Praise for S. M. Damon

Major S. W. Dunning, 20th U. S. Inf., thinks that if the United States had more public-spirited men like Mr. S. M. Damon of Honolulu, H. I., the regulars and National Guardsmen would fare better in the States. Mr. Damon owns one of the most beautiful pieces of ground near Honolulu, and he has turned it over to the military authorities as a temporary camp for the 20th Infantry and the 1st Regiment, N. G. H. From the site a magnificent view is had of Honolulu and Pearl Harbor. Officers who have visited Hawaii will recognize the place when told that it is on a hill between the Moanalua polo field and golf links, on one side, and the Honolulu plantation on the other. The camp, in honor of the generous donor, was named "Camp S. M. Damon." While any expression of liberality like that of the patriotic Honolulu is always pleasing, we think the camp facilities of States and the Nation should depend not upon this or that person's public spirit, but upon a well-defined plan of providing permanent ground, owned by the authorities, for the use of troops. The development of maneuvers and camp life in the United States makes the possession of permanent territory a necessary adjunct to a successful military system.—Army and Navy Journal.

Long Service

Lieut. Col. Henry B. Moon 20th Inf. who upon his own application has been retired from active duty after more than thirty-two years' service, was born in New Jersey, March 17, 1856, and was graduated from the United States Military Academy in June, 1880, and assigned as a second lieutenant to the 20th Infantry. His first detail after graduation was at Fort Brown, Tex., on frontier duty, and he subsequently served at posts in Kansas and Montana. He reached the grade of captain 20th Infantry, May 31, 1895, and in command of Company B, participated in the Santiago campaign in 1898, being wounded in the right arm and right knee in the battle of Santiago, July 2. His last tour of duty was at Fort Heaton, Montana. He was transferred to the 5th Infantry, April 8, 1901, was promoted major 23d Infantry April 13, 1901, and was transferred to the 10th Infantry May 31 of the same year. He reached the grade of lieutenant colonel December 2, 1906, and was transferred to the 20th Infantry Jan. 26, 1907.

Orders

20th Infantry, Col. M. P. MAUR.—Lieut. Col. Henry B. Moon, 20th Inf., upon his own application is retired from active service, under the provisions of Sec. 1243 R. S., to take effect April 5, 1909, after more than thirty-two years' service. (March 11, W. D.)

5th Cavalry, Col. W. S. Schuyler.—Capt. Charles C. Walcott, Jr., 5th Cavalry, now on leave, will report in person to the Quartermaster General of the Army, for temporary duty in his office for a period of three months, and at the expiration of this period will revert to status of leave. (March 11, W. D.)

VETERAN DIES IN STREET.

Santo Rosa, March 24.—Arthur M. Renshaw, a veteran of the civil war and well known in this State, where he had resided since 1887, dropped dead in the street here this morning while engaged in conversation with a friend. He was 66 years old. With his wife he recently returned from a visit at his old home in Illinois after an absence of 32 years.

WHERE WILL JIM AND JACK FIGHT

If Jeffries should agree to box Johnson, where would the contest take place?

That is what they are asking now. Of all the bids made so far, it is manifest that only two—those of Wren and Mackintosh of Australia—are genuine, and no matter how Johnson feels about it, Jeffries, if his word counts for anything, is fully determined not to fight off the American mainland.

To narrow the field still further, Jeffries for personal reasons will not adorn any ring pitched within the confines of the State of Nevada. And with the gold camp country eliminated it begins to look as if California is the only spot that can offer hospitality to the men of the ring.

During all the time high-falutin' offers were pouring in on the men, it was noticed that Promoter Jim Coffroth held aloof and had nothing to say. Coffroth knows that everything comes to the man who waits, and he feels no doubt that when Johnson and Jeffries have reached the determination to engage in a real fight for real money, they will rely upon him to lead them out of the wilderness of false excitement and bogus bidding.

The latest in the Johnson-Jeffries business is that Jeffries has absolutely refused to discuss the terms of a contest with Jack Johnson. Such being the case, the prospect of a fight between the men begins to appear hopeless.

Jack Johnson paid his first visit to Chicago on March 15 as the champion boxer of the world, and he was feted throughout a day filled with excitement in Chicago's darktown. His every word and move spoke of self-reliance and a firm belief in his ability to master any other boxer in the world.

Regarding himself and retired Champion Jeffries, Johnson was frank. The pith of his remarks were:

"I can lick Jim Jeffries. Jeffries never licked a young man."

"I am the best boxer in the world. I am not only accept challenges, but am making them."

"The man I want is Jim Jeffries."

"I will fight him, winner take all, or any way he wants to split the purse."

"I am going to New York to make him fight or shut up."

"I would much prefer to fight Jeffries in the United States. This country is my home and looks good to me, and I want my countrymen to see me in my championship fight. I have promised Jim Coffroth to fight Jeffries before his club, and will keep my promise if Jeffries will consent. The sooner the better will suit me. I don't believe I shall go to England to fight Sam Langford in May, as was my original intention. I would only get a thousand pounds for the fight, and think there is more money to be had in the United States. And, believe me, I am out for the money."

"I know I can outbox Jeffries; I think I can hit as hard as he can, and I believe I am just as strong. I saw the pictures he posed for in Chicago, and he certainly looks to be in fairly good condition. All of which pleases me. I want to whip him when he is good, not when he's in such shape that everybody will say he is too old and fat to do himself justice. I want to meet a Jeffries who is as nearly as good as the old Jeffries as it is possible for him to get."
