

Stamps Flower Letters.

Caboose figures lanterns are ready made. The light in the lantern is a long and substantial candle and the door of the framework are filled with ground glass, oil paper, oil silk or other transparent material. Inside of the lanterns are suspended over the flame so high up it is possible to have a little windmill at the end of whose arm are suspended many grotesque or pretty objects running all the way round the light.

These figures are cut from cardboard or are made of bamboo, silk, cotton and other materials. They represent horses, warrioress, Indian women carrying babies upon their heads, fishes, dragons, serpents, griffins, knights on horseback, various king types equally famous chargers, birds, butterflies and insects. Many are of a colored translucent material, so that the light goes through material and is tinged in the orange.

The present the candle to the green, where that is employed, is lighted, the hot air ascending causes the windmill to revolve. This makes the figures move in a circle around the flame, casting a shadow, dark, pale or colored, upon the translucent paper. By alternating the characters it may be pleasure pursuing ever, spectators choosing an enemy or birds and animals in flight.

The effect is very pretty, and, as the fine thread or wire which suspends the figures casts almost no shadow, the appearance is very pleasing to an observer. The little figures are cut from metal scrolls by women and children, who display considerable skill and taste in constructing them for this curious style of ornamentation.—New York Mail and Express.

Birds Working in Central Africa.

The working of iron is certainly the most advanced art in this region of Africa. The ore is smelted, smelting and fashioned by the natives with great skill. Outside many of the villages stand the village smithy, merely a sort of shade boughs and grass supported by stakes. Here congregate the village gypsies, who justify their presence at an occasional turn at the bellows. The tools are primitive, a rock for an anvil, a weighty stone for the anvil and pieces of iron bound to wooden handles for the finer shaping and ornamental work. The bellows consist of two goatskins, each furnished with an open mouth like a purse, and connected up by a piece of bamboo pipe to a narrow by union nozzle bout 9 inches long.

The blower sits on the ground, seized the mouth of each skin in either hand, and raises and lowers them alternately, first with the mouth open and with a quick upward stroke to take in the air, then with the mouth closed and a downward pressure to force the blast. By this rude process a hot charcoal fire is maintained, and the work turned out is excellent for the primitive implements used—knives of great utility, and which take a good rough cutting edge arrowheads and spears, many of them curiously barbed and twisted, and some showing a knowledge of the value of the "blood groove," axes for battle and for general purposes, ornamented with linear patterns and beaded edges, and with the blades set at an acute angle to the shaft so that every ounce of power is transmitted in the direction of the blow.—Geographic Journal.

Poets in the House of Commons.

Several members of the house of commons have published volumes of poems—namely: William Abramson, member for Glamorganshire (Rhondda division), who is a Welsh bard, under the title of "Mabon"; William Allen, the member for Gateshead, who is an engineer and poet, and whose works include "A Book of Songs In English and Scottish"; William Johnston of Hallyhill, member of the southern division of Belfast, who is poet laureate of the institution of Orangemen in Ireland; Professor Jebb of Cambridge university, who has published translations into Greek and Latin verse, and T. D. Sullivan, member of the western division of Donegal, who has published a selection of songs. Sir George Otto Trevelyan published in 1859 a volume of poems entitled "The Ladies In Parliament," and other pieces, and has also written many verses, dramatic and satirical, of which another of the best known is "The Dawk Bunglow."

Henry Smith Wright has published the first four books of the "Iliad" of Homer in English hexameter verse. The prime minister (Mr. W. E. Gladstone), though he has not published a volume of poems, has written verses both in English and Latin, while among his papers is said to be a Greek tragedy, which may one day be sent out in book form. Mr. J. W. Crombie, member for Kincardineshire, is the author of "Some Poets of the People In Foreign Lands." Two members of the house of lords have recently published volumes of poems—namely, Lord Brougham, "Stray Verses," and the Bishop of Lincoln, "A Ladder of Heaven." London Times.

What Is Feat.

Little Johnny—Can I have some more pie?
Mamma—Do not say "can," say "May I have?"
Little Johnny—I forgot.
Mamma—Forgot what?
Little Johnny—That I have to be particular about grammar when I ask for pie—Good News.

The Ballet and the Opera.

As early as 1750 the ballet had been separated from the opera and given an independent dramatic form. Later on in the century the ballet assumed the form of a great rhythmical pantomime, and for many decades was kept in the theater of Milan in most exalted style—Music and Drama.

"Oh, mamma, see the poor horses! They go all the time, and they don't get anywhere," said a small boy compassionately, pointing to the horses at work in the theatrical machine.

Lotto XIII is the only pony that ever mounted down London's famous Piccadilly. The pony performed the foot ballet, as Mgr. Peacock, he visited London in 1855.

A census of the great trees of California, the "giant redwoods," reveals the fact that there is over 8,000 of them left, the average diameter of the lot being 35 inches.

It was at a beach picnic that little Billy, aged 12, thoughtfully, "Mamma, why put salt into the sea? why don't we live in it?"

Sold by J. P. Byron, druggist.

A Running Sore

From Head to Foot—Terrible Case of Eczema Completely Cured—Dyspepsia, Dizziness, Headache, All Cured by Hood's Saraparilla.

"I was troubled with eczema and had it bad that I was almost a running sore from head to foot. I did not receive benefit from the doctors, and thought I would try Hood's Saraparilla. Since taking a few bottles of this medicine I have not been troubled with eczema. It purified my blood and cured me." JOHN MOORE, Ponca City, Oklahoma.

"I was afflicted with blood poison. I endeavored to try Hood's Saraparilla, and after taking three bottles the symptoms of blood poisoning disappeared. I believe Hood's Saraparilla is the best medicine on the market." EDGAR F. A. LEONARD, Fairbank, Arizona.

"I was afflicted with dyspepsia. I could get nothing to cure me until I began taking Hood's Saraparilla. I have taken four bottles and now I am cured." JEFF D. KNOX, San Pedro, New Mexico.

Hood's Saraparilla is the One True Blood Purifier. Sold by all druggists. $1.50 per fl. oz.

There is more leprosy in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven leprosy to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Leprosy Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It takes internally in doses from two drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Hood's Family Pills are the best.

How to Prevent Pneumonia.

At this time of the year a cold is very contracted, and if let to run its course without the aid of some reliable cough medicine is liable to result in that dread disease, pneumonia. We know of no better remedy to cure a cough than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. We have used it quite extensively and it has always given entire satisfaction—Ogallala, Ind. Tel. Chief. This is the only remedy that is known to be a certain preventive of pneumonia. Among the many thousands who have used it for colds and a gripe we have never yet learned of a single case having resulted in pneumonia. Persons who have colds lungs or have reason to fear an attack of pneumonia should keep the remedy at hand. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale J. P. Byron, druggist.

A Cure for Lamie Back.

"My daughter when recovering from an attack of fever, was a great sufferer from pain in the back and hips," writes Loudon Grover, of Bardis, Ky. "After using quite a number of remedies with out any benefit she tried one bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and it has given entire relief." Chamberlain's Pain Balm is also a certain cure for rheumatism. Sold by J. P. Byron, druggist.

A Cure for Lamie Back.

"My daughter when recovering from an attack of fever, was a great sufferer from pain in the back and hips," writes Loudon Grover, of Bardis, Ky. "After using quite a number of remedies with out any benefit she tried one bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and it has given entire relief." Chamberlain's Pain Balm is also a certain cure for rheumatism. Sold by J. P. Byron, druggist.

I have given Chamberlain's Cough Remedy a fair test and consider it one of the very best remedies for cough that I have ever found. One dose has always been sufficient, although I use it freely. Any cold my children contract yields very readily to this medicine. I can conscientiously recommend it for cough and colds in children. George E. Wolf Clerk of the Circuit Court, Fortandina's Pain Balm is also a certain cure for rheumatism. Sold by J. P. Byron, druggist.

Henry Smith Wright has published the first four books of the "Iliad" of Homer in English hexameter verse. The prime minister (Mr. W. E. Gladstone), though he has not published a volume of poems—namely: William Abramson, member for Glamorganshire (Rhondda division), who is a Welsh bard, under the title of "Mabon"; William Allen, the member for Gateshead, who is an engineer and poet, and whose works include "A Book of Songs In English and Scottish"; William Johnston of Hallyhill, member of the southern division of Belfast, who is poet laureate of the institution of Orangemen in Ireland; Professor Jebb of Cambridge university, who has published translations into Greek and Latin verse, and T. D. Sullivan, member of the western division of Donegal, who has published a selection of songs. Sir George Otto Trevelyan published in 1859 a volume of poems entitled "The Ladies In Parliament," and other pieces, and has also written many verses, dramatic and satirical, of which another of the best known is "The Dawk Bunglow."

Henry Smith Wright has published the first four books of the "Iliad" of Homer in English hexameter verse. The prime minister (Mr. W. E. Gladstone), though he has not published a volume of poems—namely: William Abramson, member for Glamorganshire (Rhondda division), who is a Welsh bard, under the title of "Mabon"; William Allen, the member for Gateshead, who is an engineer and poet, and whose works include "A Book of Songs In English and Scottish"; William Johnston of Hallyhill, member of the southern division of Belfast, who is poet laureate of the institution of Orangemen in Ireland; Professor Jebb of Cambridge university, who has published translations into Greek and Latin verse, and T. D. Sullivan, member of the western division of Donegal, who has published a selection of songs. Sir George Otto Trevelyan published in 1859 a volume of poems entitled "The Ladies In Parliament," and other pieces, and has also written many verses, dramatic and satirical, of which another of the best known is "The Dawk Bunglow."

Henry Smith Wright has published the first four books of the "Iliad" of Homer in English hexameter verse. The prime minister (Mr. W. E. Gladstone), though he has not published a volume of poems—namely: William Abramson, member for Glamorganshire (Rhondda division), who is a Welsh bard, under the title of "Mabon"; William Allen, the member for Gateshead, who is an engineer and poet, and whose works include "A Book of Songs In English and Scottish"; William Johnston of Hallyhill, member of the southern division of Belfast, who is poet laureate of the institution of Orangemen in Ireland; Professor Jebb of Cambridge university, who has published translations into Greek and Latin verse, and T. D. Sullivan, member of the western division of Donegal, who has published a selection of songs. Sir George Otto Trevelyan published in 1859 a volume of poems entitled "The Ladies In Parliament," and other pieces, and has also written many verses, dramatic and satirical, of which another of the best known is "The Dawk Bunglow."

Henry Smith Wright has published the first four books of the "Iliad" of Homer in English hexameter verse. The prime minister (Mr. W. E. Gladstone), though he has not published a volume of poems—namely: William Abramson, member for Glamorganshire (Rhondda division), who is a Welsh bard, under the title of "Mabon"; William Allen, the member for Gateshead, who is an engineer and poet, and whose works include "A Book of Songs In English and Scottish"; William Johnston of Hallyhill, member of the southern division of Belfast, who is poet laureate of the institution of Orangemen in Ireland; Professor Jebb of Cambridge university, who has published translations into Greek and Latin verse, and T. D. Sullivan, member of the western division of Donegal, who has published a selection of songs. Sir George Otto Trevelyan published in 1859 a volume of poems entitled "The Ladies In Parliament," and other pieces, and has also written many verses, dramatic and satirical, of which another of the best known is "The Dawk Bunglow."

Henry Smith Wright has published the first four books of the "Iliad" of Homer in English hexameter verse. The prime minister (Mr. W. E. Gladstone), though he has not published a volume of poems—namely: William Abramson, member for Glamorganshire (Rhondda division), who is a Welsh bard, under the title of "Mabon"; William Allen, the member for Gateshead, who is an engineer and poet, and whose works include "A Book of Songs In English and Scottish"; William Johnston of Hallyhill, member of the southern division of Belfast, who is poet laureate of the institution of Orangemen in Ireland; Professor Jebb of Cambridge university, who has published translations into Greek and Latin verse, and T. D. Sullivan, member of the western division of Donegal, who has published a selection of songs. Sir George Otto Trevelyan published in 1859 a volume of poems entitled "The Ladies In Parliament," and other pieces, and has also written many verses, dramatic and satirical, of which another of the best known is "The Dawk Bunglow."

Henry Smith Wright has published the first four books of the "Iliad" of Homer in English hexameter verse. The prime minister (Mr. W. E. Gladstone), though he has not published a volume of poems—namely: William Abramson, member for Glamorganshire (Rhondda division), who is a Welsh bard, under the title of "Mabon"; William Allen, the member for Gateshead, who is an engineer and poet, and whose works include "A Book of Songs In English and Scottish"; William Johnston of Hallyhill, member of the southern division of Belfast, who is poet laureate of the institution of Orangemen in Ireland; Professor Jebb of Cambridge university, who has published translations into Greek and Latin verse, and T. D. Sullivan, member of the western division of Donegal, who has published a selection of songs. Sir George Otto Trevelyan published in 1859 a volume of poems entitled "The Ladies In Parliament," and other pieces, and has also written many verses, dramatic and satirical, of which another of the best known is "The Dawk Bunglow."

Henry Smith Wright has published the first four books of the "Iliad" of Homer in English hexameter verse. The prime minister (Mr. W. E. Gladstone), though he has not published a volume of poems—namely: William Abramson, member for Glamorganshire (Rhondda division), who is a Welsh bard, under the title of "Mabon"; William Allen, the member for Gateshead, who is an engineer and poet, and whose works include "A Book of Songs In English and Scottish"; William Johnston of Hallyhill, member of the southern division of Belfast, who is poet laureate of the institution of Orangemen in Ireland; Professor Jebb of Cambridge university, who has published translations into Greek and Latin verse, and T. D. Sullivan, member of the western division of Donegal, who has published a selection of songs. Sir George Otto Trevelyan published in 1859 a volume of poems entitled "The Ladies In Parliament," and other pieces, and has also written many verses, dramatic and satirical, of which another of the best known is "The Dawk Bunglow."

Henry Smith Wright has published the first four books of the "Iliad" of Homer in English hexameter verse. The prime minister (Mr. W. E. Gladstone), though he has not published a volume of poems—namely: William Abramson, member for Glamorganshire (Rhondda division), who is a Welsh bard, under the title of "Mabon"; William Allen, the member for Gateshead, who is an engineer and poet, and whose works include "A Book of Songs In English and Scottish"; William Johnston of Hallyhill, member of the southern division of Belfast, who is poet laureate of the institution of Orangemen in Ireland; Professor Jebb of Cambridge university, who has published translations into Greek and Latin verse, and T. D. Sullivan, member of the western division of Donegal, who has published a selection of songs. Sir George Otto Trevelyan published in 1859 a volume of poems entitled "The Ladies In Parliament," and other pieces, and has also written many verses, dramatic and satirical, of which another of the best known is "The Dawk Bunglow."

Henry Smith Wright has published the first four books of the "Iliad" of Homer in English hexameter verse. The prime minister (Mr. W. E. Gladstone), though he has not published a volume of poems—namely: William Abramson, member for Glamorganshire (Rhondda division), who is a Welsh bard, under the title of "Mabon"; William Allen, the member for Gateshead, who is an engineer and poet, and whose works include "A Book of Songs In English and Scottish"; William Johnston of Hallyhill, member of the southern division of Belfast, who is poet laureate of the institution of Orangemen in Ireland; Professor Jebb of Cambridge university, who has published translations into Greek and Latin verse, and T. D. Sullivan, member of the western division of Donegal, who has published a selection of songs. Sir George Otto Trevelyan published in 1859 a volume of poems entitled "The Ladies In Parliament," and other pieces, and has also written many verses, dramatic and satirical, of which another of the best known is "The Dawk Bunglow."

Henry Smith Wright has published the first four books of the "Iliad" of Homer in English hexameter verse. The prime minister (Mr. W. E. Gladstone), though he has not published a volume of poems—namely: William Abramson, member for Glamorganshire (Rhondda division), who is a Welsh bard, under the title of "Mabon"; William Allen, the member for Gateshead, who is an engineer and poet, and whose works include "A Book of Songs In English and Scottish"; William Johnston of Hallyhill, member of the southern division of Belfast, who is poet laureate of the institution of Orangemen in Ireland; Professor Jebb of Cambridge university, who has published translations into Greek and Latin verse, and T. D. Sullivan, member of the western division of Donegal, who has published a selection of songs. Sir George Otto Trevelyan published in 1859 a volume of poems entitled "The Ladies In Parliament," and other pieces, and has also written many verses, dramatic and satirical, of which another of the best known is "The Dawk Bunglow."

Henry Smith Wright has published the first four books of the "Iliad" of Homer in English hexameter verse. The prime minister (Mr. W. E. Gladstone), though he has not published a volume of poems—namely: William Abramson, member for Glamorganshire (Rhondda division), who is a Welsh bard, under the title of "Mabon"; William Allen, the member for Gateshead, who is an engineer and poet, and whose works include "A Book of Songs In English and Scottish"; William Johnston of Hallyhill, member of the southern division of Belfast, who is poet laureate of the institution of Orangemen in Ireland; Professor Jebb of Cambridge university, who has published translations into Greek and Latin verse, and T. D. Sullivan, member of the western division of Donegal, who has published a selection of songs. Sir George Otto Trevelyan published in 1859 a volume of poems entitled "The Ladies In Parliament," and other pieces, and has also written many verses, dramatic and satirical, of which another of the best known is "The Dawk Bunglow."

Henry Smith Wright has published the first four books of the "Iliad" of Homer in English hexameter verse. The prime minister (Mr. W. E. Gladstone), though he has not published a volume of poems—namely: William Abramson, member for Glamorganshire (Rhondda division), who is a Welsh bard, under the title of "Mabon"; William Allen, the member for Gateshead, who is an engineer and poet, and whose works include "A Book of Songs In English and Scottish"; William Johnston of Hallyhill, member of the southern division of Belfast, who is poet laureate of the institution of Orangemen in Ireland; Professor Jebb of Cambridge university, who has published translations into Greek and Latin verse, and T. D. Sullivan, member of the western division of Donegal, who has published a selection of songs. Sir George Otto Trevelyan published in 1859 a volume of poems entitled "The Ladies In Parliament," and other pieces, and has also written many verses, dramatic and satirical, of which another of the best known is "The Dawk Bunglow."

Henry Smith Wright has published the first four books of the "Iliad" of Homer in English hexameter verse. The prime minister (Mr. W. E. Gladstone), though he has not published a volume of poems—namely: William Abramson, member for Glamorganshire (Rhondda division), who is a Welsh bard, under the title of "Mabon"; William Allen, the member for Gateshead, who is an engineer and poet, and whose works include "A Book of Songs In English and Scottish"; William Johnston of Hallyhill, member of the southern division of Belfast, who is poet laureate of the institution of Orangemen in Ireland; Professor Jebb of Cambridge university, who has published translations into Greek and Latin verse, and T. D. Sullivan, member of the western division of Donegal, who has published a selection of songs. Sir George Otto Trevelyan published in 1859 a volume of poems entitled "The Ladies In Parliament," and other pieces, and has also written many verses, dramatic and satirical, of which another of the best known is "The Dawk Bunglow."

Henry Smith Wright has published the first four books of the "Iliad" of Homer in English hexameter verse. The prime minister (Mr. W. E. Gladstone), though he has not published a volume of poems—namely: William Abramson, member for Glamorganshire (Rhondda division), who is a Welsh bard, under the title of "Mabon"; William Allen, the member for Gateshead, who is an engineer and poet, and whose works include "A Book of Songs In English and Scottish"; William Johnston of Hallyhill, member of the southern division of Belfast, who is poet laureate of the institution of Orangemen in Ireland; Professor Jebb of Cambridge university, who has published translations into Greek and Latin verse, and T. D. Sullivan, member of the western division of Donegal, who has published a selection of songs. Sir George Otto Trevelyan published in 1859 a volume of poems entitled "The Ladies In Parliament," and other pieces, and has also written many verses, dramatic and satirical, of which another of the best known is "The Dawk Bunglow."

Henry Smith Wright has published the first four books of the "Iliad" of Homer in English hexameter verse. The prime minister (Mr. W. E. Gladstone), though he has not published a volume of poems—namely: William Abramson, member for Glamorganshire (Rhondda division), who is a Welsh bard, under the title of "Mabon"; William Allen, the member for Gateshead, who is an engineer and poet, and whose works include "A Book of Songs In English and Scottish"; William Johnston of Hallyhill, member of the southern division of Belfast, who is poet laureate of the institution of Orangemen in Ireland; Professor Jebb of Cambridge university, who has published translations into Greek and Latin verse, and T. D. Sullivan, member of the western division of Donegal, who has published a selection of songs. Sir George Otto Trevelyan published in 1859 a volume of poems entitled "The Ladies In Parliament," and other pieces, and has also written many verses, dramatic and satirical, of which another of the best known is "The Dawk Bunglow."

Henry Smith Wright has published the first four books of the "Iliad" of Homer in English hexameter verse. The prime minister (Mr. W. E. Gladstone), though he has not published a volume of poems—namely: William Abramson, member for Glamorganshire (Rhondda division), who is a Welsh bard, under the title of "Mabon"; William Allen, the member for Gateshead, who is an engineer and poet, and whose works include "A Book of Songs In English and Scottish"; William Johnston of Hallyhill, member of the southern division of Belfast, who is poet laureate of the institution of Orangemen in Ireland; Professor Jebb of Cambridge university, who has published translations into Greek and Latin verse, and T