LOUISA, LAWRENCE COUNTY, KENTUCKY, OCTOBER 6, 1911.

M. F. CONLEY, Publisher

HON. J. T. HEFLIN

Of Alabama, at Louisa Monday, October 16th.

Hon. J. Thomas Heflin, of Alabama, will speak at Louisa on Monday, October 16th, at one o'clock. Mr. Heflin is one of the great orators of the South, and no citizen of Lawrence county should fail to hear him. He is one of the entertaining kind of speakers that delights his hearers. Having served in Congress for many years he knows all about the great question of the day, and he can tell you about it in the brightest, clearest way possible. There is no speaker in the United States that can surpass him. Judging from the words of those who know best about these things, the State Committee considers it a great victory to have secured his services. Mr. Heflin will also speak at Pikeville, Prestonsburg and Paintsville on the three days following his Louisa appointment.

Prof. Coates Will Visit Louisa.

The following letter from State Supervisor, T. J. Coates, regarding the postponement of his visit to this county is self explanatory: Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 21, 1911. Dear Mr. Coates, Morehead, Ky. Dear Mr. Coates—Dr. Wallace Butterick will meet us in Lexington Wednesday morning. Make your arrangements to be there. Very truly yours, ELLSWORTH REGENSTEIN, Supt. Public Instruction, Morehead, Ky., Sept. 29, 1911.

Dear Mr. O'Daniel—The above letter speaks for itself. I must obey for this meeting means much to Kentucky. I will explain later. It was entirely unexpected to me. I can not do the work for you next week, but I can the following week. Please let my engagements be put off exactly one week. I will be in Louisa Sunday, Oct. 8. I will hear any expense of the change, I regret it, but I can not help it. Dr. Butterick is putting up the money. He is the Secretary of the General Education Board. Your friend, T. J. COATES.

He will be in the county next week and will visit the following points: Monday, Oct. 9, at 9 o'clock a. m. Gypsy Thompson, Meads branch. Monday, Oct. 9, at 1:30 p. m. Nathan George's school, Forks George's creek. Tuesday, Oct. 10, 7:30 a. m. J. Moore's school, Mattie. Tuesday, Oct. 10, 10 a. m. J. M. Dowell's school, Prosperity. Tuesday, Oct. 10, 2 p. m. E. E. Peeler's school, Hoods Fork. Wednesday, Oct. 11, 8:30 a. m. El Rose's school, Upper Blaine. Wednesday, Oct. 11, 2:30 p. m. W. Adams' school, Cherokee. Thursday, Oct. 12, 8 a. m. Em Thompson's school, Lick Fork. Saturday, Oct. 13, 2:30 p. m. H. Berry's school, Olliville.

Those who are near enough to take their schools and count the time. School patrons are requested to be present. Miss Kelly will also attend the Association at Gallup Saturday, Oct. 14, following Saturday, Oct. 14, my pay day, I will try Broke into a School House.

Dock Hill, Sam Gollihue and Sarah, his sister, Russell Thompson and Mary and Stella, his sisters, are in the county jail in default of bail of $300 each. This unfortunate condition is the result of their trial before Judge Boggs on Saturday last on a charge of breaking into a schoolhouse on the Tar Klin branch of Hood last Thursday night. The loss of some articles of school furniture and a coat was discovered Friday morning and a warrant for the arrest of the supposed guilty parties was given to deputy Sheriff E. E. Ross. The officer soon hit the trail and it was not long before he came upon the parties above named. They had made a halt for refreshment and were cooking a chicken in a bucket identified as one which had been used in the school. They also had the missing coat.

Church Meeting.

Council met in regular monthly session last Tuesday night, all members except Messrs. Berry and Wilson being present. Eighty-three dollars was turned into the emergency fund, to be used in the much needed repair of the streets.

Settlement in full was made with former Marshals Al. and Dave Wellman.

Complaint having been made that the keeper of the bridge toll gate has been much annoyed at night by the actions of sundry hoodlums who infest the bridge at a late hour, an ordinance was enacted looking to the relief of the keeper and the abatement of the nuisance.

WILL FULKERSON INJURED.

Skull Fractured by Falling from an Electric Car.

A phone message from Catlettsburg last Saturday evening informed Mrs. Julia Fulkerson, of this city that her son, William Fulkerson, had fallen from a street car at that place and was seriously injured. Accompanied by friends Mrs. Fulkerson took N. and W. train No. 3 the same night and hastened to the bedside of her son. She found him at the King's Daughters' hospital, Ashland, receiving the proper aid and attention. Mr. Fulkerson had sustained a fracture of the base of the skull, and for a considerable time it was doubtful as to the issue. Some improvement in his condition was noticed in a day or two, and at this time the prospect for his ultimate recovery is favorable. Dr. Heman Fulkerson, of Fleming county, a brother of the injured man, was telegraphed for and is with him. Dr. L. H. York, of this city, has also seen him professionally.

Mr. Fulkerson is not permitted to talk much, and but little is known how the accident occurred. It is learned, however, that Mr. Fulkerson was on the rear end of a car, and in turning a curve near Plum street, Catlettsburg, he fell off.

Mr. Fulkerson is an attorney of this place, and his many friends will be glad to learn that he will probably make a complete recovery.

TWO FIFTY AND COSTS.

Squire J. P. Billups, of Fort Gay, tried a man by the name of Nurzum of Salt-peter, Saturday for failure to send his child to school, and fined him $2.50 and costs.

MARRIED IN PORTSMOUTH.

Miss Marion Kelley and Mr. Leslie Doyle Bendure were married in Portsmouth last Monday. Miss Kelley has visited Louisa frequently as the guest of Miss Jeanne Adams and was a very popular and attractive girl.

BURIED TOGETHER

Mrs. Harry G. Wellman and Little Daughter.

Laid to Rest in the Same Casket. Death Came to Them Both Within a Day.

After an illness of many months, borne with patient fortitude and resignation, Mrs. H. G. Wellman, aged 24 years, of Louisa, died at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Heise Johnson, of Cyrus, W. Va., early last Sunday morning. Twenty-four hours later her only child, a sweet little girl of ten months, joined its mother in the Far Country where life is perennial and where happiness is fadeless and pure. On Wednesday afternoon the funeral and interment of mother and babe occurred, conducted by the Rev. B. S. Akers, of the Baptist church, the family graveyard being the place of burial. The same casket, almost hidden from sight by flowers wrought into designs of exquisite, odoriferous beauty, held both mother and child, each seemingly asleep beneath the fragrant buds and blossoms.

The funeral was very largely attended by friends from three States a very large number being there from Louisa, the home of the sorrow-stricken husband and the abode of Mr. and Mrs. Wellman during the short period of a happy married life.

Seldom has this paper been called to chronicle so sad a story as that which relates to the latter months of Mrs. Wellman's life. She married Mr. Harry G. Wellman, of this city about three years ago. She was a young woman of much beauty and charm of manner, amiable in disposition and lovely in character, and soon became a general favorite. Her married life was a happy one, her husband was devoted to her, and when the little one came her cup of happiness seemed full, nothing lacking. But it was not long after the coming of the little one before it became evident that the mother was marked by the Destroyer. She became ill, and it was all too plain that consumption was preying upon her, and every effort made, every possible measure taken to prevent her young-hopeful life becoming a victim to the scourge. Physicians were consulted, journeys made, and every known means of restoration to health used, but all was fruitless, and it was soon apparent that death was inevitable. To add to the sorrow of the husband and parents of the wife and daughter the tender little one, never very strong, sickened and faded, until its wasted little body was laid in the coffin beside the cold form of the mother who wanted to live for "Harry and my baby." Its short ten months of troubled life ended peacefully, and of it we may truly say, "It is better off."

The many Louisa friends of Mr. Wellman have a large measure of sorrow and sympathy for him in this hour of great bereavement. The loss of his young wife and babe is surely a heavy blow, and all who have loved and lost offer words of cheer and consolation.

PROPOSED REUNION.

Mr. John S. Marcum, one of the foremost criminal lawyers of West Virginia, was in this city a few hours last Monday. Mr. Marcum was a student in the old Masonic Academy, and while here this week he said it would be a good thing to have in the near future a reunion of the survivors of the classes of 1866 to 1872. Some very prominent men, lawyers, doctors and business men, and many noble, useful women are living who attended the old school during—and since—those years. Such a reunion as this would doubtless be a source of much interest and pleasure to all concerned. Mr. Marcum, whose address is Huntington, said he would like to hear from his old fellow students regarding this matter.

Death of L. F. Chapman.

Mr. L. F. Chapman, editor and proprietor of the Catlettsburg Tribune, died suddenly at his home in Huntington last Monday morning. He had been in failing health for some time but had not ceased from his newspaper work. The immediate cause of death was heart failure and hemorrhage of the lungs. Mr. Chapman was born in Wayne county and was 39 years old but had spent several years in Catlettsburg. He was closely related to George Ed. Chapman, of this county, and had visited this section not long ago. Mr. Chapman left a widow and one son to mourn his untimely decease. He was prominent in the business circles of Catlettsburg, a sober, industrious citizen and had made his paper a success. The News extends its condolence to the family.

C. & O. Will Double Track.

There are rumors to the effect that the C. and O. railway will double track the Big Sandy Division in the near future. Also, that the Baltimore and Ohio will have some connection with the enterprise, but just what the arrangement is we have not learned. New rail is now being laid on the entire Big Sandy Division. It is 30 pounds per yard, replacing 55 pound rail. The business of this division can be taken care of on a single track and especially on the quality of track the line has had.

Jack Bingham Insane.

Jack Bingham, the well known ex-policeman, of Huntington, pugilist and late special agent for the Chesapeake and Ohio railway company, has been declared insane, before a court of lunacy, held in Huntington, yesterday, and will be sent to the Second Hospital for the Insane, at Spencer, W. Va.—Catlettsburg Tribune.

ED. SCHAUB WOUNDED.

Popular Traveling Salesman Shot at Kenova.

An unfortunate shooting took place in Kenova about eight o'clock last Saturday evening as a result of which Edward Schaub, a well known Huntington traveling salesman, was dangerously wounded in a ward of Huntington hospital. Mr. Harris, an N. and W. engineer and one of Kenova's best citizens, feels equally as badly over the affair as any one could feel. Mr. Harris had been out on a run and had just returned to Kenova. When he entered his home on Chestnut street, he passed a man on the porch, who, in the darkness, he believed to be his brother-in-law, Millard Jackson, whom he saluted in a friendly way. But the response was such as to show him his mistake and he demanded to know who the visitor was, and what he was doing there.

This demand was received by hostile demonstrations and threatening remarks on the part of the stranger, and Harris entered the house, closing the spring lock on the door as he entered. Schaub, Harris asserts, attempted to follow him into the house. After entering, Harris procured his revolver and came back to the porch by a side door exit. Here he renewed his efforts to have Schaub leave the premises, and trouble ensued which resulted in the firing of the shot. The ball from Harris' revolver struck full in the center of the right breast, piercing the lung and lodging in some undiscovered spot, near the spinal column.

Harris was arrested Sunday morning on a warrant sworn out by a brother of Ed Schaub, charging him with shooting with intent to kill. He was acquitted at the examining trial.—Ceredo Advance.

Mr. Schaub was quite well known in Louisa and this section of the country, as salesman for a Portsmouth dry goods house. He was here the same day he was shot.

POLITICAL.

Matters of Interest to the Voters.

Items For Those Who Want to Know About the Kentucky State Campaign.

Owensboro, Ky., Sept. 26.—Friends and supporters of Edward C. O'Rear, Republican candidate for Governor, were thrown into a panic today, when it became known that Col. J. W. McCulloch, the millionaire distiller of Owensboro and president of the Kentucky Distillers' Association, is flooding Western Kentucky with letters to United States congressmen, postmasters and other Federal employes, calling for funds to assist in financing the Republican campaign in Kentucky this fall.

While Judge O'Rear is positively refusing to discuss national issues in any of his speeches, Mr. McCulloch, in his circular letter, says that victory in November will not only mean a Republican State "longer than we live, but at the next meeting of Kentucky Legislature, it will give us another United States Senator." He declares that it will aid in the re-nomination of Taft in 1912. He declares that the eyes of the national organization are centered on this campaign and that "it is the duty of all Republicans to come to the aid of the State ticket."

On stationery of the "Republican State Campaign," the names of John W. Langley, chairman, and Alvis S. Bennett, secretary, appearing at the top. Col. McCulloch is sending out his appeals for aid. When Col. McCulloch was asked today for an explanation for his sudden activity in behalf of the man he had threatened to bolt if nominated, he merely grinned and refused to discuss the subject. An interesting story is contained in a special from Paducah on the organization of the branch headquarters at the Palmer House in that city on Sunday, August 27.

Col. McCulloch went to Paducah that day to meet Judge O'Rear, Chairman Langley and other Republicans. It is said both O'Rear and Langley had written Mr. McCulloch more than once urging a conference. On the Sunday of this meeting, it was given out in the newspapers that Judge O'Rear went to hear his old pastor, now located in Paducah preach and enjoyed the sermon very much; also that Judge O'Rear spent the remainder of the day at rest, refusing always to travel on trains or transact any worldly affairs on Sunday.

According to the story just published, after dinner on that Sunday there assembled in Judge O'Rear's room about twenty prominent Republicans, who had come by his invitation, from the First and Second congressional districts. Judge O'Rear immediately took charge of the business in hand, and at his dictation the following officers were chosen for the branch organization, with headquarters at Paducah: T. W. Vinson, of Caldwell county, chairman of Executive Committee; W. P. Scott, of Hopkins county, chairman of Speakers' Committee; Wallace Key, of Calloway county, chairman of Publicity Committee; W. T. Fowler, of Christian county, chairman of Organization Committee; John W. McCulloch, of Daviess county, chairman of Finance Committee. Mr. McCulloch was made chairman of the Finance Committee on motion of Mr. Langley, with Judge O'Rear nodding and smiling approval. Mr. McCulloch accepted the honor, and in his characteristic, businesslike way said there was no time like the present for beginning the work of raising money. He therefore announced his own subscription to the campaign fund, and in a few minutes had raised among those in the room $500.

This put some enthusiasm into the meeting, and O'Rear, it is said, slapped McCulloch on the shoulder, saying he had never known before what a good fellow he was, and added: "Go out and get it; don't confine yourself to the First and Second districts, but get it anywhere."

And McCulloch, heeding the admonition of his leader, has flooded Western Kentucky with letters to storekeepers and gaugers; postmasters, rural route carriers and Republicans generally, appealing for funds to elect O'Rear and make Kentucky safe for Taft next year. Mr. McCulloch, as the head of the distillers' organization, has spent much time at Frankfort his past two or three sessions of the Legislature working against the passage of the "county unit" bill, and he vigorously opposed the nomination of O'Rear for Governor because of his advocacy of the "county unit" bill, even saying he would never vote for him.

McDermott Will Keep His Word.

Judge O'Rear says the Democrats are not sincere about the county unit. He pays the highest possible tribute to Edward J. McDermott, Democratic nominee for Lieut-Governor, "as the classiest one of the bunch." Mr. McDermott has publicly stated that a majority of the allowed to vote on the extension of people's representatives will be the county unit, and on all other questions brought before the Legislature, and pledges his sacred honor that as Lieut-Governor he will pack no committees for or against the measure, and that he will not permit obstructions that will prevent a vote being taken. How can McDermott be the sort of man O'Rear says he is, unless he will keep his word on the county unit, and on every other issue in this Campaign?

We say to you that McDermott is honest, truthful and since that he will faithfully keep every promise, and that Judge O'Rear knows he will.

Sailing Under False Pretenses.

Judge O'Rear hardly crossed the line into the Eleventh District before he began to remind the mountain people that he had written the opinion which had perfected the titles of their land, and made their homes secure. That is true, but only half true. Judge O'Rear could not have put that decision upon the books had not his fellow Judges, all Democrats, empowered him to do so. It was not a political decision, nor was it the result of personal influence or persuasion. It was a just verdict, which the Supreme Court of the United States upheld, and it not only secured to the mountain people their humble homes, but made it possible for capital to build railroads, open mines and bring timber to market, and otherwise uncover the riches of that marvelous section. There was general rejoicing all over Kentucky when this decision enfranchised the mountain people. Politics had nothing to do with it, and Judge O'Rear had just one vote on the question.

It will become the Judge of the Court of Appeals to point to his decisions, and remind the people who profited by them that his hand wrote them, and that for this reason he should receive their generous consideration. It is not only against the ethics of the Judge's profession for him to do this, but it brings the whole Court in disrepute to have its decisions placed upon the bargain counter as if they were matters of barter and sale.

Whenever Judge O'Rear is called to account for some expression in his speech, or in his platform, he tries to change the subject by saying "it's all a joke." The humorous jurlat will find that the very seriously, and the proposition people are taking this campaign to have four more years of Willson and his crowd at Frankfort does not strike them as a laughing matter.

Don't forget that the nineteen senators to be elected this fall will not only vote for United States Senator next year, but will vote for a successor to Senator W. O. Bradley in 1914. The election in November is the most far-reaching in effect ever held in Kentucky.
