Teacher's Institute.

The last week of the Luna county teacher's institute closed Friday, May 24th.

The sessions during this period were very interesting and profitable. Not only were the talks and papers excellent, but the general discussions which followed were full of useful suggestions, all tending to bring out the best thoughts of those taking part.

Monday was devoted to Civil Government by Prof. Duff.

Theory and practice by Prof. Robertson and a paper on primary reading by Mrs. Smith. Mrs. Smith's paper was deserving of especial praise and handled the subject in a most satisfactory manner. The paper was the result of long years of experience.

Tuesday Miss Yeargin read an able paper on advanced reading, which was well received.

Wednesday Prof. Robertson took up the subject of Grammar and Prof. Duff presented Physiology.

On the subject of Grammar, Prof. Robertson is particularly at home; all his talks were practical and helpful.

Thursday afternoon Miss Guiney gave a talk on Physiology entitled "A Teacher's duty with regard to the pupil." The paper touched those points which are so apt to be neglected—ventilation, the pupils habits etc.

She was followed by Miss Allen, Miss Goodfellow and Miss Rathel who read good papers on Spelling.

Later, Prof. Robertson again took up the subject of Grammar, treating of sentence structure. Friday was given up to Grammar and Physiology, although "theory and practice" was touched upon.

Miss Grace Osmer's paper was well thought out, and deserves mention.

At the close of the Institute, County Superintendent, U. F. Duff, made a few remarks, in which he expressed his high appreciation of the disinterested kindness of Prof. Robertson in conducting the Normal without charge. He also expressed his obligation to all those who had assisted in making the meeting the unequalled success it had proved to be, whether by taking part or by attending.

The Institute tendered Prof. Robertson a vote of thanks, which was very happily replied to.

Altogether the teachers of Luna county may congratulate themselves upon the success of the Institute.

Friday evening at 8 o'clock, a public meeting was held in the Presbyterian church, which was well attended.

The following is the program:
 Anthem.....Choir
 The Royal Princess, Declamation,
 .....Miss McMillan
 Remarks.....Mr. McBean
 Primary Reading, Paper, Mrs. Smith
 Remarks.....Judge Field
 Old Folks At Home.....Ladies' Quartet
 The Teacher as an Educator.....Prof. Robertson
 Orthography, Paper, Miss Goodfellow
 Geography, Paper, Miss Guiney
 Come Again.....Mixed Quartet
 The papers read by the teachers elicited the kindest remarks from all present.

Mrs. Smith and Misses Guiney and Goodfellow won golden opinions. Prof. Robertson's paper could not be beaten. It was a great plea for education.

Mr. McBean made a nice little talk. Judge Field's speech was in a very happy vein. He dealt in reminiscences of his childhood school days. These had the flavor of old times, which is ever grateful to cultivated people.

The thanks of the teachers are due those persons who so materially assisted in making the meeting a success by rendering a number of musical selections.
 To Prof. Robertson, Miss Guiney, say, Mrs. Smith, Miss Allen and Miss Yeargin, the county superintendent says he is especially indebted.

A man can't hope for any better luck than to have his rival in business fail seriously in love.

Going Out of Business.

The United Presbyterian General Assembly, in session at Des Moines, Iowa, has adopted the report of its judicial committee, which is intended to expel from the Presbyterian church all members of secret societies. Evidently the Presbyterian church, as a whole, must be preparing to go out of business. If that fails to succeed, there would be but few Masons or Odd Fellows who would quit their respective orders to remain in the church. On the other hand, if the members of those two orders who are also members of the Presbyterian church were to quit the church, that church would go to pieces in less than two years for want of financial and moral support.

As long as these two bodies of secret orders do not molest the church, but confine to their quiet and unobtrusive way doing good in the world and relieving the suffering and wants of the human family, it might be well for the church to observe the same rule and mind its own affairs. Neither of the orders mentioned will suffer in the least from this action of the church.

Peel's Advice to Young Men.

Mental discipline, the exercise of the faculties of the mind, the quickening of your apprehension, the strengthening of your memory, the forming of a sound, rapid and discriminating judgment, are of even more importance than the store of learning. Establish control over your own mind, practice the economy of time, exercise an unremitting vigilance over the acquirement of habit. These are the arts, this is the patient and laborious process, by which, in all times and in all professions, the foundations of excellence and of fame have been laid.—Extract From Sir Robert Peel's Address to the Students of the University of Glasgow: From Charles Stuart Parker's "Life of Sir Robert Peel."

Advertisers.

A new and verdant postmaster, in a small rural town had received instructions to advertise all letters unclaimed for at the end of a certain length of time. He obeyed orders by inserting the following advertisement in the village weekly paper at the end of the first week of his term of office: "There are ten letters in the post-office that nobody has called for. If they belong to don't take notice and call by the end of the month, the letters will be sent to the dead letter office. Anybody expecting letters they ain't got can come and see if any of these letters belong to them. All take notice."

Being Penanced.

A member of the mining exchange tells this story of a man doing penance: "I had a wagon and was driving out of Denver, on my way to the mines. The roads were fetlock deep in dust, and the weather was hotter than hades. A young fellow halted me a few miles out and asked if he might walk behind my wagon. It was the straightest request I had ever heard, and I said:

"Walk behind? No! Get up here on the seat and ride." He wore a sort of and look and replied:

"I don't want to ride, pardner. I ain't fit to ride and I ain't fit to get fitten. Just let me walk behind your wagon!"

"I thought then he must be crazy and concluded to let him have his way. The dust rolled up in dense, suffocating clouds. I glanced frequently over my shoulder, but couldn't get a glimpse of him. As the team rattled on, however, I heard his voice repeating over and over again:

"Serve you right, confound you! Sell your claim for $10,000, win $1,500 at poker, go down to Denver, blow off the town and go dead broke! You blank blank blank! Ought to suffer! Got to go back and start all over again! Just too good for you! Ain't half penanced enough?"

"At the end of the journey he was nearly dead, but still bravely anxious to do penance. I hired him, and he's here in New York now, doing well."—New York Press.

A British Army Corps.
 The British army corps as nominally constituted numbers 93,250 officers and men. A large number of these are "technical" troops, in charge of the pontoon, field telegraph, railway appliances, balloons, field batteries and field hospitals. Illustrating all of these technical troops, the strength of a division in infantry, cavalry and artillery is 9,449 men, with 18 guns; of an army corps, 30,700 men, with 102 guns.

From Bed to 'Verse.
 She—I would like to call you by your Christian name, but Tom is so hateful and so full of you know, haven't you some I.O.U.'s?
 He—None, I—oh—haven't.
 She—Are you always known as Tom among your friends?
 He (brightening up)—No, the boys call me "Shorty."—Harlem Life.
