

OVER NINETY YOUNG CONTESTANTS ENTER LIST FOR "BULLETIN" PRIZES

NAMES ARE ANNOUNCED AND RIVALRY FROM START IS KEEN

Instruction and Subscription Blanks Much in Demand Among Contestants

Today you know the names of the popular girls who will enter the Bulletin popularity contest, and when you glance at the list you will read the names of as determined a list as could be picked. The contest will be a warm one.

There are some of the contestants who will learn for the first time today of their entry in the contest. They have been nominated by their friends and will be backed by their friends, and to fulfill the obligations they have to their friends for their interest in them will doubtless run, and run hard to beat, for the prize. The trip to Seattle will be a prize worthy of the race—and the race promises to be worthy of the prize. The five Alaska-Yukon Exposition trips are well worthy of a first prize and will amply compensate the contestants.

As may be seen by the accompanying list of names, there are a number of bright young women entered from every district covered by this contest. The list will probably grow from day to day, and the voting will be greatly increased. Nearly every one has been waiting for the announcement of the names of the candidates and the number of votes accorded each.

Now that they are published, friends and readers of the Bulletin should do all in their power to help the young contestants. Votes came in more rapidly yesterday and today than ever, and by the end of next week the contest may have taken even a more determined grip upon the public interest. Vote often, and keep steadily at it. Those who have already entered the race have started off well, but it is not ended yet, by any means. It has hardly begun.

Subscribe to the Bulletin now and give your votes all to your favorite candidate. If her name is not in the list, enter it. She may win a free trip to one of these popular resorts. It must not be taken for granted that the leaders of today will be the final victors. Not a young woman in the race should feel discouraged because another contestant in her district has a hundred or two more votes than she. The contest has hardly begun and several more weeks remain to bridge the gap which separates the leader from those a little further down the list. A question of a few hundred votes or even a few thousand is nothing.

Nearly all of the young women have been waiting for the announcement of names before doing much in regard to vote-getting. A few, however, have started right in and have gotten quite a number of votes to show for their week's work. Those who are behind a little should take into consideration what they could have done if they had devoted the time to vote-getting the leaders today probably have. The race is not fairly commenced yet, and the whole course is still to cover.

It is a good idea to hold back the votes gotten on subscriptions for a little time before polling. The coupons clipped from the Bulletin are the only ones which must be polled within two weeks, and as a bank account is good for the merchant, so also is a reserve good for the contestants. If the candidates poll all their votes as they go along there will be nothing to draw on in case of emergency, and such things do arise in contests of this character.

Subscription Blanks

Candidates should call on the Contest Manager at once and secure subscription blanks, and there are a number of things he would like to tell you, in regard to the best way of securing votes. Call at once at the Bulletin office.

CHESTER DOYLE BACK WITH ABE

Praises Japan, But Says Hawaii Is the Only Place

"Japan is a new country. She is a great country, and there is no doubt that she will develop immensely in the near future."
Chester A. Doyle, who returned this morning in the China with Abe, the abscorder, from Japan, made the above statement when seen today. Chester is looking well and is glad to get back to Hawaii, where the sun is always bright and the climate genial.
"Japan is all right in everything else but the climate," said Doyle. "It is too cold for me. I am glad to get back to Hawaii. The sunshine here is so bright and the climate so equable that I can say there is no place like Hawaii."
During Doyle's stay in Tokio he was lavishly entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Miki Saito, who are well known in Honolulu, Saito having formerly been Japanese Consul General here. He is now connected with the Immigration Bureau, under the Department of Foreign Affairs. Doyle also visited Shanghai before returning to Hawaii.
Shortly after he landed this morning, Doyle turned his man, Y. Abe, the Japanese abscorder, over to High Sheriff Henry. While in his custody Abe made no trouble for Doyle. Doyle will make a full report to the High Sheriff in a few days. It is expected that Doyle will be entertained by the Japanese Merchants' Association, which partly contributed towards his transportation.

PINKERTON UNKNOWN TO U.S. ATTY BRECKONS

"I know nothing whatever about any Pinkerton detective, alleged to have been here with Mr. Harr," stated United States District Attorney Breckons this morning. "As a matter of fact, I do not think a Pinkerton man was or is here, though I wish that such might have been the truth."
Where Breckons got his exact information as to the existence of the "Twelve-Dollar Club" he will not say, but it is probable that it came from some of the women whom he put through the third degree.

ANOTHER BURGLARY IN HEART OF CITY

Burglar Frightened Away But Leaves Weapon Behind

Another burglary, no report of which has heretofore been made by the police, was perpetrated on the night of Monday, Dec. 21, F. J. Turner of Lewis & Co. being the victim. One pound of butter was taken from the house, which is one of the Peck cottages on Vineyard street, but the most significant feature about the case is that the burglar was evidently prepared to offer violence in case he encountered any opposition this being shown by the fact that he left behind a piece of rubber hose of a description which showed that it was evidently intended for a weapon.
"I think that the burglary must have taken place between the hours of six and nine in the evening," said Turner this morning, "as I and all the other members of my household were down town at that time. The burglar evidently got into the house through the back door, and I think that he must just have entered when my son, who returned to the house at about 9 o'clock, went in through the front door, and was frightened away, making his exit through the back door. He had evidently not gone any further than the kitchen, and all he had taken was a pound of butter. He was apparently quite a dangerous man, for he left behind a short length of rubber hose, much worn at one end, which was used as a handle, the thing being evidently intended for a sort of a club."
A report of the matter was made to the police, but nothing has yet developed.

HONOLULU FUTURE IS THE BRIGHTEST

M. S. Grinbaum Believes in Prospects of This City

"This city has the greatest prospects for the future of any place I know," said M. S. Grinbaum.
"There are great things ahead of Honolulu. It can't be otherwise. The year has been prosperous and there is no danger of any injurious changes in the tariff. Prosperity is the greatest remuneration any town can have. Now all you want is the population, and that will come."
The great German Lloyd steamship company's ships will be calling at this port before very long. They have made connections with the Western Pacific system that should be in San Francisco in about six months and their transportation system will go clear through to the Orient. The ships will stop here. They must stop where there is business.
"There will be great things doing here."

FROM THE OLD WORLD

Mr. Edward M. Langley, the special representative of Nestor Giannalis, the famous cigarette manufacturer of Cairo, Egypt, arrived here on the Korea and is staying at the Moana Hotel. Mr. Langley has been requested by Mons. Nestor Giannalis, to make a report on the climatic conditions of the islands, particularly in regard to packing the celebrated Nestor cigarettes in such a manner as to retain their full Turkish favor, for an indefinite period. It is easy to understand the jealousy with which this brand is guarded, when it is considered that for more than thirty years it has been the leading seller in the European markets and numbers among its patrons many of the royal families throughout Europe. Mons. Giannalis a warm personal friend of the present Khedive of Egypt, started life as a cigarette roller and by his great energy, and conscientious devotion to an industry he loved, succeeded early in life in establishing a business on Nestor cigarettes throughout Europe and the Orient. The factory in Cairo is probably the finest in the world, located as it is in the old Royal Palace and equipped with a modern restaurant and reading room for its hundreds of native employees. The enormous import duty exacted by the United States government on imported cigarettes, together with a general demand from every section of the United States, led to the starting in Boston of a branch of the Cairo establishment which was completed and put in operation three years ago after having been formally blessed by a prayer from the priests of the Greek Ahmet. Mons. Giannalis visited Boston and personally supervised the construction of this factory and leaf vaults, the latter being under ground and probably the only thing of the kind on the American continent.

Change For Men

To be as fat you must have a well defined crease down the side of your trouser leg.
The knife blade crease over the front and back of the knee the full length of the leg no longer suffices. Dame Fashion now decrees that there must be four distinct marks running from hip to shoe on each trouser leg. In other words, to be one of the cut-ups, each leg must look like a quadrangular prism as you walk down the street. To those who stick to the obsolete style of pressing or the still more antique system of the baggy knee and round pin coverings will be sent forth the word by the up-to-the-minute boys: "Chalk up, kid; you're slipping!"

The new fad in pressing, just introduced assumed startling proportions with its birth and now the clothiers are feeling its effect. A suit, otherwise all right, but only pressed in the usual way, must be sent to the tailor to have a crease run down the inside and outside seams of each leg before it is accepted.
Mr. James Dougherty is convalescing at home after his terrible illness. His mother, Mrs. Spear, of San Francisco, is with him.

Mrs. Robert Roberts, the mother of Mr. A. P. Taylor, sailed in the Alameda, after a very pleasant visit here.

Mrs. Kate Haaker of New York arrived on the Korea for a stay in the city.

Mr. R. A. Watson of Philadelphia, Pa., is in Honolulu touring the world.
Dr. Edw. I. Rich and wife of Ogden, Utah, are at the Moana.
Mr. H. A. Pratt of Fresno, Calif., is here with his family.
Mr. J. Hodgkins and wife of Chicago are in town.
Mrs. Ada Long McCortick, daughter of millionaire syrup refiner, to be examined for sanity.
Berkeleyans favor commission form of government and expect new charter to carry.
