FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 18, 1892.

Ohio tried mightily hard to get on the popular side in the late election.

The Vanceburg Sun is preparing to replace its hand press with a power press.

The result in Ohio is still in doubt, but the state is probably Republican by a few hundred.

The plurality for the Democratic Presidential ticket in Illinois is 27,057, while the plurality for All-geld for Governor is only 21,827.

It is computed that there are 70,950 more words in the English language than in the German, French and Italian languages combined.

The reported "apathy" of the late campaign was explained when the ballots came in. It was a reluctance to affiliating with the Republican party.

The Maysville Ledger refers to the recent election as "the late un-der-estimation." The Ledger's political complexion is evident to even a stranger.

The News said ten months ago that it "would rather see Grover Cleveland President of the United States than any man living," and we are therefore happy.

The Democrats will have a majority in the United States Senate at the next session and will carry out their promises of reform. No extreme measures, such as free trade, will be adopted, but a conservative course in everything will be pursued.

It is to be seen that the results of an election exceed the claims of a political leader for his own party. Such was the case however, with Richard Croker, the Tammany Chieftain, who promised a Democratic plurality of 75,000 in New York City and gave 76,100.

A press dispatch mentions the peculiar case of Judge Lane, of Cass county, Mo. The Judge was serving a sentence in jail for contempt of the United States Court in refusing to issue a special tax levy, but was elected to the Legislature by the largest majority ever given in the county.

It is reported that President Harrison has talked freely about the defeat of his party last Tuesday, attributing it mainly to its position on the tariff question. However, he thinks the Force bill had much weight, and says that Carter's "rainbow chasing" and mismanagement also had a great deal to do with it.

At a meeting of the World's Fair Directors a resolution was adopted favoring the opening of the World's Fair on Sundays. The Directors express the opinion that as the people of all nations have been invited to attend the Fair it would be highly discourteous and inhospitable to inform them that they can not do so on Sunday here what they would do were they at home.—C. J.

The result of Tuesday's election cannot be set down to brag or boodle. The people struck against centralization of capital. They saw the growth of moneyed aristocracy and felt that its power would prove more despotic than transatlantic monarchy. They saw everything combining into trusts and syndicates. They saw such patriotic leaders as MacVeagh, Gresham, Low, Conley, Rea and Cox changing front and it emboldened the otherwise timid to leap the fold of party.—Cincinnati Post.

For the splendid increase in the Democratic majority in Kentucky the Democrats of the State owe much to the energy, zeal and good management of John D. Carroll, of the State Central Committee. Mr. Carroll gave a great deal of time and labor to the important business of looking after the party's organization and furnishing speakers. He left no county unsupplied with convincing oratory. There was more political speaking than in any campaign for years.—Courier Journal.

We beg leave to correct the above in just one particular. Lawrence county was not supplied with any oratory through the State committee. The only good speaking we had from any one not a native of the county was from Hon. T. H. Faynter; then the County Committee got in their work, and the result is best told by the figures—283 for the Cleveland electors, against 62 for Harrison in 1888. The county ticket and Messrs. and Messrs. and Messrs. received more votes than the electors.

Three hundred men on horseback rode into town at the time advertised for the sale, and induced Collector Brown to not only forego the sale but to also resign his position as collector.

A new hotel is to be built in Ashland. It will be four stories high, 103 feet long and 85 feet wide, equipped with all the latest improvements.

Huntington: Mattie Blake, a teacher of Vinton, Gallia County, O., went to Huntington in search of Jennie Miners, a young girl aged 17, who, she said, had run away from her home in that neighborhood, and came to this city to meet a young man. She finally induced her to return, but the girl stole Miss Blake's satchel, railroad ticket, and $10 in money, and again disappeared.

Four banks have already been started along the line of the Ohio extension. One at Ceredo, one at Kenova, one at Welch, the county seat of McDowell county and one at Williamson which hopes to be the county seat of Logan county. Five years ago such a thing as a bank at either of these points was not dreamed of.—Wayne News.

The foundation of the new Union depot at Kenova, is completed. It will be a magnificent building and will cost about $35,000.

A Masonic Chapter was instituted at Paintsville last night. Some Louisa Masons attended.

A Beautiful Sunset.

Already the Republicans are quarrelling among themselves as to the future policy of the party. Shall they persist in a tariff policy which the people have twice condemned at the polls, or shall they abandon the only doctrine which has held them together, throw every pretense of principle, good and bad alike, to the winds, and go in for the offices, and any way to get them.

It really makes little difference which course they decide upon. The hole in the hull is too big for them to tack about, and the rocks are too close ahead for them to keep on. It is sink or swim, with the chances largely in favor of sinking. They are between the money devil and the protected iron works.

They are afraid to go ahead, for that way stand the people. They are afraid to go back, for behind them are the robber barons, demanding the delivery of the legislative protection for which they have paid, and paid liberally.

It is folly to fly in the face of the people by persisting in a policy which they have twice condemned at the polls in tones that would penetrate the dumbest ear.

It is folly to desert the moneyed concerns whose influence and boodle have held the party together, furnished its sinews of war and supplied its sole reason for existence.

If it goes ahead, the people will utterly crush it; if it turns back and attempts a new course, the masters who have kept it afloat for their own use and benefit will cast it adrift.

What is there left for it to live for? The people will have none of its high tariffs and none of its Force bills. But without its high tariffs and its Force bills it is only an organized hunt for official plunder. The people will not support it in its old course, and will not believe its brittle promises of reform.

The only thing left for the g. o. p. to enjoy is the sunset, and it is a particularly gorgeous one.—Courier Journal.

Westward, Ho!

This is the first time since 1872 when a President has been chosen whose majority was not dependent upon the Empire State, and the effect of it will be to take away from New York the disproportionate preponderance which she has long enjoyed in the decision of Presidential elections. The break in the west gives that section a political importance which will be fruitful of changes hereafter in the policies of all the sections of the country.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Awfully Tired Now.

The inward hope of nearly every Republican is that the United States Senate and the whole "shooting match" have gone "h—bent" with the rest of the Republican wreck. We are tired of saving the Democratic party from committing some terrible blunder, and want them to have the entire responsibility.—Lexington Leader.

BLANKENSHIP.

HONOR TO WHOM HONORS ARE DUE.

The election is over and the political agitation that has prevailed for a time, begun dying with the closing of the polls Nov. 8th, and though the news of defeat has saddened many a heart, every voter, who voted his true sentiments, will have no prickings of conscience to trouble his tranquil slumbers.

The resounding of the "big guns" is proclaiming victory to an exultant party and "Yankee Jim" says: "Let the Democrats rejoice, for victory must be sweet to those who back in its glory so seldom." We concur with him; and we believe, too, that all will have occasion to rejoice, who shall bathe in the sweet streams and drink of the pure wine of Mr. Cleveland's administration. We care not for political party, but praise the one of our choice; and if it was (and I believe it was) the hope of a redress of unjust and unequal taxation that led to the triumphant election of Mr. Cleveland, what rational man would not rejoice with us?

But lest our long letter should weary our patient editor and thus find way to the waste-basket, I call your attention to the concluding thought. The victory over which we are now rejoicing is the result of a good cause well advocated, and to the advocates of long the glory—honor to whom honor is due—and to the editor of the B. SANDY NEWS, belongs much of the glory of the Democrats' success in Lawrence county.

Since the first issue of M. F. Conley's paper, the B. SANDY NEWS, the Democracy of Lawrence county has had a firm friend in him. Our present sheriff and clerks and their Democratic predecessors owe much of their success to the earnest workings of the News. They let those for whom their county editor has incessantly toiled, remember and treat him as a friend. Though he is young, his gentleness and magnanimity of spirit have indelibly painted his image on the walls of my memory and no national pageantry will ever eclipse our eradicate one of its dimmest colors.

Articles of Incorporation.

We, the undersigned, H. S. Southard, James Langston, Kentucky; and J. W. M. Stewart, of Louisa, Kentucky; have this day associated ourselves together under Chapter fifty-six of the General Statutes of Kentucky, and joined a corporation under the name of "The Southern Coal and Iron Company."

The principal place for the transaction of business shall be in Louisa, and the office of the company shall be in the town of Lawrence County, Kentucky.

The business to be transacted shall be that of mining coal, iron and other minerals, and piers; and of buying, selling, and manufacturing timber and lumber; and of manufacturing brick; and to engage in the general mercantile business.

The capital stock shall be one hundred fifty thousand dollars ($150,000) divided into one thousand five hundred shares of one hundred dollars ($100) each.

Two thirds of the capital stock shall be paid in before December 1st 1892; the remainder upon call of the Board of Directors.

The incorporation shall begin its existence on the 15th day of October, 1892.

The affairs of the corporation shall be conducted by a Board of Directors of three persons, but the number of Directors may at any time be increased to any number, not exceeding seven, by a vote of two-thirds, in value, of the stockholders.

Said Board shall elect from their own number a President, Vice President, Secretary and Treasurer, the latter two of whom may be the same person. Said Directors shall be elected on the 1st day of January, 1893, and on the same day annually thereafter; and until said election H. S. Southard, H. S. Southard, Jr., and J. W. M. Stewart shall constitute the Board of Directors.

The highest amount of indebtedness to which this corporation may at any time subject itself shall be one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000).

The private property of the stockholders shall be exempt from the corporate debt.

Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind. Gentlemen: I never lose an opportunity to recommend Dr. Miles' Nervine to any one afflicted with nervous complaints.

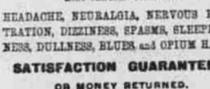

HAS with the assurance that it will not disappoint them. When our boy was eighteen months old he was attacked with violent spasms. Sometimes he would have five or six spasms in a single day. We tried many remedies without success. Finally Dr. Miles' Nervine was procured and used. He was relieved from the first dose. We used three bottles, and I am happy to say the child was ENTIRELY CURED. We used no other remedy, and his cure is complete. He is now three years old and perfectly healthy. You are at liberty to use my name in endorsing the praise of your wonderful NERVE TONIC.
