

Why a Majority of the Smaller Cars Come on Goodyear Tires

Last year more cars using 30x3, 30x3 1/2, or 31x4-inch tires were factory-equipped with Goodyear Tires than with any other kind.

This is plainly a result of the high relative value produced in these tires for the smaller cars by Goodyear's enormous resources and scrupulous care.

They represent the same intense endeavor to supply utmost satisfaction in tires that has laid the basis for the marked preference which exists everywhere for Goodyear Tires in the larger sizes.

This real Goodyear value in tires is available for your Ford, Chevrolet, Dort, Maxwell, or other car using one of these sizes, at our nearest Service Station. Go there for these tires and Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes.

30x3 1/2 Goodyear Double-Cure Fabric, All-Weather Tread $23.50
30x3 1/2 Goodyear Single-Cure Fabric, Anti-Skid Tread $21.50

Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes are thick, strong tubes that reinforce casings properly. Why risk a good casing with a cheap tube? Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes cost little more than tubes of less merit. 30x3 1/2 size in water-proof bag $4.50

RETURN OF DEAD BEGINS SEPT. 15

80,000 AMERICAN SOLDIERS ARE BURIED IN FRANCE, WAR DEPARTMENT STATES.

Washington.—Removal to the United States of bodies of American soldiers and marines, now buried in the battle area, known as the French zone of the armies, will begin by September 15, according to information furnished members of the Kentucky delegation in Congress by Col. Charles Pierce, chief of the Cemeterial Division of the War Department.
The graves of about 80,000 out of the 80,000 American soldiers and marines who are buried in France, are in this area, but until now the United States has been prohibited by the French Government from any operations looking to the removal of these bodies. The restrictions against disinterment of bodies in the battle area are to be removed, effective September 15, when the work of exhuming the American dead for transfer to this country will begin.
Information furnished members of Congress by the War Department is that the number of unidentified American dead in France has now been reduced to less than 2 per cent; and that the work of removing the bodies already is well under way in England, where Southampton is being used as the shipping point; and in France, outside of the battle area, where the bodies are being shipped from Brest and St. Nazaire.
Removal Will Take Year.
It is expected that the work of transferring the soldier-dead to American soil will take more than a year.
Under regulations for the return of American dead the bodies buried in Germany, Luxembourg, North Russia and all other hostile territory will be returned to the United States, whether such return is requested by relatives of the dead soldiers or not. In France, however, only those will be returned whose families request such action. It is estimated that the families of about two-thirds of the American dead in France will make such request.
About 75,000 American soldiers are buried in France and about 5,000 American marines.
20,000 Bodies to Remain.
They believed that between 20,000 and 25,000 bodies will be left in France where they will be placed in several permanent cemeteries to be established in that country for the American dead. One of these permanent cemeteries will be located at Sureres, just on the outskirts of Paris.
The cost for the removal of each American body from France to its home in the United States will be about $500. The burial expenses of each American body which will remain in one of the permanent American cemeteries in France will be between $200 and $250.

McADOO IS NOW LEADING IN RACE FOR PRESIDENT

Following is from Mark Sullivan's newspaper column in Washington.—The Democratic presidential situation has in a few days become fairly definite. At the same time, whatever exists in the situation now may be wholly changed by events at the Republican National Convention. The Republicans hold their convention on June 8, Democrats on June 28. This will give the Democrats to adjust themselves to whatever the Republicans decide upon what kind of a platform the Republicans adopt and on kind of a candidate they nominate. The Democrats will be sure to certain adaptations in their program.

Object to these changes, it can be that just now McAdoo is definitely a greater possibility than any other person. A few weeks ago McAdoo and Palmer stood more or less equal and Palmer is not yet out of the situation. Undoubtedly, however, Palmer's fortunes have been disappointing during the last few weeks. The first State-wide primary in which he was entered, Michigan, he made a poor showing.

Other Nomination Possibilities.
Meantime a good many Democratic leaders, who recognize the arguments that would be made against Mr. McAdoo, especially the argument of "dynasty," are giving consideration to other figures. One of the principal of these is Governor Cox of Ohio. A rather important group of leaders are working in Governor Cox's behalf. Their argument is that he is a good executive and that in three times as Governor of Ohio he has proved himself an able State administrator. Further than this, his vote-getting capacity in a State which will be most important as between Democrats and Republicans next December, is a strong argument in his behalf.

Vice President Marshall is frequently mentioned, and this mention has a stronger basis than the mere casual compliment which is frequently paid to a man in his position. A number of Democratic Senators who earnestly want to name the most available man and who are conscious of arguments which would be made against McAdoo, Palmog or Cox, are considering seriously the question of nominating Marshall. Marshall is liked by the Senate and by Washington generally. He is not merely liked in the sense that he has a friendly and interesting personality—he is liked in the sense that he is recognized as a man of sound sense and very considerable ability.

Davis As Presidential Timber.
There is hardly a Democrat in Washington, or a Republican either, who will not readily admit in private conversation that they have in the party a man who stands out as better than any of those already mentioned. This man is the present Ambassador to Great Britain, John D. Davis of West Virginia. Mr. Davis is a man whose ability can be described in superlative terms. One way of expressing it, frequently heard, is that he "has all of Wilson's good qualities and none of his undesirable ones."

Ambassador Davis has a fine mind. When he was Solicitor General of the United States it was frequently among his duties to represent the nation in arguments before the Supreme Court, and justices of the court are frequently quoted in Washington gossip as saying there was no lawyer in the United States whom it was so great a pleasure to hear, Mr. Davis has a distinguished mind and a distinguished personality. The fact that he is not further in the foreground for the Democratic nomination is due chiefly to two facts. In the first place, it is not widely known to the public, and in the second place there is no important group that has an acute interest in promoting his fortunes—no such group as McAdoo, for example, has. If an energetic group of Democratic leaders should get behind Mr. Davis the movement to nominate him could go a long distance.

Pure-bred Pigs For Sale

Three years ago this Bank placed a number of registered pure-bred gilt pigs with boys in Lawrence County, under the supervision of the County Agent. Then the increase each season has been placed with other boys, until the club has reached such volume that the County Agent can not give the necessary attention to all members. These are Big Bone Poland China Pigs.
It has been decided to stop the endless chain plan by selling a pig from each litter this spring. The price will be only $16 each, which is about half what such pigs sell for in Central Kentucky. This price will pay up the expenses. The offer is first to Lawrence County people, then to Wayne County, W. Va.; then if any are left they will be sold at highest prices elsewhere. Our object is to encourage better livestock in this vicinity. We will have about 35 pigs to dispose of this spring, eligible for registration.
File your application at once and take your turn in getting the pigs. Buyers will be notified when and where to get the pigs.
