TA-TA!

There was a young maid from afar,
When ran like the dence for a car,
To her real she was martyr,
For snap went her—aboeating—
Too embarrassed for more—so Ta-Ta!

A sailor named Taylor was wrecked
in a whaler—the sea was about to prevail.

When lucky for Taylor the foundering whaler caught up with a slumbering whale.

"In order to sail her to harbor,"
said Taylor, "myself I'll avall o'
this gale."

So Taylor, the sailor, the sail o' the whaler, did nail o'er the tail o'
the whale. —LIFE.
