ROOSEVELT GIVEN BODY BLOW BY NORTH DAKOTA'S UNMISTAKABLE STAND FOR SENATOR LA FOLLETTE

Teddy Can't Explain Away the Cold Fact of the Vote.

WISCONSIN MAN GETS HEALTH WITH VICTORY

Militant Progressive Bitter Now in Hatred of Colonel's Desertion.

BY C. S. ALBERT.
(Special Bulletin Correspondence.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Mar. 22.—The body blow given Colonel Roosevelt when Senator La Follette carried North Dakota on the basis of a two to one vote, has served to put further straws in his Presidential boom and make its collapse in the near future seem more certain. The colonel's friends and admirers were looking forward to the primaries in North Dakota with high hopes and great expectations. They believed his candidacy would be given such an impetus as to indicate the accomplishment of Mr. Taft's defeat. This faith was not shaken by Mr. La Follette's whirlwind tour of the State, when he arose from a sick bed and took the stump, accompanied by his wife and a trained nurse. It was only the actual counting of noses that cast gloom and despondency upon the colonel's advisers and supporters.

reference in North Dakota almost restored Senator La Follette to complete health. He returned to this city flushed with triumph and full of plans for an aggressive campaign. He planned to soon start on an extensive speaking tour, during which he will perform the double duty of making friends for himself and throwing bricks at Roosevelt. He determined to confine his exertions to such States as have Presidential preference primary laws. This means that he will hold forth in California, Oregon, Wisconsin, New Jersey, Nebraska and Washington. It is his hope in each of these States to either capture the delegates to the Chicago convention for himself or throw them from Roosevelt to some other candidate, even if it be Mr. Taft. Mr. La Follette has become vicious in his hatred of Roosevelt and will stop at nothing legitimate to punish him for what he calls political treason and treachery.

using precisely the best campaign material to make sure the nomination of President Taft, but he is also arousing passions that will make difficult the bringing together of the Republican party for the November elections. Democrats view it all with glee and renewed hope.

The President hopes that by pursuing a dignified course, by refraining from adding fuel to the fires that are starting, he will be able, between June and November, to reunite the discarded elements of his party. He feels that he can overlook unfair and unjust treatment from the ex-President as to his attitude on popular government, sure that the intelligence of the people will ultimately and clearly discriminate as to the positions of himself and his predecessor.

Colonel Roosevelt's supporters are claiming that the result of the primaries in North Dakota, under which the State will send a delegation to the Republican national convention instructed for La Follette, is a body blow for President Taft and his political friends. They claim, too, that the North Dakota delegates will swing to Roosevelt as soon as it becomes evident at the convention that La Follette can not be nominated, for, says Senator Dixon, director of the national Roosevelt bureau, "the ten delegates elected to the convention are first, last and all the time anti-Taft."

From the Taft headquarters, on the other hand, comes the statement that the primaries in North Dakota proved conclusively the contentions of President Taft that a State law for such primaries, specifically guarded by all the necessary machinery, is absolutely necessary unless "soap-box" primary rules are to prevail and the content for the Republican nomination for President is to degenerate into a national scandal.

That La Follette is the only Republican candidate for the presidency who has any real "popular strength" is the contention of the supporters of the Wisconsin Senator, contained in a statement issued by his campaign committee here, following the announcement of the primary results in North Dakota. They declare that Colonel Roosevelt's candidacy is being supported by an "unholy alliance of enthusiasts and standpaters," and that the people have seen through this alliance. They predict victory in all other progressive States.

Amusement Created.
Considerable amusement has been created here by the fact that while the Republican cause in North Dakota were selecting Mr. La Follette as their preference for President, the Democrats conferred the same honor on Governor John Burke of that State. He had no opposition and will receive the votes of the North Dakota delegation in the Baltimore convention. The merriment was occasioned by the statement that Mr. Burke is ineligible for the Presidency and could not serve if elected, having been born abroad.

Governor Tom Marshall of Indiana has also been given a "favorite son" endorsement. He will receive the votes of the Hoosier State in the Baltimore convention, although this will necessarily be merely complimentary, as Governor Marshall has not made much progress in the direction of picking up delegates in other States and will not have any material showing when the convention assembles.

CLUB OF MANIAC MEANT FOR COLONEL

Roosevelt Saved From Attack By Fact That Train Did Not Pass Waukesha.

WAUKESHA, Wis., Mar. 21.—Colonel Roosevelt was saved from an attempt by a murderous maniac Saturday by the sole fact that the train he took in passing through Wisconsin did not go through this city.

This was the statement made today in the county jail by Charles Schomella, the crazed Pole who tried to attack Senator Gore with a club during the Wilson meeting Saturday. Schomella was slightly more rational today than was the case Saturday, though he is still possessed of the delusion that he has a mission to kill.

In incoherent mutterings he told the jail authorities that he supposed Roosevelt was to pass through Waukesha and speak there. When he went to the Gore meeting in the afternoon he supposed he was going to have a chance to club the colonel, and not until he reached there and saw a different man on the platform did he know that he had been mistaken.

He says that devils told Roosevelt of his plan and that Senator Gore, whose identity he does not seem to realize, was sent to take Roosevelt's place. The man became insane from a blow on the head when digging a sewer.

PROSSER AND THE PEANUTS

Attorney F. M. Prosser had a great liking for peanuts although this is not generally known to the delegates in the convention. It took a newspaper boy to instinctively discover the weakness of the big attorney.

"Here, boy," cried Prosser, "run out and get me a packet of pins so that we can pin the rules together."

The boy went, and after a hunt round town returned. "Here you are, sir," he said, and then wondered why the attorney's eyebrows came together with such a snap and the other people on the stage laughed so heartily.

The kid had brought in a packet of peanuts and the joke was on the attorney.

For news and the truth about it all people buy the Bulletin.
