BRITISH ESTIMATE OF "OUR TEDDY."

When "Teddy" was in London recently he must have added to the opinion previously held in that quarter of the globe regarding his sayings and doings. Note below what the London Daily Chronicle has to say in that respect:

Mr. Roosevelt writes on asbestos with a red-hot pen dipped in liquid lava. Only a literary partnership between the Prophet Isaiah and the Prophet Jeremiah could rival the ex-President's burning words. Those who differ from Mr. Roosevelt are not mistaken; according to him they are infamous. I differ from Mr. Roosevelt, but an unconscious of infamy. The writer of the Outlook article has none of the niceness of mental balance which gives the double-edge of wisdom. But it may be admitted that the dogmatic method is not only the right way but the only way to teach children. When the dogmatist is inspired, the dogma true, and all opponents children there is no doubt that Mr. Roosevelt's method is infallible. His article will be followed by an immediate increase in the size of the families of the fit among the English-speaking people of the world if he is infallible. Unfortunately, the inveterate antipathy of mankind to being sworn at in sermons by good men militates against the prospects of the propaganda that it is the duty of all fit parents to produce and bring up a family of not less than four children.
