NEW CHAPTER IN HAWAII'S HISTORY MADE BY CONGRESS

Editor Evening Bulletin:—The passage of the Pearl Harbor Bill by the House of Representatives on Monday was the beginning of a new chapter in Hawaii's history. Its significance will begin to be apparent when the naval base is established, with squadrons of warships coming and going, and with naval vessels assigned to that station, but its full meaning will not be apparent until after the Panama Canal shall have begun to send a volume of traffic past Hawaii that will overflow the capacity of Honolulu Harbor. The apparent care with which the bill passed the House gave little indication of the complicated campaign that made the result possible. It was not until a week ago that favorable action in the House was assured. After the Speaker had been approached a number of times on the subject, Mr. Bates took it to him more than a hundred personal letters from members and senators responding favorably to his letter transmitting a copy of the bill and report to every member of Congress. The Speaker then agreed that if certain changes were made in the bill to meet the views of the House leaders, he would give it recognition on Monday under suspension of the rules. Mr. Bates introduced a new bill embodying these changes and the Naval Committee, after a two-hour session reported it out. Some of our best friends feared the plan of bringing the bill up under suspension. (Continued on Page 6.)

Koolau'ites Oppose Castle Proposition

J. B. Castle's proposition that special consideration be given to Van Dine and other expert agriculturalists of his class when the Koolau lands are opened will meet with very determined opposition. Castle holds a lease on much of these lands, and this will have to be surrendered to the Government before the lands can be opened, but the residents of the district are very much opposed to having any conditions made pertaining to the opening, which would tend to discriminate in favor of Van Dine and others against them. It was learned today that about forty taxpayers and voters, residents of Koolau and Kailua, most of them Hawaiians, were preparing to petition for the lands. They have been watching the developments of the affair for some time past, but for certain reasons they were not able to file their applications as soon as they would have liked to do so. Now they have placed their interests in the hands of a certain legal gentleman of this city, who will in the very near future address a letter to Acting Governor Mott-Smith, asking that the terms of the sale be made such that the residents of the district will have a show to secure land, it being their desire that if be cut up in small parcels, ranging from about six to eight acres each. This will be followed by the filing of regular petitions for the opening of the lands. L. L. McCandless, who is a resident of the district and is well informed on such matters, was sought out this morning and asked as to what information he had. He confirmed the truth of the story, and further volunteered the statement that the position taken by the Bulletin in the matter, suggesting that no preference be shown anyone was decidedly correct.

ANOTHER PALOLO HOUSE IS BURNED

Residence Of F. H. Kilby Is Completely Destroyed. Another of the homes of the Palolo settlers built on the Government land which was opened up some two years ago was destroyed by fire last night, and the saying of the Hawaiians, who warned the settlers that the valley was kahunau, now seems to have been justified. The house belonged to F. H. Kilby, a collector for the Hawaiian Electric Co. It was the finest house in that section of the valley, being a large and substantial one-story residence. "I awoke at about midnight last night," said Kilby this morning. "I noticed the smell of smoke and called the attention of my wife to it. I opened the door to the other bedroom and saw smoke and the reflection of fire in the front part of the house. I shut the door immediately, and my wife and myself took our two children and went towards the barn, which is about 300 or 400 feet from the house. On the way down I kept calling out, and my cries aroused my Korean man who slept in the barn. He ran out to meet us and I gave him the child I held, and ran back to the house. "When I got there the entire front of the house was enveloped in flames. (Continued on Page 5.)

Ask For W.F. Pogue

(Special to The Bulletin). WAILUKU, Maui, April 24.—The Maui County Central Committee of the Republican party will recommend to Governor Freat the appointment of W. F. Pogue as Supervisor for Makawao district in place of Supervisor Thos. M. Church, who is understood to have tendered his resignation to take effect next month. Mr. Pogue was the unanimous choice of all the Republican precinct clubs in Makawao district. He has been a very valuable member of the Board, and his unceasing energy and wonderful enterprise in working for public improvements in this County has won for him the high regard and (Continued on Page 2.)

LINK IS WANTED FOR DELEGATE

Kauai Likes His Work On Lanai Land Matters. L. L. McCandless for Delegate, as the candidate of the Democratic party. That is what Kauai wants, and on Oahu there are many who wish him to run either for that office or for Senator. McCandless says that he is willing to run for either position, but that he does not care if he is offered no nomination at all. The matter was brought up at the meeting of the Democratic Central Committee last evening. G. K. Low reported that he had visited Kauai and had, with the assistance of C. W. Hudson and Mr. Chandler, organized seven precincts. The rest of the precincts had been canvassed, and would be organized later on by Chandler and Hudson. This is an important matter, as the Democrats have heretofore had no organization on the Garden Island. Low reported further that the Democrats he had met on Kauai were strongly in favor of having either McCandless or W. A. Kinney run as the Democratic candidate for Delegate. They favored the former especially on account of the stand he had taken in the Lanai land matter. McCandless was asked this morning (Continued on Page 3.)

One Wife, Not Two

Although his case was thoroughly investigated by United States Commissioner Hatch, Yang Chou Kiam finds that many people still think he has two wives. Commissioner Hatch rendered his decision in the deportation case of Soo Kwai Yin some days ago, and decided in her favor. She is Yang's lawful wife. Yang Chou Kiam by a recent mail received additional testimony regarding the status of his wife, in a letter from George Whitman, who knows of the whole matter. Mr. Whitman's letter follows: Ka-ying, China, March 24th. To Whom It May Concern:—I have made inquiries concerning the question of Yang Chou Kiam having two wives, and find the following to be the facts. According to Chinese custom, two families have a share in him as a son. Each family bought a wife for him. One of these women, whose family name was Ku, is dead, having died last year in the seventh moon. Now the only wife he has is the one who is in the Hawaiian Islands. GEO. E. WHITMAN, Missionary of American Baptist Missionary Univ., Ka-ying, via Swatow, China.

MILLS DENIED WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS

Lindsay Rules Against Maatyr Man --No'es Appeal. Harry T. Mills lost out in Judge Lindsay's court this morning. He was fined the other day, along with Frank Thompson, in Judge Andrade's court for contempt of court. Thompson paid his fine, but Mills noted an appeal. According to the decision of the Court this morning, Mills is denied his application for a writ of habeas corpus. Rufus W. Robinson was the first witness called this morning. Judge Quarles, representing Mills, asked him a few preliminary questions and then requested that he tell the story of the altercation as he saw it in the court room. Attorney Milverton immediately objected to such evidence being brought into the court, citing numerous authorities, and stating that the court had the right only to judge as to the jurisdiction of the lower court in fining for direct contempt, and not to receive evidence on the case itself. Judge Quarles, who, by the way, is making a name for himself here as a lawyer, made a plea for the evidence to be received. He said that Mills was doing his duty when he defended himself from attack, and as a citizen of the United States, he had a right to be heard, and (Continued on Page 6.)

Subsidy May Fail

Editor Evening Bulletin: The Senate Mail Subsidy bill received yesterday what it is feared is its death-blow, when the House Committee by a tie vote failed to report it favorably. The representative of the shipping interests told me today that he feared it would not be possible to break the deadlock. We refrained from pressing my bill to suspend the subsidy bill, in order not to antagonize the shipping people needlessly. If, however, it becomes apparent that nothing more can be done with the subsidy measure, we shall probably be able to get my bill up, unless the Democratic filibuster should continue to block all such measures as it does at present. Very truly yours, J. KALANIANA'OLE, Delegate to Congress. April 9, '08.
