

Aut inveniam viam, aut faciam.

CURRENT TOPICS.

St. Louis will soon have a twelve-story building. Of the 5,000 school teachers in Nebraska 4,000 are women.

The plumber looks on a cold snap as a soft snap for him.

There are six murderers under sentence of death in New York.

Moody and Sankey are in Montreal holding a big revival meeting.

The South gets twenty-five out of the forty-eight chairmanships.

Bismarck maligns newspaper men by calling them the "reptile press."

The Boston Cooking School has had six men as pupils during the year.

The United States has three times as many telephones as all Europe.

Wooden telegraph poles in Canada are being replaced by poles of metal.

There are thirty-five journalists in the new British House of Parliament.

Boston erected eight million dollars worth of new buildings last year.

M. Floquet has been re-elected President of the French Chamber of Deputies.

Mr. Gladstone receives one hundred letters a day, Sunday not excepted.

It cost Mr. Pratt $1,038,383.50 to found a book free library in Baltimore.

A Denver man drives a team of elk capable of going one hundred miles a day.

The guards at the tomb of the late President Garfield will be withdrawn at an early day.

A Roman paper estimates the number of Catholics in the world at three hundred million.

The agent of the Passamaquoddy Indians, of Maine, reports their number at 311, all farmers.

It is announced that the Salvation Army is to make a raid on the colored people of the South.

In 1877 there were 790 telephones in use in this country, and last February there were 325,000.

When the mercury in the thermometer hangs the bottom it maketh the heart of the plumber glad.

Marble recently found in Jayo County, Cal., is pronounced by experts to be equal to any found in Italy.

In England the Salvation Army is regarded so highly that they were donated $350,000 last year.

Harsh Benjamin is coming over again, and expects to gather in $400,000 of America's good money this trip.

Mrs. Cameron, wife of Senator Cameron, of Pennsylvania, while in California served as a judge at a "beauty show."

Noble H. Hill, the Boston theatrical manager, who died a few days ago, held an insurance of $75,000 on his life.

England has accepted a proposal from Russia that the Powers insist upon disarmament of Greece, Serbia and Bulgaria.

Anthony M. Kelley has been admitted to practice as an attorney and counselor at law in the courts of New York State.

Lady Hester is said to have inherited very nearly five million dollars by the death of her father, Senator Sharon, of San Francisco.

A man in Newark, Pa., has died from laughing. The happy theory of hearty laughter drawing nails from the coffin is thus exploded.

David R. Atchinson, of Missouri, is the latest ex-Vice President who has been discovered. He was elected President of the Senate in 1853.

Chicago now claims a population of 760,000 and the Times of that city thinks she will outstrip London in 1910, if the present ratio is maintained.

President Richards, of the Metropolitan Horse Railroad of Boston, is quoted as saying, after a study of electric motors, that the day of horses is past.

About this time of year many are reminded that the chief end of man is dividend. At least the subject among bondholders is one of interest.

A Massachusetts man has invented a machine which, he says, will tie a square knot, hitherto regarded by inventors as beyond the power of machinery.

The Mormons evidently think they have come to stay. They have raised $1,000,000, with which they have commenced building a granite temple to cost $5,000,000.

Over $6,000 worth of feathers have been sold from the twenty-one grown ostriches at the Anaheim ostrich farm, Los Angeles, Cal., during the past seven months.

Pittsburgh has a crematory which will be heated by natural gas. No doubt it will consume all the soot and coal which has accumulated in the body during life.

The kind-hearted women of England are forming societies for the purpose of discouraging the wearing of plumes on their hats, because birds have to be killed to furnish the plumes.

Mexico's crop of Indian corn, universally used in making tortillas, amounts to about one-ninth that of the United States. In some parts of the country three crops a year may be made.

The Empress of China has no hesitation in expressing her opinion that reforms in social and religious matters are needed, and that China can no longer keep up her isolation from the rest of the world.

Contagious diseases have excited the people of Fairhaven, Mass., to such a degree that the horse cars carry two bags of camphor as disinfectants, one at each end, placed there by the Board of Health.

As the Cleveland (O.) man who was thrown out of bed by "invisible hands" is a benedict, there might be some truth in the story. But perhaps it was only the tail end of the recent blizzard that struck him after all.

The people of Toronto are going through all the Riot tragedy again—from the seats of a theater. I say play's a betwayer, a murderer, a funny Irishman and all the other characters of a blood-and-thunder drama.

TERRIFIC EXPLOSION.

Harper's Iron and Steel Works, Newport, Ky., in Ruins.

Miraculous Escape of the Employees from Death—Several Seriously Injured.

CINCINNATI, O., January 15.—About five o'clock this afternoon the engine in the new mill at Harper's Iron and Steel Works, in Newport, Ky., started the employees by rushing through the mill and shouting to them to "fly for their lives, as something was about to happen." Everything was dropped on the instant, and half the men had not quitted the place when there was a terrific explosion, which blew the building to atoms and shook the houses in the neighborhood for squares around. The utmost confusion prevailed, and it was some time before the cause of the accident could be ascertained. People in the neighborhood rushed to the scene, and those who had had time to recover from the shock immediately set to work to rescue any who may have been caught by the debris. It being very dark, their work of course, was slow. A number of the timbers caught fire, and a telephone message was immediately sent to the engine-house summoning the department. The boys arrived on short notice and soon extinguished the flames. The boys then started in to look for the injured. Their attention was directed to the west side of the mill by the moans of a man. After a few minutes' work they found lying on the ground and held down by a large piece of timber, a man named Jim Shively. They were excited, and the latter being in a dazed condition, was able to walk off. Mr. Shively was conveyed to his home on Elm street, when, upon an examination, it was found that his right leg was broken between the knee and ankle and the left between the knee and hip. He also sustained several severe cuts about the head. Drs. F. A. Davis and J. O. Jenkins rendered surgical skill. Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital.

Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital. He was conveyed to his home on Elm street, when, upon an examination, it was found that his right leg was broken between the knee and ankle and the left between the knee and hip. He also sustained several severe cuts about the head. Drs. F. A. Davis and J. O. Jenkins rendered surgical skill. Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital.

Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital. He was conveyed to his home on Elm street, when, upon an examination, it was found that his right leg was broken between the knee and ankle and the left between the knee and hip. He also sustained several severe cuts about the head. Drs. F. A. Davis and J. O. Jenkins rendered surgical skill. Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital.

Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital. He was conveyed to his home on Elm street, when, upon an examination, it was found that his right leg was broken between the knee and ankle and the left between the knee and hip. He also sustained several severe cuts about the head. Drs. F. A. Davis and J. O. Jenkins rendered surgical skill. Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital.

Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital. He was conveyed to his home on Elm street, when, upon an examination, it was found that his right leg was broken between the knee and ankle and the left between the knee and hip. He also sustained several severe cuts about the head. Drs. F. A. Davis and J. O. Jenkins rendered surgical skill. Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital.

Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital. He was conveyed to his home on Elm street, when, upon an examination, it was found that his right leg was broken between the knee and ankle and the left between the knee and hip. He also sustained several severe cuts about the head. Drs. F. A. Davis and J. O. Jenkins rendered surgical skill. Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital.

Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital. He was conveyed to his home on Elm street, when, upon an examination, it was found that his right leg was broken between the knee and ankle and the left between the knee and hip. He also sustained several severe cuts about the head. Drs. F. A. Davis and J. O. Jenkins rendered surgical skill. Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital.

Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital. He was conveyed to his home on Elm street, when, upon an examination, it was found that his right leg was broken between the knee and ankle and the left between the knee and hip. He also sustained several severe cuts about the head. Drs. F. A. Davis and J. O. Jenkins rendered surgical skill. Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital.

Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital. He was conveyed to his home on Elm street, when, upon an examination, it was found that his right leg was broken between the knee and ankle and the left between the knee and hip. He also sustained several severe cuts about the head. Drs. F. A. Davis and J. O. Jenkins rendered surgical skill. Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital.

Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital. He was conveyed to his home on Elm street, when, upon an examination, it was found that his right leg was broken between the knee and ankle and the left between the knee and hip. He also sustained several severe cuts about the head. Drs. F. A. Davis and J. O. Jenkins rendered surgical skill. Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital.

Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital. He was conveyed to his home on Elm street, when, upon an examination, it was found that his right leg was broken between the knee and ankle and the left between the knee and hip. He also sustained several severe cuts about the head. Drs. F. A. Davis and J. O. Jenkins rendered surgical skill. Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital.

Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital. He was conveyed to his home on Elm street, when, upon an examination, it was found that his right leg was broken between the knee and ankle and the left between the knee and hip. He also sustained several severe cuts about the head. Drs. F. A. Davis and J. O. Jenkins rendered surgical skill. Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital.

Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital. He was conveyed to his home on Elm street, when, upon an examination, it was found that his right leg was broken between the knee and ankle and the left between the knee and hip. He also sustained several severe cuts about the head. Drs. F. A. Davis and J. O. Jenkins rendered surgical skill. Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital.

Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital. He was conveyed to his home on Elm street, when, upon an examination, it was found that his right leg was broken between the knee and ankle and the left between the knee and hip. He also sustained several severe cuts about the head. Drs. F. A. Davis and J. O. Jenkins rendered surgical skill. Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital.

Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital. He was conveyed to his home on Elm street, when, upon an examination, it was found that his right leg was broken between the knee and ankle and the left between the knee and hip. He also sustained several severe cuts about the head. Drs. F. A. Davis and J. O. Jenkins rendered surgical skill. Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital.

Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital. He was conveyed to his home on Elm street, when, upon an examination, it was found that his right leg was broken between the knee and ankle and the left between the knee and hip. He also sustained several severe cuts about the head. Drs. F. A. Davis and J. O. Jenkins rendered surgical skill. Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital.

Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital. He was conveyed to his home on Elm street, when, upon an examination, it was found that his right leg was broken between the knee and ankle and the left between the knee and hip. He also sustained several severe cuts about the head. Drs. F. A. Davis and J. O. Jenkins rendered surgical skill. Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital.

Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital. He was conveyed to his home on Elm street, when, upon an examination, it was found that his right leg was broken between the knee and ankle and the left between the knee and hip. He also sustained several severe cuts about the head. Drs. F. A. Davis and J. O. Jenkins rendered surgical skill. Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital.

Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital. He was conveyed to his home on Elm street, when, upon an examination, it was found that his right leg was broken between the knee and ankle and the left between the knee and hip. He also sustained several severe cuts about the head. Drs. F. A. Davis and J. O. Jenkins rendered surgical skill. Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital.

Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital. He was conveyed to his home on Elm street, when, upon an examination, it was found that his right leg was broken between the knee and ankle and the left between the knee and hip. He also sustained several severe cuts about the head. Drs. F. A. Davis and J. O. Jenkins rendered surgical skill. Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital.

Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital. He was conveyed to his home on Elm street, when, upon an examination, it was found that his right leg was broken between the knee and ankle and the left between the knee and hip. He also sustained several severe cuts about the head. Drs. F. A. Davis and J. O. Jenkins rendered surgical skill. Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital.

Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital. He was conveyed to his home on Elm street, when, upon an examination, it was found that his right leg was broken between the knee and ankle and the left between the knee and hip. He also sustained several severe cuts about the head. Drs. F. A. Davis and J. O. Jenkins rendered surgical skill. Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital.

Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital. He was conveyed to his home on Elm street, when, upon an examination, it was found that his right leg was broken between the knee and ankle and the left between the knee and hip. He also sustained several severe cuts about the head. Drs. F. A. Davis and J. O. Jenkins rendered surgical skill. Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital.

Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital. He was conveyed to his home on Elm street, when, upon an examination, it was found that his right leg was broken between the knee and ankle and the left between the knee and hip. He also sustained several severe cuts about the head. Drs. F. A. Davis and J. O. Jenkins rendered surgical skill. Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital.

Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital. He was conveyed to his home on Elm street, when, upon an examination, it was found that his right leg was broken between the knee and ankle and the left between the knee and hip. He also sustained several severe cuts about the head. Drs. F. A. Davis and J. O. Jenkins rendered surgical skill. Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital.

Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital. He was conveyed to his home on Elm street, when, upon an examination, it was found that his right leg was broken between the knee and ankle and the left between the knee and hip. He also sustained several severe cuts about the head. Drs. F. A. Davis and J. O. Jenkins rendered surgical skill. Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital.

Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital. He was conveyed to his home on Elm street, when, upon an examination, it was found that his right leg was broken between the knee and ankle and the left between the knee and hip. He also sustained several severe cuts about the head. Drs. F. A. Davis and J. O. Jenkins rendered surgical skill. Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital.

Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital. He was conveyed to his home on Elm street, when, upon an examination, it was found that his right leg was broken between the knee and ankle and the left between the knee and hip. He also sustained several severe cuts about the head. Drs. F. A. Davis and J. O. Jenkins rendered surgical skill. Mr. Shively was taken to the hospital.

BURIED ALIVE.

Frightful Cave-In of a Mine, Causing the Suffocation of a Dozen Men.

NEW YORK, January 14.—An Alburton (Pa.) special to the Herald gives an account of a terrible cave-in which occurred yesterday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock at Rittenhouse Gap, a small village near Red Lion, a station on the Catawaga & Fogelsville Road. It happened in the ore mine owned and operated by H. K. Hartzell, of this place, and buried quite a number of men. It is difficult at this writing to get a correct list of the men killed on account of the intense excitement which prevails, but it is thought that perhaps a dozen were entombed. At 7 o'clock last night the following bodies had been dug out of one of the slopes: James Shiffer, aged twenty-eight years; he leaves a wife and three children; Frank Eck, aged thirty-six; he leaves a wife and one child; George L. Miller, aged twenty-one years, single. The appearance of the dead bodies showed that the men had been suffocated in their own mine. They were in an upright position, with tools in their hands. Large gangs of men have been put to work to rescue the others who are entombed in the slope, which is nearly 300 feet deep. It is thought that some of this mine can not be accounted for, as it is one of the best in this region. The mine gave employment to a large number of men, but fortunately most of them left work at noon yesterday.

NEW YORK, January 14.—An Alburton (Pa.) special to the Herald gives an account of a terrible cave-in which occurred yesterday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock at Rittenhouse Gap, a small village near Red Lion, a station on the Catawaga & Fogelsville Road. It happened in the ore mine owned and operated by H. K. Hartzell, of this place, and buried quite a number of men. It is difficult at this writing to get a correct list of the men killed on account of the intense excitement which prevails, but it is thought that perhaps a dozen were entombed. At 7 o'clock last night the following bodies had been dug out of one of the slopes: James Shiffer, aged twenty-eight years; he leaves a wife and three children; Frank Eck, aged thirty-six; he leaves a wife and one child; George L. Miller, aged twenty-one years, single. The appearance of the dead bodies showed that the men had been suffocated in their own mine. They were in an upright position, with tools in their hands. Large gangs of men have been put to work to rescue the others who are entombed in the slope, which is nearly 300 feet deep. It is thought that some of this mine can not be accounted for, as it is one of the best in this region. The mine gave employment to a large number of men, but fortunately most of them left work at noon yesterday.

NEW YORK, January 14.—An Alburton (Pa.) special to the Herald gives an account of a terrible cave-in which occurred yesterday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock at Rittenhouse Gap, a small village near Red Lion, a station on the Catawaga & Fogelsville Road. It happened in the ore mine owned and operated by H. K. Hartzell, of this place, and buried quite a number of men. It is difficult at this writing to get a correct list of the men killed on account of the intense excitement which prevails, but it is thought that perhaps a dozen were entombed. At 7 o'clock last night the following bodies had been dug out of one of the slopes: James Shiffer, aged twenty-eight years; he leaves a wife and three children; Frank Eck, aged thirty-six; he leaves a wife and one child; George L. Miller, aged twenty-one years, single. The appearance of the dead bodies showed that the men had been suffocated in their own mine. They were in an upright position, with tools in their hands. Large gangs of men have been put to work to rescue the others who are entombed in the slope, which is nearly 300 feet deep. It is thought that some of this mine can not be accounted for, as it is one of the best in this region. The mine gave employment to a large number of men, but fortunately most of them left work at noon yesterday.

NEW YORK, January 14.—An Alburton (Pa.) special to the Herald gives an account of a terrible cave-in which occurred yesterday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock at Rittenhouse Gap, a small village near Red Lion, a station on the Catawaga & Fogelsville Road. It happened in the ore mine owned and operated by H. K. Hartzell, of this place, and buried quite a number of men. It is difficult at this writing to get a correct list of the men killed on account of the intense excitement which prevails, but it is thought that perhaps a dozen were entombed. At 7 o'clock last night the following bodies had been dug out of one of the slopes: James Shiffer, aged twenty-eight years; he leaves a wife and three children; Frank Eck, aged thirty-six; he leaves a wife and one child; George L. Miller, aged twenty-one years, single. The appearance of the dead bodies showed that the men had been suffocated in their own mine. They were in an upright position, with tools in their hands. Large gangs of men have been put to work to rescue the others who are entombed in the slope, which is nearly 300 feet deep. It is thought that some of this mine can not be accounted for, as it is one of the best in this region. The mine gave employment to a large number of men, but fortunately most of them left work at noon yesterday.

NEW YORK, January 14.—An Alburton (Pa.) special to the Herald gives an account of a terrible cave-in which occurred yesterday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock at Rittenhouse Gap, a small village near Red Lion, a station on the Catawaga & Fogelsville Road. It happened in the ore mine owned and operated by H. K. Hartzell, of this place, and buried quite a number of men. It is difficult at this writing to get a correct list of the men killed on account of the intense excitement which prevails, but it is thought that perhaps a dozen were entombed. At 7 o'clock last night the following bodies had been dug out of one of the slopes: James Shiffer, aged twenty-eight years; he leaves a wife and three children; Frank Eck, aged thirty-six; he leaves a wife and one child; George L. Miller, aged twenty-one years, single. The appearance of the dead bodies showed that the men had been suffocated in their own mine. They were in an upright position, with tools in their hands. Large gangs of men have been put to work to rescue the others who are entombed in the slope, which is nearly 300 feet deep. It is thought that some of this mine can not be accounted for, as it is one of the best in this region. The mine gave employment to a large number of men, but fortunately most of them left work at noon yesterday.

NEW YORK, January 14.—An Alburton (Pa.) special to the Herald gives an account of a terrible cave-in which occurred yesterday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock at Rittenhouse Gap, a small village near Red Lion, a station on the Catawaga & Fogelsville Road. It happened in the ore mine owned and operated by H. K. Hartzell, of this place, and buried quite a number of men. It is difficult at this writing to get a correct list of the men killed on account of the intense excitement which prevails, but it is thought that perhaps a dozen were entombed. At 7 o'clock last night the following bodies had been dug out of one of the slopes: James Shiffer, aged twenty-eight years; he leaves a wife and three children; Frank Eck, aged thirty-six; he leaves a wife and one child; George L. Miller, aged twenty-one years, single. The appearance of the dead bodies showed that the men had been suffocated in their own mine. They were in an upright position, with tools in their hands. Large gangs of men have been put to work to rescue the others who are entombed in the slope, which is nearly 300 feet deep. It is thought that some of this mine can not be accounted for, as it is one of the best in this region. The mine gave employment to a large number of men, but fortunately most of them left work at noon yesterday.

NEW YORK, January 14.—An Alburton (Pa.) special to the Herald gives an account of a terrible cave-in which occurred yesterday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock at Rittenhouse Gap, a small village near Red Lion, a station on the Catawaga & Fogelsville Road. It happened in the ore mine owned and operated by H. K. Hartzell, of this place, and buried quite a number of men. It is difficult at this writing to get a correct list of the men killed on account of the intense excitement which prevails, but it is thought that perhaps a dozen were entombed. At 7 o'clock last night the following bodies had been dug out of one of the slopes: James Shiffer, aged twenty-eight years; he leaves a wife and three children; Frank Eck, aged thirty-six; he leaves a wife and one child; George L. Miller, aged twenty-one years, single. The appearance of the dead bodies showed that the men had been suffocated in their own mine. They were in an upright position, with tools in their hands. Large gangs of men have been put to work to rescue the others who are entombed in the slope, which is nearly 300 feet deep. It is thought that some of this mine can not be accounted for, as it is one of the best in this region. The mine gave employment to a large number of men, but fortunately most of them left work at noon yesterday.

NEW YORK, January 14.—An Alburton (Pa.) special to the Herald gives an account of a terrible cave-in which occurred yesterday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock at Rittenhouse Gap, a small village near Red Lion, a station on the Catawaga & Fogelsville Road. It happened in the ore mine owned and operated by H. K. Hartzell, of this place, and buried quite a number of men. It is difficult at this writing to get a correct list of the men killed on account of the intense excitement which prevails, but it is thought that perhaps a dozen were entombed. At 7 o'clock last night the following bodies had been dug out of one of the slopes: James Shiffer, aged twenty-eight years; he leaves a wife and three children; Frank Eck, aged thirty-six; he leaves a wife and one child; George L. Miller, aged twenty-one years, single. The appearance of the dead bodies showed that the men had been suffocated in their own mine. They were in an upright position, with tools in their hands. Large gangs of men have been put to work to rescue the others who are entombed in the slope, which is nearly 300 feet deep. It is thought that some of this mine can not be accounted for, as it is one of the best in this region. The mine gave employment to a large number of men, but fortunately most of them left work at noon yesterday.

NEW YORK, January 14.—An Alburton (Pa.) special to the Herald gives an account of a terrible cave-in which occurred yesterday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock at Rittenhouse Gap, a small village near Red Lion, a station on the Catawaga & Fogelsville Road. It happened in the ore mine owned and operated by H. K. Hartzell, of this place, and buried quite a number of men. It is difficult at this writing to get a correct list of the men killed on account of the intense excitement which prevails, but it is thought that perhaps a dozen were entombed. At 7 o'clock last night the following bodies had been dug out of one of the slopes: James Shiffer, aged twenty-eight years; he leaves a wife and three children; Frank Eck, aged thirty-six; he leaves a wife and one child; George L. Miller, aged twenty-one years, single. The appearance of the dead bodies showed that the men had been suffocated in their own mine. They were in an upright position, with tools in their hands. Large gangs of men have been put to work to rescue the others who are entombed in the slope, which is nearly 300 feet deep. It is thought that some of this mine can not be accounted for, as it is one of the best in this region. The mine gave employment to a large number of men, but fortunately most of them left work at noon yesterday.

NEW YORK, January 14.—An Alburton (Pa.) special to the Herald gives an account of a terrible cave-in which occurred yesterday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock at Rittenhouse Gap, a small village near Red Lion, a station on the Catawaga & Fogelsville Road. It happened in the ore mine owned and operated by H. K. Hartzell, of this place, and buried quite a number of men. It is difficult at this writing to get a correct list of the men killed on account of the intense excitement which prevails, but it is thought that perhaps a dozen were entombed. At 7 o'clock last night the following bodies had been dug out of one of the slopes: James Shiffer, aged twenty-eight years; he leaves a wife and three children; Frank Eck, aged thirty-six; he leaves a wife and one child; George L. Miller, aged twenty-one years, single. The appearance of the dead bodies showed that the men had been suffocated in their own mine. They were in an upright position, with tools in their hands. Large gangs of men have been put to work to rescue the others who are entombed in the slope, which is nearly 300 feet deep. It is thought that some of this mine can not be accounted for, as it is one of the best in this region. The mine gave employment to a large number of men, but fortunately most of them left work at noon yesterday.

NEW YORK, January 14.—An Alburton (Pa.) special to the Herald gives an account of a terrible cave-in which occurred yesterday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock at Rittenhouse Gap, a small village near Red Lion, a station on the Catawaga & Fogelsville Road. It happened in the ore mine owned and operated by H. K. Hartzell, of this place, and buried quite a number of men. It is difficult at this writing to get a correct list of the men killed on account of the intense excitement which prevails, but it is thought that perhaps a dozen were entombed. At 7 o'clock last night the following bodies had been dug out of one of the slopes: James Shiffer, aged twenty-eight years; he leaves a wife and three children; Frank Eck, aged thirty-six; he leaves a wife and one child; George L. Miller, aged twenty-one years, single. The appearance of the dead bodies showed that the men had been suffocated in their own mine. They were in an upright position, with tools in their hands. Large gangs of men have been put to work to rescue the others who are entombed in the slope, which is nearly 300 feet deep. It is thought that some of this mine can not be accounted for, as it is one of the best in this region. The mine gave employment to a large number of men, but fortunately most of them left work at noon yesterday.

NEW YORK, January 14.—An Alburton (Pa.) special to the Herald gives an account of a terrible cave-in which occurred yesterday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock at Rittenhouse Gap, a small village near Red Lion, a station on the Catawaga & Fogelsville Road. It happened in the ore mine owned and operated by H. K. Hartzell, of this place, and buried quite a number of men. It is difficult at this writing to get a correct list of the men killed on account of the intense excitement which prevails, but it is thought that perhaps a dozen were entombed. At 7 o'clock last night the following bodies had been dug out of one of the slopes: James Shiffer, aged twenty-eight years; he leaves a wife and three children; Frank Eck, aged thirty-six; he leaves a wife and one child; George L. Miller, aged twenty-one years, single. The appearance of the dead bodies showed that the men had been suffocated in their own mine. They were in an upright position, with tools in their hands. Large gangs of men have been put to work to rescue the others who are entombed in the slope, which is nearly 300 feet deep. It is thought that some of this mine can not be accounted for, as it is one of the best in this region. The mine gave employment to a large number of men, but fortunately most of them left work at noon yesterday.

NEW YORK, January 14.—An Alburton (Pa.) special to the Herald gives an account of a terrible cave-in which occurred yesterday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock at Rittenhouse Gap, a small village near Red Lion, a station on the Catawaga & Fogelsville Road. It happened in the ore mine owned and operated by H. K. Hartzell, of this place, and buried quite a number of men. It is difficult at this writing to get a correct list of the men killed on account of the intense excitement which prevails, but it is thought that perhaps a dozen were entombed. At 7 o'clock last night the following bodies had been dug out of one of the slopes: James Shiffer, aged twenty-eight years; he leaves a wife and three children; Frank Eck, aged thirty-six; he leaves a wife and one child; George L. Miller, aged twenty-one years, single. The appearance of the dead bodies showed that the men had been suffocated in their own mine. They were in an upright position, with tools in their hands. Large gangs of men have been put to work to rescue the others who are entombed in the slope, which is nearly 300 feet deep. It is thought that some of this mine can not be accounted for, as it is one of the best in this region. The mine gave employment to a large number of men, but fortunately most of them left work at noon yesterday.

NEW YORK, January 14.—An Alburton (Pa.) special to the Herald gives an account of a terrible cave-in which occurred yesterday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock at Rittenhouse Gap, a small village near Red Lion, a station on the Catawaga & Fogelsville Road. It happened in the ore mine owned and operated by H. K. Hartzell, of this place, and buried quite a number of men. It is difficult at this writing to get a correct list of the men killed on account of the intense excitement which prevails, but it is thought that perhaps a dozen were entombed. At 7 o'clock last night the following bodies had been dug out of one of the slopes: James Shiffer, aged twenty-eight years; he leaves a wife and three children; Frank Eck, aged thirty-six; he leaves a wife and one child; George L. Miller, aged twenty-one years, single. The appearance of the dead bodies showed that the men had been suffocated in their own mine. They were in an upright position, with tools in their hands. Large gangs of men have been put to work to rescue the others who are entombed in the slope, which is nearly 300 feet deep. It is thought that some of this mine can not be accounted for, as it is one of the best in this region. The mine gave employment to a large number of men, but fortunately most of them left work at noon yesterday.

NEW YORK, January 14.—An Alburton (Pa.) special to the Herald gives an account of a terrible cave-in which occurred yesterday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock at Rittenhouse Gap, a small village near Red Lion, a station on the Catawaga & Fogelsville Road. It happened in the ore mine owned and operated by H. K. Hartzell, of this place, and buried quite a number of men. It is difficult at this writing to get a correct list of the men killed on account of the intense excitement which prevails, but it is thought that perhaps a dozen were entombed. At 7 o'clock last night the following bodies had been dug out of one of the slopes: James Shiffer, aged twenty-eight years; he leaves a wife and three children; Frank Eck, aged thirty-six; he leaves a wife and one child; George L. Miller, aged twenty-one years, single. The appearance of the dead bodies showed that the men had been suffocated in their own mine. They were in an upright position, with tools in their hands. Large gangs of men have been put to work to rescue the others who are entombed in the slope, which is nearly 300 feet deep. It is thought that some of this mine can not be accounted for, as it is one of the best in this region. The mine gave employment to a large number of men, but fortunately most of them left work at noon yesterday.

NEW YORK, January 14.—An Alburton (Pa.) special to the Herald gives an account of a terrible cave-in which occurred yesterday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock at Rittenhouse Gap, a small village near Red Lion, a station on the Catawaga & Fogelsville Road. It happened in the ore mine owned and operated by H. K. Hartzell, of this place, and buried quite a number of men. It is difficult at this writing to get a correct list of the men killed on account of the intense excitement which prevails, but it is thought that perhaps a dozen were entombed. At 7 o'clock last night the following bodies had been dug out of one of the slopes: James Shiffer, aged twenty-eight years; he leaves a wife and three children; Frank Eck, aged thirty-six; he leaves a wife and one child; George L. Miller, aged twenty-one years, single. The appearance of the dead bodies showed that the men had been suffocated in their own mine. They were in an upright position, with tools in their hands. Large gangs of men have been put to work to rescue the others who are entombed in the slope, which is nearly 300 feet deep. It is thought that some of this mine can not be accounted for, as it is one of the best in this region. The mine gave employment to a large number of men, but fortunately most of them left work at noon yesterday.

NEW YORK, January 14.—An Alburton (Pa.) special to the Herald gives an account of a terrible cave-in which occurred yesterday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock at Rittenhouse Gap, a small village near Red Lion, a station on the Catawaga & Fogelsville Road. It happened in the ore mine owned and operated by H. K. Hartzell, of this place, and buried quite a number of men. It is difficult at this writing to get a correct list of the men killed on account of the intense excitement which prevails, but it is thought that perhaps a dozen were entombed. At 7 o'clock last night the following bodies had been dug out of one of the slopes: James Shiffer, aged twenty-eight years; he leaves a wife and three children; Frank Eck, aged thirty-six; he leaves a wife and one child; George L. Miller, aged