Golden Rod Flour can't be beaten. Spencer sells it.
Wm. Remmelo sells bran, ship stuff and hay at low prices.
Borders & Stewarts have an elegant line of new goods.
Elsworth Norris came up Sunday and returned Monday.
When you want bran, ship stuff and hay, go to Remmelo.
J. C. Thomas, of Ironton, spent Sunday in our suburbs.
Crab Apple Blossom and other choice perfumes at Conley's.
Give Golden Rod Flour a trial. You can get it at Spencer's.
Advertising rates furnished to contemporaries upon application.
If you want the best and cheapest flour in town go to Peters & Vinson.
The Cincinnati Bargain House will save you 50c on every dollar's worth of goods you purchase from them.
Clerk Robt. Dixon is distributing the ballots throughout the county.
One X is all you need to stamp on the ballot. Put it just under the rooster.
The lowest priced guaranteed Flour on the market is "J. E. M." Prichard sells it.
The Republicans across the river raised a flag-pole Monday and listened to a speech from Maj. D. J. Burchett, of this place.
A single X stamped directly under the rooster on the ballot next Tuesday will insure your vote being counted, as you are in that way sure to make no mistake.
The prospects for a raise in the price of coal in the local market are altogether too flattering, owing to some new rules of the railroad in regard to charges for cars.

Judge Kinner, was here this week. Look through Lou's new stock.
K. Sachs is in Cincinnati this week.
Miss Fannie Moore, of Blaine, is visiting in Louisa.
Mrs. C. D. Norris is now about out of danger from her serious illness.
J. D. Elswick is having a dwelling house built in the lower part of town.
Lou Jones has removed to the property recently vacated by Z. C. Zimmerman.
Stand up for your rights by putting in your ballot next Tuesday for a low tariff.
Vote the Democratic ticket straight and you will be sure to induct the right men.
Mrs. Sullivan and Mrs. Mary Wallace have been called to Catlettsburg by the illness of their brother, Col. Moore.
The country people have been troubled with forest fires lately. Some of them have done extensive damage.
A Halloween mite for the benefit of the two Methodist churches was given at the Hotel Brunswick Monday evening.
Tip Moore has been riding for two weeks in the interest of Tom Paynter and the Democratic ticket. He says Paynter will run ahead of his ticket.
Set your seal against the force bill, robber tariff and mixed schools by stamping an X under the Democratic rooster on your ballot next Tuesday.
An old Republican pensioner from Boyd county was up here recently and said that the old soldiers of his vicinity were almost unanimous for Hon. T. H. Paynter, owing to the proof he has given of his kindly position to the pensioners.
Mr. W. H. Hubbard, of Georges creek, was in to see us Tuesday. He is a staunch Republican, a veteran of both the Mexican and the late war, and a constant friend of the NEWS.
Stamp the X directly under the rooster on the ballot and fold the ballot so as to expose the name of the county clerk, which appears on the back. Then it is ready to be deposited.
Miss Mary Davis returned Tuesday from Cincinnati, where she spent several days with her brother Tom. The family will soon rent or buy property in the city and remove there.
Ladies' Cloaks and wraps at Loar's.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

Royal Baking Powder
ABSOLUTELY PURE

Vote for Corrier.
Vote for Jack Wilson.
Vote for Hazlerigg for Appellate Judge.
Some splendid and welcome rains fell yesterday and the night before.
Loar's winter stock is the most carefully selected and the cheapest in Louisa.
Col. I. T. Moore is dangerously ill of heart disease at his home in Catlettsburg and is not expected to recover.
Ed. S. Hughes, of Central City, W. Va., was here this week representing the Central City Flouring Mills, in which he is interested. His many friends were glad to see him.
Remember Rev. Biner's sermon to the children next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Subject—"Lantern people." Everybody invited. His subject for morning service will be Noah; for evening, "You have it, what will you do with it."
McCartney, the Republican candidate for Congress, endorsed the Force Bill in his speech here last Tuesday. That is natural, however, as its object is to perpetuate the Republican party in power. Vote against him.
The enforcement of the Force Bill would involve this country in war. A people who have been born and reared in a free country would rise up in awful revolt and stamp out the iniquitous law with blood.
The government snag boats were all ordered last week to quit work for this season and the forces have returned home. Capt's. McHenry, Welsh and Pigg all report a large amount of work accomplished. The rivers have been lower than ever known before—so low that great difficulty was experienced in getting their boats out.
An old sinner of a Republican was heard to say recently, in reply to a question from a brother Republican as to whether he was going to hear a certain Democratic speech and be converted: "No, I don't want to be converted." This same spirit is the one which furnishes all the subjects that people the kingdom of his Satanic Majesty.

THE CINCINNATI BARGAIN HOUSE,
Louisa, Kentucky,

SACHS & DAVIS, PROPRIETORS.

Hon. J. P. McCartney, Republican candidate for Congress, spoke at the court house last Tuesday. His speech was typically Republican—especially in point of pro-Republicanism. He evidently sized up his audience as one of very little intelligence and no information. He informed his hearers that "the Democratic party is a free trade party" with as bold a face as though he believed it were true. He then proceeded with a hearty denunciation of free trade. What a pity that so much eloquence and effort must needs be lost on an imaginary issue! How unfeeling it is of the Democratic party to not come out for free trade just long enough to allow Mr. McCartney to whack it with his little anti-free trade speech!

The McKinley bill was next taken up, and unheard-of beauties were portrayed in such a manner that all his visionary Republican hearers had to do in order to feel like millionaires was to keep their hands out of their pockets. He said a dozen words about sugar, simply stating that owing to the McKinley bill you can get more sugar for a dollar than formerly. He didn't even tell his audience that this fact was the result of taking off the tariff. Oh, No! That fact would have upset the major portion of his argument. He stated that before the McKinley bill went into effect the market price of eggs was four cents a dozen, and that the bill caused the price to rise to 15 cents per dozen. Is that true, farmers?

After playing for the soldier vote he tackled the Force Bill and virtually endorsed it. He treated it as a light matter, but did not mention the board of canvassers provided for in the bill.

He said he was "proud of the Billion Dollar Congress," and (with great gusto) that "this is no five-cent country." Voters, there's a pointer.

Mr. McCartney says the Democrats are in favor of wild cat money and that he is against it. The Democratic views on money matters as stated by Mr. McCartney were equally as much of a matter of news to the Democrats as to the Republicans.

The speech closed with some criticisms of Hon. T. H. Paynter, his opponent.

To Officers of Election. The utmost care should be taken by the officers of the election in getting a correct count of the ballots after the close of the polls, as under the new law that count is final. The result should be examined and re-examined until the count is known to be absolutely correct.

Religion and Politics. A preacher politician who tries to turn his church relations to account in politics has a very low idea of the sanctity of his profession; and church members should weigh well this prostitution of their sacred principles before endorsing the man who is guilty of it. This applies to the present campaign.

Ladies, examine Loar's stock of Cloaks.

Killing in Wayne. Johnson Ferguson shot and killed Jimison Thompson on Hurricane in Wayne county, W. Va., about four miles from this place Tuesday evening. Ferguson had been to this place and got drunk and on his way home came up where Thompson was engaged in fighting forest fires. He dismounted and shot Thompson without a word, and then rode away. There was once some trouble between them, but they had apparently been friends for some time. Thompson was an orderly citizen, while his slayer is said to be a drunken tough.

Too much can not be said in praise of Clover Leaf Flour. Ask D. C. Spencer about it.

You don't know good coffee until you try Frank Yates' fresh roasted Java and Mocha.

A Water Famine. We hear of a number of neighborhoods up the valley where the people are compelled to drive their stock four or five miles to the stream which lays claim to the name of Big Sandy. The almost unprecedented drought is getting to be a most serious matter to the sections not plentifully supplied with never-falling wells and springs.

Ask R. J. Prichard for his price on "J. E. M." Flour. He guarantees it.

Peters & Vinson has no del wagon, but will sell you goods so cheap that you are willing carry them home.

Frank Yates has opened a meat market in the rear of his store. Beef, pork, sausage, etc., always on hand.

Yates "A1" flour is unsurpassed.

At Yates' Meat Market—Free! Beef, Pork, Pork Sausage, Sliced Ham.
