EVENING BULLETIN

3:30 EDITION

Not a class publication, but a newspaper for everyone

Advertising is the modern armor of the business man; it is a shield against competition. The Bulletin is the shield of the Honolulu business man, because it covers the Islands more thoroughly than any other paper published.

ESTABLISHED 1892. NO. 4569.

16 PAGES.—HONOLULU, TERRITORY OF HAWAII, SATURDAY, MARCH 5, 1910.—16 PAGES.

PRICE 5 CENTS.

AGAINST STRIKERS

200,000 MEN IN LINE

PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 5.—Strike leaders participated in a monster parade today, in which all the labor unions of the city were represented. All along the line of march the parade was vociferously cheered. It is claimed by the unions that seventy-five thousand men were in line. As the marchers proceeded, they were joined by others from the street, until the director of public safety estimated the people in line at 200,000.

Sixty-two Men Buried Alive

VANCOUVER, B. C., Mar. 5.—Sixty-two workmen were buried alive today on the line of the Canadian-Pacific Railway. The men were clearing the track at Rogers Pass when, without warning, an avalanche of snow and earth swept down upon them and buried them from sight.

Actor James Is Dead

HELENA, Mont., Mar. 5.—Louis James, the famous Shakespearean actor, died here today from heart failure.

HE CAN'T TRAVEL BY BRITISH LINE

But Spencer Will Get Out On American Ship Korea

"I arrived here on November 13 by the Marama, from Vancouver; my ticket called for a return in four months. I intended to return by the Maitai, which sailed Thursday evening. I was unable to do so, as there was no accommodation." So stated L. W. Spencer of Walla Walla, Wash., this morning to a Bulletin representative.

Mr. Spencer does not understand why he has been unable to leave Honolulu, but has been obliged to have his ticket canceled and forced to purchase another by the Korea, sailing next Monday. The Maitai is a British boat, and in no way affected by American laws. The Korea is an American steamship.

"I have been several times to see the agents of this Canadian line about my return passage. The agents have invariably told me that there was no accommodation for me. On one occasion they said, 'We have no room for you on any of our boats, so here is your money back.'" Mr. Spencer stated that they gave him $55.

"I have now been forced to take a passage on the Korea, which has cost me $75, or $20 more than my return ticket called for by the Maitai. In addition, I am out $30, the cost of a railway ticket from San Francisco to Walla Walla, and, besides, I have my board and room to pay for, for all the days I spend in this city over and above the time stipulated in my ticket.

"I went four or five times to see the agents of this Canadian line, but

C. M. COOKE, LTD., BUYS FISHER BLOCK

Another deal in down town real estate has been practically completed and the final papers will pass today or Monday. C. M. Cooke Ltd., has purchased the block on Fort street generally known as the Fisher block just below the Catholic Convent. The price is reported to be $10,500. This is the second purchase by the Cooke estate of business property in upper Fort street.

MORE STEAMERS FOR LOCAL SERVICE

Steam Schooner Being Refitted At Portland

Who are the purchasers of the steam schooner Washington now being repaired by the Albina Machine Works of Portland, Oregon, which vessel is declared by shipping authorities on the coast, as being prepared for service in the Hawaiian coasting trade?

The Portland Telegram states in a recent issue that the steam schooner Washington has been purchased by the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company of Honolulu.

Manager J. A. Kennedy, smilingly but nevertheless firmly denied the story when it was shown to him by a Bulletin representative this morning. "We have at present time all the tonnage necessary to move island freights," insisted Manager Kennedy and the statement that we have purchased the Washington is certainly news to me.

In announcing the sale of the Washington to the Inter-Island Company the Portland paper goes on to say that the Washington will leave for the Hawaiian Islands as soon as she has been placed in good seaworthy condition. The craft belonged to the Washington Marine Company of Seattle, of which C. E. Fowler is president and general manager. Mr. Fowler spent the greater part of last week in Portland, when the sale was under way.

The Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company recently purchased the steam schooner Cascade from Charles R. McCormick & Co. It is stated that both she and the Washington will be operated in the Hawaiian island coast trade, transporting sugar from the various ports to Honolulu, where the shipments will be placed aboard the steamers of the Matson Navigation

New Steamship Line Is Now Predicted

Service May Be Inaugurated Between British Columbia and Colonial Ports —Makura Arrives

There is a possibility of either another steamship service being inaugurated between British Columbian sea ports and Australia and New Zealand or the addition of steamers to the present line of vessels plying between the Canadian Northwest and the Colonies according to the story brought to Honolulu today by the Canadian-Australian liner Makura, which arrived at Alakea wharf at eleven o'clock this morning.

It is understood that the Ottawa government will soon subsidize a company which will operate a line of steamers between Canadian and Australian and New Zealand ports. It is contended that at the present time several million dollars worth of Canadian exports leave by the way of New York which might be diverted to the west coast of America and an influential deputation is said to have appealed to the Canadian government to ask that steps be taken to give Northwest shippers a more direct service. The Makura sailed from Vancouver

CONVICTION UPHELD BY SUPREME COURT

MAKINO, NEGORO, SOGA, TASAKA GUILTY

In an exhaustive decision handed down this morning, the Supreme Court of the Territory upheld in every particular the conviction of the Japanese strike conspirators in the Circuit Court, and under which four of them—Y. Soga, Y. Tasaka, M. Negoro and F. K. Makino—were sentenced to ten months' imprisonment and a fine of $300.

The opinion of the court was written by Chief Justice Hartwell. The evidence presented before Judge De Bolt in the lower court is considered at great length, and the verdict of conviction and the proceeding during the course of the trial are fully sustained. Associate Justice De Bolt of the Supreme Court was disqualified from sitting on the case, the trial of the Japanese having been conducted before him while first judge of the Circuit Court.

The decision holds that the mutual undertaking upon the part of the defendants and their associates to intimidate Japanese plantation laborers who did not wish to strike for higher wages or who should elect to return to work, is plainly punishable as the crime of conspiracy. The decision of the Supreme Court also holds that the attempt to arouse discontent among the Japanese laborers by speeches and newspaper articles tending to incite acts of violence may be inferred from the evidence of this nature presented at the trial of the four defendants in the Circuit Court. The court also and carry out their plans at any cost, can be inferred from their conduct during the course of the strike, and their relations with each other with reference to the common object of upsetting labor conditions and arousing the Japanese to disorder and violence.

The Nippu Jiji. The incendiary articles that appeared in the Nippu Jiji during the course of the strike, and which were introduced in evidence as tending to show the threats and intimidations of the defendants, are held by the decision of the Supreme Court to have a direct bearing.

"The intention of newspaper articles to incite to criminal acts of violence by threats and intimidation may be inferred from their nature and the fact that such acts followed their publication tends to show that the language used in them was susceptible of such meaning in the minds of those whom they were intended to reach," is the syllabus of the decision bearing upon the influence of the Nippu Jiji in the work of the strikers and their leaders.

Referring to the seizure of incriminating papers from the office of Makino, the Supreme Court holds the intimidation those disagreeing with them

Washington came into conspicuous public notice by the assassination of a room. He was the only occupant of the steamer and the murder occurred in broad daylight. The assassin has never been apprehended. A suspect made good his escape out of the state when apparently surrounded by police officers and detectives. No trace of him has been heard of since a short time after the tragedy.

MAN WITH D.T'S CAUSES SCARE

New Arrival Sees All Kinds Of Blue Snakes

This morning when Mrs. Heine, who runs the Fort street boarding house, knocked softly at the door of a lodger named H. R. S., she was astounded to hear a blood curdling yell from within the room.

Being naturally of a fearless nature, Mrs. Heine opened the door and walked into the room. H. R. S. was cuddled up in bed and grasped in his right hand was a carving knife. As soon as the landlady appeared on the scene, Smith announced his huge delight at seeing her as he had been waiting for some one to carve for some time.

Then ensued an exciting foot hunt all over the room and had Smith been a little more feet of foot, there might have been murder done. However, Mrs. Heine got out of the room some how and just as she slammed the door she heard Smith yell: "Well, I'll do it now anyhow."

This remark was taken to mean that the excitable gentleman intended to commit suicide, so the police station was quickly communicated with and three officers hurried to the rescue.

Upon arrival at the house, the officers listened to Smith's lurid remarks for some time, and then bursting open the door, were on top of him before he knew what had happened. The struggle was brief, and before long Smith was landed in the police station where he was charged as being insane.

Smith has only been in the country a short time and has been drinking heavily. "D. T.s" about expresses the trouble with the man and he probably will be alright in a day or so.

PROMOTIONISTS JOIN IN PLEA FOR LIFTING COASTWISE LAWS

WHEREAS, The Hawaii Promotion Committee, representing the Honolulu Chamber of Commerce, the Honolulu Merchants' Association, and the City and County of Honolulu in the work of advertising Hawaii as a Tourist Resort, is firmly convinced by a careful study of travel conditions covering a long period, and by a census of the population which has been widely spread throughout the United States, that many people have been and are being prevented from visiting Honolulu by the inability to secure steamship accommodation on vessel now permitted to carry passengers between the Mainland and Honolulu and

WHEREAS, At the present time much Honolulu travel is diverted from American to Canadian ports, and in our opinion, suspension of will in the long run, build up and strengthen American shipping interests on the Pacific.

We respectfully urge the temporary suspension of the present Coastwise Shipping Law, in so far as it relates to the carrying of passengers between Hawaii and the Mainland.

BE IT RESOLVED, That this resolution be cable in full to the Legislature of the Territory of Hawaii.

The foregoing is the resolution unanimously adopted at a special meeting of the Hawaii Promotion Committee held today and cable in full to Delegate Kahanianoa.

NEW BUILDINGS AT COUNTY PRISON

Jailer and Deputy Will Soon Be At Home

Down at the county prison important improvements and additions are being made under the able supervision of Jailer Asch. Without any help in the way of labor from the outside, the prisoners have erected several neat buildings which are a credit to the county.

The first task was the building of a hospital and dispensary, and last week the finishing touches were put on those very necessary houses. The hospital is a fine roomy building and has accommodations for nine beds. Electric light is provided and the beds that have been installed are very comfortable ones.

There is a bathroom and toilet leading off the main room, and the dispensary is at the Ewa end of the

On Tai Declares He Was Misled By Breckons

Attorney Makes Motion To Quash The Indictment Returned By Federal Grand Jury

Carl On Tai declared upon the witness stand in the United States District Court this morning that the admissions that were secured from him by United States District Attorney Berckons before the Federal Grand Jury were obtained under duress and that he was not given a fair opportunity to controvert the allegations that he was called upon the face.

POSTAL SAVINGS BILL

WASHINGTON, D. C., Mar. 5.—The Senate today passed the postal savings bank bill by a strict party vote.

Under the terms of this bill any person over ten years of age may make deposits, savings stamps being used until the minimum amount of $1 is reached. No person may deposit over $100 in a single month, or to exceed $500 in all, and the uniform rate of interest will be two percent, credited annually. President Taft has expressed the opinion that fully a billion dollars now held in private hands will be entrusted to the government, enabling the latter to redeem the $600,000,000 two percent bonds now outstanding and maintained at par with great difficulty.

Garfield Is On Stand

WASHINGTON, D. C., Mar. 5.—Gifford Pinchot, while giving testimony before the Ballinger investigating committee today, again admitted that he knew nothing of his own knowledge of any act of Secretary Ballinger reflecting on his integrity.

Sentiment On Subsidy

WASHINGTON, D. C., Mar. 5.—Stenerson of Minnesota today showed the House Committee on Judiciary letters from voters all over the country, which he declared indicated that all opponents of the ship subsidy would be defeated for reelection.
