IN BUSINESS CIRCLES

Purchase of $300,000 of Territorial 3 1/2 per cent bonds at $98.50 by the Bank of Hawaii has been quite the most important transaction of the week. The public has had its attention drawn especially to the favorable condition of affairs that puts local capital in the field for Territorial bonds, heretofore sold on the New York market. There is another side to it not generally dwelt upon but by no means the least significant. These bonds are attractive to any local bank at the present time, as they are accepted as security for the deposits of Territorial funds as provided under the depositary law enacted by the last Legislature. These bonds, bearing 3 1/2 per cent, may be offered as security for Territorial deposits on which the banks pay two per cent. It is a one and one-half per cent gain for the banks, but at the same time the Territory has made a very good market for its own bonds hitherto sold abroad.

Financial and business conditions generally have been quiet the past week. Compared with last year the town is remarkably active in all lines of trade and finance. It is not possible, however, to accept last year as a fair basis of comparison. The town has gone ahead so fast and conditions are changing so rapidly for the better that many people are not satisfied unless each month is better than the last. A tremendous amount of business is being done in all lines. The past week has been somewhat of a resting spell.

New work, extension, expansion, are going on everywhere. The latest move in this direction is the final settlement of the extension of the Rapid Transit line to Pearl Harbor. As announced exclusively in the Bulletin of Friday, all the difficulties of right-of-way have been cleared up and the company is so well assured of its program that Manager Ballentyne has placed the order for the material. This is very important to Honolulu for many reasons. It will give rapid and inexpensive transportation to the headquarters of the Pearl Harbor operations, direct from the doors of the Honolulu resident. The Oahu Railway will undoubtedly run to the naval station and at low a rate, but with the passenger traffic the convenient trolley that stops anywhere is always popular. Greater Honolulu is a phrase that will express a reality in a very short while. Work on the Rapid Transit extension will probably begin in September.

The construction of the Rapid Transit line will furnish work for a large number of citizen laborers. The extension of the Oahu Railway, though merely an incident to the line which now runs almost to the Naval Station, will be accompanied by improvements to meet competition and better accommodate the public.

Start on the construction of the Pearl Harbor dock is a matter of comparatively few weeks. This will bring a large amount of new business to the town. Moving forward at the same time will be the new camp for the Coast Artillery at Fort Ruger (Diamond Head). If the department can ever decide on a site, the construction of the permanent Litchuan Cavalry post will be pressed forward. Fort Shafter is constantly undergoing some improvement. Construction will proceed rapidly at Fort de Russey (Waikiki) and will be more in evidence when the swamps are filled in.

In addition to what the Army and Navy are doing, the Lighthouse work is a very considerable item both in new construction and maintenance. All these things weigh on the right side in the balance of prosperity. In addition to the construction force that calls for large monthly expenditures for labor and material, the navy and military distribute at least $50,000 a month in payrolls.

While all this is going on, to say that Honolulu is quiet, merely expresses a relative condition. It is indeed quiet to what it will be when the construction at the Naval Station, Litchuan Barracks and Fort de Russey, is in full swing.

The stock market has also been quiet, but firm and almost invariably advancing. On Thursday the market showed signs of real weakness. Many of the brokers had selling orders, but no one would sell at a sacrifice, so there were no sales and the next day the whole list came back to its old vigorous condition. Oahu furnished the center of action, running the whole list of fractions between 29 and 30. Hawaiian Commercial is very strong at a fraction above 31. Waihua has made a sharp advance on orders at $95 quite a block selling at that figure on the Board Friday. Though the Waihua dividend may not be increased, many of the stockholders are confidently expecting an extra of one per cent unless it appears necessary for all the plantations to reserve their surplus for strike funds. This at present seems improbable. Pioneer sold at 170 the latter part of the week. The new stock of the Inter-Island sold at 107.50. Honokaa has shown strength at 17. Wailuku sold Friday at 257.50. McBryde has sold during the week at 2.87 1/2 and 4.

On the dividend list for the 15th there appeared an extra 1 per cent of $20,000 for the stockholders. This is the only extra of the month.

Crop conditions, speaking generally, are very satisfactory. Of the crop now coming off about 250,000 tons of that handled by the Sugar Factors has been landed at the market or is on the way, and about 190,000 tons remains to be shipped. The price has been remarkably steady for this time of year and for the season thus far has averaged about 3.85 cents. Not for years has there been such a steady market for centrifugals and the last two weeks the London market has varied only between 10s. 6d. and 10s. 5 1/2d.

The July rains have been very favorable for the 1910 crop and also for late planting.

July rains can hardly be charged up as good for the tourist crop but nevertheless Secretary Wood of the Promotion Committee reports that this is the most successful tourist summer Honolulu has ever known. Many teachers are visiting the islands and not a few business men. One prominent business man of the east was bemoaning the fact that business and pleasure took him in this direction, as he expected a hot summer. He is most enthusiastic in his praise of Honolulu as a summer resort.

Good promotion work has been done by the various delegations that have gone out from the city to mainland conventions, and the Hawaii building is the center of enthusiastic crowds at the Alaska-Yukon Fair. At home the Promotion Committee is shaping up plans for island tours, many of which will be taken advantage of by our own people as well as the visitors from the mainland.

Real estate is quiet except that good rentals are still in demand. There are occasional sales of homes.

The strike is a constantly weakening quantity as the workers become better acquainted with facts. The most impressive features of the last week are the developments which show the High Wage organization to have been built up on lines that are a menace to the Government of the Territory. The disclosures have brought to public notice a complete system of passes, guards and pickets to control the acts of Japanese and check their movements, always under orders of the officers of the High Wage Association.

In line with this arrogant attitude toward the law of the Territory and the officers of the law was the outbreak at Waimanalo plantation where a crowd of Japanese prevented the Sheriff of the County from taking men whom he had arrested for assaulting a Japanese who took an opposite view from the gang demanding that Manager Chalmers discharge three of his men. Additional officers from Honolulu brought the Japanese to their senses and the rioters to Honolulu. All the plantation labor quit work for a day and then returned and work proceeded as usual. The five who assaulted the Japanese, were sent to jail for six and five months, and are serving their terms. Those who resisted the officer are being defended by the attorney for the High Wage Association.

One of the results of the strike will be a great loss of trade not only to the small Japanese merchant, but to the Japanese wholesaler who has hitherto had the trade of the large sugar agencies. These agencies will hereafter buy direct from Japan.

All ordinary signs point to a resumption of normal conditions in the labor market, but no one is taking anything for granted after the game the Japanese have played the last three months. Meanwhile two thousand odd strike breakers are going to the Oahu and Alea plantations from Honolulu each day and $3000 or more is going into circulation each evening, a very large share of it to citizen labor.

Francis B. Munroe, formerly of State street, Boston, Mass., has joined the ranks of local real estate men. Mr. Munroe brings as part of his business equipment a great many years of experience in handling all classes of real estate. He has placed large tracts of land on the Eastern markets and lately has been in a number of successful land deals in Berkeley, Alameda and Oakland. Mr. Munroe's ad will be found in another column and he will be pleased to welcome Honolulu people in his office at 548 Kaahumanu street.

Despicable Attempt of Burglary At Mrs. Miller's

A despicable attempt at burglary was made last night at the residence of Mrs. E. J. Miller, 1141 Beretania street, shortly before 11 o'clock. Mrs. Miller was aroused from sleep by screams emanating from her daughter's room and immediately rushed to her assistance and found her struggling in the arms of a man.

On her entrance the burglar managed to escape from the daughter's hold, but was immediately grabbed by Mrs. Miller, who at the same time called for assistance. Just as help was at hand he managed to struggle free, and jumping through the window, escaped in the darkness. The police were communicated with, and on investigation it was seen that the burglar had gained access to the room by means of a wash board propped up against the wall.

STRIKERS HONORED

Tired of waiting for so many unprofitable promises, fifteen Japanese strikers left for Japan this morning on the steamship Asia, which sailed at 10 o'clock from the Hackfeld wharf. Some of the strikers, it is said, were leaders, and on that account a large number of the strikers were present at the wharf.

The Japanese sampans docked near the Mauna Kea and Mauna Loa wharves were decorated in honor of the homeward-bound strikers.

What a grand family medicine Ayer's Sarsaparilla is! Good for the child, good for the parent, good for the grandparent. Generation after generation has used it. And to-day it is the one great family medicine the world over. Always keep a bottle of it in the house. Sometimes during the year some member of the family will certainly need it. You can surely trust a medicine that has been used for over sixty years. Tested and tried, and never found wanting.

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

WASHINGTON AS A MASON

The initiation of President-elect Taft to the Masonic fraternity near the anniversary of the birth of Washington brings to mind the fact that "The Father of his Country" was from early manhood affiliated with Masonry and was an everfaithful and consistent worker in the order.

Washington's Masonic career began on Nov. 4, 1752, when he was initiated into the Fredericksburg lodge of Fredricksburg, Va., at the age of but 21 years. This lodge, so far as can be learned, was working under the authority of a grand lodge of Scotland which permitted its subordinate lodge to receive candidates before they attained their majority. He became "fellow craft" on March 3, 1753, and was raised a Master Mason on Aug. 4, 1753.

Washington's concept of Masonry may be learned from a letter written by him at a later period in his life in which he expressed these sentiments: "Being persuaded that a just application of the principles on which the Masonic fraternity is founded must be promotive of virtue and public prosperity, I shall always be happy to advance the interests of the society and be considered by them a deserving brother."

During the time that General Washington was in command of the army and the years following he was made an honorary member of several Masonic lodges and was a constant attendant at the meetings held by the army lodges, or traveling lodges, as they were called at that time.

His presence at these meetings has been authenticated, and indeed it has been said that a past grand master of the grand lodge of Massachusetts gained his first desire to become a member of the Masonic fraternity by having seen the commander-in-chief of the continental army attending a lodge meeting over which a sergeant was presiding as worshipful master.

From the signing of the treaty of peace on Sept. 3, 1783, until 1789 Washington was in private life at his beautiful estate on the Potomac. In 1788 Alexandria lodge No. 39 of Alexandria, Va., petitioned the grand lodge of Virginia for a charter, which was granted, and the new lodge became Alexandria lodge No. 22, with General Washington as its first master. In after years this lodge changed its name to Alexandria Washington lodge No. 23 in honor of its eminent first chief officer.

When Washington was inaugurated as first President of the United States, on April 30, 1789, the oath of office was administered to him by Chancellor Livingston of New York, who was the grand master of the grand lodge of the state of New York. The Bible on which the hand of the first President rested during this historic ceremony was the property of St. John's lodge of the city of New York, and is now considered one of the most valuable Masonic relics in the country.
