THE HOME CIRCLE AND ITS INTERESTS

Column Dedicated to Tired Mothers as They Join The Home Circle at Evening Tide.

When Wife's A-Goin' Away.
Somehow yawns around the grocery Aint so funny as before, An' a'm all the time forgettin' This or that 'ere little chere;
When I get out in the kitchen, Guess I'm hangin' around an' stay; Guess I'm foolish cause this ev'nin', Why—my wife's a-goin' away.
She's a fixin' things up for me With a thoughtful, lovin' care, Tellin' me that somethin's here,
And somethin' else is over there; Lookin' sober, speakin' low voiced, Though she hasn't much to say; Ketch her eyes on me all dim like—Guess she hates to go away.
Wish 'twas over—wish 'twas way off.
Wish we didn't have to part;
That's just what I keep a-thinkin' An' afeelin' in my heart.
Praps our speerits, see much further Than the partin' of today, An' jest hint what they can't tell us, When a loved one's goin' away.
Call to mind another journey,
By an' by we all must go.
Wonder who's a gettin' ready For the train that moves so slow?
Brings the tears to think about it, So I git near her an' pray It may be my time for startin' Just when she's agoin' away.
Women may train their daughters In all the ways they imagine to be pleasing to men; they may teach them to wiggle and squirm and reef in their waists and roll their eyes and lip out inspird nothings between carminestained lips, and yet the men will desert them to flock about the girl who bleeds at the bitter, thoughtless, but cutting word of a husband. When she is gone to heaven, and he "weeps o'er her bier" he will remember it.
Sometimes the hasty word has been spoken, the sharp, snappish word been carelessly uttered in the home circle. The true wife's heart so often bleeds at the bitter, thoughtless, but
is gone to heaven, and he "weeps o'er
her bier" he will remember it.
There is a demand for good boys.
The boy who is honest, earnest and industrious, will not be long out of a job. There are lots of prosperous business men, merchants and mechanics, and the cook may represent the engineer. However beautifully furnished the rest of the ship is, if the engineer is incapable, or the engine is broken, all will go wrong; so it is with the home; no matter how nice the parlors are furnished, if the cook is not competent, everyone connected with the home will have to suffer the consequences.

Let us not wait for chances for doing good to come to us; but to go out to meet them. Too many beautiful opportunities escape us otherwise. As charity begins at home, so should love.
We don't care much for either the charity or love that would leave its nearest to want for duty or affection and go out into the world to work. We find it a delightful plan to make each one of our homefolks happy about some one thing each day of our life —plan little surprises for their delight, do little deeds for them, brighten a dull hour, or congratulate them upon some achievement of their own.
Money is a good thing, especially in these times, but there is something much more valuable. It is character, the consciousness of a pure and honorable life. This should be a young man's first aim to preserve at any cost.
Home life is the sure test of home character. Let the husband grow cross and surly, and the wife grow cold and unamiable. The children grow cross and savage as young bears. The father becomes callous, peevish, hard, the kind of a two-legged brute with cloths on. The wife bristles in self-defense. They develop an unnatural growth and sharpness of teeth and the house is haunted by ugliness and domestic brawls. This is not what the family circle should be. If one must be rude to any, let it be to some one he does not love—not his wife, brother or parents.
The kitchen in a house may represent an engine room in a steamship, who are constantly on the look out for good boys. They do not look for them on the streets, however, but in some sort of employment. They have no use for an idle boy. He is too apt to make an idle man.

Though you may be cut off from your early associates, and though you may be separated from all your kindred, young man, is there not a room somewhere that you can call your own? Though it be the fourth story of a third class boarding house, into that room gather books, pictures and a harp. Hang your mother's portrait over the mantle. Bid unholy mirth stand back from that threshold. Consecrate some spot in that room with the knee of prayer. By the memory of other days, a father's counsel, a mother's love and a sister's confidence, call it home.
Shovel your saloon money, theater money, shooting gallery money, rink money, tobacco money, into the bank, and gather something to beautify and render more pleasant the sweetest place on earth—home.
IN MEMORY OF OUR BRO-THER OLLIE JAS. PENNINGTON We had a little darling once, he was our joy and pride, we loved him, ah! perhaps too well, for soon he slept and died; all is dark within our dwelling, lonely are our hearts today, for the one we loved so dearly has forever passed away. Those little lips we used to kiss are closed forever now. Those sparkling eyes that shone so bright beneath that pearly brow, that little heart that beat so free from all care and gloom, are hidden now from those he loved, beneath the silent tomb.
Darling Jimmie you have left us now forever more, but we hope to meet our loved one on that bright and happy shore. The little chair is empty now; the little clothes laid by; a mother's hope a father's joy in death's cold arms doeth lie. Go little darling to thy home on yonder blissful shore; we miss thee here, but soon we'll come, where we shall part no more.
His parents, sisters and brother.
NEVER FAILS TO MISS.
In a note to the NEWS an old subscriber writes as follows: Fort Steele, Wyo.—"I may forget to remit, but I never fail to miss the Big Sandy News when I am not receiving it regularly.
Yours truly,
J. A. WILSON.

ADVOCATE LEAVES THE WEST VIRGINIA FIELD.

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 14.—The Rev. E. G. B. Mann, of this city, editor of the Central Methodist Advocate, returned to-day from Clarksburg, W. Va., where he attended the conference. While there he closed a deal for the sale of West Virginia territory, formerly covered by the Central Methodist Advocate, to the Methodist Laymen's Herald, of Sutton, W. Va., which will now become the official organ of the West Virginia Conference. The Central Methodist Advocate will drop the word "Advocate" and become the official organ of the Kentucky and Louisville Conferences.

DEMAND FOR NEW COINS INDICATES PROSPERITY.

Washington, Sept. 19.—Demand from banks and merchants for newly minted half dollars, quarters and dimes, has led Robert W. Woolley, director of the mint to purchase since August 1, 4,375,000 fine ounces of silver, almost as much as was purchased during the entire year of 1914.

Owing to the world-wide depression, the silver was purchased at an average price of a little more than 48 cents an ounce, several cents under the average price paid last year. Officials explain that India and other countries which usually take large quantities of silver have not been so extensively in the market this year.

There are only about 173 grains of silver in a half dollar, so that the mint can make many millions of these coins from the amount now on hand. Director Woolley said today that the increased demand for subsidiary coins shows greater prosperity among workmen.

IN MEMORY.

Martha Jane Riffe of Yatesville has fallen asleep. The day time of her life has faded from the west and within her kind eyes there can never be the trembling luster of another dawn. Her gentle and noble spirit has winged its way into the mystic regions of the great beyond and we have left with us but the reverend memory of a tender soul. Hers was an honest and noble life, it filled the lives of her many friends with sunshine. She sought to share the burdens of the weak and always offered a kind and helping hand to the weary and distressed. Her acts were rich in generous deeds and has left in the hearts of those she loved and helped a legacy of thanks. On the 22nd day of January 1832 the gate of life was opened to her and on the 16th day of September 1915 the gate of death was closed to her at the age of 83 years, 7 months and 25 days. She was married to J. M. Riffe November 26, 1856 and they lived together as husband and wife 58 years, 9 months and 27 days, and to this union was born 8 children, 3 dead and 5 living. Those living are Mrs. Mary Holbrook, J. B. Riffe, W. J. Riffe, J. H. Riffe and G. L. Riffe, and from this union there are 86 descendants, children grand-children, great-grandchildren and great great-grandchildren and for the consolation of the dear companion the loving children the kind neighbors and friends of grandma Riffe weep not for her. She was ready to be offered and the time of her departure was at hand. She had fought a good fight. She had finished her course. She had kept the faith. Henceforth there is laid up for her a crown of righteousness which the Lord, the righteous judge shall give her at that day and not to her only, but to her relatives, friends and neighbors and all that love his appearing. You did all for her you could do but could not stay the hand of death but thank God there is no aching heads or burning brows or death-bell chimes in that fair clime to which she has gone, but all is joy, peace and love. She told her friends around her bed that she had a better home than this. Her sickness was of long duration and her suffering great, but she bore it without a murmur and just before the end came she said I am going, lead me to the grave, so we see that life is a span, a fleeting hour—

IN MEMORY.

Church South the following January. Nettie was a bright, intelligent girl, loved and respected by all who knew her. She was sick only a few days, yet she bore her suffering with patience and meekness. While Nettie will be missed in her home, missed by her classmates, missed by her brothers and sister, yet he is not dead to them, but shall be in their memory a bright and guarding star, ever pointing them heavenward. God bent his loving arm and clasped darling Nettie's hand and watched her beyond this vale of tears where sickness, pain nor death are felt. No more to be with her father who preceded her to the glory land several years ago. So weep not dear friends for Nettie as those who have no hope, for we know that heaven now retains our treasure. SOMEbody's RIVAL.

Big Blaine Produce Co.

We are now located in two counties as dealers in the grocery, hardware and produce business. My youngest brother is doing business for me and we hope the Johnson county people will pay high for eggs. I want him to go in the lead. He pays 24c doz. for eggs, at Chandlerville, Ky. Strict cash business. The way we are located now we do more business with our money than lots of dealers can with $30,000. We show the other dealers how we can. We get more money in circulation than any ten stores. Big Sale going right on. Come. We give away 5 gal. jug, baking powder, sample Honey & Tar, free next 30 days, to old ladies bringing their eggs here. 28 lb. fine white salt for 12 eggs. 25c bottle liniment only 10 eggs. 16 oz. Snow King baking powder, 4 cans for 13 eggs. 4 lb. No. 6 sugar, 12 eggs. See many other articles. 18 bars castle soap only 12 eggs. 4 bars in one stick. We pay 25c lb. tub washed wool, sheared from sheep, 25c and 25c, green cow hides, 12c, salted, 14c. Horse hides, mane and tail, $1.50, $2.50, $4.75. Sheep hide 25c, 50c, 75c. We buy everything. We sell to the consumer cheaper than lots of big dealers can buy. Some dealers in dry goods and groceries circulated to the jobbers that we sold pure lard for $4.50 can. The statement is false. We certify that we never sold a can of pure lard for less than $4.99, 2 cans only. Our price $5.50 can. Some have tried every way to get the jobbers sore at us. We have got the backing. We are independent as Rockefeller. We six years ago stood at the foot, in Dun & Bradstreet. Today we stand head in our country and at the Bank of Blaine, Ky. We are the leaders at our two stores. Our trade is increasing at our Big Sale. Ask the jobber. We buy big bills, we pay, and the world can't beat it. We buy 1100 lb. coffee, one order, 100 cans pure lard, one order, 100 bb. flour one order. We are just what we are. We hope every dealer's dollar is what we look on. Success to the world. We remain, leader on eggs. 9-17-14.
