows. If he is annoyed that is a matter which can be adjudicated in this court in another manner, or in a court of equity. I therefore discharge the defendant."

SERIOUS LEAKAGE OF GOVERNMENT FUNDS

Territory Losing $4500 Annually Through Big Cracks

For years there has been a leakage of the Territorial funds, according to the discovery made yesterday by Acting Governor Mot-Smith, the amount disappearing amounting to more than $4500 each year. How long this has been going on is uncertain, but it is sure that the Government has lost a large amount of money through the leak.

The leak is in the Kaimuki reservoir. In the inspection made yesterday it was discovered that about 250,000 gallons of water are escaping through the many cracks and holes each day. To pump this amount of water up the hill to the reservoir costs the Territory $5.25 each day. And this is not the total loss, as if the water did not escape thus uselessly, it would be going to the consumers and the Territory would be receiving pay for it.

This is no new condition of affairs, says Superintendent Campbell. How long it has been going on is uncertain, but certainly for a number of years. And all this time there has been trouble on account of the shortage of water in Honolulu, while the Water Works Department has been pumping untold thousands of gallons up the hill to have it all run down again.

It would be utterly impossible, says the Superintendent, to repair the reservoir, as as fast as one hole is mended the wall splits somewhere else. There is more water in the lake that has formed out back of the reservoir than there is in the reservoir itself. The trees irrigated by the leak are going well.

What is to be done is a question that is puzzling the Government officials, as there is no money available with which to put up a tank.

The condemnation proceedings of the Queen Emma property at Pearl Harbor have been pronounced O. K. by the United States Attorney General and the matter is practically closed.

By these proceedings the United States becomes the owner of a large tract of land, which will be used for fortification purposes, etc. The price paid was in the neighborhood of $35,000.
