SEVERE FIGHT.

Andy Cooksey Dangerously Stabs His Brother-in-Law.

On last Friday Andy Cooksey and his brother-in-law Henry Compton, of Oliveville, had a fight which resulted in the latter being stabbed seven times in the abdomen, almost causing his death.

For several days it was thought he could not possibly recover, but he is now improving and his chances are thought to be good. Though all the wounds are deep, only one of them reached a vital point.

The trouble occurred on the road between Fuller station and Fallburg, where they met, each driving a team hitched to a wagon having no bed on it. On the day previous, Cooksey had slapped a young son of Compton's. When the two men met on this occasion Compton asked Cooksey if he was as anxious to fight as he was the day before.

Cooksey made a reply and Compton struck him on the head with his whip handle, breaking it and staggering Cooksey. The latter then began to use his knife. Compton began to sink down in the coupling pole of the wagon when the knife penetrated him, and Cooksey slashed him several times.

Cooksey came on to Louisa and surrendered to the authorities and was placed in jail. Compton was taken to Fallburg.

It is a very deplorable affair, as both are good citizens. Compton is over 20 years of age. Cooksey is about 40 and is an unusually large man.

Robert Dixon.

It has been our intention all along to speak editorially of the official conduct of this gentleman, so lately retired to private life, but in the press of news incident to the first weeks of Circuit Court we had but scant time for such courtesies.

It is admitted by all, Democrats and Republicans alike, that Mr. Dixon made a first-class County Clerk. Our friend Mr. George E. Johnson has long been held up to the public as a model County Clerk, and that he is justly entitled to such a distinction nobody who knows him will deny.

We can give Mr. Dixon no higher praise than to say he does not in the least suffer by comparison with this excellent officer and sterling Democrat. Elected to the position in August, 1890 Mr. Dixon held the office until he was succeeded on the 6th of the present month by Mr. Add Skeens, a good Democrat and clever gentleman, and who, no doubt, will also make a good official. In his official intercourse with the public Mr. Dixon was uniformly patient, courteous and obliging, always at his place of duty. Democrats and Republicans made the County Clerk's office a sort of headquarters, and to the people of Big Sandy Mr. Dixon's home was as open as his office was to the public.

This hospitality made him an exceedingly popular man on Georges creek, his old home, where he was a merchant before he came to Louisa as clerk.

So much so that when he ran against Chitt Osborne he carried the precinct by 77, when it usually went the other way by about one hundred.

Mr. Dixon was a "wheel horse" when he came to a political battle. He was active and successful as County Chairman of the Law and Democracy, never hesitating to work by day and by night and always ready with the "sinews of war."

Mr. Dixon has been successful in other lines than holding public office. About a year ago he was one of the three or four gentlemen who formed the Watson, Dixon, Moore & Co., and the enterprise and success of that firm are well known.

On the retirement of Dr. Watson from the firm Mr. Dixon purchased the doctor's interest, and the new firm of Dixon, Moore & Co., of which Mr. Dixon is General Manager, seems already launched on a successful and prosperous business career.

Corner Stone Laying.

Contractors Up Sandy.

Langhorn Bros. and Mr. Briggs, large railroad contractors, were taken from here to Whitehouse by special train Monday evening, bound for some point up Sandy beyond the end of the railroad line. They are the contractors who are doing the work of filling the ties on the road above Louisa.

Death of Mrs. E. B. Hager.

Mrs. Lucie Prichard Hager, wife of attorney E. B. Hager, of Ashland, died in Louisa last Monday morning, after several months illness of consumption. She had been at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Prichard, ever since her return from Ashville, N. C., where she went in the futile hope of securing relief from this awful disease. Nothing was left undone which might add to her comfort during her last days. The best medical attention was given her, and it was not until a few days previous to the final summons that all hope was surrendered by the fair young victim and her loved ones.

The funeral took place at 10:30 a. m., Wednesday from the M. E. Church, South. On account of the illness of the pastor (Dr. Boland) Rev. S. A. Donahoe was called from Ashland to conduct the services. He was assisted by Rev. S. G. Preston, of Catlettburg. The attendance at the funeral was probably the largest ever seen here. A great number of relatives and friends came from various points down the river.

The burial took place in Pine Hill Cemetery immediately after the funeral services, and the body was laid to rest beside that of the only sister of the deceased.

The pall bearers were twelve of her young friends: Messrs. J. C. Burchett, J. G. Burns, M. J. Webb, J. H. Reynolds, Alex. Lackey, George Burgess, and Messrs. Ethel O'Brien, Sadie Reynolds, Charlotte Freese, Robt. Lackey, Mattie Wallace and Mrs. M. G. Watson.

Mrs. Hager was barely 23 years of age, her last birthday occurring just one week before her death. She was the only child of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Prichard and a granddaughter of County Judge R. F. Vinson. A frail little daughter, about one year old, is left motherless by her death.

Lucie Prichard was a girl whom everybody liked. She was of an unusually happy disposition, always greeting her friends with a smile and cheerful words. Until the ravages of that dreadful disease began to tell upon her she was the picture of health, and was regarded as a beautiful girl. Her death at this early age is indeed sad, and is a great blow to family and relatives.

Among the many beautiful floral offerings was a design from the Ashland Commandery K. T., and a large quantity of flowers and a token of the high esteem in which Mrs. Hager was held by her young friends of Louisa.

Col. Northup went to Washington Wednesday to appear before the Rivers and Harbors Committee in behalf of Big Sandy River.

Oliver P. Wellman, who has been in the C. & O. hospital at Huntington for over four months with a broken back, was brought home yesterday. Hope of his recovery has been given up and he asked to be brought home to die. Dr. Hawes, the hospital physician, accompanied him here, and turned the case over to Dr. G. W. Wooten, the local surgeon of the C. & O. It will be remembered that Mr. Wellman fell from a trestle at Torchlight while employed as a member of the bridge force. He has always been a good citizen, and his condition is deplored by the entire community. He is nearly 60 years of age. It was the intention to bring him home Tuesday, but his condition was such on that day that death would probably have resulted.

Mrs. B. F. Johnson Dead.

Mrs. Johnson, of Thacker, W. Va., died Thursday evening at 6 o'clock, after an illness of about two months, of typhoid fever and a complication of troubles. She was about 60 years of age and the wife of B. F. Johnson, a prominent hotel man, formerly of Peach Orchard, Kentucky, but at present the proprietor of the leading hotel at Thacker.

The deceased's maiden name was Reiser. She was a life long Methodist and a consistent Christian woman. She was loved by all, young and old, with whom she was associated.

The remains were brought to her daughter's Mrs. Cobb Lockwood, at Savage Branch, Saturday at 11 o'clock the funeral services were conducted from Mary Moore's Chapel, by Rev. John T. Johnson, one of the most prominent Methodist preachers in this section of the country.

The deceased leaves a husband and seven children to mourn her death. The children are Mr. "Jack" Johnson, of Ashland, Charles E. Johnson, of Thacker, Mrs. Cobb Lockwood, of Savage Branch; Mrs. J. W. Warnick, of Williamson, W. Va.; Mrs. J. C. Butler, of Catlettburg; Mrs. Guy White, of Thacker, and Annie L., the daughter at home.

Court News.

The trial of Dick Vinson, Jr., is still in progress in the Circuit Court at this place. An adjournment was taken Wednesday morning on account of the death of Mrs. E. B. Hager. The work of taking testimony has not yet been completed.

The attorneys for the Commonwealth closed their side of the case Wednesday evening, and we go to press the defendant is on the stand. The jury is as follows: Thomas Dean, R. H. Canale, Jas. O. Caperton, Daniel Wheeler, Alton T. Webb, Mack Howell, John Allen, J. B. Large, Robert Webb, O. Ver Chaffin, Wm. Spaulding, Thos. Weston.

Hardy B. Hewlett, A. J. Conroy and David Boggs were appointed jury Commissioners last Monday morning and completed their work Tuesday.

Louisa, Ky., January term.—The poor people of Lawrence county certainly ought to remember Uncle Tipp Moore and do anything right he asks them, for he certainly does more for them in court than any man in the county without hope of fee or reward.

One of the Jury.

CHILDREN POISONED.

Many children are poisoned and made nervous and weak if not killed outright by mothers giving them cough syrups containing opiates. Foley's Honey and Tar is a safe and certain remedy for coughs, croup and lung troubles and is the only prominent cough medicine that contains no opiates or other poisons. A. M. Hughes.

Rev. B. F. Caudill, for a number of years pastor of the Baptist Church at Russell, Ky., and also acting pastor of the Storms Creek Baptist Church at Old Madeville, has accepted a call to the pastorate of the Russell Street Church in Columbus, where he has been conducting a series of successful meetings. He assumes his new charge in six weeks.

Mr. Caudill's work in this community has been characterized by the highest order of Christian zeal, and while regretting the loss of such an earnest worker and splendid exponent of the gospel, his many friends commend him to the people of his new charge and wish him the greatest success in his new field of labor.—Ironton Register.

He was formerly pastor of the Baptist Church at this place.

Fatal kidney and bladder troubles can always be prevented by Foley's Kidney Cure. A. M. Hughes.
