THURSDAY FEBRUARY 27, 1908

County fathers are to be congratulated on their inability to stir up a scrap. The people prefer business.

Honolulu will refuse to worry about feeding the Fleet unless the Fleet arrives off port at some unexpected hour.

All sugar-plantation meetings are more happy assemblies when actuated under the influence of an advancing sugar market.

One man says the Mana lands are available for an agricultural forest and a bee farm. Has anyone a corner on algebraic beas and bees?

Land Commissioner Pratt will know the Island of Kauai in every minute detail, if there are many more luna contests in that direction.

Pearl Harbor will not lack for a good-sized army of influential friends that even the prospects of a Presidential election should not smother.

Exploiting Harry Orchard in the popular magazines has resulted in a new crop of anarchists, who don't intend to confess and be good, as Harry did.

Citizens of Hawaii join with the students of the High School in their appreciation of the honor and appropriateness of a McKinley Memorial High School.

It can hardly be imagined that Japanese and Chinese contributors to the McKinley memorial fund will oppose the expenditure of the money in connection with the public school.

While dealing with the Edmunds Act that has been fitted to the Territory of Hawaii, why not secure an amendment, under the title of a Breckens Act, that will really fit Hawaii.

The Bulletin is informed by an ex-Republican that Mr. Wilder was long ago endorsed as a Republican. Now what is this ex-Republican driving at? Is he a friend of Wilder and the people, or does he wish to intensify what he accents as a row in the Republican party?

A REAL SENTIMENTAL FACTOR.

The sentiment of the Hawaiian-Americans to which reference is frequently made in connection with appointments to office is a tangible and material fact that has to be taken into consideration.

Just what measure of justice or good reason there may be in it is a matter of opinion, influenced as much by the personal favoritism for contesting candidates as anything else. All will argue that the sentiment which follows racial lines is all wrong and ought not to be. But it is there, nevertheless, and must be dealt with wisely.

There should be a decent middle ground for all except the viciously extreme to meet upon.

The purposes of the extremists are not in doubt. The men who force the claims of the native Hawaiians as such threaten to get revenge by solidifying a racial vote and taking all the elective offices. The men strictly anti-Hawaiian respond that the natives can go ahead if they want to; it will only result in a counter-attack on the franchise.

That is the basis of action in the camps of the radicals.

So far as the Republican party is concerned, its opponents are forever hanging around on the edges seeking to arouse discontent and prejudice without much regard for the decency of citizenship involved or the effect of evil prejudice on the body politic.

prejudice and love for a fair deal. By its own acts, rather than the action of any partisan committee, it will gain or lose the approval of the electoral majority.

KONA DEVELOPMENT.

Talk in the newspapers is not always the wisest kind of promotion. In fact, premature advertisement may do a district or a country a great deal of harm. Some of our best agricultural lands have been hurt by this sort of injudicious announcement.

The manufacture of akolehoo from kava was tried without success, not, however, before considerable expense and time had been incurred, and more or less harm done to Kona by the nonrealization of advertised expectations.

Now big talk announces that brandy will be made in Kona—always Kona—by a stock company. Everything will be utilized—chaps, sawdust, lava rocks, and so on. This brandy will be of the best, and the promoter promises that the small farmer will find a ready sale for his horticultural products.

This talk reads so well that we are rather safe in inferring that it is chiefly talk. It is not likely to eventuate.

The kava venture at Papa was another set-back to expectations and investment. It didn't pan out simply because it wasn't managed right. The valuable kava is there still, and it is only a question of time before getting it into market can be made profitable.

Mr. Bruner and his pineapples kept at it for several months before anyone knew what their intentions were, and now Mr. Bruner can show you his broad acres of fruit, his cannery running to full limit, and give you some figures that will open your eyes.

The pineapple industry in Kona is a success. Of course it is. It wasn't over promotion that made it so; it was work and good, sound judgment.

Today any practical man with enough means who goes into pineapple growing in Kona can make it pay sooner than Mr. Bruner did, because Mr. Bruner had to break the ground.

Conservative investments, well-considered development, slow and cautious extension of agricultural areas—these methods pursued by men who have the money, are going to be a benefit not only to Kona but to all Hawaii.

The various industries have been placed under good management, and whatever inducements may be offered to settlers in this desirable district will be bona-fide.

Mr. Jared G. Smith does not give up his position to enter upon an experiment in tobacco-growing. He tried the experiment before he resigned his position, and he goes to Kona to raise what he has practically demonstrated can be raised profitably in Hawaii. He has selected Kona because of the unusually favorable agricultural conditions in that location.

Coffee-growing in Oahu was not a success. To use a rather ungraceful phrase, "it boomed and busted." In Kona there never was a coffee boom, and while coffee doesn't pay very much, it pays some, and the area is slowly but surely extending over the lava-strewn sides of Western Hawaii.

The Portuguese and Japanese who grow coffee there have their own homes. They don't get rich and they grumble a good deal, but they have enough to eat and dress well once a week, and, as Mr. Bruner has shown, a very slight increase in the price of coffee would make these Kona growers prosperous.

Cautious development of all the various resources of a locality is the sort of promotion that promotes. Let us have more of it.

Bernard Kelekele, the boy orator, returned from Maui this morning on the steamer Claudine. While on Maui he spoke to a political assembly at Spreckelsville on Washington's birthday.

Crowds Of Maui G.O.P. Men

(Special to the Bulletin)
Spreckelsville, Punene, Feb. 23.—The Spreckelsville Republican Club held its formal meeting last evening at Baldwin's Hall, in the midst of a crowded house. Before the meeting hour arrived, the hall was crowded with men, women and children, Portuguese being the majority, and Hawaiians next. Dr. Maples acted as chairman.

The meeting opened promptly at 7:30 p. m.

On the speaker's stand were Dr. Maples, the secretary of the Republican Club and Bernard H. Kelekele.

After some music the secretary called the names of the members of the club, also reading the preamble of the constitution of the club.

Dr. Maples addressed the audience on "Duties of Citizenship."

His address was well appreciated and applauded.

Wm. Crockett, the principal speaker of the evening being absent, on duty, at Lahaina, the chairman introduced the next speaker, Bernard H. Kelekele, as "the boy orator of Honolulu."

Bernard then made a few remarks advising the young men who have become members of the Grand Old Party to feel proud of the fact that they are now members of the party of which Abraham Lincoln and other great men belong.

After the meeting the hall was cleared and everybody enjoyed dancing until a late hour.

McKINLEY HIGH SCHOOL

"The Black and Gold," published by the students of the High School, Edward Tracy editor-in-chief, expresses its opinion in the following editorial:

Nearly eight thousand dollars of what will go down in the history of this Territory as the McKinley Memorial Fund is still floating about.

Many and varied have been the suggestions offered for the using of this money, but for some reason or other none of these have proven acceptable.

The new High School, unless something else is done, will have to have the same small library which we are now using. As an addition to the already numerous plans which the committee in charge has received, this paper would offer still another.

Let the committee put a bust of McKinley in the vestibule of the new High School, place a McKinley memorial window in the library, and with the remainder of the money purchase new books for the McKinley Memorial High School.

We venture to state that were McKinley living, and were his wishes to be consulted, none of the plans which have been aired for the last year or so would meet with as much of his approval as this.

The McKinley Memorial High School! It sounds good!

EXCESSIVE DRINKING.

Excessive or continued use of alcoholic beverages always results in a diseased condition of the nervous system.

The drinking man is often heard to say, "I can stop on my own free will and when I wish," but the poor fellow is now devoid of the power to act at the proper time and in the right way.—It's too late, the craving has secured a firm hold and because of the diseased nervous system he has not the ability for sustained effort. The result we all know.

Drunkennes is no longer considered a crime; eminent scientists and physicians have agreed that it is a disease and must be treated as such.

The home treatment that has been used for a number of years, and is highly successful, is Orlin. It is sold under a positive guarantee that if it does not effect a cure your money will be refunded.

Orlin is in two forms. When desiring to give secretly, purchase Orlin No. 1, and if the patient will voluntarily take the treatment, Orlin No. 2 should be given. The guarantee is the same in either case. Orlin costs but $1.00 per box. Mailed in plain sealed wrapper on receipt of price. Write for free treatise on "Drunkennes" mailed in sealed envelope by The Orlin Co., Washington, D. C. Sold by leading druggists everywhere and in this city by Honolulu Drug Co., Ltd.

this as the reason for his action.

Castro has fought several battles in the local ring, and was at one time known as the "Telephone Wonder." He was employed by the telephone company, but has been out of employment for some time past. The police say that he has been making strenuous efforts to get work and has tried to support his wife and small children by selling soda water and peanuts, but he was not very successful, and it is believed that his financial difficulties led him to take this desperate step.

All a man will have to do is to take a few boxing lessons and then walk up and whip some industrious fellow who has held down a place in the line for a month or so, take his place and get the land. Pratt has not yet decided what is to be done.

GOVERNOR WILL PROBABLY GO TO MAUI ON FRIDAY

Governor Frazar may go to Maui on Friday of next week instead of on Tuesday, as originally planned. He stated this morning that he hardly thought he would be able to get away early in the week.

It is not yet decided who will accompany the Governor, although he stated this morning that Commissioner Pratt, Secretary Mott-Smith and Stenographer McBride might be of the party. In case they leave on the Claudine Friday, they may land at Hilo and work back, instead of going the other way.

OFF THE SECRET FILE

The indictments returned yesterday by the Grand Jury have been taken from the secret file, the persons indicted having all been arrested.

Charles Elvin is charged with assaulting N. T. Neilson with a loaded revolver. He was arraigned this morning and pleaded not guilty.

Frank Brilliance's alleged offense was the stabbing of Gov. Tow. He pleads not guilty.

Kaui Kaui is indicted for burning a strawstack belonging to H. Hackfeld & Co., the charge being malicious.

Don't take chances with milk that may contain typhoid germs. Our condensed milk is used very generally on the Pacific Coast instead of ordinary cow's milk. It is so rich in natural flavor and butter-fat that it is preferred by many in tea, coffee, cocoa, and chocolate, while it makes the best body for gravies, sauces, ice-cream, fritasces, etc.
