THE APPOINTMENT.

The appointment of Dr. L. E. Cofer as the executive head of the Board of Health undoubtedly marks the first step toward the Federal control of sanitary conditions in the Territory of Hawaii.

This is the significance of the appointment.

There is no able man in this Territory, and might be few in the United States, Dr. Cofer's administration of the quarantine service of this port has been of a character to inspire the confidence of all people who understand the difficulties and the importance of his office. His constructive work at the United States Quarantine Station has proved his ability to do a great deal with limited funds.

Those who believe that the sanitary administration of the Islands should be under the direction of the Federal Government and eventually carried on at its expense, will be pleased with the Governor's action. Those who view with alarm the Federal encroachment of authority will be displeased.

So far as the Bulletin is concerned, Federal administration accompanied by the acceptance of Federal financial responsibility will do Hawaii a world of good.

So far as the Republican party is concerned, the move made by the Governor violates the spirit of its early declarations made during the time when ex-Governor Carter was in the ranks of the political leaders, and therefore the party is put in the position of either changing front or straddling.

Mr. Pinkham will withdraw from his position with a record for work well done that has not been duplicated by any predecessor, and his successors will have great difficulty in equalling it. He has been more widely and vigorously endorsed than any man who has ever been proposed for an office in this Territory. He has the outspoken respect of the respectable and honest element of the community.

Governor Freat will undoubtedly state, if asked, that he has no sympathy with the malicious campaign that has been made against Mr. Pinkham. He cannot escape the fact, however, that his action has given moral support to that campaign. The issue has been so clear-cut that it could not be otherwise, and he has not raised his voice to protest or offered an objection to such methods.

That is the practical result, and it will not be changed though it is argued and hammered on with as much excitement, as long, and as bitterly as the preliminary Pinkham furore.

There is no doubt that Dr. Cofer will have the hearty support of the business men of the Territory, and Cofer is, after all, the man who has the principal cause for personal worry, since he occupies a dual position and is striking out on a new program for dealing with old problems that have been a constant source of friction.

WALLACH RESULTS.

While Wallach was in the glory of heroic fight, the Bulletin suggested that the time might come when he could plume himself with the honor of having brought about Federal control of the sanitary affairs of the Territory of Hawaii.

From the vantage-ground of the House of Silence, the "healer" may now contemplate a first step toward the result.

THE CONVENTION.

The Republican convention assembled this morning bids fair to be thoroughly peaceful and expressive of a united party. Let the good work go on. There is no occasion for contests. Pass those up to the National convention.

HOW ROOSEVELT SUCCEEDS

The American Magazine for April publishes as its leading article for the month a character-sketch of President Roosevelt that is one of the best thus far given the public. The name of the author is not divulged, but there is little doubt that he knows Roosevelt.

According to this writer President Roosevelt has achieved greatness by his constant "energizing" along the lines of the commonplace. Given a handful of aged maxims, like "Honesty is the best policy" and "Be good and you will be happy," he so sings the changes on them that they become watchwords of a political revolution. He is a manifestation of the homely virtues of the people themselves. "His versatility amazes one; his energy is appalling; and yet it is only commonness energized to the 14th degree."

Roosevelt has not thought, this writer insists; he has read and he has acted—acted immediately, continually, tremendously. He has persisted in all undertakings and by sheer force has achieved respectable results in all directions. "George Washington was a distant aristocrat, Lincoln a man of lonely divinity," but Roosevelt "whoops gloriously with the whole crowd." This writer declares further: "He is just like us. As a people we act swiftly and continuously and do our thinking—afterward." The natural conclusion, therefore, is that "Roosevelt has represented us—the mass of Americans."

The reforms he has advocated are really our reforms, not his. He has voiced them valiantly and fearlessly. It is his supreme service that he has articulated our desires.

This is so true that the public generally must recognize its truth. But the writer proceeds: "Roosevelt never leads; he always follows. He acts, but he acts only when he thinks the crowd is behind him. His understanding of us leads him rarely astray; and when he does go astray he instantly acts in the opposite manner—and gets in again with the crowd." In short, Roosevelt has succeeded because he forged the commonplace virtues of the American people into thunderbolts. When he hurled them and the stricken wrongdoers bellowed with pain and rage he was absolutely secure from their counter attacks. Having done the obvious thing with a sort of old-fashioned directness, the people understood and appreciated his motives and sustained him unwaveringly. It was what they themselves would have liked to do.

President Roosevelt has given a marvelous demonstration of ability to read the popular mind and interpret it by his actions. The public has watched him as one watches one's self in a mirror. It has felt that it was doing all those things which he did. When a roar of execration burst from any corner the public listened with the same sort of disfavor with which one listens to abuse of one's self. Thus opposition to the President's policies has been wholly ineffective.

SUPPRESS KNOCKERS AND HOWLERS

[San Francisco Trade Journal]

California has an army of long-bearded soothsayers who profess to be in touch with the secrets of commercial destiny.

These noisy divines pretend to be ladies-in-waiting to the Goddess of Prosperity, and one would think the law against sacrilege would prevent them from pretending that Providence is a member of their chattering league.

There are editors in this noisy band, and street-corner orators now and then harangue the multitude, and wear out such expressions as "rights of the people," "wrongs of vested interests," "stealing of franchise," and "pollution of the law by courts."

In season and out of season the ranters rant and the canters cant, stirring up village rows, dividing communities into warring factions, and making neighbor suspect neighbor, friend distrust friend.

There can be no progress where such a spirit is encouraged. One of the most successful business men in San Francisco, who has never had a partner or affiliated with a corporation, once told the writer that it was his policy to discharge at once any employee, however skillful or honest he might be, if caught meddling.

ding, gossiping, or stirring up strife in office or factory. Every community in California should heed the lesson of this man's example. Here in this city and country, as well as in this part of the State, we need harmony. We should encourage business men to come and dwell with us, to invest their capital here, and to help to make this community a model of commercial prosperity and brotherly association. Nature has done so much for us that men should be ashamed to quarrel, to PULL DOWN when there is every incentive to agree, TO BUILD UP. Let us meet the invitation to be men at all times—nice never.

Editor Evening Bulletin: It is our most earnest belief that (the late President) Mr. Pinkham has done many and oft ("oft" is poetical) kind and helpful deeds; and, also, that he is a well-educated and gifted officer, as well as an industrious; he has not at all the look of one indolent or somnolent.

We would like to have him, (at all-rates) we would bring forward no objections) canonized, not incinerated (sinners, rated) and enrolled on the calendar of saints and martyrs. Were it not just as present, rather hard times, on account, principally, that the Lilliputians have so recently robbed us of all of our small change, we might entrust (trust?) Osborne to look about for a statue.

Vice Is Spreading And Is Now All Over City

"The closing of Iwilei has not caused any of the prostitutes from that place to go out of business. On the contrary their number has been increased, so that there are now more Japanese women in that business than there were before. The old inmates of Iwilei are now distributed in bath houses, hotels, barber shops and in back rooms of stores, and they have persuaded, and are persuading a number of women, who heretofore were kept out of the business because of the publicity which staying in Iwilei involved, to join them."

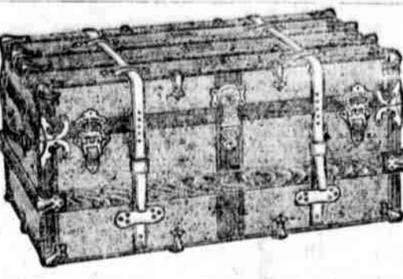

The above statement was made this morning by an officer of the police department who has made an investigation

Kapaa Land Report

The Kapaa appraisers, consisting of W. L. Hopper, George F. Renton, and J. H. Marague, have handed in their report to Governor Freat.

It is a lengthy and carefully prepared report, but as yet the Governor has not had time to go into it. It has to do with the distribution of the lands at Kapaa, and will probably cover the ground in the matter. The apportionment of these lands has been a source of worry not only to the Administration but also to the preceding one. The report may clear up the matter considerably.
