Andrade's Check Now Figuring PORTUGAL'S

District Magistrate Named In new Republic of Portugal, Connection With Police Court Developments

District Magistrate Andrade was called by the Territorial grand jury this afternoon, going before the inquisitors who are probing the police court fund scandal shortly after 2 o'clock. Andrade was still with the grand jury at 2:30 and was apparently making a lengthy statement in connection with the investigation that has been instituted, following the arrest of Henry Clark on a charge of embezzlement. Ben Zablau was in the grand jury room for a few minutes, but was told to be ready to return before the jurymen any time this afternoon.

STRAIGHT TICKET TALKS

By E. Faxon Bishop.

"A vote for the straight Republican ticket is a vote to continue prosperity in these Islands, prosperity for all classes. A vote for the Democratic ticket is a vote for a ticket named by a boss, ruled by a boss, and that, if elected, will be used by a boss. A Republican vote is a vote for representative government as against bossism; it is a vote against a machine that dominates the mayor's, sheriff's and treasurer's offices in this

"From the standpoint of the conservative business man who is interested in the industries of this Territory the only way to vote is straight Republican. Every vote for Jarrett or Trent or Fern is really a vote for Boss McCandless either now or two years hence. No sane business man can afford to split his ticket this year. His own welfare is at

"A straight, clean fight as between bona-fide political parties always carries with it the constitutional right of every citizen to follow the standard of his choice, but my contention is that the Democratic Standard in the present campaign is not in evidence; it has been converted into a standard of an individual, of McCandless, and is not representative of a bona-fide party. It is his ticket, his candidates, and his mastership of the whole caboodle that follow him—even Deacon Trent, whom the community had a right to believe had character enough to stand for proper motives in campaign methods—vet it seems that the "Boss" is dic'ator of all that are on the so-called ticket of the Democratic party, heided by a bolting Republican whose arrogant attempt to run the whole show did not work on the Republican side of the House, and resulted in his going over to the other side, where it appears that he has only to bid and the rest of them do his bidding.

This being the case, what else is there for a self-respecting citizer to do but to make a straight fight against bossism, and straight fight and straight ticket are one and the same."
