"HEIR TO HOORAH" IS FIRST NIGHT SUCCESS

The Henry McRae Stock Company gave its initial production at the Opera House Saturday evening under conditions that assure it the undivided support of the Honolulu public during the twelve weeks engagement of the company in Hawaii.

"The Heir to the Hoorah" was the opening performance that introduced the McRae Company to Honolulu and although the members had hardly recovered from the effects of their long sea voyage, the "first night" of the company in Honolulu showed that its reputation as a first class stock company has been well earned and deserved.

Miss Margaret Oswald, the leading lady of the company, did not have much opportunity to show her abilities as an artist of the first rank but the other plays that are to be given by the Henry McRae Stock Company while here will undoubtedly own, largely by their success to the captivating leading lady.

Henry McRae gave a convincing interpretation of Joe Lacey, the rough and wealthy miner who wins back the love of his wife and escapes from the domination of his mother-in-law at the same time.

He made a distinct impression with the audience Saturday night and showed himself to be a convincing actor of resource and ability.

Laura Hudson is an actress of attractive personality and her work as Kate Brandon Saturday night made an excellent impression with her audience. Laura Melrose, the character woman, showed herself to be an actress of more than ordinary ability.

Edith Elliott, the ingenue of the company, scored one of the triumphs of the first night, and will have many opportunities to display her fascinating talents in the good things that are to come.

Like the women of the company, the men are exceptionally good. Lewis Morrison and Griffith Wray made most of their parts and Charles Royal as the light comedian drew many a laugh from the audience and in the role of the embarrassed lover was a success in every way.

Ivan Miller as a near villain did not have much chance in the "Heir to the Hoorah" but his talents were indicated plainly enough to expect much of him in the future.

The house was sold out Saturday night and there is every indication that the McRae Company will have a successful season.

"The Heir to the Hoorah" will be repeated tonight and tomorrow night and will be followed by "In the Bishop's Carriage."

The cast Saturday night was as follows:

Morris—An imported butler.....

Henry Alexander.....

Hush—Joe's Jap.....Mr. Elmo Kiato

Mrs. H. J. L. Kent—A mother-in-law.....

Mrs. Joe Lacey—(Her daughter).....

H. Van Rensselaer Kelly—A foreman for Joe from the East.....

Griffith Wray.....

Kelly, from the East.....

Ivan Miller.....

Bill Ferguson—Half owner of the Kaitidid Mine.....

James Dillon.....

Low Perry—Owner of the other half of the same mine.....

William Harris.....

Madge Casey—Maiden aunt of the Lacey's.....

Edith Elliott.....

Dr. Whipple—A physician.....

Johnson—A trained nurse.....

Julia Harned.....

The work on the new extension of the Hilo railroad to Hakalau is going along very rapidly and with a steady and uninterrupted progress. Very little difficulty is being found in obtaining rights of way and most of them at reasonable figures. No engineering problems have come up other than those which were looked forward to.
