WHAT IS IN A NAME.

There is a man in our village whose name is Thomas Brown. This is not a remarkable fact in itself, but this particular Brown met with a little adventure not long ago, that is really too good to let pass.

My DEAR BROWN:—I have just bought a house in the town of B. and have moved my wife and daughter there for the summer.

Brown stared at this letter for full two minutes after reading, and then broke his spell of enchantment by commencing to vigorously scratch his head.

He took the next train for Stillwater and says he will never again be attempted to go on a wild goose chase. He is still single, and has avowed his determination to remain so.

He was ushered into a neat little parlor by a matronly lady, who when he inquired after Mrs. Hiram Judkins, informed him that she was the person.

"I have just received this letter from your husband," he commenced, as he pulled it out of his pocket and handed it to her.

to the third story front room and see that he is attended to."

Brown saw that it would not do to seek an explanation in the presence of the servant, so he quietly submitted to being led up-stairs and dismissing the girl he shut the door and began to ruminate on what should be the next move.

He took his seat at the place designated him, after being introduced to the daughter, and the meal began. Brown felt he could not explain matters in the presence of all their loveliness, and so concluded to wait until some more auspicious moment.

"Where did you and he become acquainted, Mr. Brown?" Brown remembered Judkins' note, and said, fatteringly, "I think it was at school, ma'am!"

"Indeed!" ejaculated the lady, "and Mr. Judkins did not know of your return until recently? Well that is too bad."

Quite a number of cases have occurred here where owners of real estate have saved their property by coming in just in time to get the deeds recorded; a few days more and others were ready and anxious to gobble it up.

and said, in as pathetic a voice as he could command:

"I—I don't mean that, Miranda," he continued, still retaining her hand and raising himself on his elbow: "I—I don't you think it would be nice for me to take of you and you of me? I love you Miranda. I—it is short"—he had jumped to his feet, and was in the act of sinking on his knees, when a hurried step was heard, and Mrs. Judkins entered with an open letter in her hand.

"What is the meaning of this, sir?" demanded the lady in a stern tone. "Are you not Mr. Brown?" "Yes, yes, ma'am, but—but I ain't your Thomas Brown, I'm an afraid."

"The letter he wrote was handed me, and as I was the only Thomas Brown I knew of I concluded that I must have known Hiram Judkins when I went to school. It is so long since then!" he groaned.

Dear Sir,—From personal benefits received by its use, as well as from personal knowledge of those who have used it, I have no doubt that it is the best medicine for the complaints which it is claimed to cure.

Dear Sir,—I have been sick two years with the liver complaint and during that time have taken a great many different medicines, but none of them did me any good.
