

Second Week Of Bargains

The mark-down man is hard at work. Every day of the past week he has been skirmishing through the store for odd lots and broken sizes. Prices fall away to almost nothing under his magic pencil. Cost is ignored; values of such magnitude are created that items advertised will vacate counters and tables at once. Some lots are small. We therefore urge early shopping. Sale begins Monday Morning, Feb. 15th.

SOCIAL CHATTER AND HOME TALK

Dr. and Mrs. J. S. McGrew announce the engagement of their niece, Miss Juanita Letitia Hardaway to Lieut. Phillip Green Wrighton, U. S. A.

The guests at the Macdonald entertained on Thursday evening in honor of Miss Marion Bell and Mr. R. C. Stackpole, who are to be married on Tuesday, February 16. The young couple have both resided at Mrs. Macdonald's for some time and as a token of their esteem their fellow guests presented them with a very handsome silver tea set and two cut glass cruets with best water for their future happiness.

Mrs. Annetta Murphy's valentine dance, which she gave in honor of her daughter Thelma on Friday evening, was attended by a large number of young people, who danced right merrily until a late hour. The drawing rooms were prettily decorated with festoons of hearts entwined amidst the Japanese vine which lends itself so well to a decorative scheme of this nature. From the chandelier to the corners of the rooms the hanging hearts nodded and beckoned to the gay dancers' glances, and it was a charming sight to see so many young and pretty girls, so daintily dressed, all on pleasure bent. The young lads did their duty and there were no wall flowers. The library, hall and dining-room were decorated with large bowls of pink roses, pink carnations and double hibiscus. The dance programs, heart-shaped, were ornamented with valentine language. A delicious supper was served and the hours passed all too quickly. Mrs. Alice Brown presided at the piano and played in her brilliant fashion the dance music dear to everybody. Mrs. Murphy looked handsomely in a black creation, with pink lace, and Miss Thelma Murphy, in a dainty white mull, a la Directoire, was the life of the evening, so contagious was her merry laugh and enthusiasm. Those present were: Misses Margaret Bryan, Rahnild White, Hilma White, Pauline Schaefer, Margaret Wadman, Carol Low, Elizabeth Low, Ruth Soper, Margaret Rostarik, Eileen McCarthy, Madeline Ross, Myrtle Schuman, Louise McCarthy, Ruth McChesney, Gwyneth Pavin, Pearl McCarthy, Martha McChesney, Alice Hastings, Ruth Anderson, Virginia McCarthy, Lillian McChesney, Margaret McCarthy, Juliette Atwater, Helen Spaulding, Esther White, Mary Lucas, Henrietta Smith, Beatrice White, Mmes. Vernon Tenney, Kenneth Reidford, Arthur Gilman, Willard Grace, Charles H. Beck, Howard Grace, James McCandless, Charles Brenham, Carl Schaefer, Alapuekie Smith, Ivan Graham, Charles Lucas, Lester Marks, William Schuman, Alexander Anderson, William Ouderkirch, Allan Renton, Reynold McGrew, August Schaefer, William Harris, Blakely McStocker, Vincent Genoves, Herbert Berg, Donald Ross, Clarence White, Francis Cooper, Harold Hustace.

The Halewa Hotel has just been newly painted and it presents a very neat and attractive appearance to the many townspeople and tourists who patronize it. The Spring rush will find Mr. Bidgood ready to receive all comers with that customary courtesaness for which he is noted. Among those who motored down for a day this week were Mr. and Mrs. Wilcox of Chicago and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Case-Deering of King street.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Lewis expect to occupy the new house in College Hills which is now being built, about August. It is directly opposite the Gartleys and a most desirable residence.

Mrs. D. W. Cooke, who is a guest at the Pleasanton, was one of the guests at the luncheon given by Mrs. W. R. Castle on Thursday in honor of Mrs. Selden Kingsbury.

The Princess Kawannakoa, who has been spending some time in New York at the San Remo, sailed for Europe in the Princess Cecile and will make her headquarters in Paris.

Among the delightful entertainments of the week was the luncheon given on Wednesday by Mrs. W. R. Castle, in honor of Mrs. Selden Kingsbury. The guest-of-honor, who so soon goes to Maui to reside, was charmingly dressed in white embroidered crepe. Violets in large baskets and vases artistically adorned the well-appointed table and violet place cards were given as souvenirs as well as corsage bouquets of the same sweet blossoms. Among those present were Mrs. Walter Frear, wife of the Governor of Hawaii; Mrs. Dunning, wife of the commander of Fort Shafter; Mrs. Wadhams, Mrs. Tenney Peck, Mrs. Fooks, Mrs. Lowrey, Sr., Mrs. Cooke, Mrs. Atkins.

An exceedingly enjoyable evening was spent at the residence of Mr. S. F. Chillingworth last Tuesday by a number of young people, who had dancing and music to their hearts' content. The occasion was the impending departure of Mr. William Chillingworth, formerly of the United States Marshal's staff, for Kahului, where he has accepted a position with the railroad company.

Judge and Mrs. F. M. Hatch, who have been entertaining so extensively in Washington this year, gave a dinner on the 29th at which were present Governor and Mrs. Ide, Representative and Mrs. Bourke Cochran, Representative and Mrs. Dalzell, Representative and Mrs. Weeks, Justice and Mrs. McKenna, Commandant and Mrs. Reamey, Mrs. Talbot, Miss Blanca Cogswell, Miss Harriet Hatch, Mr. Harold Sewall of Bath, Maine, Col. Alexander G. Hawes, American Beauty roses in lavish profusion made the table a dream of beauty. Mrs. Hatch, in a pink satin a la Directoire, looked charming and was as usual perfect hostess.

A drive by moonlight to Fort Shafter is always a delightful experience, and on Wednesday evening, when Major and Mrs. Wadhams entertained at dinner their guests thoroughly enjoyed the cool, bracing air in the clear mountain air. Their dinner guests included Mrs. Atkins, Captain and Mrs. Fay, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Case Deering, Mrs. Alexander G. Hawes Jr., Mr. David Anderson and Mr. John McKinnon.

An item of interest is the following: The engagement is announced of Mrs. Bertha Sidney Smith and Captain Pillsbury of the United States Army.

The table, with its fragrant burden of pink roses in a large silver bowl, the silver candelabra with their wax candles, and the dainty Dutch valentine place cards, as well as the exquisite accessories, made a pleasing picture. Mrs. Wadhams wore one of her French creations and Mrs. Atkins was in an embroidered Swiss mull. The guests played bridge throughout the evening, and the soft glow of many lamps and candles was a most agreeable change from the glowing electric lights, which is at times so necessary but often so unpleasant.

The Morning Music Club, which met on Wednesday at the residence of Mrs. C. S. Weight, was an unusually well-attended affair, and the program, which was a Brahms collection, was listened to with great

Miss Smith is one of three charming sisters, the others being Mrs. Philip Van Horne Lansdale and Miss Helen Sidney Smith, and they have always been hospitable hostesses in their handsome home on Broadway and Webster street. They have recently returned from a trip abroad and spent some time in the East, where this delightful romance culminated. Captain Pillsbury is stationed at West Point, and it is said that the wedding will take place in the spring.—Call.

The Morning Music Club, which met on Wednesday at the residence of Mrs. C. S. Weight, was an unusually well-attended affair, and the program, which was a Brahms collection, was listened to with great Interest. It was as follows: Paper Mrs. Atherton "Allegro from D Major Symphony" Misses Stevens and Rostarik Song, "Gipsy Song" Miss Ward Trio, "Cradle Song" Meadmas Mott Smith, Weight and Miss Schaefer Piano solo, "Scotch Ballad" Mrs. Whitney Songs, "Schelden and Meiden" "In der Felder" Mrs. Constabel Duet, "The Gypsies" Mrs. Herzog and Miss Rostarik Song, "Sapphic Ode" Miss Schaefer Duet, "Hungarian Dance No. 6" Mrs. Mott-Smith and Miss Schaefer

One of the pretty dinners of the week was given on Monday by Mr. and Mrs. Francis Swaney, who entertained in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Cox of Philadelphia and Mrs. Page of San Francisco. Nasturtiums in a large bowl graced the center of the table and monogrammed place cards seated the guests. Those asked to meet the guests of honor were Mr. and Mrs. Goff, Dr. and Mrs. Lauchorne, Miss Jessie Kaufmann, Captain Ross, U. S. N., and Mr. Walter Dillingham. Mrs. Cox, who possesses beauty of an unusual order, wore a French creation of black gauze, and Mrs. Page, a most interesting woman, was also in a handsome black toilette. Mrs. Swaney wore a becoming frock of black and white, Mr. and Mrs. Cox and Mrs. Page sailed for the Volcano on Tuesday. They are guests at the Moana hotel and expect to remain for several weeks.

Mrs. Faxon Bishop gave a luncheon for forty on Wednesday last. Five tables were placed on the lawn under the shadow of the old trees, which are such a feature of the place, and flowers of many choice varieties were on each. The guests enjoyed the entertainment, for although at fresco, the dishes were served piping hot. Among those present were Mrs. C. M. Cooke, Mrs. J. P. Cooke, Mrs. Dunning, Mrs. Wadhams, Mrs. Atkins, Mrs. A. Fuller, Mrs. G. Rodiek, Mrs. Gullek, Mrs. Dowsett, Mrs. W. R. Castle, Mrs. F. A. Schaefer, Mrs. Weight, Mrs. McGrew, Mrs. Kobbaha, Mrs. Tenney Peck, Mrs. Locke, Mrs. Ivers, Sr., Mrs. Waterhouse, Mrs. Dillingham, Mrs. Dole, Mrs. Margaret Walker and many others.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Macfarlane, who always entertain well, gave a dinner on Thursday for Mr. and Mrs. Faxon Bishop. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Swaney, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Tenney, Mr. and Mrs. J. Dowsett, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Isenberg, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Macfarlane, Miss Alice Macfarlane, Miss M. Walker, Mrs. H. Walker.

Civil Engineer and Mrs. Parks entertained this evening at their hotel, the Alexander Young, in honor of Major and Mrs. Long, U. S. M. C., Captain and Mrs. Low, U. S. M. C., Captain and Mrs. Ramsey, U. S. M. C., Lieutenant and Mrs. Farquharson, U. S. M. C., Miss Frear and Captain Rees, Commandant of the Naval Station.

Mr. John Hackfeld was the guest of honor at Rosebank on Monday at a dinner given by Italian Consul and Mrs. F. A. Schaefer. Other guests included Mr. and Mrs. Faxon Bishop, Mr. and Mrs. G. Rodiek, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Isenberg, the Misses Rostarik and Gossamer Cleghorn. Music and fair vocation made the evening most delightful. Miss Schaefer and Mr. Paul Isenberg favored the guests with choice selections.

The Oahu College Glee Clubs will give their concert tonight in Charles R. Bishop Hall at Punalou at 8 o'clock. The program has a pleasing variety of catchy music and local hits, some of which will go down as among the best ever given here. The clubs have been working all the year under Miss Alice Rogers' skillful direction, which assures something worth while. The proceeds go toward supporting student organizations. Tickets will be 75 and 50 cents and may be bought at the door.

Mr. and Mrs. H. von Holt entertained at dinner on Wednesday evening at their residence on Juniper street. Long-stemmed American beauty roses made the table a picture. The guests were the Rev. Mr. Simpson, Mrs. Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. Tenney Peck, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Schaefer, Mrs. Simpson, Judge Lindsay, Mr. and Mrs. von Holt and Mrs. Tenney Peck favored the guests with music during the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Berg entertained at dinner on Thursday last in their usual delightful fashion in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Lawson Brain, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Botwinoy, Miss Gillett and Judge Lindsay.

Mrs. Mist of Manoa entertained at tea on Wednesday afternoon, and Miss Edith Mist help dispense the hospitalities, which is such an agreeable feature of that delightful home.

At Mrs. Tenney Peck's on Thursday there were nearly fifty callers who paid their respects to Mrs. Peck, her mother, as well as her charming self.

Mrs. Lewton-Brain was the hostess of an informal and delightful luncheon on Thursday in honor of Mrs. Caroline Jensen.
