Hilo People Do Nice Things For Keio Team

If the baseball people of Hilo did not warm to the proposition of having the Santa Clara play ball there, they are pleased enough to welcome the Keios. In fact, they have placed an order here with Okasaki, the tailor, for beautiful new uniforms with which the Keios are to be presented on the occasion of their visit. This is going some, when it was found impossible to make a game for the Santa Clara in the umbrella town on satisfactory terms. And there is little question that the Clarans really put up the better game of the two teams.

The games which have been so far arranged for the Keios in Hilo are for Saturday and Sunday, the 15th and 16th, as follows:

Saturday, Aug. 15—1:30 p. m.: H. A. C. vs. Naniwa; 3 p. m.: Keio vs. Hilo.

Sunday, Aug. 16—1:30 p. m.: Hilo vs. Naniwa; 3 p. m.: Keio vs. Mookheau.

As the Naniwa team is not in this list, and as it is thought probable that the Keios will be asked to play a picked team, it is supposed that there will be more games played than the above before the Keio team leaves Hilo.

BECKERT PLAYS BAPTISTE FOR HANDBALL FINALS

One game is yet to be played in the handball tournament at the Y. M. C. A. Frank Beckert and John Baptiste are to play this. Each man has won 17 matches and lost 2. The game is at 5 o'clock Thursday evening.

Beckert put Webster out of the running Wednesday evening by defeating him two out of three games. Webster has won 16 games and lost 3.

INDOOR BASEBALL AT Y.M.C.A.

There will be an exhibition game of indoor baseball at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium Monday evening, August 10, 7:30 o'clock. The event will be given in the order of an entertainment for the Keio University baseball team boys, as they have never witnessed a game of indoor baseball.

The game will be played between two picked teams, selected from the following players: F. A. Beckert, J. O. Baptiste, John Clarke, M. V. De Colto, Chas. Gilliland, D. Keoho, M. Keoho, Chris Lewis, Jas. Nott, Irwin Spalding, Dan Voeller, Geo. Waterhouse, Eula Bun, Sula Gunn. The public is invited. Refreshments will be served.

MOOHEAU PROTEST

In a rather loosely played game the Hilos defeated the Mookheaus by a score of 11 to 4 and the H. A. C.'s handed the Naniwas another package at the rate of 5 to 3 on Aug. 4th.

The Mookheaus have declared their intention of entering a protest on the first game, claiming that the "ump" was still a member of the Hilo team and that a second-base decision was so flagrant that it was not passable.

The standing of the teams is as follows:

	P. W. L.	Per.
Mookheau	14 11 3	.788
Hilo	15 10 5	.667
H. A. C.	16 5 11	.313
Naniwa	13 3 10	.232

BURNS SIGNS WITH SQUIRES

SYDNEY, Aust., Aug. 7.—Tommy Burns and Bill Squires have signed articles for a contest for the world's heavyweight championship to be fought on August 24, during the visit of the American Atlantic Fleet.

Burns is certainly a "commercial" man, all right, dealing in lemons with much profit.

Japanese Consul General Miki Saito and Madame Saito have been much entertained pending their departure for Japan. The Consul General was given a gorgeous banquet at the Mochizuki Club by prominent Japanese.

There were geisha girls, speeches and toasts and the banquet displayed the choicest of wines and viands.

GOOD GAME FILL TOMORROW'S CARD

Jewel-Keio Game Is The Feature Event Of The Day

Tomorrow, the baseball fans will be treated to quite a sight for tired eyes. The Jewels will start the performance with the Santa Clara team, but the real event of the day ought to be the second game, in which the Diamond Heads, short a catcher, will try to stop the Keios. The prophets are reduced to guesswork pure and simple, but they will be off their guess if this game is not worth seeing.

In the first place, the Jewels have shown a nice spirit in consenting to play when decidedly crippled. And they will go into it for the sport, beyond a doubt. And all the time it is helping the game when Kelo buckles down and plays at a lick which wins for this bunch the pride and support of the Japanese fans.

That the bleachers will ring with banzais tomorrow is only a natural consequence.

SPORTIVE SPLURGES

Mrs. Philip Andrews, accompanied by her little son, Philip Jr., expects to sail August 5 on the Siberia for Honolulu, where she will visit her family and former home before going to Hampton Roads to meet her husband, Lieutenant Commander Philip Andrews of the U. S. S. Kansas. At the time of the fleet's departure their child was so desperately ill that Mrs. Andrews was unable to sail, as she expected, and has since been anxiously awaiting his recovery to start on her long voyage.—S. LAST COLORED CHAMPION GONE

Joe Gans' recent defeat marked the passing of the last colored ring champion of the day. The man from Baltimore was the last of the mightiest trio of black boys the race has ever given to the ring. This great trio was made up of Joe Walcott, welter-weight champion, Joe Gans, light-weight champion, and George Dixon, bantam and feather-weight champion. Each held the title for a number of years.

Walcott won the welter-weight championship from Jim (Rube) Ferns in five rounds at Fort Erie, N. Y., December 18, 1901, and held it until Honey Melody defeated him in twelve rounds at Chelsea, November 29, 1906.

George Dixon won the bantam-weight title from Eugene Hornbacher in four rounds at New York December 27, 1889, and held it until Terry McGovern beat him at New York in eight rounds January 9, 1900.

Joe Gans won the light-weight title from Frank Erne in one round at Fort Erie, N. Y., May 12, 1902, and lost it to Battling Nelson at Colma, Cal., in seventeen rounds July 4, 1908.

There are other great negro fighters left in the ring. Jack Johnson, heavy-weight; Sam Langford, middle-weight; and Jack Blackburn, welter-weight, are all fighters of class, and if they were given a chance either one or all three of them might become champions.

But white boxers remembering the great deeds of Walcott, Gans and Dixon, to say nothing of old Peter Jackson and a number of other great colored fighters since his day, are pretty fairly persistent in drawing the color line.

It seems to be the rule nowadays for any holder of a championship title to bar the negro challenger. John L. Sullivan set the style by refusing to meet Peter Jackson, and since his time Jim Corbett, Bob Fitzsimmons, Jim Jeffries, Tommy Burns and other champions in the various classes have avoided negro fighters as they would a pestilence.

Jack O'Brien, of Philadelphia, is to "fight again." It is a long time since Jack has done any real fighting. Of late years he has been, to use his own expression, a "commercial man."

Gans and Nelson To Do Battle On 9th Of September

On Admission Day, September 9th, Battling Nelson and Joe Gans will meet in the Mission street arena in a 45-round fight, the lightweight championship being the prize for which the pugilists will struggle.

The men agreed to fight at 133 pounds ringside, for 70 per cent. of the gross receipts, which will be divided 60 per cent. to the winner and 40 per cent. to the loser. Eddie Smith was chosen to referee the bout.

Nelson is at present in the East, but he was telegraphed and his manager, Willis Britt, says he will be on hand by August 10th. Gans is in the mountains of Lake County and he will remain there until two weeks before the date of the fight, when he will come down to Shannon's and finish up his training.

The articles signed read as follows:

San Francisco, July 28, 1908.

Battling Nelson, represented by Willis Britt, and Joe Gans, represented by Ben Selig, agree to box forty-five rounds for James W. Coffroth at his Mission street arena on September 9, 1908, at 2 o'clock p. m., under straight Marquis of Queensberry rules. Soft surgical bandages permitted, to be adjusted in the ring to the satisfaction of the referee.

The boxers are to receive 70 per cent. of the gross receipts to be divided 60 per cent. to the winner and 40 per cent. to the loser. The men to weigh 133 pounds ringside stripped and must weigh in the arena in a room thereof. Bandages not to be placed above the wrist.

Eddie Smith is hereby selected to referee this contest.

The fee for the referee is to be paid out of the gross receipts.

Contestants to submit at all times to the examination of the club's physician, Dr. Plymire, and to weigh in when called upon in the presence of Coffroth for the benefit of the public.

The referee is to follow the articles in the agreement for the last fight between the men in regard to not putting his hands on the contestants in breaking them.

Neither man is to engage in any contest for a decision or otherwise previous to above contest. Both men are to be in the ring at 1:30 p. m. on September 9th.

Each contestant is to deposit $2,500 with John T. Clark for compliance with these articles of agreement. Forfeits to be deposited immediately.

HAWAII YACHT CRUISE OR STEWARD'S REVENGE

Editor Evening Bulletin: Permit me to state that your worthy correspondent, the official logkeeper of the yacht Hawaii on the trip to Hilo and back, omitted several things of more or less importance which happened during the cruise. The official logkeeper, the most important person on board, at least in his own estimation, was the only person with the exception of the cabin-boy, who really took sick. I myself was present when this sad occurrence happened and, strange to say, a few minutes after the official logkeeper had relieved himself of some burdensome ballast, I beheld the most phenomenal sight of my life. A shoal of fish in the wake of the Hawaii, which evidently had been feeding on the ballast just thrown overboard by the official logkeeper, became apparently beery. Otherwise, I noticed that the official logkeeper was not nearly so noisy as on former trips, and actually did some work beside taking in and throwing out ballast, by assisting occasionally in pulling a rope. In time I hope he will become a useful yachtsman. AMATEUR STEWARD.

This is the Steward's revenge for the entry in the log that he was sighting ships while the crew went hungry, too sick to get coffee, but always ready to console the crew with old familiar hymns played on his footitoot-toot.—Editor Bulletin.
