BIG ROAD MEETING AT LOUISVILLE

Movement to Take Great Forward Step in Kentucky.

A big meeting was called for Louisville Thursday of this week to further the movement for good roads in Kentucky. Delegations from every county in the State were sought. The occasion was Governor's day at the State Fair.

The object is to formulate plans by which more money will be raised for the State road fund, and to put such an organization behind it that the Legislature may be aided and caused to take definite action on a larger road program.

It is probable that the meeting will urge a bond issue of fifty millions for road purposes. Mr. Ben Williamson, one of Eastern Kentucky's liveliest and most successful business men, is chairman of a district composed of several counties. He headed a large delegation from this district.

Lawrence county delegates who went are R. L. Vinson, Dr. T. D. Burgess, Augustus Dwyer, F. H. Yates, Ed W. Kirk and M. F. Conley.

This is regarded as the largest movement ever started in Kentucky. There has been a good start on road building in Kentucky, and the ice is sufficiently broken to make the time ripe for a great step forward. If Eastern Kentucky is to have proper standing in these matters we must take a firm interest all the way through. Our people must talk and work and co-operate in these movements.

MRS. WAYNE WELLMAN DIES.

We are very much grieved to learn of the death of Mrs. Rebecca Wellman of Boone, Fort Gay, W. Va.

Mrs. Wellman was overcome by the much dreaded disease known as dropsy. She had lived a long life, being at her death 56 years of age. She had been a devoted mother and had been a member of the Missionary Baptist church for more than 40 years. She is survived by her husband, Mr. Wayne Wellman, one daughter, Mrs. Jack Armstrong of Portsmouth, Ohio, three sons, R. F. Howard, Logansville, Ky.; B. G. Howard, New Boston, O.; and M. G. Howard, Cincinnati, Ky. Also, one brother, William Perkins, near Huntington, W. Va.

Her funeral and interment were held under the direction of Rev. Bryan of Fort Gay, W. Va., at the Wellman cemetery. A relative.

CHILDREN'S DAY AT ESTEP.

"Uncle Sam" is dead. We no longer behold that feeble form and hear that chattered voice at our Sunday school gatherings, but the old chariot wheel is still being rolled along by his followers, the most excellent Sunday school work which he established in Lawrence county has become a living issue. The wonderful gathering of the people at the children's day at Estep, chapel, Sunday, Sept. 11, 1921, was a day of joy and gladness. The Sunday school work is moving onward, and long to be remembered by the people that were there. The program was under the management of Dr. Hall and his faithful helpers. It was a fine selection and was carried out almost to a letter. Great credit is due to those who did a training. We would not forget the credit due the children who performed their parts in a most able manner. The whole matter went along without the least friction. It made it more wonderful was the part taken by the elderly people. They went in with the children of four years up to advanced gray in years. The great success of the day was largely due to the active part taken by the whole neighborhood. I would not venture to go into special details as to how the program was carried out, as it would make my letter too long. I desire to mention only a few things. The gate of opportunity was opened by a small gate which was pushed through and hung to the gate. This was a fine job and his twelve sons were fully illustrated, from the time Joseph was sold into Egypt by his brothers up to the time Joseph made himself known to his brothers. He was enjoyed by all who were able to see it. Among the last scenes was the oration of a motherless little girl, the manner in which she brought out the subject was so very touching that the whole house was flooded with tears. It is said "A little child should lead them." In closing I wish to say the program which showed great ability in selection was destined to teach the rising generation to lead the children the ways they should go.

ASHLAND BOOSTERS MAKE A BIG HIT

The Ashland Boosters came, saw and conquered. They arrived at Louisa at 7:40 a. m. Wednesday, carried by the finest train that had ever traversed the Big Sandy valley—a long line of sleeping cars, an elegant diner, and a comfortable car.

They were met by an immense crowd of Louisa people, who gave them a rousing reception. The fine brass band carried by the boosters started the ball with some good music and a male quartette good enough for any occasion rendered an excellent number.

The crowd was assembled on the lawn and large porch at the Louisa Inn, alongside of the point where the train stopped. Mr. Fred M. Vinson then welcomed the visitors on behalf of the city. He did it with genuine enthusiasm and in well chosen words.

Mr. B. F. Forgy then announced that Mr. J. W. M. Stewart had been asked by the boosters to speak for them. Being a loyal native of Louisa and one of whom we are all proud, the announcement was hailed with pleasure by the local people. Mr. Stewart made a very interesting address, covering history and hopes and predictions relating to the entire Big Sandy valley and especially Louisa and Ashland. Mr. Stewart's successful career has been noted with great satisfaction by the people of his old home town.

John E. Buckingham, another native Big Sandy man, born just across the river from Louisa, followed with a strong address that caught the crowd. He has taken a place of leadership in Ashland alongside that of Mr. Stewart, Judge John F. Hager, and other Big Sandians who have adopted Ashland as their home.

There was more good music and then a great many of the boosters accepted an invitation to ride over our newly paved streets and see Louisa. Others walked through the business district and introduced themselves to the business men.

The end of the two hours allotted to Louisa came all too quickly and the party got aboard the train and proceeded on the way up Big Sandy. They will reach Ashland on their return trip early Friday morning.

On the train, attached to the train, propped up by Mrs. Alice Foster, carried a number of ladies from Ashland.

Altogether it was a very fine affair and will do much to bring Ashland and the Big Sandy valley into closer touch. Louisa is glad they come and hopes to see them again and often.

Accidental Shot Fatal to Former Wayne Co. Boy

R. C. (Carl) McCoy, of Logan but formerly of Wayne, was fatally shot Saturday by his employer at the store of Lewis Furniture Co. McCoy died from the effects of the injury after three days. Funeral services were held at the home of his parents in Huntington Wednesday.

The shooting which resulted in McCoy's death was accidental. He and his employer were examining some new guns sent into Logan in connection with the recent labor trouble and left at the store of Lewis Furniture Co. The shot was fired from a gun which was thought not to be loaded. The bullet entered McCoy's abdomen, cutting a hole through his body from the right to left side. He was rushed to a Huntington hospital where it was determined that he could not survive. He regained consciousness and told of the shooting, saying that it was an accident.

McCoy was the son of George McCoy who was a jeweler in Wayne for many years. Carl went from Wayne to Logan some seven years ago. He was brakeman on the Guyas branch of the C. & O. for some time, leaving that work to become associated with the Lewis Furniture Co. as a traveling salesman. He was a member of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, which order conducted the burial rites. He is survived by a wife, a sixteen months old baby, father, mother, two sisters and one brother.—Wayne County News.

Large Attendance Marks the Opening of High and Graded Schools

Louisa's free schools opened last Monday with the largest attendance in their history.

The high school which serves the county and city pupils had 56 in attendance the first day, with others coming in later. The Masonic Hall has been put into good condition for the use of this school for the present year. Prof. Godby and Gilmer organized the school very promptly and the work is starting nicely.

The Louisa Board of Education has formally closed the contract with them for teaching all county high school students. They get free tuition and credits that are recognized in all colleges and universities.

The graded school is considerably crowded and arrangements are under way to relieve the congestion.

Mrs. A. H. Owens, formerly Miss Clifford Wilson, is filling the vacancy caused by the resignation of Miss Maude Smith.

The Board of Education visited both the high school and the graded school Monday morning. A few citizens also were present, which is a good indication of proper interest.

Washington, Sept. 11.—Clayde Lester, son of Paria Lester, of Fort Gay, Wayne-co., W. Va., was an alumnus of Marshall College, and president of his class, and a life of promise was opening to him when this country went to war against Germany. He was killed in the battle of the Argonne Forest, a member of the 86th Division.

He was one of the 8 bodies of soldiers interred with high military honors at Arlington, Sept. 8. The number of his grave is 364. His body was among those which narrowly escaped cremation at the big pier fire in New York.

The West Virginia hero's father, Paria P. Lester, came to Washington to attend the funeral services over the remains of his son and was accompanied to Arlington by Representative Wells Goodykorn. There was a large gathering of relatives and friends at the 68 graves, a detachment of the American Legion, a company of regular soldiers, from Fort Myer with a band. The regulation military rites were performed, three chaplains officiating, two protestant clergymen, one representing the army, the other the navy, and a Catholic chaplain-priest. The band played "Nearer My God to Thee." The burial rites were read by the three ministers, each in his turn, a firing squad fired two volleys over the grave and taps were sounded. Flags were removed from the markers and presented to relatives who requested them, as is the custom, and then the graves were closed.
