

FARMERS' ALLIANCE NOTES.

NEWS OF THE ORDER AND ITS MEMBERS.

WHAT IS BEING DONE IN THE VARIOUS SECTIONS FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF THE GREAT ORGANIZATION.—LEGISLATION, NOTES, ETC.

The Alliance Exchange, Henrietta, Texas, is giving satisfaction.

The Farmers' Alliance will build a large flouring mill at Graham, Texas.

The Alliance is educating the masses, which makes the politicians tremble with fear.—Lasso.

West Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Michigan and New Mexico are the latest Alliance States.

The Citizens' Alliance of Kansas, now has more than 10,000 members, and is rapidly increasing its number.

The sub-alliances of Floyd county, Ga., is a movement on foot looking to the building of a new road for the benefit of the people.

The Gibbon (New York) reporter says: The "hayseeds" are numerous in Nebraska this year. The independent movement might rightly be called the "hayseed" common people against their arch enemy—trusts and corporations—which has been robbing them of the fruits of their labor for the past twenty-five years.

The Farmers' Alliance of Kansas, which now numbers over 145,000 members, has organized a mercantile department, and propose to handle their own grain and live stock. They have appointed agents who will handle their shipments in the markets of Kansas City, Chicago and St. Louis, by which transaction the farmer will save the commission which he usually pays the middle man.—Texas Labor Union.

The National Alliance (Houston, Tex.) says: "The Louisiana Farmers' Alliance expelled nine members, who were also members of the legislature, because they had voted in favor of the lottery bill. The Farmers' Alliance means business, if it isn't political, and the future lawmakers may as well take notice and not injure the people unless they want to be retired from office. The Farmers' Alliance are working to secure harmony with the white Alliance, and are helping to settle the race question by united effort along lines where all can agree.

Among other things the Labor Journal (Ky.) says: "The sub-treasury bill may be faulty, but it embodies our plan of relief, and every true member of the Order from Maine to Texas, from Florida to Washington, should contend for its enactment into law. If the individual member, if any State, county or sub-section is allowed to antagonize it, the national movement, endorsed and sustained by the National Union, admitting it impracticable, even though, as some say, now can we expect, should be hit upon a plan that is practicable and free from absurdities, to secure that unity of action so necessary to the attainments of our aims and purposes."

Farmers, now is the time to use your influence where it will benefit you. There never was a time when the people had the leverage they now possess. The balance of power is in your hands, and if you use it you are sure to win. A third party, if successful could not do more for you than you can do for yourselves by holding the balance of power which is now in your possession. The Times is in favor of any movement that gives promise of success, and therefore favors the plan of selecting for the officers the men who are the best fitted, rather than by organization of a people's party before the farmers are strong enough to make it a success. Let us make no mistakes in the beginning.—The Alliance Times (Ind.).

A Topeka, Kan., dispatch of Wednesday says: On the arrival of the train bearing P. K. Livingston, Wilson and Stone, delegates to the Topeka State Alliance, there was a large crowd of farmers and old veterans, who welcomed and escorted them to the hall. On the entrance to the hall 500 delegates rose to greet them, and three cheers were given for Colonel Polk, her representatives and Wilson. Colonel Polk was first introduced, and made a short, rising, captivating speech of fifteen minutes. Before taking his seat he introduced Colonel Livingston as the irrefragable Alliance leader of Georgia. Livingston caught the crowd, and for their introduction he held them. Livingston and Wilson were welcomed, and Dr. Stone, both gentlemen made speeches, which were greeted with applause. These representative men have, indeed, had a royal welcome.

The following are some of the resolutions adopted at the last session of the State Alliance of Georgia:

Resolved, That the Georgia State Alliance, now assembled, do reaffirm our allegiance to our National Alliance platform, and do earnestly and unqualifiedly demand that all members of our order who may become members of the Georgia legislature do not vote for any man in United States senator unless he or they subscribe to the Georgia State Alliance platform, to-wit:

"To a reduction of state and national taxes.

"That our representatives in the national legislature shall advocate the passage of such laws as will prevent speculation and combines, that seek to interfere with prices of prime necessities and productions.

"To an abolition of the national banking system, and the substitution of legal treasury notes in lieu of the national bank notes, and in sufficient volume, in conjunction with gold and silver, to do the business of the country on a cash basis.

"That the sub-treasury bill of the National Alliance, now pending in congress, or some better system for the relief of the struggling masses, be passed."

The following are among the resolutions and demands reported by the Michigan State Alliance, recently organized at Lansing:

Resolved, We demand the abolition of national bank notes, and the substitution of legal tender treasury notes in lieu of national bank notes, issued in sufficient volume to do the business on a cash system, regulating the amount needed on a per capita basis, as the business interests of the country expand, and that all money issued by the government shall be a legal tender for all debts, public and private.

We demand the free and unlimited coinage of silver.

We demand governmental control of all railroads, telegraph and telephone lines in the interest of the public, in the same manner as the postal service is now manipulated.

We demand that eight hours shall constitute a legal day's work in all factories, mines and shops.

We demand a graduated income tax, by placing the burden of taxation on those most able to bear it.

We demand a government loan to the people on real estate security.

We demand a strictly secret ballot known as the Australian ballot system.

We demand the election of President and Vice-President and United States Senators by a direct vote of the people.

Whereas, We believe that an indelible volume of currency depresses prices when the farmers' produce is placed on the market, and inflates prices after the product is in the hands of the speculator, therefore,

We demand that we demand a law similar to the sub-treasury bill, so-called, that will secure a flexible volume of money commensurate with the needs of the people.

LINCOLN'S MELANCHOLY.

His Sympathetic Nature and His Early Misadventures.

Those who saw much of Abraham Lincoln during the later years of his life, were profoundly impressed with the expression of profound sadness which was so constantly upon his face.

Mr. Lincoln was of a peculiarly sympathetic and kindly nature. Those strong characteristics, however, were happily, as it proved his entire political career.

It was his sympathetic ear which Lincoln told the story of his love for sweet Ann Rutledge; and he, in return, offered what comfort he could when poor Ann died, and Lincoln's great heart nearly broke.

"After Ann died," says "Uncle" Billy Green, of Tallie, Ill., who used at night, when the customers were few, to hold the grammar while Lincoln recited his lessons.

Contagious Blood Diseases. The horror of blood diseases is the fact that they are contagious. Eczema, Scabies, Itch, and other skin diseases may be contracted by using the same towel, and thus it frequently happens a whole family becomes affected with the disease some member has contracted.

There are some patent medicines that are more marvelous than a dozen doctors' prescriptions, but they're not those that profess to cure everything.

Everybody, now and then, feels "run down," "played out." They've the will, but no power to generate vitality.

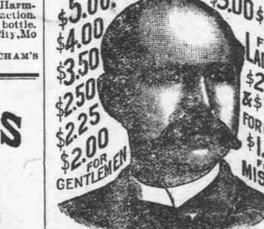

They're not sick enough to call a doctor, but just too sick to be well. That's where the right kind of a patent medicine comes in, and does for a dollar what the doctor wouldn't do for less than five or ten.

We put in our claim for Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

We claim it to be an unequalled remedy to purify the blood and invigorate the liver. We claim it to be lasting in its effects, creating an appetite, purifying the blood, and preventing Bilious, Typhoid and Malarial fevers if taken in time.

The time to take it is when you first feel the signs of weariness and weakness. The time to take it, on general principles, is NOW.
